DEMONSTRATION PROTESTING U.S. POLICY IN VIET NAM, WASHINGTON, D.C., JANUARY 15 - 16, 1968

On January 10, 1968, CG T-1 advised that the coordinating committee concerned with captioned activity consisted of Mrs. Lucille Montgomery, Marjorie Kinsella, Carol Travis, Rosalind Durham, and Sylvia Kushner. Montgomery, Travis, and Durham were to depart Chicago for Washington, D.C., by air, January 11, 1968, to help with the preparations. According to this source, there would also be a demonstration at the Federal Building in Chicago on January 15, 1968, in support of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade.

In the January 13, 1968, edition of the "Chicago Daily News," a general circulation daily newspaper in Chicago, it was reported that also in Washington, D.C., from Chicago to help complete plans for the demonstration were Anna Riggs Langford and Sylvia Cotton.

Robert Hensley, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad (B&O RR) official, Chicago, advised on January 12, 1968, that Sylvia Kushner, in the name of the Chicago Jeannette Rankin Brigade, made reservations for 34 persons to travel from Chicago to Washington, D.C., via B&O RR Train Number 6, departing Chicago at 4 p.m., January 14, 1968, and arriving in Washington, D.C., at 9 a.m., January 15, 1968. Thirteen of those persons were to return to Chicago via B&O RR, leaving Washington, D.C., at 4:30 p.m, January 15, 1968, and 16 of the group to leave Washington, D.C., at 4:30 p.m., January 16, 1968, to return to Chicago.

On January 12, 1968, Loyal Hibbs, Loyal Travel Service, 10 Riverside Plaza, Chicago, a charter agency for the Greyhound Bus Lines at Chicago, advised that Sylvia Kushner, in the name of Jeannette Rankin Brigade, chartered one Greyhound Bus with the capacity of 38 passengers. This bus was to leave the Greyhound station at Chicago at 6 p.m., January 14, 1968, and deliver the passengers to the Union Station, Washington, D.C., arriving at 9 a.m., January 15, 1968. The bus was scheduled to depart from Washington, D.C. from the Shoreham Hotel at 9 p.m., January 15, 1968, and return to Chicago. It was observed by Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on January 14, 1968, that 66 women boarded B&O RR Train Number 6 at Grand Central Station, Chicago, and departed for Washington, D.C., at 4 p.m. It was observed on the same day by Special Agents of the FBI that approximately 20 women boarded a Greyhound Bus at the Chicago Greyhound Terminal which had been chartered by the Jeannette Rankin Brigade. The bus departed the Chicago terminal at 6 p.m., January 14, 1968, enroute to Washington, D.C.

On January 15, 1968, Special Agents of the FBI observed that from 12 noon to 1 p.m., approximately 75 persons, mostly women, conducted a silent vigil at the Federal Building, Chicago, Illinois, in support of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade.

NATIONAL LAWYERS GUILD

The "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications revised and published December 1, 1961, by the Committee on Un-American Activities, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C., states as follows on page 121 concerning the National Lawyers Guild:

"1. Cited as a Communist front.

(Special Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 1311 on the CIO Political Action Committee, March 29, 1944, p. 149.)

"2. Cited as a Communist front which 'is the foremost legal bulwark of the Communist Party, its front organizations, and controlled unions' and which 'since its inception has never failed to rally to the legal defense of the Communist Party and individual members thereof, including known espionage agents.'

(Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 3123 on the National Lawyers Guild, September 21, 1950, originally related September 17, 1950.)

"3. 'To defend the cases of Communist lawbreakers, fronts have been devised making special appeals in behalf of civil liberties and reaching out far beyond the confines of the Communist Party itself. Among these organizations are the * * * National Lawyers Guild. When the Communist Party itself is under fire these offer a bulwark of protection.'

NATIONAL LAWYERS GUILD
CHICAGO CHAPTER

A source advised on May 9, 1967, that it was his understanding that the National Lawyers Guild (NLG) was formed around 1936 in New York City, and that the Chicago Chapter of the NLG (CCNLG), which is affiliated with the national group in New York, was formed shortly thereafter, possibly in 1937 by a group of liberal progressive lawyers in protest against activities of the American Bar Association which they claimed was a non-liberal, non-progressive organization. The CCNLG has no established headquarters but occasionally uses the return address of its officials in literature.

DEMONSTRATION PROTESTING UNITED STATES POLICY
IN VIETNAM, WASHINGTON, D. C., JANUARY 15, 1968
INFORMATION CONCERNING (INTERNAL SECURITY)

Reference is made to prior memoranda captioned as above, including those dated December 12 and 30, 1967 and January 11, 1968, from Los Angeles, California.

Former CP member [illegible]

Source One reported that the final local planning meeting of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade (JRB) Committee in Southern California, was held on January 11, 1968, in the offices of the Women Strike for Peace (WSP) (see appendix), 5899 West Pico Boulevard, Los Angeles. A communication was received from Mary Clarke (see characterization in appendix page on WSP) indicating that she and Vivian Hallinan of San Francisco, California, were already in Washington, D. C., making final arrangements for the JRB action to be held in that city on January 15, 1968. Clarke indicated that she and Mrs. Hallinan had already received numerous queries from representatives of the Washington news media regarding proposed action to be taken by the JRB. She also noted that it might be necessary to re-route the proposed JRB march on the Capitol, in view of some "1882 Law" relating to demonstrations in the vicinity of the Capitol building.

According to Source One the women from Southern California, travelling to participate in the Washington JRB action, were to leave Los Angeles Saturday night, January 13, 1968, via American Airlines Flight 78. Most of them were to return to Los Angeles, from Dulles International Airport, on Tuesday, January 16, 1968, via American Airlines Flight 75.

As of January 12, 1968, the following women affiliated with WSP were scheduled to travel from Southern California to Washington for the JRB demonstration: Eva Korn, Mary Lewis, Bea Glass, Florence Temkin, Mildred Holland, Ada Wasserman, Joyce Miller Angus, Leslie Parrish, Pat Lavit, Geraldine Shapiro, Beverly Bruce and Florence White; according to Source One.

Three women representing the black community were also scheduled to fly to Washington from the Southern California JRB Committee. They were Bobbie Hodges, Althea Alexander, and Glory Roberts. Two women affiliated with the peace-oriented Pasadena Chapter of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom; Cathy Hofer and Marian Beardsley, were also to join the above women for the flight to Washington, according to Source One.

On January 15, 1968, Special Agents of the Los Angeles Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation observed a group of women assemble in front of the Old State Building, 217 West First Street (First and Broadway, in the downtown Civic Center), Los Angeles, California, at approximately 9:30 AM. The women were carrying placards indicating they were the local representation of the JRB. They also had two leaflets for distribution (Xerox copies of which are appended to this memorandum) which called for women to participate and which indicated that a voting block of American women had the power to put an end to the war in Vietnam. These leaflets bore the address of the JRB as 5899 West Pico Boulevard, Los Angeles, California (90019), which is the address of the headquarters of the WSP in Southern California.

Starting shortly after 10:00 AM, the women proceeded to hold a rally on the south steps of the Old State Building, with the speakers utilizing an electronic amplification system, which was held by actress Leslie Parrish.

Source One indicated that Parrish had originally been scheduled to fly to Washington, D. C., to participate in the JRB action at the Capitol, but changed her plans at the last minute in order to remain in Los Angeles.

The rally was headed by Tima Tomash, who acted as the local JRB organizer and answered some of the questions regarding the JRB from members of the news media on the scene. Veronica Sissons acted as mistress of ceremonies. Speakers included Mary Henry, Negro civil rights and poverty worker; Margaret Wright (who has been identified by Sources One and Two as a militant black nationalist, who has been extremely active in recent months in disturbances at Manual Arts High School, Los Angeles, which resulted in a court injunction to prohibit her entering those school grounds); and television actress Ellen McRae. The speakers all called for a coalition of women to form a strong voting block which could produce legislation to end the war in Vietnam, end poverty and "legislated injustice".

At 10:50 AM, the women marched to the steps on the First Street side of the Los Angeles City Hall for a second rally. A count made as the demonstrators marched between the Old State Building and the City Hall revealed that 250 adult Caucasians (majority of whom were women dressed in black), and eight non-Caucasian adults were involved, plus some youngsters and infants. The mother of one of the children had a cardboard sign, depicting a bomb and the caption, "I'm Glad I'm Not Vietnamese", strapped to the back of her son who appeared to be less than four years of age.

With Veronica Sissons again acting as mistress of ceremonies, the rally was addressed by Charlotte Sherman, Margaret Wright, Tima Tomash, and Jill Schary. The latter was introduced as a radio commentator employed by Los Angeles Radio Station KLAC. She joined the others in calling for a coalition of women to influence legislation and bring an end to the war in Vietnam. She also called for support of other "liberal radio broadcasters on our side", one of whom she named as William Winter. (The "Daily People's World", west coast communist newspaper, in its edition of June 11, 1946, described William Winter as chairman of a local citizens' committee to safeguard the Joint Anti-Fascist Refuge Committee, which organization has been cited pursuant to Executive Order 10450).

Charlotte Sherman was introduced as the wife of Laurence Sherman, it being pointed out that he was an unsuccessful candidate for public office, on a peace slate, during 1967, but that both he and his wife were continuing the fight for an end to the war in Vietnam. She said, "It is time for us to re-examine our role as women. Women are a vehicle for giving life. We will not be a vehicle for perpetuation of wars". She then read some anti-war quotes from Henry David Thoreau, indicating they were as timely today, as when he wrote them.

Margaret Wright stated that whereas the majority of women in the demonstration were wearing black to denote mourning, that she and her non-Caucasian associates who feel, "Black is beautiful" were dressed in white to indicate their attitude of mourning. She called for the elimination of ROTC (Reserve Officers Training Corps) from local high schools and junior colleges, adding, "They have got to get live bullets out of the schools, and get some live teachers in." She repeated these same statements during the afternoon when the JRB moved to the Los Angeles City Board of Education.

As the rally was breaking up, Wright grabbed the public address system and said that it had been learned that the City Council was in session inside the City Hall Building.

She urged the women not to disperse, but to join her and others in invading the City Council Chambers with a demand that the JRB be allowed to speak to the Council even though they had not made previous arrangements for a place on the agenda that day. Some of the women were already out of range of the public address system and did not hear this announcement by Wright, having already been dismissed by Sissons and told to reconvene at the Board of Education following luncheon.

Approximately 200 of the demonstrators did enter the Council Chambers. They got word to the councilmen, through one of the staff members, that they wished to be heard. A motion to allow a JRB representative to address them was put before the Council, and defeated by a vote of six to five. Immediately following this vote, there was a unanimous vote that the Council adjourn. As the councilmen filed out of the room, Tima Tomash rushed to the front shouting demands that they return, while other of the women hissed and booed the city legislators.

During the noon hour some of the women distributed leaflets in the City Hall and on the surrounding streets in the downtown Civic Center.

At 1:00 PM, the women, whose numbers had by that time been reduced to 125, massed in the patio of the Los Angeles City Board of Education, 450 North Grand Avenue, Los Angeles. Sissons, Wright and Tomash addressed the assembled demonstrators, pointing out that money spent in Vietnam could be better spent in education. Wright claimed that many of the so-called student "drop-outs" are in reality "push-outs", claiming that she herself was one of the latter. She said, "We need books, not bombs. We know this is a racist war and we blacks are not going to fight a racist war". She indicated that rather than fight overseas, the black people would remain at home and fight the racists. She also said, "Just because I'm pro-black doesn't necessarily mean I'm anti-white."

Wright said, "I'm not political, but I am honest. I can't honestly get up and say the pledge of allegiance to the American flag, because I really don't have liberty and justice; so I just get up and stand and won't repeat the pledge." Later, when she observed a photograph of President Johnson hanging from a wall in the Administration Building at the Los Angeles City Board of Education, she told the JRB women with her, "We shouldn't have to look at such pornographic pictures."

Wright said that her arrest at the hands of Los Angeles City School Security Officers, during the recent Manual Arts High School disturbance, had at least one bright result. She said that at the time of her arrest it had been necessary for the arresting officers to drag her down the hall as she was too heavy for them to carry. Then she added that the next time she is arrested the officers will not have that excuse as she has lost thirty pounds in the meantime.

The speeches in the patio ended at 1:30 PM and many of the women left immediately. Seventy-eight women remained and attempted to enter a special committee meeting being attended by some of the School Board members. They were informed by a member of the administrative staff that the public meeting of the School Board would not be held until 4:00 PM, the regularly scheduled meeting time.. The women milled around in the hallway outside the meeting room, until finally a staff member came out and told them that two members of the School Board, Reverend James E. Jones and Dr. Julian Nava, had agreed to grant them an audience. The women were then ushered into the public board room of the School Board where they waited until 2:00 PM at which time the above-named Board members granted the demonstrators a short audience and answered some questions put to them by the women. One question, as to how much longer the members of the School Board were going to permit recruiters from the armed forces to interview students at local high schools and junior colleges remained unanswered, but Dr. Nava pointed out to the women that he had seen nothing wrong in entering the armed forces to fight for this country himself when he was 17 years of age, and he could see nothing wrong in other young men who wanted to do the same today. The demonstration was concluded by 3:00 PM. There were no incidents and no arrests.

Placards carried during this demonstration in Los Angeles bore the following captions:

"Eat Texas Beef, Not L.B.J. Baloney"

"Woman Power is Vote Power is Peace Power"

"Draft Beer Not Students"

"Where Have All the Men Gone-To Graveyards"

"Jeannette Rankin Brigade-Women's Votes Count, End the War"

"Women's Power is Peace Power."

A Special Agent of the FBI observed a separate group of 32 adult Caucasian females assemble at 10:05 AM, in the vicinity of the Orange County Courthouse, in downtown Santa Ana, California, January 15, 1968. About half of these women were dressed in black and they were carrying signs indicating they represented the JRB. Other signs being carried during the ensuing demonstration read, "Support Dr. Spock." They marched around the courthouse until 11:00 AM, when the demonstration was concluded with no incidents or arrests. Else Sturm identified herself to members of the press, as being in charge of the demonstration.

> Source One has identified Leslie Parrish, Tima Tomash, Veronica Sissions and Charlotte Sherman as having been affiliated with the WSP Southern California Council.
> Source Three identified Tima Tomash as a member of the Communist Party (CP) from at least 1940 to 1950, and as a member of the New York State CP School Commission during a portion of that period.
> Source Four identified Else Sturm as a member of the CP in Chicago, Illinois, in December, 1946.

Source One reported during June, 1967, that Florence Temkin, was an official in the Women for Legislative Action (WLA - see appendix), as well as being active in the Council of the WSP.

Source Five reported in 1947, that Eva Korn was at that time a member of the CP and had been such for approximately fifteen years.

An information copy of this memorandum is being furnished to each of the following agencies: United States Attorney, Los Angeles; Secret Service, Los Angeles; Office of Special Investigations, Norton Air Force Base; Region II, United States Army, Pasadena; and Naval Investigative Service Office, San Diego, California.

APPENDIX

COMMUNIST INFILTRATION OF THE WOMEN STRIKE FOR PEACE, Also Known As Women's International Strike for Peace

A source advised on May 14, 1967, that the Women Strike for Peace (WSP) in the Southern California area began its operations in the late fall of 1961, as an affiliate of the national organization formed in Washington, D.C. It is a peace oriented women's organization which is opposed to the present American foreign policy in Vietnam. It has also sought legislation which would bring about the abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities (HCUA). In recent months the organization has sponsored demonstrations protesting the United States involvement in Vietnam and calling for the complete withdrawal of all United States troops from Vietnam. In the spring of 1966, it was instrumental in originating and putting into effect a campaign advocating support for "peace candidates" in the upcoming 1966 Congressional elections.

The same source stated that WSP is a non-membership organization and has no officers. The organization is open to women of all political opinions who are interested in world peace. It makes no effort to exclude from its activities members of, or persons sympathetic to, the Communist Party and related groups.

The guiding force behind the Southern California WSP groups is MARY CLARKE. A second source advised in July, 1955, that CLARKE was dropped from the Western Division, Los Angeles County Communist Party (LACCP) in the Spring of 1955, for personal reasons and not because of any political differences with the LACCP.

The first source advised that Southern California WSP maintains its office at 5899 West Pico Boulevard, Los Angeles. It receives mail through Post Office Box 19739, Los Angeles 19, California.

APPENDIX

WOMEN FOR LEGISLATIVE ACTION

A source advised on May 1, 1963, that the Women for Legislative Action was formed in 1952, claiming to be an independent organization dedicated to non-partisan participation in legislative and civic activities. Its position in favoring or opposing legislation usually parallels the position of the Communist Party and related groups. It also supports legislation to abolish the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Membership in the Women for Legislative Action does not, of itself, connote membership in or sympathy with the Communist Party.

Another source advised on May 11, 1967, that the Women for Legislative Action continues to be active in the Los Angeles area.

It is noted the newspaper article mentioned in the LHM contains identifying data regarding the persons mentioned only as detailed in the LHM.

Louisville file 157-417-9, memo of SA HUGH M. BYRD, dated July 7, 1967, entitled "POSSIBLE RACIAL VIOLENCE, MAJOR URBAN AREAS, RM", describes one SARAH BURNSIDE as a Negro female residing on Race Street, Richmond, Kentucky, who is employed by the Appalachia Volunteers (AV). This organization is described in the LHM as a Federally financed anti-poverty agency. There is no subversive information in Louisville files regarding SARAH BURNSIDE.

Dean JULIA F. ALLEN, Berea College, Berea, Kentucky, at least in her 60's, is the subject of a closed case in Louisville file entitled "JULIA F. ALLEN, SM - C," (no Bureau file known, Louisville file 100-4599).

The KAREN MULLOY mentioned in LHM is possibly the wife of JOSEPH T. MULLOY who is one of the subjects of the case entitled "ALAN MC SURELY; MARGARET MC SURELY, Aka; JOSEPH T. MULLOY; CARL BRADEN ANNE BRADEN; INFORMATION CONCERNING (SM - C)" (Bureau file 105-164714 and Louisville file 105-890).

The information in the LHM from the masthead of "The Southern Patriot" is found in a report of SA GEORGE W. HUTCHISON dated 11/22/67 at Louisville entitled "SCEF, IS - C, ISA - 1950", (Bureau file 100-10355 and Louisville file 100-197).

There is no information in Louisville files regarding other Kentucky residents mentioned in the LHM.

Since several participants in the March have apparent SCEF connections, information copy is being designated to that file.

The Louisville Peace Council is the subject of Bureau file 100-445959 and Louisville file 100 4661. This matter is not currently under investigation. This organization utilizes the address 1135 South Brook, Louisville, Kentucky, and apparently has connections with the Grace Hope Presbyterian Church and the Presbyterian Community Center, both Louisville, Kentucky.

Any further information regarding this matter will be promptly furnished.

DEMONSTRATION PROTESTING UNITED STATES POLICY IN VIETNAM, WASHINGTON, D.C.,
JANUARY 15, 1968
INFORMATION CONCERNING
(INTERNAL SECURITY)

The January 16, 1968, edition of the "Courier-Journal", a Louisville, Kentucky, newspaper of general circulation, reflected an article that reported that Jeannette Rankin and some 5,000 other women marched near the United States Capitol in Washington, D.C. on January 15, 1968. The article further reflected the group was known as the Jeannette Rankin Brigade and that the purpose of the march was to protest the Vietnam war.

It was indicated therein that the marchers were "met by a seemingly disinterested Washington and a reconvening 90th Congress that, not unexpectedly, paid them little heed."

Miss Jeannette Rankin, described in the article as the march leader and first woman member of congress, and thirteen others presented a petition to two congressional leaders. One Sarah Burnside, Richmond, Kentucky, is depicted as a member of this group and a delegate from Appalachia.

The demonstration, described as peaceful, included Mrs. Ernest Gruening, "wife of the Alaska Senator"; Mrs. Martin Luther King, Mrs. Benjamin Spock, and Judy Collins, "a Washington singer of protest group", as "prominent participants."

The aforementioned article mentions that Mrs. Gwen Griffin, a member of the Steering Committee that helped organize the Jeannette Rankin Brigade march, is an employee of the Council of the Southern Mountains and a resident of Berea, Kentucky.

Other Kentucky marchers from Madison County, Kentucky, were Miss Julia Allen, former Dean of Women at Berea College, Berea, Kentucky; Mrs. Don Johnson, and Mrs. Kennedy Brooks.

Also listed as participating in the march were the following Louisville, Kentucky, residents: Mrs. Karen Mulloy, Mrs. Ann Braden, Karla Block, Cathie Grove, Suzanne Crowell, Teresa Bridges, and Nessa Goatley. It is noted the aforementioned newspaper article contains no further identifying data regarding these persons. The women from Louisville, Kentucky, allegedly came with the partial financial backing of the Louisville Peace Council.

With regard to the aforementioned persons from Kentucky, it is noted that the files of the Louisville Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation reflect Dean Julia F. Allen, Berea College, Berea, Kentucky, has been connected with the Southern Conference Educational Fund (SCEF) and its predecessor organization, the Southern Conference of Human Welfare, since 1938.

A characterization of the SCEF is attached hereto as an appendix.

It is further noted that one Karen Mulloy is the wife of Joseph T. Mulloy. Mulloy and Mr. and Mrs. Alan McSurely, the McSurelys being field workers of the SCEF, were arrested in August, 1967, by Pike County, Kentucky, officials under a Kentucky sedition law later ruled unconstitutional by a Federal Court. Mulloy at the time was employed by the Appalachia Volunteers, a Federally financed anti-poverty agency, but has since been discharged.

Also, it is noted that the masthead of the October, 1967, "The Southern Patriot", Volume 29, No. 9, self-identified as the organ of the SCEF, lists one Anne Braden as Associate Executive Director, and Suzanne Crowell and Catherine Grove are listed as Field Staff members of SCEF.

Information furnished by Louisville T-1 regarding SCEF salary payments and information furnished by Louisville T-2 regarding SCEF employee expenses and other pertinent SCEF expenditures reflect that one Theresa Bridges, one Suzanne Crowell, one Nessa Goatley, and one Anne Braden each received a cash allowance from SCEF sometime in 1967.

SOUTHERN CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL FUND, INC. (SCEF)

The Southern Conference for Human Welfare (SCHW) was cited as a Communist front by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 592, June 12, 1947. In the same house report, "The Southern Patriot" was cited as an "organ" of the SCHW.

An amendment to the charter of the SCHW dated April 26, 1946, changed its name to the Southern Conference Educational Fund, Incorporated (SCEF) and stated its purpose to be to improve the educational and cultural standards of the Southern people in accordance with the highest American democratic institutions, traditions and ideals.

The masthead of the April, 1967, issue of "The Southern Patriot" indicates that it is the publication of SCEF, editorial and business offices of which are located at 3210 West Broadway, Louisville, Kentucky, Eastern office of which is located at Suite 412, 799 Broadway, New York City, New York. "The Southern Patriot" is published once each month, except July. SCEF is stated to be dedicated to ending discrimination based on race, creed, color, sex, national origin or economic condition.

Carl Braden is identified as Executive Director of SCEF and Anne Braden as editor of "The Southern Patriot."

Mrs. Alberta Ahearn, 2311 Payne Street, Louisville, Kentucky, a self-admitted former member of the Communist Party (CP), Louisville, Kentucky, testified on December 11, and 13, 1954, in Jefferson County, Kentucky Criminal Court in a State sedition prosecution against Carl James Braden. She identified Carl Braden and his wife, Anne McCarty Braden, as having been known to her as members of the CP from January, 1951 to December, 1954.

The SCEF is self-described as having deep roots in the South where it began as the educational wing of the SCHW, organized in 1938 to work for economic and political reform. When the SCHW disbanded in the late 1940's, SCEF continued as an independent organization, rallying support for integration and democracy and helping to stimulate and nurture new movements of the early 1960's. The SCEF maintained headquarters in Louisiana for twenty years, but in 1966 moved its headquarters to Louisville, Kentucky.

A source advised on March 2, 1961, that Claude Lightfoot, a Communist Party functionary, stated at a meeting of the Communist Party in Baltimore, Maryland, on February 25, 1961, that the Communist Party is not connected with any progressive movement but indirectly they do have some influence in the SCEF.

A second source, who is familiar with some phases of Communist Party activity in the New Orleans area, advised on June 3, 1966, that during the time that the SCHW was in existence, members of the Communist Party were members of and worked actively in the SCHW; however, since the formation of the SCEF, Communist Party members have not been encouraged to work in the SCEF. The source stated that the SCEF is a progressive, liberal organization, which he considers a Communist Party front organization because it has gone along with the Communist Party on certain issues, particularly on the racial issue.

A third source advised on May 25, 1965, that George Meyers, a Communist Party functionary, expressed great admiration for Carl and Anne Braden and the SCEF, with which they are affiliated, and expressed the view that the SCEF is the best organization in the South as far as doing effective work is concerned and that they have a better idea of what they are doing, where they are heading, and influence other organizations for the better.

The second source also advised on June 3, 1966, that many people who are officials and supporters of the SCEF, while liberal in their views, are by no means Communists.

RE: DEMONSTRATION PROTESTING UNITED STATES
POLICY IN VIETNAM,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
JANUARY 8, 1968

A confidential source furnished the following information on January 12, 1968:

Ann Peery, Yellow Springs, Ohio, has organized approximately forty women to travel to Washington, D. C. for captioned demonstration now scheduled for January 15, 1968. These women who will be from Dayton, Yellow Springs and surrounding areas in Ohio will depart from the Antioch College Union, Yellow Springs, Ohio, approximately 7:15 p.m. on January 14, 1968. They anticipate arriving in Washington, D. C. approximately 7:00 a.m. on January 15, 1968, where they will unload at the Union Station. The women, dressed in black, will meet with demonstrators from other areas of the United States and proceed in silence to the capital.

Source stated this group will meet at 7:30 a.m., January 15, 1968, at the Shoreham Hotel, 2500 Calvert Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C., for the return trip to Yellow Springs.

On January 14, 1968, a second confidential source advised that approximately forty women departed Yellow Springs, Ohio, by bus at 9:00 p.m. on January 14, 1968, for demonstration in Washington, D. C. The bus was chartered from the Southeastern Bus Lines, Incorporated, Jamestown, Ohio.

Source advised that although it was snowing and road conditions hazardous, the women were determined to reach

Washington, D. C. for the demonstration.

The "Dayton Daily News", a daily newspaper of general circulation in the Dayton, Ohio, area, carried an article titled "Area Women Joining Peace March in Capital" on page 5A of the January 14, 1968, edition.

According to the article the women had a variety of personal reasons for taking part in Monday's peace effort.

According to the article Janice Bulley, 1376 Harvard Boulevard, in Dayton, Ohio, stated that, "It seems so hard to find anything to do that gets any kind of real response. Perhaps this will. As mothers, we have a special stake in this war. Perhaps our effort Monday will somehow be translated into a direct action to stop it."

D. S.

According to the article, Lois Schrag, Springfield, Ohio, stated that while peace demonstrations were often most effective on a local level, sometimes a mass outpouring of feeling like this is helpful.

According to the article June Gibbon, Bowling Green, Ohio, stated, "As we become more involved in this war, and more human lives are lost, I feel more and more strongly that unless I oppose the war actively, I am in a way responsible for those deaths."

According to the article, Marjory Dickinson, Yellow Springs, Ohio, stated, "I personally feel that mature women expressing themselves on the war in a serious manner is an important thing."

The "Dayton Daily News", supra, carried an article titled "Six Local Women in D. C. Protest", on page one of the January 15, 1968, edition, this article is set out in its entirety as follows:

"Six Daytonians were among thousands of women who gathered near the capital this morning to protest the Vietnam war.

"Calling themselves the 'Jeanette Rankin Brigade,' they assembled at Union station near the Capitol and planned to march to Union square just east of the Capitol itself.

"A brigade spokesman estimated some 10,000 women from across the nation turned out for the demonstration. Delegates came from as far away as the West Coast.

"Daytonians included Mrs. Mildred Harvey, one of this year's Ten Top Women in Dayton; Mrs. Bobbie Bernstein of 1428 Catalpa Dr.; Mrs. Nancy Plediscalzi of 427 Alameda Pl,; Mrs. J. Edward Hersberger of 1232 Brooklands Rd; Mrs. Julian Bull of 1376 Harvard Blvd., and Mrs. Mary Thomson, wife of Matt Thomson, director of American Friends in Dayton and surrounding states.

"Leading the march was the 87-year-old Miss Rankin, dowager queen of the peacenicks, who while in Congress voted against entry into both world wars.

"The Ohio delegation, composed predominately of Clevelanders, also counted a number of women from Yellow Springs including Mrs. Gay Houston.

"Capitol Police said they would not permit the women to demonstrate on Capitol grounds. However, it was expected that 15 of the brigade would be able to present a peace petition to House Speaker John McCormick (d-Mass.) shortly after Congress reconvened at noon today to begin its second session.

"A heavy snowfall greeted the women as they arrived by plane, train, bus and private car this morning.

"But it did not cool the ardor of the women who pledged their demonstration would be a peaceful one.

"Mrs. Hersberger said her son, Second Lt. Eric Ulrikson, did not share her feelings about Vietnam. The lieutenant, she said, doesn't feel we can do without the armed services at this time in the world's development.

"Mrs. Marie Tuck of Cleveland called her appearance a "family affair."

B. APPROX 1942

OHIO

"She said her son David, 26, testified at the Bertrum Russell meeting near Copenhagen that the Johnson administration was committing atrocities in Vietnam. That meeting resulted in a condemnation of the U. S. as the aggressor in the Southeast Asian conflict.

"Mrs. Tuck said her son had not seen combat but was a battalion mail clerk.

TUCK

"She said she has another son, T[illegible], who is station at Ft. Knox, Ky.

"He's a good soldier from 9 to 5," Mrs. Tuck said, adding that her son preaches resistance to the war after those hours.

"She said that some 150 men of her son's battalion were recently sent to Vietnam but her son was kept in the U.S. because of his activities.

ANN PEERY

On September 7, 1961, a third source advised that a list of members had been received by the Chicago Chapter of the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC) from the national office of FPCC for use by the Chicago Chapter in securing renewals of memberships and/or a subscribers fee. Included on the list is the name "Miss Ann Perry, Rt 1, Box 229P, Yellow Springs, Ohio, B62."

In connection with the above list, a fourth source advised that the letters, "B62" indicate a member has membership coming up for renewal in the second quarter of 1962.

A fifth source advised on May 16, 1966, that on May 15, 1966, Ann Peery stated her maiden name was Ann Perry but her married name is Ann Peery.

A sixth source advised on April 18, 1967, and and on April 22, 1967, that the name "Ann Peery, c/o Peace and Freedom Center, 221 Xenia Avenue, Yellow Springs, Ohio" appeared on the current mailing list of "The Worker" and the Weekend edition of "The Worker".

"The Worker" is an east coast communist newspaper.

APPENDIX

FAIR PLAY FOR CUBA COMMITTEE

The April 6, 1960, edition of "The New York Times" newspaper contained a full-page advertisement captioned "What Is Really Happening In Cuba," placed by the Fair Play for Cuba Committee (FPCC). This advertisement announced the formation of the FPCC in New York City and declared the FPCC intended to promulgate "the truth about revolutionary Cuba" to neutralize the distorted American press.

"The New York Times" edition of January 11, 1961, reported that at a hearing conducted before the United States Senate Internal Security Subcommittee on January 10, 1961, Dr. Charles A. Santos-Buch identified himself and Robert Taber as organizers of the FPCC. He also testified he and Taber obtained funds from the Cuban Government which were applied toward the cost of the aforementioned advertisement.

On May 16, 1963, a source advised that during the first two years of the FPCC's existence there was a struggle between Communist Party (CP) and Socialist Workers Party(SWP) elements to exert their power within the FPCC and thereby influence FPCC policy. This source added that during the past year there had been a successful effort by FPCC leadership to minimize the role of these and other organizations in the FPCC so that their influence as of May, 1963, was negligible.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On May 20, 1963, a second source advised that Vincent "Ted" Lee, FPCC National Office Director, was then formulating FPCC policy and had indicated that he had no intention of permitting FPCC policy to be determined by any other organization. This source stated that Lee believed that the FPCC should advocate resumption of diplomatic relations between Cuba and the United States and should support the right of Cubans to manage their revolution without interference from other nations. Lee did not advocate supporting the Cuban revolution per se.

The November 23, 1963, edition of "The New York Times" reported that Senator Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut had called FPCC "the chief public relations instrument of the Castro network in the United States." It is to be noted that Senator Dodd was a member of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee which twice conducted hearings on the FPCC.

The December 27, 1963, edition of "The New York World Telegram and Sun" newspaper stated that the pro-Castro FPCC was seeking to go out of business and that its prime activity during its lifetime had been sponsorship of pro-Castro street rallies and mass picket lines, and the direction of an active propaganda mill highlighting illegal travel-to-Cuba campaigns. Its comparatively brief span of life was attributed to mounting anti-Castro American public opinion, the 1962 Congressional hearings which disclosed FPCC financing by Castro's United Nations Delegation, and ultimately, the bad publicity which the FPCC received from disclosure of activities on its behalf by suspected presidential assassin Lee H. Oswald.

On February 6, 1964, the previously mentioned second source advised that V. T. Lee had recently remarked that the FPCC was dead and that there were no plans to organize another similar organization.

On April 13, 1964, a third source advised that there had not been any FPCC activity in many months and that the FPCC had been dissolved.

Demonstration Protesting United States
Policy in Vietnam,
Washington, D.C.
January 8, 1968 Lea Betty Zeldin

The "Capital Times", local daily newspaper published at Madison, Wisconsin in its issue of January 15, 1968 carried an article which reflected that Mrs. Lee Zeldin, 5705 Forsythia Place, Madison, Wisconsin and Mrs. Robert Franz, Oregon, Wisconsin were in Washington, D.C. that day participating with the Jeannette Rankin Brigade March on Congress. This article states that Mrs. Zeldin has been in peace demonstrations in Madison, Wisconsin and was a registered peace lobbyist in the State of Wisconsin.

The article also discloses that Mrs. Franz is an observer and delegate from the Madison Womens' International League for Peace and Freedom.

The "Milwaukee Sentinel", local daily morning publication, Milwaukee, Wisconsin in its issue of January 16, 1968 disclosed that Milwaukee Alderman and Milwaukee Common Council Member, Mrs. Vel R. Phillips; Mrs. Bertha Rubin, 3948 North Murray Avenue, Shorewood, Wisconsin and Mrs. Leon Gilman, 3822 North 67th Street, Milwaukee, Wisconsin had participated in the Jeannette Rankin Brigade March on Congress in Washington, D.C. on January 15, 1968.

The "Milwaukee Journal", local daily evening publication, Milwaukee, Wisconsin in its issue January 16, 1968 also identified the aforementioned three individuals from the greater Milwaukee area as having attended the demonstration in Washington on January 15, 1968. In addition, its article on the matter identified Robin and Peggy Muelver, sisters, 2506 South 29th Street, Milwaukee as two additional Milwaukee participants.

RE: DEMONSTRATIONS PROTESTING UNITED STATES POLICY IN VIETNAM; WASHINGTON, D.C., JANUARY 15, 1968 INFORMATION CONCERNING

On January 24, 1968, a confidential source reported five members of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade delegation from Washington State went to Washington, D.C., on United Airlines Flight 42, leaving Seattle shortly after 9 a.m., January 13, 1968. The group consisted of the following:

LONNIE HEALY C. P. MEMBER
TAIMI HALONEN C. P. MEMBER
THORUN ROBEL C. P. MEMBER
HELEN FRENCH
ELAINE HORSLEY

A second source advised in January, 1968, LONNIE HEALY, TAIMI HALONEN and THORUN ROBEL are members of the Communist Party (CP) at Seattle.

The first source went on to state the Seattle delegation was met at Baltimore Friendship Airport by THOMAS BLACKBURN who resides at 9406 Sayebrook, Silver Springs, Maryland. BLACKBURN carried a sign reading "6 Seattle Ladies - J.R. Brigade," which apparently had been made up with the anticipation of there being one more woman in the group. BLACKBURN questioned each person as to her organizational affiliations, with emphasis on church and peace groups. HEALY, HALONEN, and ROBEL all indicated they are with Women Strike for Peace. FRENCH said she did not represent any particular group, and HORSLEY said she was active in her church and interested generally in peace. BLACKBURN said he and his wife are with the American Friends and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. BLACKBURN took the Seattle group to his home. On Sunday morning BLACKBURN invited the women to attend church but only FRENCH accepted. The others said they were going sightseeing in Washington, D.C.

ENCLOSURE.

With regard to Women Strike for Peace (WSP), the "People's World", west coast communist newspaper, in its issue of October 20, 1962, quoted Dr. FRANCES HERRING, national leader of WSP, as stating the organization "was composed of autonomous local groups 'open to women of any race, religious creed or political ideology.'" U.S.A

On May 3, 1965, a third source made available a leaflet distributed by Seattle Women Act for Peace (SWAP) (see appendix), local affiliate of WSP which stated in part, that Mrs. DONNA ALLEN, a national leader of WSP; Mrs. DAGMAR WILSON, founder and leader of WSP; and RUSS NIXON, General Manager of the "National Guardian" (see appendix) were "found guilty of contempt in the U.S. District Court of the District of Columbia for refusing to testify at a closed meeting of HUAC (they had expressed a willingness to testify at an open hearing where their views would not be subject to possible distortion by HUAC, as has happened at other closed HUAC hearings)."

The American Friends Service Committee (AFSC) is the social outreach arm of the religious group known as the Society of Friends (Quakers).

The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, according to a fourth source in July, 1961, held its annual meeting at St. Paul, Minnesota, from June 26 - 30, 1961. Resolutions passed at the conference included the following proposals: support the repeal of the recent Supreme Court decision which sustained the constitutionality of the registration provisions of the Internal Security Act of 1950 and the membership provisions of the Smith Act; favor social and cultural exchange, non-intervention in Cuba, abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities and ban further nuclear testing.

The first source went on to state the Seattle delegation went to Room 132-A, Shoreham Hotel, Washington, D.C., early Sunday evening, January 14, 1968, where a Steering Committee for the demonstration the following day was meeting. Among those present were MARY CLARKE, Los Angeles, California; JUDITH MORSE EATON of Connecticut; and ELEANOR FRENCH of New York who did not give any sign of being related to HELEN FRENCH of the Seattle group. LONNIE HEALY inquired several times about other Seattle people who might have arrived separately. She also questioned the absence of Negroes on the committee and sought to have a resolution adopted on American Indians. In connection with the Indian matter she distributed a leaflet, a reproduction of which is set out at the end of this memorandum.

C. P. MEMBER C. P. MEMBER C. P. MEMBER

Later MARJORIE RADER, EMELIA CASSIDY, LINDA CORR (Negro) and ZEFRA (STUDAMIRE) (Negro) arrived at the Shoreham Hotel. The source did not know ZEFRA's last name, but it DOB 1952 is given later in this memorandum by another source. These four indicated they were being housed at DONNA ALLEN's home in Washington, D.C. RADER joined HEALY in questioning the lack of representation on the Steering Committee of representatives from minority groups. [illegible]

MARJORIE RADER and EMELIA CASSIDY were reported by a fifth source in January, 1968, as being CP members at Tacoma, Washington, and ZEFRA STUDAMIRE was described as a 16-year old Negro girl who has been active in the Young Political Explorers League (YPEL) (see appendix) at Tacoma.

LINDA CORR was reported by the second source as being a CP member at Seattle as of January, 1968.

Following the Steering Committee meeting the group went to dinner. The Seattle delegates met a Mrs. DUNLAP from Pasadena, California, and a MARI BEARDSLEY from Encino, California. DUNLAP said she had been working on a signature campaign for the Peace and Freedom Party of California which was not further described. BEARDSLEY said she works in an office which coordinates the activities of peace organizations. BETTY MEREDITH of Marin County, California, and formerly of Seattle, stopped at the Seattle table and reminisced with HALONEN and ROBEL "about the old days in Seattle." ERICA NIEDER, formerly of Tacoma, Washington, and now of Cleveland, Ohio, inquired of RADER about some people in South Tacoma. From the reaction, it was assumed by the source NIEDER is not closely associated with anyone in whom RADER has an interest.

Following dinner, the Washington State delegation went to Shoreham Suite A-409 occupied by VIVIAN HALLINAN of California. Several California women were there to hear instructions for Monday. Rumors were rampant. One person said police would plant two hundred "agent provocateurs" in the line of march to create scenes which would result in arrests. It was also stated police had prepared for five hundred arrests; that all telephones into the demonstration headquarters were being monitored; and that permission to march was still being withheld. After the California group had been briefed, the following instructions were read to the Washington delegates by MALVINA REYNOLDS of California:

(1) Maintain silence throughout the march.

(2) Maintain strict discipline; walk to the right on the sidewalk.

(3) Follow the instructions of monitors in blue armbands who will be under orders from white arm-banded marshals.

(4) Surround and isolate any trouble makers.

(5) Carry at least $10.00 on your person, preferably $25.00.

(6) Remove all items from your purse that might be considered a weapon; i.e. nail files, hat pins, etc. Remove all addresses except home and emergency addresses from purse.

(7) Don't wear dangling earrings for if one should fall they might cause injury if someone reached out to assist you and caught hold of the earring.

The telephone number of the Brigade headquarters was given for use in case of arrest.

TAIMI HALONEN and THORUN ROBEL were mildly self-critical about not working for the programs the younger women were promoting. TAIMI said she was tired after working long hours on the Seattle conference to be held Saturday, January 20th at Mt. Zion Baptist Church in Seattle at which the Seattle delegation would report. HALONEN made the observation, however, that the women working on the program were all very experienced leaders and she trusted they would formulate a satisfactory program.

On Monday, January 15, 1968, the delegates including the group from Washington State, met at the Union Station in Washington, D.C. It was learned here that the instructions which had been given the day before at the Shoreham Hotel were evidently for the California group only, because many California people had been badly beaten in previous demonstrations and they were very cautious and somewhat apprehensive. The official pattern was different. Mimeographed sheets headed "Jeannette Rankin Brigade - Information and Instructions" were passed out and these appeared to be the official instructions. A reproduction is attached.

The Washington State delegation was enlarged when a Mrs. BACKUP from Tacoma arrived. RADER said some of the money usually received from wealthy contributors had been collected by Mrs. BACKUP. Reverend HAROLD BASS of Tacoma collected $120.00, and wanted someone else to go instead of ZEFRA (STUDAMIRE). RADER defended herself when TAIMI HALONEN criticized her for bringing ZEFRA along since ZEFRA is at least six months pregnant.

After the demonstration, HEALY and RADER spent much of the time urging the speakers to include in their talks something about the status of the American Indian. ELLA BAKER from New York did include a paragraph from the paper the Washington State delegation submitted to Congress. This was entitled, "American Indians and the Struggle for Peace". It had been prepared by LONNIE HEALY although at its bottom it carried the notation "(Prepared by the Jeannette Rankin Brigade Delegation from Washington State)."

RADER, HEALY, and CORR became indignant because the audience did not give a standing ovation to Mrs. MARTIN L. KING, Jr. or any of the Negro speakers.

HEALY expressed great dissatisfaction with the basic organization of the gathering. She wanted an organizational meeting instead of a rally type meeting which occurred. HALONEN and ROBEL agreed somewhat. HEALY implied the whole thing was a waste of her time.

In the workshop section of the meeting, HALONEN worked in the legislative action section; HELEN FRENCH and ELAINE HORSLEY in the electoral campaigns; and HEALY and CORR in racism. Here, too, the younger women were very critical. HEALY, particularly, resented having men as "resource people" for the group. She said she thought this was a women's congress. TAIMI said she found herself in a situation that was quite different in that she was working with a very broad spectrum of politically and economically oriented individuals and it was a real learning experience.. ELAINE HORSLEY was anxious to get back home and work for peace while the spirit of JEANNETTE RANKIN was still fresh. She and HELEN FRENCH expressed the view the congress met the needs of American women in giving a concrete program on which to work.

Tuesday, January 16, 1968, was for lobbying. The Seattle and Tacoma people were told to meet at the Methodist Building, 100 Maryland Avenue. HALONEN, ROBEL, HEALY, HORSLEY, and HELEN FRENCH arrived before the appointed time. After about an hour, EMELIA CASSIDY arrived stating RADER had an eye problem and would be unable to attend. Mrs. BACKUP joined the group. LINDA CORR and ZEFRA were too tired to get up so early. The group called on Washington State's Senators JACKSON and MAGNUSON, but they were not in their offices. After leaving a copy of the women's petition and a questionnaire prepared by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (see attachment) they called on Washington State's Congressmen FLOYD HICKS and BROCK ADAMS. Mr. HICKS was out of town. Mrs. HORSLEY knew the Congressman personally and her son knew two of the office personnel. She asked that they relate to him that she was vitally interested in peace and social justice.

Congressman BROCK ADAMS was in his office and spent about twenty minutes talking with the group concerning his political views and some of the political machinations of his party. The group then began to disintegrate. ELAINE HORSLEY left to get a 2:30 flight to Boston where she would visit her son who is attending Harvard University.

After some sightseeing in the afternoon, HALONEN, ROBEL, and Mrs. BACKUP checked into the Plaza Hotel since they were going to stay a day or two longer for some workshops. RADER stayed also. The rest of the group, HEALY, CORR, ZEFRA (STUDAMIRE), CASSIDY, and FRENCH went to Friendship Airport and boarded UAL Flight 41 for Seattle.

While in Washington, HEALY kept trying to call a CARL BLOICE who the source thought used to be either in Seattle or San Francisco, but she never reached him.

The workshops held on January 15th after the march were:

(1) Legislative Action

(2) Electoral Campaign

(3) Press

(4) New Women in New World

(5) War at Home

(6) Resistance
    (a) Action
    (b) Draft
    (c) Direct Action

(7) Church

(8) Schools

Reproductions of other documents received by the first source at Washington, D.C. are set out at the end of this memorandum.

On January 23, 1968, the fifth source advised a meeting of the Trade Union CP Club was held at Tacoma, Washington, on January 18, 1968, at which EMELIA CASSIDY, also known as MILLIE CASSIDY, a member of that club, reported on her trip to Washington, D.C. She stated she stayed at DONNA ALLEN's home there. She said MARJORIE RADER got an eye infection which kept her from going to the march. RADER remained at ALLEN's residence. She added ZEFRA STUDAMIRE shouldn't have gone because she was uncooperative and would not attend anything. She was rude, said her bed was too low and complained about the food. Some or all of these troubles might be attributed to the fact STUDAMIRE is expecting a baby in April. CASSIDY stated there were too many rules to follow.

The delegates weren't premitted to carry a nail file, wear peace buttons, or exhibit RANKIN buttons. They had to walk six abreast and were not allowed to march around the White House. She said a suit will be brought in court for this denial of their rights. She went on to state each person had or was given $10.00 to carry on his person so he could not be arrested for vagrancy.

CASSIDY said a nurse, Mrs. HELEN M. COOK, had been very helpful to the group. COOK told CASSIDY she could be reached at 719 Beechwood Road, Media, Pennsylvania, if more information is desired concerning Veterans for Peace, which was not further described.

GUY RADER, a CP member at this meeting, tried to stop CASSIDY when the latter complained ZEFRA STUDAMIRE was too immature to have been sent to the conference, but CASSIDY wasn't easy to stop. She was incensed over the fact money had been used for STUDAMIRE's trip and the latter refused to cooperate. RADER and STUDAMIRE remained in Washington, D.C. after the conference to handle some business with the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) according to CASSIDY.

> SNCC is an organization which has concerned itself with racial matters in the United States.

C. P. MEMBER C. P. MEMBER

On January 24, 1968, the second source reported a Jeannette Rankin Women's Conference was held at the Mt. Zion Baptist Church, Seattle, Washington, on January 20, 1968, which was attended by about 150 women, including the following members of the CP: LINDA CORR, HALLIE DONALDSON, RUTH EMERSON, VIVIAN GEORGE, VIVIAN GABOURY, TAIMI HALONEN, ALICE HAWKINS, HILDUR JOSEPHINE HUGHES, LONNIE HEALY, IRENE HULL, THORUN ROBEL, MARGE RABBITT, BABA JEAN MANGAOANG, and IRENE URQUHART. Of the five persons taking tickets at the door, three were CP members, HEALY, HULL, and ROBEL. DONALDSON, another CP member, had a book display with selections from the Co-op Bookstore, 710 Stewart Street, Seattle.

The Washington Cultural Cooperative, which operates the Co-op Bookstore, is characterized in the appendix.

The source went on to say CP member CORR, a Negro, had a display of Negro dolls which she was selling to raise funds to send to the South "to help fight the battle there."

Opening remarks at the meeting were along socialistic lines, according to the source. The principal speaker said capitalism is a rich-man's democracy, while socialism has democracy for the working man.

The group then separated into workshops on such topics as welfare, schools, law, young people, working women, and draft resistance. When these smaller groups reassembled, after lunch, some of the delegates to the Jeannette Rankin Brigade affair at Washington, D.C. gave short talks. The speakers included HALONEN, HEALY, CORR, ROBEL, and CASSIDY (from Tacoma), all of whom have been characterized before as CP members. Most of the five spoke as mothers who did not want their sons to go away to fight a rich man's war. They stated wars had not proved anything in the past and had been run by men. Now the women should come to the front and tell the men they are not raising their sons for cannon fodder. The group attending the welfare workshop presented a resolution in support of a black women's lobby to Olympia (the capital of Washington State). A heated debate arose between some of the white women present and three Negroes. The latter contended the white women did not know what the black women had been through. One white woman then stated this was wrong and that the Negro women were trying to isolate themselves from other women who had fought equally as hard as the Negroes. CP members HULL, HEALY, and MANGAWANG cautioned all present to be united, remembering these differences had been built up over hundreds of years and that one meeting would not solve all the difficulties but could be a start in solving them. They indicated it was a healthy sign when they could argue openly and not behind each others backs.

Reproductions of two leaflets distributed at the meeting are set out following the Brigade literature.

AMERI[illegible]NDIANS AND THE STRUGGLE FO[illegible]E

Today, in Battle Creek, Michigan, the city's seal, adopted in 1891, is racist and violent because it pictures a white man hitting an unarmed Indian with a rifle butt. Some Indian youth view the television program "Custer" as indicative of racist America. The National Congress of American Indians opposes this distortion of history. Beatings and murder of Indians in Maine go unchallenged. Congress voted in 195 to open up Indian land reservations to state jurisdiction. In actuality, this rides established tribal courts and federal jurisdiction. It gives local bigoted authorities more opportunity to harrass and open the way to termination of our treaties and in several places resulted in actual loss of land.

It is as deadly to be an Indian in America as it is to be a soldier in Viet Nam. In the three years before 1967, more Indian children below the age of 18 had died in this country than the 6,628 U. S. combat casualties of the entire Viet Nam War (as of the end of 1966). Most of these were children below the age of six.

The price we pay is the built-in racism our children are taught in school, over television, in cartoons; the Indian has become a joke to white Americans. We pay because we don't know our own history.

The thread of struggle for self-determination runs through the history of Indian-Americans. When a few Indian youth speak of Red Power, the roots go deep into their history in finding nourishment for this demand. Just as some Negro leaders today speak of W.E.B. DuBois as having raised the same issue of identity long before the level of struggle, which is Black Power, arrived. This struggle has gone on for 400 years.

The Indian people have been sending spokesmen to bring their grievances and their positions before the power structure of this country for two hundred years. They have fought in the courts since at least 1830 when the case of the Cherokee Nation vs. Georgia tested the ability and the willingness of the United States to protect an Indian Tribe in its efforts at self-determination.

The Vietnamese war is a continuation of the whole racist war we have waged against the Indian People. Understanding this is a part of understanding the Viet Nam war. We respond to what is happening to Vietnamese children, yet the Indian people have suffered from the same policy of extermination and destruction of their identity.

We must unite with the strivings of those who have had to deal with United States' genocide for 200 years!

We can help to push the United States to ratify the United Nations Resolution, "Treaty Against Genocide", that the United States should correct the history and policy of genicide against the Indian people. Today this refers to the destruction of their identity as a people and links with the struggles of people for their identity all over the world. To stop the policy of genocide, of racism, to develop compensatory steps to undo the effects of the crimes against the Indian people, to remove the oppression of the Indian people!

All the forces in this country cannot win democratic power without making this correction of what was done to the American Indian people.

"Let us declare our intention to return to our communities and mobilize women on all levels of activity, dedicated to reshaping American society and restoring our country to a position of honor in the community of nations."

NOTE: It is requested that each participant contribute one dollar, or more, to defray the expenses of the Women's Congress.

and unconstitutional infringement of their First Amendment rights to assembly, free speech and the right to petition their government for a redress of grievances.

Upon informing the Capitol Police of their planned march to the Capitol building to present their petition, the women were threatened with arrest under 40 U.S.C. 193 (a) et. seq. which, after defining the area considered Capitol Grounds, states:

> "It is forbidden to parade, stand, or move in processions or assemblages in said United States Capitol Grounds, or to display therein any flag, banner, or device designed or adapted to bring into public notice any party, organization, or movement......"

The statute further provides that exceptions from these prescriptive provisions will be made in the discretion of certain Congressional leaders and/or Capitol Police. The exceptions are allowed on "ocassions of national interest becoming the congnizance and entertainment of Congress."

The petition of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade apparently does not become "the entertainment of Congress" and arrests were threatened. Therefore the suit which was files prays for the convening of a three-judge Federal District Court which is requested to enjoin the operation and enforcement of the statute and to declare it unconstitutional. We have asked the Federal District Court for the District of Columbia to grant us this relief on an emergency basis prior to January 15th. Our request was denied. The same request was made to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals and was likewise denied. As it was then impossible to obtain relief prior to January 15th the Brigade's attorneys are continuing the appeal on a non-emergency basis in the Court of Appeals and have every confidence of ultimate victory.

This is far from the last time that these women or any other Americans intend to appear in their nation's Capitol to petition their government. Hopefully this will be the last time that they find it so difficult to do so.

WELFARE FACTS

story of Modern Welfa rams ern welfare programs in the United States began with passage of the Social Security Act---in 1935, authorizing federal grants to states for public assistance and child welfare programs. In 1937, the Washington Legislature repealed the Paupers Law of 1854 and enacted a State Social Security Law. "Welfare" has been a bone of contention ever since.

Greenleigh Report

In 1963, the Washington Legislature appropriated $20,000 for a study of the state's public assistance programs. The study was made by Greenleigh Associates, and the Greenleigh Report was presented in December, 1964.

> This report stated that public assistance grants in Washington, with standards based on 1959 prices and 12% ratable reductions, were 40% below the minimum standards for health and decency. Speaking of child welfare needs, the report said: "There is an excessive and increasing rate of referral of children to the Juvenile Courts, both for dependency and delinquency. There is an excessive and increasing trend for children to be removed from their natural families and cared for elsewhere."

WHAT ABOUT RATABLE REDUCTIONS?

The 1965 Legislature removed the ratable reductions. The 1967 Legislature ordered the Dept. of Public Assistance to bring it's pricing standard's up to 1967 levels.

New standards were put into effect July first. Increased allowances for rent vary from county to county. Other allowances were increased an average of 10-3/4%. In King County the total increase was 16%. Thus, King County grants have been increased by 28% since 1964, but the cost of living has increased by at least 5%. Grants are still 17% less than acceptable levels.

> The maximum grant for a Seattle family consisting of two adults, a boy 13, and a girl 8, is $285.80 a month--$3,429 a year. But recent changes in the Federal Social Security Law cast a shadow on even this figure. The local welfare officials will not offer any guess as to what may happen next. NEW RATABLE REDUCTIONS ARE ALWAYS A POSSIBILITY.

There is much talk of getting people off welfare by putting them to work. Yet who will take care of the children? Child care costs from $60 to $80 per child per month in Seattle.

Some examples of women's wages:

Nurses Aid -	$1.40	per hour	-- $2912.00 per year
House Cleaners -	$1.65	per Hr	Dept. Store Clerk - $1.76¼ per hr hotel maids	1.69	" "
Laundry Workers	1.93	" "
garment "	1.60	" "	Minimum
Journey women clerk -	2.01½	per hr	-- $4186.00 per year ear indeed. The Boeing Company garnishments brought against its workers every month by creditors who force the Company and the Courts to become little better than collection agencies. The following information is supplied by the Seattle Legal Services Center.)

HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF FROM WAGE GARNISHMENTS

1. GET A LAWYER IMMEDIATELY if your wages are garnished. The Seattle Legal Services Center provides lawyers for people with low incomes who cannot afford to pay for a lawyer. A similar service for low income workers is provided by the Tacoma Legal Assistance Office, 1501 South "M" Street, Tacoma.

2. DO NOT GO TO COURT ALONE and do not call the creditor without legal advice, or they may help you to confess judgment against yourself, and you can lose your wages and your case without any evidence or trial or opportunity to testify. Do not sign a confession of judgment without your lawyer's advice.

3. DO NOT IGNORE THE ACTION or a default judgment may be entered against you without your knowledge. Your lawyer can prevent this if you notify him promptly of the action.

4. YOU ARE ENTITLED TO AN EXEMPTION of $25.00 per week, plus $10.00 for the first dependent, plus $5.00 for each additional dependent, up to a maximum of $50.00 per week. Be sure you claim an exemption for each week's wages caught by the garnishment. You don't have to state whether you owe the debt to claim an exemption.

5. YOU MAY HAVE A DEFENSE to all or part of the claim if it includes a "collection fee" or "attorney's fee", if it is an old debt, if it was incurred by fraud or deception, if you did not get what you bargained for or if you have been through bankruptcy. Your lawyer may advise you of other defenses to the garnishment.

6. JURY TRIAL AND NIGHT COURT may be available to you, in certain cases, by requesting them. Jury trials cost $6.00 and night court costs $1.00 in Justice Court.

7. IF YOU ARE FIRED because of a garnishment, report it to your union and you may be able to file a grievance or have it arbitrated.

8. UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION. Many courts say that garnishment is not "misconduct" on the job. If you are refused unemployment compensation for this reason, you have only 10 days to file Notice of Appeal with the Employment Security Department.

9. WELFARE, VETERANS AND SOCIAL SECURITY PAYMENTS and certain other kinds of government benefits cannot be garnished.

10. BANKRUPTCY OR A WAGE EARNER PLAN may be a way to protect yourself from repeated garnishments.

SEATTLE WOMEN ACT FOR PEACE (SWAP)

A source reported on May 17, 1962, a meeting of the Ballard-Greenwood CP Club was held in Seattle, April 25, 1962, at which TAIMI HALONEN was nominated to be the new Chairman of this Club. Along with other business of the evening, HALONEN said she expected to devote a good portion of her time to SWAP, an organization of peace forces that met recently with seven members. She said four of the seven were from the "left" but did not go into detail. She said the group had problems of an organizational nature because it was new, and she thought she could help.

On April 5, 1963, a second source stated a meeting of the University CP Club was held at Seattle on April 2, 1963. KEN ROSE, a member of the Club, reported the most influential peace organization in Seattle was SWAP.

On July 31, 1964, a meeting of the North Central CP Section Committee was held at Seattle. WILL PARRY, Section Chairman, said attention should be placed on three political questions - peace, civil rights, and labor. Under peace, he said CP clubs should inject the Women Act for Peace campaign into the election campaign. At another Section meeting, February 5, 1966, TAIMI HALONEN was praised for effective peace work and for her help in developing unity among the peace forces. Section-wide concentration was urged in assisting SWAP to visit 1,000 workers on the Vietnam issue.

A third source advised on February 24, 1966, a Northwest District CP Committee meeting was held at Seattle February 12, 1966. After lunch, the entire group participated in passing out leaflets pertaining to racial matters and the Vietnam war which carried the name of SWAP, 5411 Ravenna Avenue Northeast, Seattle, Washington 98105, which address has been used consistently by SWAP and is that of ANCI KOPPEL, also known as Mrs. CHARLES KOPPEL. KOPPEL has been and continues to be the coordinator and apparent prime motivating force of SWAP as of May, 1967.

A fourth source reported in 1945 ANCI KOPPEL was a member of the Professional Group of the Communist Political Association (CPA), also known as the Rogers CP Club at Seattle, Washington.

CONFIDENTIAL

The CPA has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

WASHINGTON CULTURAL COOPERATIVE (WCC), aka Washington Cultural Co-op Association

On February 23, 1960, a source reported the Communist Party (CP), Northwest District Committee, at a meeting in January, 1960, decided to prepare for opening a cooperative bookstore and directed the CP State Board to set up a Party committee for this purpose.

The above source also reported that at a state-wide CP conference held on August 27, 1960, CP District Chairman BURT NELSON reported on the WCC. NELSON announced the committee was determined to have the bookstore opened by the earliest possible date, probably October 15, (1960). He urged support of the WCC.

A second source in February and March, 1960, advised a committee of CP members during those months commenced organization of the WCC with authorized capital of $2,000 which was to sell shares and make other plans for operation of a bookstore selling "progressive" literature at Seattle. In May and June, 1960, this source reported BURT NELSON, on May 18, 1960, stated the CP District Literature Commission would concern itself with the bookstore and other types of literature to be sold. On May 31, 1960, BURT NELSON suggested October 1, 1960, as the tentative opening date of the bookstore.

A second source advised on November 2, 1960, the principal aim of the WCC is to establish a bookstore in the Seattle area inasmuch as this need has long been recognized by the Washington State CP due to difficulties encountered in maintaining a Party literature apparatus, and it is desired to have available public facilities to attract supporters and sympathizers. This source stated the WCC has obtained a location for its bookstore at 710 Stewart Street, Seattle, and operations commenced at that location on November 5, 1960.

A third source advised on May 1. 1967, that the WCC held its annual meeting of shareholders at the Roosevelt Hotel, Seattle, on April 30, 1967. As a part of the business at this meeting, a report was made on the financial status of "Co-op Books", 710 Stewart Street, Seattle, for the preceding year.

YOUNG POLITICAL EXPLORERS LEAGUE (YPEL)

A source stated REE ANN HALONEN, daughter of OIVA HALONEN, who was then the Chairman of the Communist Party's Industrial Section at Seattle, had said on July 29, 1957, that the youth group in Seattle was considering adoption of the name Young Political Explorers.

A second source advised a meeting of the Communist Party (CP) Downtown Club in Seattle was held on October 30, 1958. WANDA HUBBARD, CP member, stated she was the youth director of the Young Political Explorers. She stated there were two groups in Washington, and the Seattle group had fifteen active members. The age limits were from twelve to twenty years of age. The purpose of the group was to examine all political ideas, including socialism.

A third source also reported on the CP Downtown Club meeting on October 30, 1958. WANDA HUBBARD stated the youths had chosen the names of Young Political Explorers, which is a statewide CP organization and was formerly known as the Labor Youth League. HUBBARD stated it is directly supported and directed by the CP.

> The Labor Youth League has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

A fourth source advised MARY SUTHERLAND, Youth Director of the Northwest District of the CP, stated on May 17, 1961, that she was handling two youth groups, one of which was the teenage youth group.

The fourth source advised on February 10, 1967, the Young Political Explorers League continues in existence in the Seattle area and is under the guidance and leadership of MARY SUTHERLAND.

DEMONSTRATION PROTESTING UNITED STATES POLICY IN VIETNAM, WASHINGTON, D.C., JANUARY 15, 1968

On January 19, 1968, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished the following information:

On January 15, 1968, a group of approximately 175 women gathered at the Pennsylvania Railroad 30th Street Station in Philadelphia, Pa. They boarded three special coaches on the 8:10 a.m. train for Washington, D.C. The group was the Philadelphia Contingent of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade which was going to petition the Congress of the United States against the War in Vietnam. PA, DC

The train arrived at Washington, D.C., at about 10:45 a.m. The group remained at Union Station, Washington, D.C., for about an hour waiting for women arriving at the station from other points, so that the march could begin.

When all were assembled, the group marched in orderly fashion to Union Square near the Capitol. Prior to the march it was announced that a small group of women would present their petition to Congress, while VIVECA LINDFORS would read the petition to the assembled group of women at Union Square. D.C.

At Union Square, a girl folk singer entertained and there was a brief period of silence for those killed in Vietnam. There appeared to be about 5,000 women assembled at the Square. Most of the women wore some article of black clothing.

After the assembly at Union Square, the women boarded buses that took them to the Shoreham Hotel, where a Congress of American Women was convened. This began about 3:00 p.m.

DC.

Among the speakers were CORETTA KING, JEANETTE RANKIN, DC. and KATHERINE CAMP. DC.-PA.

The Philadelphia delegation left the Shoreham at 5:00 p.m., for the return trip home. They left Union Station, Washington, D.C., on the 6:10 p.m., train for Philadelphia.

Among those who were in the Philadelphia delegation were KATHERINE CAMP of the Womens International League for Peace and Freedom, PEARL CHERTOV, and Mrs. VIVIAN WILLIAMS.

PA.-D.C.

> The source stated that Mrs. VIVIAN WILLIAMS is the mother of Army Private RONALD LOCKMAN, who had been court-martialed for refusing an order to board transport for duty in Vietnam.

The source stated that WILLIAMS, while at the Women's Congress at the Shoreham, was observed being interviewed by newspaper reporters about her son.

> A second source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on January 26, 1968, that PEARL CHERTOV was the organizer for the Philadelphia Branch of the Socialist Workers Party (PBSWP).

Enclosed LHM is being classified CONFIDENTIAL since unauthorized disclosure of information furnished by the informant reflected therein could reasonably result in the identifying of this source of continuing value and jeopardize the future effectiveness thereof.

Referenced Bureau airtel to Albany, 12/5/67, instructed San Francisco and Atlanta to institute investigation under the caption "JEANNETTE RANKIN BRIGADE." The only activity of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade with which ISOBEL FORBES CERNEY was known to have been connected was on one occasion when she participated in a public meeting at the Ebenezer Baptist Church in Atlanta on [illegible] where discussions were held regarding plans for the Jeannette Rankin Brigade trip to Washington.

In view of the absence of any known subversive affiliation of any individuals in prominent positions with the Jeannette Rankin Brigade, the above-mentioned information regarding ISOBEL FORBES CERNEY's connection with the organization is being set forth in the enclosed LHM, under the caption of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade, and no further investigation is being conducted under the Jeannette Rankin Brigade caption at the present time, UACB.

On March 2, 1968, "The Guardian," formerly known as the "National Guardian," page 15, had an advertisement for a rally sponsored by the Jeannette Rankin Brigade with the theme of "End War in Vietnam and Social Crisis at Home." The rally was to be held at the Community Church, 45 East 35th Street, New York City, on March 7, 1968, at 8:00 PM.

On March 8, 1968, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that the above rally was held at the Community Church in New York City, on March 7, 1968, from 8:00 PM to 10:30 PM. Approximately one-hundred individuals attended. The main speaker was Diedra Stapp who spoke in opposition to the war in Vietnam. She called for an immediate cessation of the bombing and for immediate negotiations. She stated that the South Vietnamese soldiers should be doing the fighting. Stapp also stated that her husband was currently a member of the United States Army and that he was having difficulties with the Army and that she expected him to be discharged in the near future and that he would not receive an honorable discharge.

Another speaker was Florynce Kennedy who spoke primarily on racial matters. She stated that blacks and whites must live together or there will be frequent riots. She also indicated that she believed the government was attempting to get rid of some of the black leaders by prosecuting them. She called for the election of Dr. Benjamin Spock as President and also called for a hunger strike until the war in Vietnam was settled. Reverend Thomas Hayes gave an anti-Vietnam war speech in which he made reference to a book he had written about the Vietnam war. He also read a recent article in the "Wall Street Journal" concerning the war in Vietnam.

A film was shown of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade activities in Washington, D.C., on January 15, 1968, in which they demonstrated against the war in Vietnam in the vicinity of the United States Capitol and also held anti-war meetings on that date. Additionally, entertainment was provided by some individuals playing bongo drums and a female dancer.

WORKERS WORLD PARTY

On April 17, 1959, a confidential source advised that on February 12, 1959, a Socialist Workers Party (SWP) minority group under the leadership of National Committee member SAM BALLAN, split from the SWP.

The source stated that this minority group, referred to as the Marcyites, after many years of program and policy differences on varied issues concerning tactics and interpretation of political events, split from the SWP on the grounds that the Party was liquidating itself by departing from the Marxist precepts of LEON TROTSKY and retreating from the fight for the world socialist revolution. The final issue which ultimately forced the split was the minority's opposition to the SWP regroupment policy which involved cooperation with the Communist Party (CP) periphery-individuals characterized by the minority as petty-bourgeois.

The minority program, according to the source, advocated unconditional defense of the Soviet Union and has as its goal the building of a revolutionary party with a complete proletarian orientation for the purpose of overthrowing capitalism in the United States and throughout the world.

On May 12, 1960, source advised that this minority group had chosen the name Workers World Party.

On May 1, 1967, a second confidential source advised that the Workers World Party, which maintains headquarters at 46 West 21st Street, New York, New York, supports the People's Republic of China in its ideological dispute with the Soviet Union.

The SWP and CP have been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Re San Francisco airtel and letterhead memorandum to the Bureau, dated 1/16/68.

Informants

This matter was opened by the San Francisco Office on November 17, 1967, on receipt of information from [redacted] that an organization known as the Jeannette Rankin Brigade had sent out a call for a demonstration to be held at the White House, Washington, D. C., on January 8, 1968, in protest of the war in Vietnam. As noted in referenced San Francisco communication, the above efforts culminated in a demonstration at San Francisco, California, on January 15, 1968, and a companion demonstration held in Washington, D. C., on January 15, 1968.

A review of the San Francisco files in the above matter reflects that NIKKI BRIDGES, San Francisco Chairman of the Brigade, was on March 2, 1967, listed as a recipient of a new yearly subscription to the "People's World" (PW), expiration date March 4, 1968. There is no known Communist Party (CP) membership on the part of BRIDGES. VIVIAN HALLINAN, Executive Secretary of the Brigade, is the only other individual noted as an officer of the Brigade according to San Francisco files. San Francisco files do not reflect any known CP membership on the part of HALLINAN.

On January 31, 1968, at a meeting of the Marin County Chapter of the Women's International League For Peace and Freedom (WILPF). [redacted] advised that during a general discussion concerning the Brigade, it was felt that the group did not want the Brigade to become another formalized group, but rather keep the Brigade as a loose organization, and as an umbrella group for the WILPF.

San Francisco files in addition reflect that there has not been at any time a known group of members of the Brigade; rather the organization has been sponsored by women on both a local and national level, many of whom are members of varied women's peace groups.

In view of the above information, indicating a lack of specific membership and future activity, no further investigation is being conducted by the San Francisco Office under the Jeannette Rankin Brigade caption at the present time, UACB.

This matter will be closely followed and should any future information received by the San Francisco Office appear to warrant additional investigation, this matter will be reopened.

Demonstration Protesting U.S. Policy in Vietnam

Pages S145-S146. Senator Thurmond, (R) South Carolina, spoke concerning the demonstration on January 15 by a group of anti-war protestors called the Jeannette Rankin Brigade. He stated "Upon close inspection, one sees that the list of organizers and sponsors of this group is pretty much the same list of tired campaigners for far-left causes. ---- In short, the brigade was a typical united front operation--the tried and tested Communist tactic by which many well-intentioned people are deluded into supporting a cause organized, financed, and directed by professional militants." Mr. Thurmond set forth information on Mrs. Vivian Hallinan described by the press as the leader and organizer of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade. He also included information on her family which included the following: "Michael and Terence Hallinan, sons of Vincent and Vivian Hallinan, were among the principal organizers of the W. E. B. DuBois Clubs, which have been described by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover as a Communist-spawned youth organization. The Hallinans, wife and husband and sons, were deeply involved in the protests at the University of California at Berkeley, both in the so-called free speech movement, and in the sit-ins at San Francisco."

Mrs. Robert Gronner

As detailed in recommunications, the January demonstration was a function of the Jeannette Rankin Brigade, self-described in its literature as a broad coalition of women from many areas of American life. Chicago headquarters of the Brigade was given as c/o GEORGINA GRONNER, 520 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago. In developing information regarding the January activity, it was determined that the Chicago coordinating committee was composed of LUCILLE MONTGOMERY, MARJORIE KINSELLA, CAROL TRAVIS and ROSALIND DURHAM, with travel arrangements being made by SYLVIA KUSHNER.

LUCILLE MONTGOMERY was chairman of the host committee of the convention of the National Conference for New Politics(NC

CAROL TRAVIS, who was secretary of a steering committe which arranged for the NCNP convention, attended a meeting of a Communist Party (CP) of Illinois Club held in Chicago February 14, 1968, according to [redacted]. Investigation concerning TRAVIS is pending.

Informant

KINSELLA, DURHAM and KUSHNER are known CP members. No subversive information concerning MONTGOMERY is identifiable in Chicago indices.

Captioned case was initiated to determine the extent of activity and degree of communist influence in the organization in the Chicago area.

Individual owed obligation of confidentiality

On January 12, 1968, [redacted], Intelligence Division, Chicago PD, identified GEORGINA GRONNER as the wife of Dr. ROBERT GRONNER, MD. 3162 North Pine Grove Avenue, with offices at 670 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.

No other information in Chicago files. ROBERT GRONNER appears to be identical with Chicago file 140-2299 as attending physician (1957) Veterans Administration Research Laboratory, VA, Chicago, Illinois, SGE, on basis that he spoke at a 1952 meeting sponsored by the Chicago Council of Arts, Sciences and Professions.

Individual owed obligation of confidentiality

On February 1, 1968, [redacted] Intelligence Division, Chicago PD, advised that LUCILLE MONTGOMERY was the motivating force and almost solely responsible for organizing for the Brigade in Chicago. She was assisted as needed by the individuals listed above in arranging for participation in the January activity and held several meetings at her apartment in that regard.

Individual owed obligation of confidentiality

On April 18, 1968, [redacted] advised that all information which had been developed by that agency regarding the Brigade was concerned directly with the January march on Washington and the supporting local demonstration in Chicago January 15, 1968. They had no knowledge that any meetings or other activities have been held subsequent to that time andwere of the opinion that the organization as a continuing affair did not "get off the ground" in Chicago.

Information concerning the January demonstrations was received at that time from numerous Chicago informants and others in a position to learn of any subsequent activity. These were alerted through frequent contacts and have advised they have no knowledge of continuance of the Brigade as an active organization. Because of a lack of indications that the Brigade has, to date, developed into a functioning organization, it is not believed additional investigation is warranted at this time and this case is being closed. WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION
DEMONSTRATION,
NOVEMBER 20, 1971
WASHINGTON, D.C.

On October 19, 1971, KC T-1, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Sarah Schmidtlein, nee Copowycz, a Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) member and Kansas City Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) head, is attempting to stimulate interest in various women's groups to get together a Kansas City women's delegation to attend the WONAAC demonstration on November 20, 1971, at Washington, D.C. KC T-1 advised that the Washington demonstration is to demonstrate against the abortion law repeal alleged to be voted on in Congress at that time. KC T-1 said at the present time plans are to send one busload and more if tickets to be sold.

As the youth organization of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer," as "A multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION COALITION (WONAAC)
SPONSORED DEMONSTRATION NOVEMBER 20, 1971
WASHINGTON, D. C.

On September 29, 1971, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that WONAAC sent a letter to its supporters, which stated the following:

"To: Women and women's organizations throughout the world

"Dear Sisters,

"Throughout history few things have been more universal or known fewer national boundaries than the suffering of women from the denial of our right to control our own lives, our own bodies. Decades ago the suffragists of the United States took inspiration from their British sisters and went on to build part of the international movement through which women won the right to vote.

"Today, in every corner of the earth, laws deny women the right to abortion, the right to decide whether or not to have children. Now a new generation of women has begun to stand up for our rights. The struggle for the right to abortion is rapidly crossing boundaries of nations and continents, of language and background. We have inspired one another and learned from one another.

"In the United States women from many backgrounds are uniting in this fight. On November 20, we will march in massive numbers on Washington, D. C., and San Francisco, to demand the repeal of all anti-abortion laws, with no forced sterilization and the repeal of all restrictive contraceptive laws. We call on our sisters around the world to unite with us on that day, to bring out power together, to let the world hear in one united voice and many languages our slogan 'ABORTION -- A WOMAN'S RIGHT TO CHOOSE.'

"When we join together throughout the world, no force can stop us.

"In sisterhood,

"Delegates to the first Women's National Abortion Conference Held in New York City, July 16-18, 1971."

On October 12, 1971, second source, who is in a position to furnish such information, provided a copy of the WONAAC National Newsletter dated September 16, 1971, which contained the following self-description:

"WONAAC is based on a nationally coordinated abortion law repeal campaign including legislation, legal action and nationally-coordinated mass demonstrations in Washington, D. C., and San Francisco, on November 20, for the repeal of all anti-abortion laws and the corollary demands of no forced sterilization and the repeal of all restrictive contraception laws.

"We were formed at a national conference held at Columbia University July 19, 1971, attended by over 1,000 women from 23 states and 253 organizations. The call for this conference was initiated by women organizing Women Vs Connecticut, the class action suit in that state and women's liberation groups in New York City. This call was then endorsed by hundreds of women around the country who participated in the spirited and educational conference which formed WONAAC.

"WONAAC aims to reach all women ... Black, Chicana, Latina, Asian, Puerto Rican and Native American women, campus women, gay women, high school women, housewives, professional, welfare and working women, young women, women from churches, political organizations, trade unions, the military and communities across the country ... and to build the broadest possible movement for abortion law repeal."

The newsletter proclaimed that the WONAAC National Office would be moved from New York City, to Washington, D. C., to facilitate all aspects of organizing the Fall Abortion Law Repeal Campaign. The following women from the old New York staff were moved to Washington, D. C.:

EMBER OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATIO

The National Coordinating Committee of WONAAC was scheduled to meet October 2, 1971, at 12:00 noon, 2230 Withrel Street, Detroit Michigan, to discuss among other points, the details for the November 20, 1971 march on Washington, D. C.

DC

The newsletter also outlined the following speaking tour of Dr. Barbara Roberts to publicize the aims of WONAAC and to promote participation in the November 20, 1971, demonstration:

"September 23, 24	Seattle
October 5, 6	Atlanta
October 13, 14	Houston
November 7-13	Los Angeles"

The October 15, 1971, issue of the "Washington Post", a daily newspaper in Washington, D. C., carried the following notice regarding the WONAAC sponsored November 20, 1971, rally for Washington, D. C.:

"...Coordinators of the event said they hope for a turnout of about 20,000 women whowould stage the first national female march on the Capitol since women won the right to vote in 1920.

"Dr. Barbara Roberts, national project director of the coalitions, said the march, scheduled to go past the White House and down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol, would attack "abortion laws which degrade, mutilate and murder women."

"The coalition, which comprises about 30 women's groups, will also demonstrate against forced sterilization and restrictive contraception laws and plans to hold national abortion hearings in Washington before the march."

First source advised on October 15, 1971, that the November 20, 1971, rally has received mixed support from various Washington, D. C., women's liberation groups. Several radical women's groups refused to endorse the November 20, 1971, action because they view it as a Young Socialist Alliance (YSA)/Socialist Workers Party (SWP) Front which will use these rallies to further its own recruitment drive. Furthermore, they considered YSA/SWP to be "non-feminist". Main support for the November 20, 1971, demonstration will come from the WSA Women's Fraction Group.

Important endorsements thus far are coming from Betty Freidan, noted author in Women's Liberation Movement, New York Congress woman, Bella Abzug and Dr. Milan M. Vuitch, a Washington, D. C., doctor involved in the abortion controversy. Lynda Jenness, the SWP presidential candidate is scheduled to be one of the speakers.

On October 18, 1971, CV T-1, a reliable source, advised that LAURIE PERKUS, 11220 Bellflower, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, telephone number 368-2248, had made arrangements to charter four 43 passenger coaches from Greyhound Bus Lines for a trip to Washington, D. C. on November 19, 1971, and return on November 20, 1971. PERKUS had made the above arrangements in the name of the Abortion Project Coalition, not further identified, and had stated that a need for four additional coaches may arise prior to planned departure. The Cleveland group is scheduled to depart Cleveland at 11:30 p.m., November 19, 1971, and arrive in Washington, D. C. at 8:30 a.m., November 20, 1971, with planned destination noted merely as "Pennsylvania Avenue". Only one day in Washington, D. C. is planned inasmuch as the group is scheduled to depart Washington, D. C. at 6:00 p.m., November 20, 1971, and arrive Cleveland, Ohio, at 3:00 a.m., November 21, 1971.

On October 27, 1971, CV T-2, a reliable source, advised that LAURIE PERKUS is a current active member of the Cleveland Branch of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP).

The Cleveland Branch of the SWP is affiliated with the National SWP and follows its directives. The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

a daily newspaper of general circulation in the Cleveland, Ohio, area, and related that the Cleveland Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC) had held its first meeting on September 13, 1970, since summer recess to plan statewide anti-war activities for the fall. The above article reported that LAURIE PERKUS, age 21, had been appointed a full time committee staff member of the Cleveland SMC.

STUDENT MOBILIZATION COMMITTEE TO END THE WAR IN VIETNAM

The Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC) is controlled by the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and its youth affiliate, Young Socialist Alliance. SMC initiates and supports public demonstrations against the war in Southeast Asia.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On October 19, 1971, an article entitled "Women Strive For Abortion Reform" appeared in "The Caldron", a student newspaper circulated on the Cleveland State University (CSU) campus, Cleveland, Ohio, related that a Women's Educational Conference on Abortion Law Repeal was scheduled for October 23, 1971, at Case Western Reserve University (CWRU), Cleveland, Ohio, and that speakers included BARBARA ROBB, the attorney for the Michigan Women's Abortion Youth and a National coordinator of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC). The above article characterized both the WONAAC and the Cleveland Abortion Project Coalition as follows:

> "One way that women are engaged in a coordinated National campaign is through the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) with which the Cleveland Abortion Project Coalition is affiliated. WONAAC was formed at a National Women's Conference in New York City in mid-July which was attended by over 1000 women from 29 states. It was at this conference that the National Abortion Law Repeal Campaign was launched. The women endorsed the aforementioned demands and a coordinated campaign of legislative action, court action, and a massive march on Washington D. C. and San Francisco on November 20."

On October 24, 1971, CV T-3, a reliable source, advised that LAURIE PERKUS had been recruiting women to travel to Washington, D. C. on November 19 - 21, 1971, to take part in a massive demonstration planned to protest abortion laws. PERKUS had stated that the Abortion Project Coalition of Cleveland would utilize four busses and round-trip fare for one person would be $17.

On October 29, 1971, CV T-1, advised that during October, 1971, LAURIE PERKUS had made two reservations for air transportation for individuals to travel to Cleveland, Ohio, on October 23, 1971. The first reservation was made for BARBARA ROBB, 2761 East Jefferson, Detroit, Michigan, telephone number 513/567-0450, and was to cover a flight from Detroit to Cleveland on October 23, 1971 for ROBB; however, ROBB did not utilize her reservation. The second reservation was made for CAROL LIPMAN, whose home address was given as 917 15th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C., telephone number 202/347-0946, and was to cover a flight on October 23, 1971, from Washington, D. C. to Cleveland, Ohio, and return same date via United Airlines flight 423 to Cleveland and United Airlines flight 666Y return to Washington, D. C. The reservation for LIPMAN was utilized on October 23, 1971, as planned.

On April 28, 1970, CV T-4, a reliable source, advised that CAROL LIPMAN is a member of the SWP.

Subject organization

It is noted that November 20, 1971, is the date of a publicly announced march and rally by the Woman's National Abortion Action Coalition culminating in a rally at 2:00 p.m., on the west steps of the United States Capitol. In a Washington Post ~~Daily~~ Newspaper article of October 15, 1971, Dr. Barbara Roberts, National Project Director of the coalition stated that the march would attack abortion laws which degraded, mutilated and murdered women. She stated the coalition was comprised of about 30 women's groups which would demonstrate against the forced sterilization and restrictive contraception laws and also plan to hold national abortion hearings in Washington, D.C., before the march. Roberts estimated between 10,000 and 20,000 women would engage in this march and rally. D-1

SUBJECT: DEMONSTRATIONS, WASHINGTON, D. C., AND SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA, NOVEMBER 20, 1971, SPONSORED BY THE WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION COALITION

This memorandum advises of demonstrations being scheduled in Washington, D. C., and San Francisco, California, on 11/20/71 to build public support for the repeal of antiabortion laws.

The Women's National Abortion Action Coalition was formed at a conference held at Columbia University, New York City, in July, 1971, which was attended by approximately 1,000 women from 29 states. The conference voted to make a woman's right to abortion a national and political issue. Subsequent to its formation, the coalition called for demonstrations in San Francisco and Washington on 11/20/71 to build public support for the repeal of all antiabortion laws, to protest forced sterilization, and to call for an end to restrictive contraceptive laws. A source of the Washington Field Office has advised that the march in Washington is supported by the Young Socialist Alliance, the youth group of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP). Carol Lipman, who is a member of the SWP, is Project Director of the Washington march.

Coalition leaders in requesting permit for the demonstration have estimated that participation in the Washington march will range between 10,000 and 20,000 persons. The Washington Field Office has developed information that 46 buses have been chartered to bring participants to the demonstration. Participants will represent some 80 cities. The Metropolitan Police Department anticipates participation will be in the vicinity of 5,000 persons

NOV 22 1971

Demonstrators are scheduled to assemble at the Ellipse between 10 a.m. and 12 noon and will march via 17th Street to H Street, down H Street to 15th Street, down 15th Street to Pennsylvania Avenue, ~~and then east on~~ Pennsylvania Avenue to the west steps of the Capitol. A rally will be held at the latter site between 2 and 6 p.m.

WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION COALITION (WONAAC) SPONSORED DEMONSTRATION
Washington, D. C.

The WONAAC is self-described in its literature as being formed by the national conference of more than 1,000 women held in New York City, New York, in July 1971. At that conference, women from 29 states and 253 organizations came together to unite their efforts in the national fight for the repeal of all abortion laws and for the corollary demands of no forced sterilization and repeal of contraception laws. The conference called for a massive show of force for these goals in a march on Washington, D.C., and San Francisco, California, November 20, 1971. WONAAC is based on a program of legislative, judicial, and mass demonstration activities on a local and national level, and seeks to unite all women in the fight for the right of abortion.

The September 22, 1971, issue of the "Los Angeles Times", a newspaper of general circulation published daily in Los Angeles, California, contains an article on page 6, part IV, datelined Washington, D. C., entitled "Abortion March Mobilizing", which article states in part as follows:

> "Women from 253 organizations across the country are mobilizing for mass demonstrations here (Washington, D. C.) and in San Francisco in November to support the complete repeal of all abortion laws.

WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION
ACTION COALTION (WONAAC)

> "These groups, which joined in July (1971) to form the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC), are organizing a march Nov. 20 (1971) in Washington planned to take them past the White House, the Supreme Court and the Capitol--institutions which they feel can effect significant changes in existing abortion laws. They are expecting what they call a conservative estimate of between 10,000-20,000 persons, but are hoping for thousands more."

On November 10, 1971, source one made available the following leaflet issued by the Los Angeles Women's Abortion Action Committee (LAWAAC), an affiliate of the WONAAC, and annoucing a demonstration to be held November 20, 1971, at San Francisco, California, to protest abortion laws and forced sterilization and restrictive contraception laws.

Repeal anti abortion laws Against forced sterilizaton and restrictive contraception laws

EVERY STATE IN THE UNITED STATES HAS LAWS ON THE BOOKS WHICH RESTRICT THE RIGHT OF WOMEN TO OBTAIN ABORTIONS. WE BELIEVE THAT ALL SUCH LAWS DENY US ONE OF OUR MOST BASIC RIGHTS -- THE RIGHT TO CONTROL OUR OWN BODIES; THE RIGHT TO CONTROL OUR OWN LIVES. RESTRICTIVE ABORTION LAWS PROVIDE THE BASIS OF LEGALIZED MURDER OF THOUSANDS OF WOMEN. INVOLUNTARY STERILIZATIONS ARE THE PRICE POOR WOMEN ARE OFTEN FORCED TO PAY IN ORDER TO OBTAIN SAFE, LEGAL ABORTIONS.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ALL WOMEN TO COME TOGETHER IN A NATIONALLY-COORDINATED EFFORT TO WIN THE CONSTITUTIONAL AND DEMOCRATIC RIGHT OF WOMEN TO DECIDE FOR THEMSELVES WHETHER OR NOT THEY WANT TO BEAR CHILDREN, AND TO CONTROL THEIR OWN LIVES.

*SINCE WOMEN WON THE RIGHT TO VOTE.

WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION
ACTION COALITION (WONAAC)

It was ascertained by means of a suitable pretext by a representative of the FBI on November 10, 1971, that the LAWAAC plans to charter a bus from Los Angeles to San Francisco for Los Angeles individuals interested in participating in the above November 20, 1971, demonstration in San Francisco. The bus is scheduled to depart Los Angeles at 10:00 p.m., on November 19, 1971, and to depart San Francisco after the demonstration at 10:00 p.m., November 20, 1971. The cost of a round trip ticket on a bus will be $14.00.

The November 11, 1971, issue of the "UCLA Daily Bruin", the official campus newspaper of the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA), 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, contained an article on page 2 entitled "Symposium Presents Views on Women's Roles in Society", which article indicated that Dr. Barbara Roberts was one of a number of speakers at a "teach-in" symposium on women held at UCLA. According to the article, Dr. Roberts talks about her work as a volunteer doctor in an abortion clinic in Washington, D. C. The article indicated that WONAAC would sponsor simultaneous demonstrations in San Francisco and Washington, D. C., on November 20, 1971, to protest abortion laws.

The November 12, 1971, issue of "The Militant" contained an article on page 5 entitled "Building for Nov. 20" which article describes Dr. Barbara Roberts as the National Project Director of WONAAC.

"The Militant" is the weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP).

The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The above November 11, 1971, issue of the "UCLA Daily Bruin" further indicated that another speaker at the "teach-in" symposium of women at UCLA was Olga Rodriguez, Calif described by the article as a member of WONAAC. According to the article, RODRIGUEZ "spoke out against laws which harm women and children and laws which make some Black and nonwhite women turn to sterilization as an answer to birth control.

On November 11, 1971, source two advised that Olga Rodriguez is a currently active member of the Los Angeles Local - Socialist Workers Party (LAL - SWP) and the Los Angeles Branch - Young Socialist Alliance (LAB - YSA).

The LAL - SWP has been in existence since the 1930's. The LAL - SWP is a local branch of the SWP.

The Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) in the Los Angeles area (LAB - YSA) is actually the youth organization of the SWP and follows the SWP aims and purposes to the letter.

As the youth organization of the SWP, the YSA serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer", as "a multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

According to the masthead of "The Young Socialist Organizer" it is described as "A bi-weekly action publication of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), a multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

The WONAAC is self-described in its literature as being formed by the national conference of more than 1,000 women held in New York City, New York, in July, 1971. At that conference, women from twenty-nine states and two hundred fifty-three organizations came together to unite their efforts in the national fight for the repeal of all abortion laws and for the corollary demands of no forced sterilization and repeal of contraception laws. The conference called for a massive show of force for these goals in a march on Washington, D.C., and San Francisco, California, November 20, 1971. WONAAC is based on a program of legislative, judicial, and mass demonstration activities on a local and national level, and seeks to unite all women in the fight for the right of abortion.

On November 20, 1971, Special Agents of the San Francisco Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) observed that approximately five hundred individuals, primarily young women in their teens and early twenties, gathered at the Embarcadero, San Francisco, California, and began marching at 11:10 a.m. from the Embarcadero, en route to the Civic Center, San Francisco. They carried signs such as "free our women" and "separate church and state". By 12:30 p.m., the marchers had arrived at the Civic Center where a female rock band was performing. A rally was held at the Civic Center from approximately 1:45 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., addressed by individuals supporting repeal of abortion laws.

There were no incidents or arrests with regard to the march and rally, according to San Francisco Police Department records, and the official police estimate of the crowd attending the rally was approximately eight hundred individuals.

The Sunday, November 21, 1971, edition of the "San Francisco Examiner", a San Francisco, California, daily newspaper, in an article entitled "Pro and Anti-Abortion Forces Hold Rallies", described HELEN MEYERS, one of the speakers at the Civic Center rally, as Regional Coordinator for WONAAC.

A source who has provided reliable information in the past, on November 16, 1971, advised as follows:

nee Miles

Matilde Zimmerman, telephone number 547-1818, of "Boston Women's Abortion Action," 552 Massachusetts Avenue, Room 9, Cambridge, Massachusetts, had ordered five buses with a forty-five person capacity each from the Brush Hill Transportation Company, Dorchester (Boston), Massachusetts, for travel to Washington, D. C., on November 19, 1971; and a $1,500 cash deposit against a total cost of $3,500 was made on November 15, 1971. The buses were scheduled to depart for Washington, D. C., at approximately 9 p.m. on November 19, 1971, from a parking lot at the Purity Supreme Market, Green Street, Cambridge; and the cost of the round-trip ticket was $18.

A second source who has provided reliable information in the past, on November 17, 1971, provided the following information:

The Boston Women's Abortion Action Coalition (BOWAAC), the local affiliate of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC), was formed out of the local Female Liberation (FL) group; and while BOWAAC is not exclusively made up of Socialist Workers Party (SWP), Boston, and Young Socialist Alliance of Boston (YSA-B) female members, it is controlled by members of those groups.

At a meeting of the SWP, Boston, held November 16, 1971, it was reported that the local BOWAAC was hoping to fill four buses with participants for travel to Washington, D. C., for the November 20, 1971, demonstration but that a specific number of actual participants from this area was not then known.

The New England Telephone Listing Service personnel on November 17, 1971, advised that telephone number 547-1818 is listed to BOWAAC, 552 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, and that telephone number 491-1071 is listed to FL located at that same address.

At approximately 10 a.m., November 20, 1971, Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) observed women who represented various women's groups from cities in the United States, including Boston, gathering on the Ellipse in Washington, D. C. At approximately 12:10 p.m., the group, then numbering about 1,500, was observed to march from the Ellipse to the West Front of the Capitol; and during the march to the Capitol, signs carried by some of the marchers were observed to read "Rhode Island Women for Abortion Reform" and "Boston Repeal All Abortion Laws."

The Special Agents also observed that two tables of SWP literature were set up during the gathering at the Ellipse and four at the rally site at the Capitol. The rally ended about 4 p.m. without incident.

The second source, on December 3, 1971, advised that the organizer of the SWP, Boston, had recently reported that between eighty to one hundred individuals had traveled from Boston to Washington, D. C., to participate in the WONAAC November 20, 1971, demonstration.

BOSTON WOMEN'S ABORTION ACTION COALITION

"The Militant," a weekly newspaper of the SWP, in its November 14, 1971, edition carried the following announcement: "Abortion Conference - The Second National Conference of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition will be held February 11-13, 1972, at Boston University. For further information, contact WONAAC, 150 Fifth Avenue, Suite 843, New York, New York 10011. Phone (212) 741-0450."

On January 12, 1972, the second source advised that SWP, Boston, and YSA-B members active in BOWAAC were distributing a "Housing Fact Sheet" to locate housing accommodations for individuals visiting the Boston area to attend the above-scheduled conference at Boston University February 11-13, 1972. This Fact Sheet listed the BOWAAC office at 552 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, telephone number 547-1818.

This second source further advised as follows on January 12, 1972:

BOWAAC was originally a subcommittee of the FL group locally but has now grown into a separate group whose specific interest is in abortion reform. Both BOWAAC and FL in the general Boston area are located at the same address, 552 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, but have separate offices at that address.

Individuals active in BOWAAC are also active in other FL work; however, all individuals active in FL work are not active in BOWAAC.

The SWP and YSA in the Boston area have approximately fifteen of their FL members active in FL work with approximately six to eight of this number in and the controlling forces of BOWAAC. Jane Roland, who joined the SWP, Boston, in late 1971, is now heading up the Party's faction work in FL and BOWAAC; and Matilde Miles and Evelyn Clark continue on a leave of absence from the SWP, Boston, and to work at the National Headquarters of WONAAC.

BOSTON WOMEN'S ABORTION ACTION COALITION

A third source who has provided reliable information in the past, on January 17, 1972, advised that Patricia F. Putnam, President of Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts FL, residence 162 Hampshire Street, Cambridge, telephone number 547-8557, under the sponsorship of Boston University FL has reserved Hayden Hall, Boston University, and fifty classrooms located in the College of Business Administration College of Liberal Arts, Boston University, also the location of Hayden Hall, for the period February 11-13, 1972, for a "conference open to the public." According to the third source, it was requested that five of the fifty classrooms have a seating capacity of seventy-five or over.

This third source further advised that Patricia Putnam, Social Security Number 024-36-7397, as of the 1970-1971 school year was listed as a senior in the College of Liberal Arts (CLA), Boston University, with a residence at 35 Glencoe Street, Brighton (Boston), Massachusetts.

The third source advised that the 1971-1972 Boston University Listing of Students shows Putnam as still a CLA senior with residence as of the September, 1971, registration at 90 Lake Street, Newton, Massachusetts.

Information was received at Cleveland, Ohio that an organization called the Abortion Project Coalition (APC) had formed in Cleveland and was planning to attend a demonstration in Washington,D.C. on November 20, 1971 sponsored by the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC). Subsequent investigation and information supplied by reliable sources revealed that the APC had been formed to campaign for abortion law reform.

On October 29, 1971 a reliable source advised that the APC had established a headquarters at 11220 Bellflower, Cleveland Heights, Ohio, telephone 368-2248, which is located in Flora Mather Hall, Case Western Reserve University (CRWU). Source further advised that Laurie Perkus, Robbie Scheer and Sue Tryon were the leaders of the APC all of whom were associated individually with the Socialist Workers Party (SWP).

On December 3, 1971 a second source, reliable, advised that during a meeting of the Cleveland Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) on November 21, 1971 Robbie Scheer stated that about 5,000 women attended the Women's Liberation March in Washington, D.C. on November 20, 1971, including a bus of approximately 40 women from Cleveland. The Cleveland YSA according to source, considered 40 a good number for the first women's liberation march.

CLEVELAND, OHIO

The Cleveland branch of the YSA is the youth group of the SWP in Cleveland.

On December 22, 1971 above source advised that on December 21, 1971 Robbie Scheer had stated that there were some intersession classes being held at CWRU, Cleveland, Ohio, by the APC. These are three classes in Women's Liberation: one on Abortion, one on Women's Literature, and one in Psychological Aspects of the Women's Liberation Movement.

On December 22, 1971 a reliable source advised that about 2,000 - 2,500 persons attended the march and rally for abortion law reform on November 20, 1971 at Washington, D.C. of which approximately 80% were female and 20% were male. Source stated that the march was fairly orderly and source noted only one minor incident which occurred at a theater along the route that was showing the movie "The Sex Machine". There was no destruction and no arrests were made.

On January 10, 1972 Tony Zemac, University Circle Police Department, Cleveland, Ohio, advised that his office had received numerous leaflets and references to the Abortion Project Coalition, which is located at CWRU, but that his office did not consider the APC a subversive organization in its own right. He further advised that to the best of his knowledge, the APC is organized and is operated solely for the

BLOOMINGTON ABORTION COALITION

On November 4, 1971, Segeant John Tomlinson, U. S. Park Police, Washington, D. C., furnished a permit application for a demonstration to be held November 20, 1971, at Washington, D. C. The sponsoring organization was given as Women's National Abortion Action Coalition, 917 15th Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C. In addition to the main sponsoring organization, other sponsors were also listed and included in those listed was the Bloomington Abortion Coalition, 702 Atwater, Bloomington, Indiana, 47401.

On November 10, 1971, a confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised that a meeting of the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) was held at Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana, on November 2, 1971. At the meeting, a discussion concerning the Washington, D. C., demonstration of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) was held at which time Paula Savich, head of the women's faction of the YSA and Chairwoman for the Bloomington Abortion Coalition (BAC), gave a report. Savich stated that bus tickets for the November 20, 1971, demonstration to be held in Washington, D. C., would be sold in Bloomington on November 8, 1971. Savich stated that the local chapter, which is the BAC, would be asked to assume fund-raising quotas and help to pay debts incurred by the national organization. Savich encouraged all YSA members, both male and female, to travel to Washington, D. C., for the demonstration. It was also discussed that male members of the YSA would be expected to assume part of the transportation costs by YSA women who participated in the November 20, 1971, demonstration at Washington, D. C. According to this source, the BAC is backed primarily by the YSA at Indiana University and the Chairwoman, Paula Savich, is a member of the YSA at Indiana University. The organization was formed by the women's faction of the YSA principally for attendance at the Washington, D. C., demonstration.

LOOMINGTON ABORTION COALITION

As the youth organization of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer," as "A multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

On November 18, 1971, the confidential source listed above and a second confidential source who has furnished reliable information in the past advised approximately 15 individuals would be attending the demonstration in Washington, D. C., from Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana. The individuals traveling were to represent the BAC headed by Paula Savich, Chairwoman and YSA member. Included in those scheduled to travel were approximately five or six members of the YSA from Indiana University and plans were for individuals to travel in two Ford Econoline vans rented from U-Haul, Bloomington, Indiana. Original plans had called for a bus to be chartered; however, the lack of individuals signing up to attend the demonstration resulted in the cancellation of the bus.

On November 16, 1971, an article entitled "Abortion Repeal March Plans Set" appeared on page 12 of the "Indiana Daily Student", a local campus daily newspaper. The article indicated approximately 40 students were to travel to Washington, D. C., and that Student Body President Mary Scifres had been invited by the WONAAC to speak at a rally on the Capitol steps in Washington, D. C. According to the article, Scifres had not decided whether or not to accept the invitation. Paula Savich, Chairwoman for the local committee, according to the article, stated, "It is important that this march be really big". She indicated that they were taking reservations for the bus trip to Washington.

On November 24, 1971, the first confidential source mentioned above advised that the BAC in Washington, D. C., participated in the demonstrations as scheduled. Source indicated that no problems arose from the demonstration. According to the source, Indiana University Student Body President Mary Scifres did not attend the demonstration but did send a statement which was to be read at the demonstration; however, due to difficulties, this statement was never read. According to source, between 15 and 20 persons actually attended the demonstration who were from Indiana University.

On November 30, 1971, an article appeared on page 9 of the "Indiana Daily Student", supra, captioned "Women March for Abortion Reform". The article stated that less than the forty students who had been expected to attend the demonstration actually attended. The article indicated that the large number of persons expected to attend the Washington, D. C., demonstration from all over the country did not materialize. The article also stated that Student Body President Mary Scifres, who had had to decline an invitation by the demonstration sponsors to speak at the march because of obligations at Indiana University, prepared a statement to be read. Her statement and several other statements, however, were not read because of the lack of time due to frequent breakdown of sound equipment delaying speeches. According to the article, Paula Savich had expected a better turnout from Indiana University.

On January 17, 1972, the second confidential source mentioned above advised that the BAC was not currently active and that it was not expected to be active in the near future unless other demonstrations such as the demonstration held in Washington, D. C., on November 20, 1971, called for support from Indiana University. According to this source, the BAC had been formed principally by members of the YSA, namely Paula Savich, who was Chairwoman for the BAC and who currently heads the women's faction of the YSA at Indiana University.

RE: WOMEN'S RIGHT TO CHOOSE OF MARYLAND
INTERNAL SECURITY - COMMUNIST (TROTSKYIST)

On November 13, 1971, a source advised that the Women's National Abortion Coalition (WONAAC) planned to hold demonstrations at Washington, D. C. and San Francisco, California on November 20, 1971. The purpose of the demonstrations were to call for the repeal of all abortion, contraception and forced sterilization laws. The Women's Right to Choose of Maryland, the Baltimore, Maryland affiliate of WONAAC was to organize busing and housing arrangements for out-of-state women.

On November 22, 1971, a source advised that the Women's Right to Choose of Maryland, working from 3028 Greenmout Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland, were unsuccessful in attempts to generate enthusiasm for the WONNAC demonstration among Baltimore area women. Therefore, the plan to charter a bus for the purpose of transporting demonstrators to the Washington, D. C. rally was cancelled.

On November 30, 1971, a second source advised that the Women's Right to Choose of Maryland had been formed as an "ad hoc" group for the specific purpose of supporting the November 20, 1971 Washington, D. C. demonstration. The source further stated that the Women's Right to Choose of Maryland ceased to exist, following this demonstration, and is now defunct.

GENERAL ACTIVITIES

In the spring of 1971, members of the YSA-TCG were urged to make telephone calls to local radio stations in order to build public sympathy for a march on the state capitol to be held on April 3, 1971, to end all abortion laws in the state of Minnesota.

At a meeting of the TCB-SWP held in April, 1971, Mary Hillery reported that there were approximately 600 participants in the anti-abortion law march held on April 3, 1971. Rebecca Ann Finch in November, 1971, was an active member of the YSA - TCG.

SWP INFLUENCE

The MWAAC is not a committee of the TCB-SWP nor is it a part of the YSA-TCG. Women's liberation is a topic of general interest and concern to the membership of the TCB-SWP; and the anti-abortion stand taken by MWAAC is one aspect of the women's liberation movement of interest.

MP T-2 on
February 4, 1972

Members of the YSA-TCG have expressed an interest in women's liberation as a matter of policy. The anti-abortion movement is one aspect of women's liberation of concern to female members of the YSA-TCG. The vast majority of women in the state of Minnesota support either the repeal or changes in present state laws on abortion. Members and sponsors of MWAAC include professional women, medical doctors, lawyers, municipal court judges, and others from all walks of life.

January 26, 1972

Individuals active in the women's liberation movement in the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota, of responsible leadership positions within the community, have recognized the sympathies of individuals such as Mary Hillery and consider her to be a representative of the radical left. As a result, Mary Hillery is considered to have little or no influence in the women's liberation movement in this area.

SECOND WOMENS NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION CONFERENCE FEBRUARY 11 THROUGH 13, 1972 AT BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that the Second Womens National Abortion Action Conference, sponsored by the Womens National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC), commenced on Friday evening, February 11, 1972, at Hayden Hall on the campus of Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts.

> WONAAC has been publicly described as an organization of groups whose aim is to effect the overthrow of existing abortion laws and to establish "free abortion on demand."

The source advised that the opening session of the conference was in the nature of a rally with approximately 600 individuals in attendance. The rally was addressed by a number of speakers, including Matilde Zimmerman, representing Moss. WONAAC and the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), and Dr. Barbara Roberts of WONAAC, stressing the need for the repeal of abortion laws on the theme that abortion is a woman's right to choose.

> The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

ENCLOSURE

The confidential source advised that during this rally, approximately 50 individuals representing the Progressive Labor Party (PLP) attempted to disrupt the proceedings, but were contained by the Conference Marshals. The source stated that PLP was protesting the dominance of influence by SWP and the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) in WONAAC.

> The PLP was founded in 1962 by individuals expelled from the Communist party, USA, for following the Chinese communist line. Its objective is the establishment of a militant working-class movement based on Marxism-Leninism and Mao Tse-tung thought.

> As the youth organization of the SWP, the YSA serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer" as "a multi-national revolutionary socialist youth organization."

Source advised that the February 12 session of the conference began at approximately 10:30 a.m. at Marsh Chapel on the campus of Boston University with approximately 500 women in attendance. The chairwoman for this general assembly was Delphine Welch, a national staff member of WONAAC and the National Womens Liberation Director of the YSA from New York City.

Dr. Barbara Roberts presented the credentials report in which she stated that 922 women had registered for the conference and that an additional 300 women attended the Friday evening rally, composing a total attendance figure of 1300. Dr. Roberts advised geographic representation included 350 women from the New England and New York area, and that there were representatives from Pennsylvania, Washington, D.C., in addition to 74 women from California, 12 from Texas, 8 from Florida, 2 from England and 3 women from New Zealand. She stated that attendance was further broken down as follows: 92 college campuses represented, 14 high schools represented, 314 college women, 51 high school women and 178 working women.

The source advised that the February 13 session began at approximately 9:00 a.m. and it consisted of a group made up of approximately 50 women, each meeting in various classrooms conducting organizational workshops. The afternoon session consisted of a general assembly following which the conference adjourned.

The source advised that the conference once again re-established and reiterated WONAAC's call for free abortion on demand. The source also advised that the main action proposal passed by the conference calls for an abortion action week from May 1 to 6, 1972. The source stated that this week would consist of educational programs, legislative support, judicial action and culminating in local or regional demonstrations on May 6, 1972, around the demand for repeal of all anti-abortion laws and restrictive contraception laws and an end to forced sterilization.

The source advised that the following women, who are members of the combined Washington, D.C., locals of SWP-YSA and WONAAC, attended the conference:

Mary Anne Lunn
Barbara Chis

The source advised that in addition the following women from Washington, D.C., who are members of WONAAC, but not affiliated with SWP or YSA were in attendance:

Dee Mosbacker
Nancy Williams
Vicki Martin

The source advised that the SWP-YSA members of WONAAC felt that the conference was a success and that the influence of SWP-YSA members continues to dominate. The source advised that the SWP-YSA women felt that they overcame opposition put forth by PLP and a group calling itself Revolutionary Women, which attacked WONAAC as a group led by SWP-YSA who are nothing more that bourgeois rebels.

> Revolutionary Women is self-described as an organization that is addressed to the special oppression of women and has a program that ranks this struggle to the class struggle.

The source stated that opposition proposals submitted in workshops were turned down in favor of those proposals backed by the SWP-YSA women.

Re: Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) Convention, February 11 - 13, 1972 Boston, Massachusetts

On February 18, 1972, source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished the following information:

A Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) Convention was held on the Boston University campus, Boston, Massachusetts, during the period of February 11 - 13, 1972.

Approximately 1,000 persons were in attendance at this convention which was held to determine future action of WONAAC and to allow diverse factions within the Women's Abortion Movement to join ranks under one issue.

Female members of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) from all over the county were requested by the national office of the SWP and YSA to attend this convention in order to insure the effective control of the convention by the SWP.

As the youth organization of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer," as "A multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Re: WONAAC

The SWP specifically wished the convention to adopt a one-issue position, that being the complete control of the female body by the individual female. This specific issue, "women control their bodies" was adopted by the women's organization and all other proposals were rejected.

Workshops were organized for each of the many separate racial and ethnic groups represented at the conference. Workshops were based on appeal to the specific group intended and all were supposedly controlled by the SWP.

A Black, Raza, Asian-American women's workshop was held on February 12, 1972, with 35 persons attending. Among the issues discussed at the workshop were the attempts of democratic and republican presidential candidates to capitalize on minority group attitudes in regard to the abortion movement and the fact that minority groups all to often find themselves without a voice when real issues are involved.

Of particular importance to the group was the La Raza Unida Party, a legitimate political party in Texas which serves to unite Mexican Americans. Of equal importance was the Gay Liberation Movement, which the group felt expresses the plight of gay females who do not want children and are forced to live with men because of the mores of American society.

Attendees agreed that the one issue of abortion law repeal will serve to unite women under one banner and more effectively serve the Women's Movement.

The convention adjourned after an agreement that an "Abortion Action Week" would be held May 1 - 6, 1972. This action would serve to keep public attention focused on the need to legalize abortion and to seek effective support from the many thousands of women who want to right to choose.

Title: WOMENS NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION COALITION (WONAAC)

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - C (TROTSKYIST)

Synopsis:

Womens National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) was founded as a result of a conference held in New York City, New York during July, 1971, for the purpose of forming a national movement of groups scattered throughout the United States, who favored and had worked to legalize abortion. The Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) and Socialist Workers Party (SWP) are playing a major role in activities of WONAAC. During founding conference, WONAAC's goals were defined as "working on a national scale to make abortion legal, to end restrictive contraception laws, and to end forced sterilization." WONAAC opened National Office, 917-15th Street, N.W., Washington, D. C. (WDC), during September, 1971, which was transferred to 150-5th Avenue, New York City, effective 12/20/71. WONAAC does not maintain formal membership and funds are obtained through contributions. WONAAC has affiliates and/or support groups located throughout U. S. WONAAC sponsored demonstrations held 11/20/71 in San Francisco, California and WDC, around theme of "Repeal of All Abortion Laws." Second WONAAC conference held Boston, Massachusetts, 2/11-13/72, which strongly endorsed "Abortion Rights Act of 1972," and called for a week of local abortion activities, 5/1-6/72. Other secondary proposals adopted set forth.

(WF T-1, 2/14/72)

As the youth organization of the SWP, the YSA serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication "The Young Socialist Organizer," as "A multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

I. ORGANIZATIONAL DATA

A. Origin and Scope

During July 16-18, 1971, a conference was held in New York City, New York, in order to form a national movement of groups scattered throughout the United States, who favored and had worked to legalize abortion. In excess of 1,000 women attended this conference and as a result, founded WONAAC.

(WF T-1, 7/21/71)

B. Aims and Purposes

During its founding conference, WONAAC's goals were defined as "working on a national scale to make abortion legal, to end restrictive contraception laws, and to end forced sterilization."

It was decided that a national march on Washington, D. C. (WDC), with a simultaneous march on San Francisco, California, on November 20, 1971, in a public show of support for abortion law repeal, would be the first step in launching their campaign on a national scale.

(WF T-1, 7/21/71)

C. Headquarters

WONAAC opened a National Office at 917 15th Street, N.W., WDC, during September, 1971, which was transferred to 150 5th Avenue, New York City, New York, on December 20, 1971.

II. ACTIVITIES

A. Conferences and Demonstrations

1. WONAAC Founding Conference was held in New York City, New York, July 16-18, 1971. This conference called for national demonstrations to be held on November 20, 1971, in WDC and San Francisco, California, around the theme of "Repeal of All Abortion Laws."

(WF T-1, 7/21/71)

a. On November 20, 1971, approximately 1,500 women, representing womens liberation groups from the East Coast and Mid-West, gathered on the Ellipse in WDC, in response to the call by WONAAC to march on the United States Capitol to demand the repeal of all abortion laws. This group departed the Ellipse at approximately 10:30 a.m. on that date and marched along Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., to the west side of the Capitol Building. There the marchers assembled for a rally which concluded at approximately 4:00 p.m. on the same date. There were no incidents of violence and the march and rally were peaceful throughout.

(WF T-1, 11/23/71)

b. On January 13, 1972, a WONAAC sponsored demonstration was held from 4:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. in the vicinity of 42nd Street and Times Square, New York City, New York protesting all abortion laws. Approximately 50 individuals participated and the demonstration ended without incident.

(Physical observation, Special Agents, FBI, 1/13/72)

2. Second WONAAC Conference was held in Boston, Massachusetts, February 11-13, 1972. Approximately 1,300 women attended the conference, which once again re-established and reiterated WONAAC's call for abortion on demand. It was noted during the conference that WONAAC had been unable to create anything like a national campaign and that local meetings across the country had been disappointingly small. It was pointed out that WONAAC had failed to attract the large numbers of working women, housewives, and students concerned with the abortion issue, including the majority of women's liberationists and abortion reform activists. It was felt that the movement could not succeed without the support of the working women.

At the close of the conference, WONAAC strongly endorsed the "Abortion Rights Act of 1972," which is to be introduced in the U. S. Congress by Congresswoman BELLA ABZUG from New York. This bill would override all laws which impose sanctions upon those who choose to exercise their individual right to an abortion.

(WF T-1, 2/14/72)

a. Proposed Actions

It was moved and adopted during the above conference that WONAAC sponsor a week of local abortion activities, May 1-6, 1972, consisting of educational programs, legislative support, judicial action, and culminating in local or regional demonstrations on May 6, 1972, around the demand for repeal of all anti-abortion laws and restrictive contraception laws and an end to forced sterilization.

(WF T-1, 2/14/72)

In addition, the following secondary proposals were adopted during the conference:

1. That a telegram be sent to the New York State Court of Appeals and New York Governor NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER, condemning the court's February 10, 1972, decision denying women on Medicaid the right to abortions on demand.

2. That the coalition continue to organize black, Puerto Rican, Chicano, native American and Asian American participation in their activities.

3. That members of local coalitions confront candidates for office and force them to take a stand on abortion, and that they publicize those who oppose abortion so that the voters can see where these politicians stand.

4. That the coalition make a special effort to reach out to and involve "gay" women in their activities.

(WF T-1, 2/14/72)

YSA and SWP members of WONAAC felt the conference to be a success in that opposition proposals submitted were turned down in favor of those proposals backed by the YSA-SWP women.

BS 1362-PSI had been unable to attend the Saturday Session of the convention due to a sudden illness.

Further, BS 1414 E, whom it was originally felt would also attend, was unable to do so as informant was recuperating from an appendectomy.

During the convention period, Boston was not in contact with either WF 2188-S or DE 2276-PSI who were also scheduled to attend the convention, apparently due to security reasons it being noted that both of these informants were to have travelled to the Boston area in the company of other individuals.

All individuals identified as members of the SWP, Boston are either sources of the Boston Division or are currently on the ADEX or under current investigation for consideration for same.

The LHM has been classified "confidential" as the unauthorized disclosure of the information provided by source 1, 2 or 4 could reasonably result in identification of the sources of continuing value, jeopardize their future effectiveness, and thus adversely affect the defense interests of the United States.

A source on February 11, 1972, advised as follows:

The opening session of the WONAAC Convention held at Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts, February 11-13. 1972, began at approximately 8:00 p.m. the evening of February 11, 1972, and was in the nature of a rally held in Hayden Hall, Boston University with approximately 600 individuals present. Of this number, approximately 50 were males; but it is noted that this was the only convention session to which males were invited.

The general theme of the rally was "How To Win Abortion Law Repeal." Matilde Miles nee Zimmerman who in December 1971, transferred from the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), Boston to the SWP, New York and is now also a WONAAC national staff member, was one of the two rally moderators.

> The SWP, Boston is the local affiliate and follows the aims and purposes of the national SWP.
> The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The source advised that the rally speakers, all of whom stressed the legalization of abortion, included the following:

Judy Syfers Coordinator of WONAAC West, Feminist Author

Doctor Barbara Roberts, a founder and national project director of WONAAC.

Shirley Wheeler, first woman convicted and sentenced for having an abortion.

Sarah Weddington, an attorney who argued for the elimination of the Texas Abortion Law before the United States Supreme Court in the fall of 1971.

Florence Luscomb, long-time Feminist.

Elma Barrera, organizer of the 1971 Houston, Texas Chicana Conference.

Judith Keith, head of the Abortion Repeal Committee, Day County, Florida.

Frances Howard Gordon, Feminist from Nottingham, England, not further identified.

SudieJudson, Chairwoman, Brooklyn, New York Welfare Action Council.

Brenda Brdac, female liberation, Berkeley, California.

"The Militant," a weekly newspaper of the SWP in its November 5, 1971, edition described Shirley Wheeler as a 23-year-old Florida woman who was convicted of manslaughter for having an abortion and sentenced October 15, 1971, by a Daytona Beach, Florida judge to two years probation with the condition she must either get married or move to North Carolina and live with her family.

WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION
COALITION (WONAAC) CONVENTION
FEBRUARY 11-13, 1972, BOSTON
MASSACHUSETTS

A second source on June 28, 1962, advised that the Tass News Agency, the Official Soviet Government news gathering agency had been advised that Florence Luscomb, described as a 72 year old Communist Party (CP) member who organized the white collar workers in New England, would attend the world congress for general disarmament and peace scheduled to be held in Moscow, Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR).

The "Daily World" an East-Coast Communist Newspaper, in its May 2, 1970. edition named Florence Luscomb as one of two co-chairman of the twentieth birthday party to honor Otis A. Hood, State Chairman of the CP of New England.

The first source further advised that at the outset the rally was delayed due to a small group protesting against abortion who sat in front of the doors to Hayden Hall blocking the entrance to the hall. This group was eventually peacefully removed by the police.

A third source on February 11, 1972, advised that at approximately 7:30 p.m. officers of the Boston University Campus Police arrested 15 individuals who had been conducting a peaceful sit-in blocking the doors to Hayden Hall, Boston University, where a WONAAC rally was being held. According to the third source the 15, who had been conducting their peaceful sit-in since shortly before 7 p.m. that evening, were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace and trespassing on Boston University property when they refused to leave on their own volition. The arrests were orderly, without incident and the 15, two of whom were Roman Catholic Priests and the remainder, Seminarians from St. Johns Seminary, Boston, were turned over to the Boston, Massachusetts Police Department. All of those arrested were released on bail for court appearance on February 12, 1972, and no other serious incidents occurred during the rally.

who was formerly a member of the SWP, Boston and now believed to be in New York, was also present at the February 11, 1972, rally.

This first source also advised that the Saturday and Sunday, February 12-13, 1972, sessions, which would be open to women only, were scheduled to include workshops on such topics as national and local legislative projects, court actions, forced sterilization, abortion referral and clinics, campus and high school work and the building of the Abortion Law Repeal Movememt.

The third source advised on February 12, 1972, that the February 12, 1972, session of the WONAAC Convention began at 10:00 a.m. with services and a general assembly at Marsh Chapel, Boston University, which ran until 11:00 a.m. The remainder of the day consisted of workshops held in various Boston University classrooms followed by another general assembly in Hayden Hall during the later evening hours. This third source advised that the day's events were without incident and that an estimated 800 to 1000 individuals were in attendance during the days' proceedings. He advised that the convention was scheduled to reconvene on the morning of February 13, 1972, and to run through the late evening that date.

The "Boston Globe," a daily newspaper published in Boston, in its February 13, 1972, edition carried an article entitled "Abortion Strategy Discussed" which in part reported that more than 800 women from across the country had gathered for a conference at Boston University the weekend of February 11-13, 1972, to plan a strategy to win repeal of all laws that restrict abortion. According to the article it was expected that the conference would endorse the latest Federal bill to nulify all state laws restricting abortion-- the "Abortion Rights Act of 1972" to be introduced by United States Congresswoman Bella Abzug from New York.

WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION
COALITION (WONAAC) CONVENTION
FEBRUARY 11-13, 1972, BOSTON,
MASSACHUSETTS

The article reported that discussion at the convention had centered around whether or not to adopt the slogan "Free Abortion on Demand; No Forced Sterilization" or to focus on a single issue--repeal of the abortion laws. It further reported that a proposal was presented for an Abortion Action Week, May 1-6, 1972, to include educational programs, legislative support, judicial action and local or regional demonstrations centering around the demand for repeal of all anti-abortion and anti-contraception laws and an end to forced sterilization.

Jane Roland, identified in the article as coordinator of the Boston Women's Abortion Action Coalition said that whatever the conference does nationally, her organization would be acting at the local level.

A fourth source on February 13, 1972, advised as follows:

The February 13, 1972, session of the WONAAC Convention at Boston University began at approximately 9:00 a.m. and the day's program was in the form of workshops held in about 8 classrooms in the College of Liberal Arts, Boston University. There were approximately 50 females in attendance at each workshop; and the maximum number of persons, all female, present at any one time during the day would be estimated at between 400 and 500. The workshops primarily related to the building of WONAAC throughout the United States fund raising and regional work with ideas being exchanged between individuals attending from such areas of the United States as: San Francisco, Los Angeles, Detroit, Chicago, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. The major theme appeared to be how to strengthen an awareness of WONAAC, which reportedly was in need of financial support. It was also stated that there was a need for regional travelers with cars who would be able to travel full time, and funds would be needed in this regard. It was felt that more effort should be placed in obtaining paid speaking engagements in colleges throughout the United States as such action would not only bring in needed funds but also help to spread an awareness of WONAAC and its objectives among college students. The workshops were peaceful and no incidents arose.

Tables identified with such groups as Female Liberation, Socialist Workers Party (SWP), Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC) and Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) were set up in a hallway of the College of Liberal Arts for sale of literature or posters.

SDS was founded during June, 1962, at Port Huron, Michigan, and in the 1960's functioned as the leading New Left campus-based student organization in the United States. From a stance of "participatory democracy," the SDS moved to a radical-revolutionary position. It maintained a national office at 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, until February, 1970. Internal factionalism during 1969 produced three main factions: Weatherman, Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM), and Worker Student Alliance (WSA). The Weatherman and RYM no longer consider themselves associated with the SDS. The WSA faction continues to use the name SDS.

The Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC) is controlled by the SWP and its youth affiliate, YSA. SMC initiates and supports public demonstrations against the war in Southeast Asia.

> As the youth organization of the SWP the YSA serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer", as "a multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

On February 13, 1972, a fifth source advised that Boston University authorities had been notified by representatives of WONAAC at 4:30 p.m. that date that the WONAAC Convention was coming to a close. According to that source by 5:30 p.m. all of the convention participants had dispersed and the Boston University facilities utilized for the various convention proceedings had been locked. This source further advised that the February 13, 1972, convention session was without incident.

The "Boston Globe" in its February 14, 1972, edition carried an article entitled "Women's group backs abortion bill" which reported that the "Abortion Rights Act of 1972," mentioned above, received strong endorsement from WONAAC at the close of its second national conference on February 13, 1972. The article further reported that to implement the endorsement, coalition chapters intended to publicize the text of the bill, which proposes to repeal all abortion laws, and have speakers on the legislation at forums, teach-ins, rallies and other educational activities.

According to the article the following proposals were adopted;

That the coalition sponsor an Abortion Action week, May 1-6.

That a telegram be sent to the New York Court of Appeals and New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller condemning the court's February 10, 1972, decision denying women on Medicaid the right to abortions on demand.

CONFIDENTIAL

WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION COALITION (WONAAC) CONVENTION FEBRUARY 11-13, 1972, BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

That the coalition continue to organize black, Puerto Rican, Chicano, native American and Asian-American participation in their activities.

That members of local coalitions confront candidates for office and force them to take a stand on abortion, and that they publicize those who oppose abortion so that the voters can see where these politicians stand.

That the coalition make a special effort to reach out to and involve gay women in their activities.

In addition, source stated that WONAAC) has scheduled an "Abortion Action Week", May 1-6, consisting of informational programs and educational activities. This week is to culminate with a march from 1st Avenue and 27th Street to Union Square, Broadway and 17th Street, New York City. The purpose of the march, according to WONAAC literature, is to "defend our right to abortion".

> Womens National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) is a Socialist Workers Party dominated, non-membership organization, which is promoting a nationally coordinated abortion law repeal campaign.
> Socialist Workers Party (SWP), has been designated by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

ReWFOrep of SA ARLAND A. MOSEL, 3/21/72.

For the information of the Bureau and New York, Informants advise that there is a Women's Liberation group at the University of Florida, Gainesville, Florida, which recently sponsored an Abortion Action Week rally, however, none of the individuals associated with this Women's Lib group are connected with any subversive organizations such as Young Socialist Alliance or Socialist Workers Party. They are merely Women's Liberationists, who support the repeal of all abortion laws.

In view of the above, no active investigation is being conducted by the Jacksonville Division of the Women's Liberation group at the University of Florida, as there is no present indication they are connected and/or interested in subversive activities.

The 11/12/71, issue of the "Pipedream", student newspaper published at the State University of New York at Binghamton, carries an announcement that the Binghamton Womens Abortion Coalition was selling bus tickets for the Womens March on Washington for repeal of all abortion laws, repeal of all contraception laws and no force sterilization for 11/20/71. Women and men were invited to attend and tickets were on sale at the student center. Cars and volunteers were needed and they were to contact LINDA LOEW at extention 4129.

INFORMANT who is familiar with New Left activities on the campus of the State University of New York at Binghamton was contacted regularly during the school year of 1971-72 and he stated that he did see some signs on bulletin boards in the Fall of 1971 about abortion organizations, but never knew them to be of much success on campus. Informant stated that there was no organization formed to his knowledge of a Womens Abortion Action Coalition in the Binghamton area.

Other sources familiar with New Left activities on the campus of the State University of New York at Binghamton, were contacted during May, 1972, and two sources advised that they knew of no organization of Womens Abortion Action Coalition on the campus or in the Binghamton vicinity during the past year.

Title: WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION COALITION

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - COMMUNIST (TROTSKYIST)

Synopsis: Informants advised the Boston Women's Abortion Action Coalition (BOWAAC), the local affiliate of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC), was formed during the late summer, 1971, out of the local Female Liberation (FL) group. Its headquarters is located at 552 Mass. Avenue, Cambridge. BOWAAC is not a formal membership group but there are approximately a total of 20-25 females regularly involved in the group's work. The Young Socialist Alliance of Boston (YSA-B) and the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), Boston faction within BOWAAC, which comprises about half of the activists, were the controlling force. However, recent reports indicate this faction has apparently alienated itself from other activists and does not now believe BOWAAC can be built into a successful supporter group for the YSA and SWP locally.

Details:

I. ORGANIZATION

A. Origin and Objectives

The Boston Women's Abortion Action Coalition (BOWAAC), the local affiliate of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC), was formed during late summer, 1971, out of the local Female Liberation (FL) group.

November 17, 1971

BOWAAC was originally a subcommittee of FL in the Greater Boston Area but as of January, 1972, had grown into a separate group whose specific interest was in abortion reform. Individuals active in BOWAAC are also active in other FL work; however, all individuals active in FL work are not active in BOWAAC, with BOWAAC being the smaller of the two groups.

BS T-1
January 12, 1972

WONAAC has been publicly described as an organization of groups whose aim is to effect the overthrow of existing abortion laws and to establish free abortion on demand.

B. Headquarters

A permit for a WONAAC sponsored demonstration at Washington, D.C., scheduled for November 20, 1971, listed BOWAAC at 552 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, Massachusetts, Room 9, telephone number (617) 547-1818 or 491-1071, as among supporting groups.

BOWAAC and FL, in the Boston area, are located at the same address, 552 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, but have separate offices at that address.

BS T-1
January 12, 1972

C. Membership

BOWAAC is not a formal membership type group. There are, however, approximately a total of 20-25 females regularly involved in office maintenance or correspondence and telephone contact work to develop outside support for scheduled public activities and demonstrations.

BS T-1
June 11, 1972

D. Leadership and Socialist Workers Party/Young Socialist Alliance Infiltration

The Young Socialist Alliance of Boston (YSA-B) is the Boston affiliate of the YSA, the youth organization of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP).

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The Boston SWP is the local affiliate and follows the aims and purposes of the national SWP.

While BOWAAC was not exclusively made up of Boston SWP and YSA-B female members, as of November, 1971, it was controlled by members of those groups.

MEMBER OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

MATILDE MILES, nee ZIMMERMAN, was the Boston SWP member heading up local SWP/YSA work in BOWAAC but she and EVELYN CLARK, another Boston SWP member active in BOWAAC, were then in the process of leaving Boston for Washington, D.C., to help in organizing a scheduled November 20, 1971, WONAAC demonstration at Washington, D.C.

BS T-1
November 17, 1971

MEMBER OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

The YSA and SWP in the Boston area have approximately 15 of their female members active in FL work with approximately six to eight in and the controlling forces of BOWAAC. As of January, 1972, JANE ROLAND, who joined the Boston SWP in late 1971, was heading up SWP/YSA work in FL and BOWAAC as MATILDE MILES had not returned to Boston, but rather transferred to New York.

BS T-1
January 12, 1972

In late January, 1972, TOBA SINGER and JANE ROLAND, leaders of the local SWP/YSA FL faction, reported that there was continuing trouble within FL with respect to the control of that group by the SWP and YSA forces and also the direction of FL into any kind of abortion work.

BS T-1
February 10, 1972

During early March, 1972, TOBA SINGER reported that at an increasing rate abortion work was becoming a more important area of work than FL and that a number of SWP and YSA female members were being transferred into the abortion work.

BS T-1
March 26, 1972

The stress of the SWP/YSA female members in the general Boston area who are active in female matters continues to be away from FL and into BOWAAC with only two or three remaining on the fringes to follow FL activities.

May 10, 1972

Recent reports concerning SWP/YSA faction work within BOWAAC disclose that, as previously occured with the Party's work within FL, those in the Party faction have apparently alienated themselves from the other females active in BOWAAC and for the most part have lost any support from others not in the Party faction. Any suggestions now offered by those of the Party faction in BOWWAC, which comprises approximately half of the activists in the group, are no longer accepted, cause considerable argument and there is evidence of "red baiting". As a result, the Party faction does not now believe that they can build BOWAAC into any successful supporter type organization as had resulted through Party work in the Student Mobilization Committee (SMC).

June 11, 1972

The Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC) is controlled by the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and its youth affiliate, Young Socialist Alliance. SMC initiates and supports public demonstrations against the war in Southeast Asia.

II. OTHER ACTIVITIES

MATILDE ZIMMERMAN, telephone number 547-1818 of "Boston Women's Abortion Action", 552 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, in November, 1971, chartered five busses with a 45 person capacity each for travel to Washington, D.C. on November 19, 1971. A $1,500 cash deposit was made against a total cost of $3,500 on November 15, 1971. The busses were scheduled to depart for Washington, D.C. at approximately 9:00 P.M., on November 19, 1971, from Cambridge with a round trip cost of $18.

November 16, 1972

At a meeting of the Boston SWP held November 16, 1971, it was reported that BOWAAC was hoping to fill four busses with participants for travel to Washington, D.C., for the scheduled November 20, 1971, WONAAC demonstration.

November 17, 1971

At approximately 10:00 A.M., November 20, 1971, various women's groups from cities within the United States, including Boston, were observed gathering on the Ellipse in Washington, D.C., and at approximately 12:10 P.M. the group, then numbering about 1500, was observed to march from the Ellipse to the West front of the Capitol building. One of the signs carried by the marchers read "Boston Repeal All Abortion Laws". Two tables of SWP literature were set up during the gathering at the Ellipse and four at the rally site at the Capitol.

Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI)
November 20, 1971

The organizer of the Boston SWP in late November, 1971, reported that between 80-100 individuals had traveled from Boston to Washington, D.C. to participate in the above-mentioned November 20 demonstration.

December 3, 1971

"The Militant", a weekly newspaper of the SWP, in its November 14, 1971, edition carried the following announcement: "Abortion Conference - The Second National Conference of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition will be held February 11-13, 1972 at Boston University. For further information contact WONAAC, 150 Fifth Avenue, Suite 153, New York, New York 10011."

Boston SWP and YSA-B members active in BOWAAC were distributing in January, 1972, a "Housing Fact Sheet" in an effort to locate housing accommodations for individuals visiting the Boston area to attend the above scheduled conference at Boston University.

January 12, 1972

The opening session of the WONAAC Conference, held at Boston University, February 11-13, 1972, began on the evening of February 11 and was in the nature of a rally in Hayden Hall with approximately 600 individuals present. Of this number approximately 50 were males but it is noted that this was the only conference session to which males were invited.

The general theme of the rally was "How to Win Abortion Law Repeal" and MATILDE MILES, mentioned previously, was one of the two rally moderators.

Approximately 30 members of the YSA-B and/or the SWP, Boston, were in attendance at the rally.

The Saturday and Sunday, February 12-13, 1972 sessions, open to women only, were scheduled to include workshops on such topics as national and local legislative projects, court action, forced sterilization, abortion referral and clinics, campus and high school work and the building of the Abortion Law Repeal Movement.

February 13, 1972

The "Boston Globe", a daily newspaper published in Boston, in its February 13, 1972 edition, carried an article entitled "Abortion Strategy Discussed" which in part reported that more than 800 women from across the country had gathered for a conference at Boston University the weekend of February 11-13, 1972 to plan a strategy to win repeal of all laws that prohibit abortion. According to the article, it was expected that the conference would endorse the latest Federal bill to nullify all state laws restricting abortion - "The Abortion Rights Act of 1972", to be introduced by United States Congresswoman BELLA ABZUG from New York. The article reported that discussion at the conference had centered around whether or not to adopt the slogan "Free Abortion on Demand; No Forced Sterilization" or to focus on a single issue - repeal of the abortion laws. It further reported that a proposal was presented for an Abortion Action Week, May 1 to 6, 1972, to include educational programs, legislative support, judicial action and local or regional demonstrations centering around the demand for repeal of all anti-abortion and anti-contraception laws and an end to forced sterilization.

JANE ROLAND, identified in the article as coordinator of BOWAAC, was reported to have stated that whatever the conference does nationally her organization would be acting at the local level.

The February 13, 1972, session of the WONAAC Conference at Boston University was in the form of workshops held in approximately eight classrooms with about 50 females in attendance at each workshop. The maximum number of persons present at any one time during the day would be estimated at between 400 to 500. The workshops primarily related to the building of WONAAC throughout the United States, fund raising and regional work, with ideas being exchanged between individuals attending from various areas of the country, including Boston. The major theme appeared to be how to strengthen awareness of WONAAC, which was reportedly in need of financial support. Literature tables were set up on the periphery of the workshops and among organizations identified with the tables was the YSA.

February 13, 1972

The "Boston Globe" in its February 14, 1972 edition carried an article entitled "Women's Group Backs Abortion Bill" which reported that the abovementioned "Abortion Rights Act of 1972" had received strong endorsement from WONAAC at the close of its second national conference. The article reported that to implement the endorsement, coalition chapters intended to publicize the text of the bill, which proposed to repeal all abortion laws, and to have speakers on legislation at forums, teach-ins, rallies, and other educational activities. The article further reported that the proposals adopted at the convention were: that the coalition sponsor an Abortion Action Week, May 1 - 6, 1972; that a telegram be sent to the New York Court of Appeals and Governor NELSON A. ROCKEFELLER condemning the Court's February 10, 1972 decision denying women on Medicaid the right to abortions on demand; that the coalition continue to organize Black, Puerto Rican, Chicano, Native American and Asian American participation in their activities; that members of local coalitions confront candidates for office and force them to take a stand on abortion or to publicize those who oppose abortion; that the coalition make a special effort to reach out to and involve gay women in their activities.

Re: National Women's Political Caucus (NWPC)
Policy Council Meeting

Source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, provided the following information on July 3, 1972:

A Policy Council Meeting of the National Women's Political Caucus (NWPC) was held in Washington, D.C. during the period June 24, 1972 - June 25, 1972.

> The NWPC is a legitimate, loosely-knit, open organization of politically motivated women seeking equal recognition in the American community.

During the Policy Council Meeting there were no overt attempts by any organized group to influence the policy meeting and there were no individuals present who identified themselves as members of any organization which might be construed as subversive and/or supporting any cause except legitimate change.

Of significance, however, was the fact that literature of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) was present in brochures and pamphlets located throughout the meeting area. All of the WONAAC material was geared to the abortion movement and specifically the WONAAC conference scheduled for Hunter College, New York, July 15 - 16, 1972.

> WONAAC was founded in July, 1971. for the purpose of forming a national movement of groups scattered throughout the United States who favor and now work to legalize abortion. The Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) and Socialist Workers Party (SWP) are playing a major role in WONAAC.
> The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

As the youth organization of the SWP, the YSA serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer," as "a multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

During the council meeting on June 24, 1972, Mary Clarke, who is associated with the Southern California WPC, an affiliate of the NWPC, advised a group of policy council members that WONAAC had been using the Southern California WPC name as an endorser of WONAAC. Clarke also stated that WONAAC had passed out propaganda at a caucus rally in California and were very effective at taking control of small gatherings.

The Chairwoman from Nassau County in New York, whose name was not recalled, defended WONAAC stating that "they were a good group". This woman's position was not supported and, in general, WONAAC literature was not accepted by those persons present. Jill Ruckelshaus, a new member of the Policy Council, is reportedly concerned about the SWP's attempts to align itself with the abortion movement and will be using her newly gained position to fight SWP attempts at control of local WPC groups.

The NWPC organizing brochure published by the NWPC has been written to assist individual WPC groups in organizing. The brochure lists political parties and para-political organizations to be contacted by caucus organizers when forming the nucleus of a WPC. Among those listed was the SWP. After discussions at the caucus it was determined that the SWP should be removed from the list. The new edition of the WPC organizing brochure will not list the SWP; it has been replaced by National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC).

The NPAC was founded in 1970 by members of the SWP. Its basic objective is to unite masses of people including labor unions, GIs, and the black community in the struggle to end United States intervention in Southeast Asia through orderly and peaceful tactics.

NEW YORK SUBMIT SUCCINCT LHM SETTING FORTH RESULTS OF CONFERENCE IN ACCORDANCE WITH SAC LETTER SEVENTY-TWO DASH THREE (C) RE REPORTING RESULTS OF SUBVERSIVE CONFERENCES.

NOTE:

WONAAC was founded in New York City 7/71 for purpose of forming a national movement of groups throughout U. S. who favor legalized abortion. This organization is dominated by Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and Young Socialist Alliance (YSA). WONAAC scheduled to hold conference at Hunter College, New York, New York, 7/14-16/72. Detroit in teletype 7/13/72 requested authorization for INFORMANT, a valuable source who has been paid under SAC authority, to attend national conference in New York City. Detroit advised delay in submitting request was due to lack of information as to whether source would be able to attend conference. INFORMANT is member of Detroit Women's Abortion Action Coalition (WAAC) and has furnished coverage on SWP influence in her chapter, and she has been successful in thwarting complete SWP takeover. Based on informant's position to discuss with persons in leadership capacity matters concerning SWP infiltration of WONAAC, it appears highly desirable for source to attend WONAAC conference in New York City. Detroit being authorized to advance source $135 in connection with travel to this conference. Detroit and New York also instructed to coordinate re source maintaining contact with New York and to insure FD-306 submitted and LHM submitted setting forth results of conference in accordance with SAC Letter 72-3 (C) re reporting results of subversive conferences. Source is second out-of-town informant to attend this conference.

PHILADELPHIA WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION COALITION

PH T-1 advised on May 25, 1972, that Women United for Abortion Rights (WUAR), 1115 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., telephone WA-2-0381, is the local affiliate of Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) and that about two weeks ago WUAR decided to change their name from WUAR to Philadelphia Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (Philadelphia WONAAC) and that they intended to utilize the same office space at 1115 Walnut Street and the same telephone number. PH T-1 added that this change was made inasmuch as the name WUAR was found to be unwieldy and awkward and that it did not convey the group's affiliation with WONAAC as well as the new name Philadelphia WONAAC.

An article in "The Sunday Bulletin," Section 2, pages 6 and 7, issue of October 31, 1971, listed the various candidates for political office in the City of Philadelphia in connection with the forthcoming elections. Photographs of the following individuals appeared and background information contained under each individual photograph indicated that all were members of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and that they were also affiliated with the WUAR and/or WONAAC:

Sue T T [illegible]

PH T-3 advised on January 14, 1972 that as of that time SAMARA JAROSH was a member of the SWP.

PH T-1 advised on May 25, 1972 that it is difficult to determine the actual degree of SWP participation in the affairs of WONAAC in the Philadelphia area and that he was not aware of any information which would reflect that Philadelphia WONAAC was substantially controlled by the SWP. Source explained that the abortion rights issue had frequently been discussed at many of the recent public forum type meetings sponsored by the Philadelphia SWP and held at the Philadelphia SWP Headquarters at 1004 Filbert Street in Philadelphia. The discussions held on the abortion rights issue indicated that the SWP felt that the capitalistic system had used the dual issues of abortion and women's liberation to keep women in a position of inferiority, whereas the socialistic system being promoted by the SWP would be in favor of abortion and women's liberation, and WONAAC would therefore naturally attract members of the SWP to their organization.

Reurlet and LHM dated 7/27/72.

Referenced letter stated that activities of captioned organization in Philadelphia did not appear to be within the Bureau's investigative interest and, therefore, no additional investigation would be conducted.

As you are aware, the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) play a major role in Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) throughout the United States. Although a source of your office claimed he was not aware of any information indicating WONAAC in Philadelphia is substantially controlled by SWP, four individuals whose photographs appeared in a Philadelphia paper, were identified as members of the SWP as well as WONAAC. Based on this as well as the established fact that WONAAC is, for the most part, totally controlled by SWP/YSA, it is basic that the activities of this organization be followed by your office.

You are, therefore, to reopen the case concerning captioned matter and follow the activities of this organization for the purpose of determining the extent of influence and control by individuals who are members of SWP/YSA and who are acting on behalf of these organizations. A copy of your communications should be furnished to the New York Office, office of origin in this matter, for information.

The Women's National Abortion Action Coalition

Confidential sources one, two and three, all of whom have furnished reliable information in the past, advised on July 18, 19, and 20, 1972, respectively, that a Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) Conference was held at Hunter College, Park Avenue and 69th Street, on July 15 and 16, 1972.

Confidential source number one advised that New York City was picked for the site of this convention because this city is considered to be the center of the most powerful anti-abortion effort so far.

The WONAAC Conference was open to all women who supported the Abortion Law Repeal Movement. Registration was $3.00 per person. Housing and child care facilities were available. There were approximately 800 women in attendance at this conference.

Discussions held at this conference centered on plans for (one) future activity in the campaign to repeal all anti-abortion and contraception laws and (two) to end forced sterilization.

A discussion was held concerning the attacks being made by the Catholic Church Hierarchy and other anti-abortion groups against women's rights to their own bodies.

WONAAC is aware of the fact that progress for these matters will not come easy, that it will be fought by various groups step by step all the way, therefore, this conference was called to discuss all the different approaches and to decide on the major direction for WONAAC to take.

Action Coalition

The following was the Agenda for the conference as originally prepared by the June 27 Working Committee:

Saturday, July 15

9:00-10:00	Registration
10:00-11:30	Plenary Session: Greetings and organization of conference
11:30-1:30	Workshops I: General discussion of major action proposals
1:30-2:30	Lunch
2:30-4:00	Workshops II (Project Workshops): anti-abortion attacks and the Catholic Church, petition campaigns and the Abortion Rights Act, court actions, tribunal, referenda, defense cases, legislative action, forced sterilization, research and education, elections, referral and clinics, August 26, workshops on states facing similar abortion situations
4:00-5:30	Workshops III (Constituency Workshops): campus, Black, Raza, high school, gay, Catholic women
5:30-7:30	Dinner, with provision for statewide or regional meetings over dinner
7:30-10:00	Plenary Session

Sunday, July 16

9:00-11:00	Workshops IV (Organizational Workshops): press, fundraising, building and strengthening local coalitions
11:00-3:00	Plenary Session: further discussion and vote on major action proposals

During the Saturday session a proposal was made that WONAAC organize a "National Tribunal" on abortion, contraception and forced sterilization to be held in NYC this Fall.

The Agenda for the conference followed the proposed agenda set forth by the Working Committee, mentioned above, with the exception of a change in the lunch hour and some of the workshop schedules.

Prior to the Saturday conference, a Socialist Workers Party - Young Socialist Alliance (SWP-YSA) Fraction meeting was held at the Belmont Plaza Hotel on 49th Street and Lexington Avenue at [illegible] AM. Those in attendance at this Faction meeting were SWP-YSA comrades from NYC and from out of town. The discussion at this Faction meeting centered on the procedure to be followed at the conference by the YSA-SWP members in terms of voting on various workshops and what stand to take which would be more beneficial for the YSA-SWP. This Faction meeting was concluded at approximately 9:30 PM.

FORMER MEMBER OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

The WONAAC Conference procedure continued uninterrupted with votes on various floor discussions until an interruption was made by Rose Weber, a WONAAC coordinator. She addressed all YSA-SWP members at the conference, asking them what was their real reason for being in attendance at the WONAAC Conference. She accused the YSA-SWP of not being sincerely interested in abortion rights, but rather being interested in what was best for the SWP-YSA. She stated that because of the YSA-SWP influence being enforced on the conference, she was resigning as a WONAAC coordinator and staff member. She stated that she detested the intervention of the YSA-SWP in this conference; that the SWP-YSA has caused conflict among the WONAAC staff and therefore, they cannot work out constructive solutions to their problems. She also suggested that the "Zero Population" and planned parenthood have no voice in discussions at this conference. Finalizing her accusations, she stated the YSA-SWP members had no mind of their own nor did they have any freedom of expression of their own. She stated that they only followed the instructions set forth for them at the SWP-YSA - Faction meeting held before this conference. Five additional resignations followed Rose Weber from WONAAC. They all stressed the fact that they would continue their work in the abortion fight outside of this organization. member Young Socialist Alliance

N.Y.

In defense of the SWP-YSA position at the conference, Linda Jenness, the SWP Presidential candidate, spoke in behalf of the YSA-SWP. In answer to Rose Weber's accusation, Jenness stated that all members of the YSA-SWP were independent individuals with their own personal ideas and viewpoints.

On July 15, 1972, a proposal was passed by the Election Workshop which stated in part as follows:

"WONAAC welcomes women from all political affiliations and views. We are united in action to win our demands guaranteeing women the right to control our own reproduction functions.

"By uniting women of all political views we maximize our strength. Any attempt to impose one political view on everyone in WONAAC would only destroy our ability to fight together on the abortion question. Therefore WONAAC, as an organization takes no position on any candidates or political parties...."

"The political rallies which will no doubt take place with increasing frequency around the country as November approaches offer us a forum for getting our ideas across to great numbers of women. Besides allowing us an opportunity to force the candidates to take a public stand on abortion, these gatherings give us a chance to publicize both WONAAC and the repeal campaign."

A National WONAAC structure proposal was presented, which stated in part as follows:

"All women are welcome in WONAAC: Black, Latina, Chicana, Native American and Asian women, gay women, high school, college, and working women, women from political organizations, trade unions, the military, and communities across the country. We are united in uncompromising struggle for our common goal: the right of all women to control fully their own reproductive lives..."

"The National Conference shall be the highest decision-making body of WONAAC, and shall operate on the basis of one woman, one vote.

"There shall be a National Coordinating Committee (NCC) composed of one woman from each national organization, area coalition, and group supporting and building WONAAC..."
Within the [illegible]

"There shall also be a Working Committee (WC), which is a sub-committee of the NCC and which is composed of the project directors or coordinators, the elected national staff, and one woman from each coalition, committee, group and national organization supporting and building WONAAC in the locale of the national office..."

In addition to the above, a proposal "that the National Office of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition establish an emergency cash fund, from which to contribute significant amounts of money to organizations and individuals who are working to achieve goals compatible with those of WONAAC..."

"That the National Office of WONAAC, as its first act of financial support, pledge $2,000 to the Kennedy-Schulder suit against the tax-exempt status of the Roman Catholic Church, since the Church has violated restrictions on its political activity by lobbying for anti-abortion legislation.

"That the National Office of WONAAC pledged $1,500 to the defense of the seven women arrested in Chicago because of their alleged activity in abortion counselling, referral, and procedure..."

"That the WONAAC National Office maintain, at all times, a fund-raising staff efficient enough to meet the needs of the emergency fund at the same time it raises sufficient capital to maintain the daily expenses of the National Office and staff..."

Confidential source number two related that the evening plenary session of WONAAC occurred on July 15, 1972, and it was immediately apparent that the Socialist Workers Party - Young Socialist Alliance (SWP-YSA) group dominated the meeting. Independent women who wanted to make statements during this session were voted down by SWP floor leaders and these same persons continued to vote as a bloc on all issues.

The group of independent women from various geographic areas, that is those women who were not associated with the SWP or YSA, went together after the plenary session was adjourned and considered the problem of how to handle the SWP leaders. While these women were not political realists in their goals, they did believe in working throughout the existing system rather than functioning with the SWP in their eventual goal of revolution.

It was decided that the independent feminists would no longer continue hassling within WONAAC. They did not want to have decisions for them being structured by a male dominated group. They also decided that money being collected by WONAAC in the name of abortion law change was not being used for that purpose, but rather to sustain members of the SWP-YSA.

The Sunday morning session, July 16, 1972, was labeled "Meeting to Discuss Internal Hassles." About 35 independents attended and a few number of SWP-YSA members and sympathizers were present. Independents there were from New Haven, Boston, Detroit, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, and San Francisco.

The independents did not waiver in their firm opposition to SWP-YSA control of WONAAC. Six national coordinators of WONAAC were independents and decided to resign publicly at the afternoon plenary session. They also decided to combat SWP control of the feminist movement through the various publications.

FORMER MEMBERS OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

CALIF. CA The six national coordinators who resigned were Judy Siphers, San Francisco; Ann C. Davidson, Pa. Philadelphia; Rose Weber, New York; Vicki Eslinger, Columbia, South Carolina; Nancy Rolf, New York; and Ellen Shapiro, New York. N.Y.

There were approximately 700-800 women in attendance at the afternoon session. According to one of the SWP leaders, these women were from 31 states and three countries-Canada, Italy and Sweden. The states that had more representation than others were Ohio, Illinois, New York, and Massachusetts.

Most of the problems and differences between the independents and the SWP centered around approaches to abortion law reform. The SWP was charged with always having demonstrations and rallies and never doing any work through the legislative process.

The independents stated that they were tired of this hassle and that they believed there were more effective ways to change abortion laws than carrying placards in the streets.

After the independent women publicly resigned in front of the plenary session, two other coordinators announced they were staying on. One was Barbara Roberts, the other's name is unknown.

Linda Jenness made a final plea for the independent women to reconsider. The removal of the independents from WONAAC has debilitated the organization and most independent representatives will be going back to their own cities to work for abortion law change in organizations which have no connection with the SWP.

The concern still exists, however, that WONAAC will be able to collect monies in the name of abortion reform and there is also the concern that women new to the movement will join in a mistaken notion that they will be furthering abortion law reform.

Independents vowed before leaving New York that they would try to publicize activities from the SWP in an effort to prevent this.

As the youth organization of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), the YSA serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer," as "A multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

ReAL letter to New York, dated 8/30/72, wherein Albany asked to be advised of any active investigation being conducted re WONAAC, or if any active investigation is warranted by Albany, FBI.

For the information of the Albany Division, the New York Office is the office of origin, concerning captioned organization. The Bureau has advised that as the Socialist Workers Party and the Young Socialist Alliance play a major roll in WONAAC throughout the United States, and inasmuch as information has been provided that WONAAC is, for the most part, totally controlled by Socialist Workers Party/ Young Socialist Alliance, the activities of this organization should be followed, for the purpose of determining the extent of influence and control by individuals who are members of Socialist Workers Party/ Young Socialist Alliance, and who are acting on behalf of these organizations.

Based upon Bureau instructions, in light of information set forth in referenced Albany letter, concerning DIANE PARRY, an Socialist Workers Party organizer in the Utica, New York area, and her reported communication with national headquarters of WONAAC in New York City. It would appear advisable for the Albany Division to institute such investigation, as it deems appropriate to ascertain the extent of Socialist Workers Party/Young Socialist Alliance activity in its division in connection with WONAAC.

Jane Van Deusen in July, 1972, was identified as the coordinator of MWAAC. There are no other officers since this is not an organization, as such, which would have as a staff a group of officers, elected or appointed.

MP T-1 on
August 9, 1972

Jane Van Deusen in August, 1972, was identified as a then current member of the Twin Cities Branch-Socialist Workers Party (TCB-SWP), Minneapolis, Minnesota.

August 23, 1972

The Twin Cities Branch-Socialist Workers Party (SWP) was formed in 1955 by the merger of the Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota, branches of the SWP. The Twin Cities Branch-SWP is an affiliate of the SWP.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

MEMBERSHIP

The MWAAC is a non-membership feminist movement of individuals interested in promoting the repeal of all abortion laws, and other aims having to do with principles of women's liberation on a national scale.

MP T-1 on
August 9, 1972

GENERAL ACTIVITIES

MINNESOTA WOMEN'S ABORTION ACTION COALITION

CONFIDENTIAL

At four closed meetings of the TCB-SWP held on various dates between January 26, 1972, and April 3, 1972, the women's liberation movement and some of the activities of the abortion action group were discussed. Included among these discussions were proposed attendance by local representatives at a WONAAC conference scheduled to be held at Boston, Massachusetts, February 11-13, 1972. At a meeting held April 3, 1972, discussions centered around a report presented concerning an abortion action week scheduled to be held in May, 1972, culminating in a May 6 rally at the State Capitol Building in St. Paul, Minnesota.

MP T-3 on January 30, 1972, through
June 13, 1972

The MWAAC activities were discussed at four closed meetings of the TCB-SWP held in Minneapolis, Minnesota, between the dates of February 23, 1972, and March 22, 1972. Items included during these discussions were an MWAAC action conference scheduled to be held at the University of Minnesota campus, Minneapolis, Minnesota, on April 8, 1972, and the abortion action week scheduled to be held during the period May 1 through May 6, 1972, ending with a rally on the steps of the State Capitol Building in St. Paul, Minnesota.

MP T-4 on February 28, 1972, through
March 29, 1972

Jane Van Deusen presented a report on women's activities to a closed meeting of the Young Socialist Alliance-Twin Cities Group (YSA-TCG) held February 20, 1972. Van Deusen, a member of the YSA-TCG, reported on the WONAAC conference held in Boston, Massachusetts, earlier in the month of February, 1972.

MP T-1 on
February 23, 1972

CONFIDENTIAL

The Young Socialist Alliance-Twin Cities Group is the Youth Branch of the Twin Cities Branch-Socialist Workers Party (TCB-SWP), an affiliate of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP).

As the youth organization of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) serves as the main source of recruitment into that organization. The YSA is described in the masthead of its official publication, "The Young Socialist Organizer," as "A multinational revolutionary socialist youth organization."

The MWAAC rally held May 6, 1972, began at the residence of the governor of the State of Minnesota, 1006 Summit Avenue, St. Paul, Minnesota, at approximately 3:30P.M. and proceeded to the State Capitol Building where the rally calling for the repeal of all abortion laws and emphasizing the demand for the right to legal abortions was held. The rally was held without incident and speakers identified included representatives from the YSA-TCG and the TCB-SWP. Jane Van Deusen was the principle speaker for the MWAAC at this rally which ended at approximately 5:30 P.M.

May 9, 1972

The principle speaker in favor of legal abortion in the State of Minnesota at the rally held in St. Paul, Minnesota, on May 6, 1972, was Jane Van Deusen from Minneapolis, Minnesota.

May 12, 1972

The MWAAC held a meeting July 25, 1972, at 100 University Avenue, Minneapolis, Minnesota. A report was presented concerning a national WONAAC conference held in New York City, New York, during July, 1972, where it was decided that an International Tribunal was planned for October 21, 1972. The International Tribunal would be held in New York City, New York, and it was hoped that plans could be made for a local tribunal scheduled to be held October 13, 1972, in Minneapolis, Minnesota, after which individuals would be designated to attend the international meeting scheduled for New York City. This July, 1972, meeting was the first activity on the part of the MWAAC as a new-organized effort following the May 6, 1972, rally.

August 9, 1972

Individuals known to be involved in the women's liberation movement in the Twin Cities area of Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota, have, during the past six months, shown little or no interest in the organization known as the MWAAC. Former leaders in the women's liberation movement have become aware of the SWP influence among the leaders of the group, and have adopted a hands off policy from active participation in the affairs of this group. While the May 6, 1972, rally in St. Paul, Minnesota, was attended by some 200 individuals, their attendance was considered to be due to individual interest in the abortion issue.

August 17, 1972

SWP INFLUENCE

The MWAAC is not a committee of the TCB-SWP, nor is it a part of the YSA-TCG. Women's liberation is a topic of general interest and concern to the membership of the TCB-SWP, and the anti-abortion standard taken by MWAAC is one aspect of the women's liberation movement of continued interest.

August 23, 1972

MINNESOTA WOMEN'S ABORTION ACTION COALITION

CONFIDENTIAL

Members of the YSA-TCG have in the past, expressed interest in the support of women's liberation as a matter of policy. The anti-abortion, or so called legal abortion movement, is one aspect of this women's liberation movement which continues to be of concern to members of the YSA-TCG, both male and female. While the vast majority of women in the State of Minnesota support either the repeal or changes in present state laws on abortion, supporters of this repeal or change also include professional women, medical doctors, lawyers, municipal court judges, and individuals from all walks of life.

The flyer encouraged all women to appear on Wednesday, 10/11/72, at 12:00 noon in front of the White House in Washington, D.C. to present demands for a right to the abortion law. The flyer indicated that on that date, United States Supreme Court will re-hear the suits challenging the constitutionality of the restrictive Texas and Georgia abortion laws.

The flyer stated that since it is presently illegal to demonstrate in front of the Supreme Court, WONAAC intended to hold a picket line and demonstrate

I. ORGANIZATIONAL DATA

A. Origin and Scope

NY T-2 on July 21, 1971, and NY T-3 on October 1, 1971, furnished information that over 1,000 women met in conference at Columbia University, NYC, NY, on July 16, 1971, through July 18, 1971, to form a National Movement of independent groups scattered throughout the United States (US) who favored and had worked to legalize abortion. As a result of this conference, WONAAC was founded.

B. Aims and Purposes

In the WONAAC national newsletter, dated September 16, 1971, WONAAC was self-described as a nationally coordinated abortion law repeal campaign including legislation, legal action, and nationally coordinated mass demonstrations in Washington, DC, and San Francisco, on November 20, 1971, for the repeal of all anti-abortion laws and corollary demands of no forced sterilization, and the repeal of all restrictive contraception laws. WONAAC claims to reach all women, black; Chinaca; Latina; Asian; Puerto Rican; native American women; campus women; gay women; high school women; housewives; professional, welfare, and working women; young women; women from churches, political organizations, trade unions, the military, and communities across the country.

C. Headquarters

On November 22, 1972, a Special Agent (SA) of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), utilizing a pretext, contacted an individual self-identified as CAROL EATON at telephone number 675-9150, located at 150 5th Avenue, NYC, NY. EATON, who stated she is currently a National Staff member of WONAAC, advised that the National and NY Staffs of WONAAC are headquartered at this address.

D. When Meetings Held

According to CAROL EATON, regular NY Coalition meetings of WONAAC are held every other Wednesday evening at Religious Center at New York University, 2 Washington Square North, NYC, NY. EATON stated that most NY State staff members are present at these meetings and at least one or more National Staff members also try to be in attendance. Other than this, state and national staffs meet periodically, as business demands.

E. Officers

EATON identified the following individuals as current officers of WONAAC:

National Staff	SUSAN LAMONT
National Coordinator ~~[illegible] ORGANIZATION~~	MARILYN MARKUS CAROL EATON	NY
NY State Staff	BARBARA MUTNICK
Coordinator	ANN GLICK JUDITH LAMBERT	NY

EATON further stated there are two recognized full time fund raisers for WONAAC. She identified these individuals as:

EVELYN KIRSCH
SUSAN CHRISTIE

F. Membership and Finances

According to EATON, WONAAC does not maintain a formal membership, as such, and financially exists only through voluntary contributions. She stated that all staff members, National and NY State, serve on a voluntary basis, receive no salary, and get only a small "subsistance allowance" which the staff has found necessary to supplement with their own personal funds in order to get by.

G. WONAAC Affiliates

CAROL EATON stated there are presently 36 WONAAC affiliates, also called "coalitions" throughout the US, and that most states of the union are represented by an affiliate or coalition.

II. YSA-SWP INFLUENCE AND CONTROL OVER WONAAC

NY T-1 provided information on July 22, 1971, that the First National Womens Abortion Conference was held at Columbia University, NYC, NY, from July 16, 1971, to July 18, 1971, which resulted in the founding of WONAAC. NY T-1 stated that it was immediately apparent that this conference was taken over and influenced by YSA-SWP members who infiltrated the various conference committees and workshops which were established to help formulate the main direction the Coalition would follow in the future. NY T-1 stated that it seemed certain the YSA-SWP would, in the future, dictate policy for this organization and would be able to control the utilization of WONAAC funds.

On August 5, 1971, NY T-4 provided a leaflet captioned, "What Every Woman Should Know". This leaflet, which was published by Feminist Organization for Communication, Action and Service (F.O.C.A.S.), related the following:

"The Womens National Abortion Coalition has been called and organized by the SWP and its affiliate, the YSA, including women supposedly representing Women's Liberation groups, who in truth represent, first, the SWP and YSA. These women attach more importance to their political movement than to the Women's Liberation Movement. And when 77% of the women in this country are for reform of abortion laws, there is fertile soil for a political party to build itself on. The SWP/YSA realizes this and is taking advantage of it."

On August 5, 1971, a leaflet captioned "F.O.C.A.S." revealed in part as follows:

"A nucleus of about eight feminists have formed FOCAS, Feminist Organization for Communication, Action and Service. FOCAS evolved from the Women's Strike Coalition (WSC), which the Socialist Workers Party abruptly abandoned on May 25th in order to form the committee for WONAAC. Since that time a nucleus of women from WSC together with like-minded feminists preserved the WSC in order to maintain and expand a multi-issue action-oriented Women's Liberation coalition in the NYC area. Assisted by loans from supporting feminists, the new WSC paid back nearly a thousand of the three thousand dollars of debts incurred by the SWP women who had controlled the old WSC.

The "Militant" issue of August 6, 1971, page five, in an article entitled, "Abortion Campaign Counters Red-Baiting", revealed in part, with respect to the founding WONAAC conference in July, 1971:

"The Militant" is a weekly newspaper of the SWP.

"There were many members of the SWP and YSA at the conference, and SWPers and YSAers are among those who have worked most consistently for abortion repeal and to build the abortion conference...."

NY T-5 advised on November 12, 1971, that a NY Planning Meeting of WONAAC was held at LOEB Student Center, NY University, NY, on November 11, 1971, to lay plans for a scheduled November 20, 1971 demonstration in Washington, DC. According to this source, this meeting was completely dominated and controlled by members of the SWP.

NY T-6 related on November 16, 1971, that the Upper West Side Branch of the YSA planned to send a contingent of its members to Washington, DC, on November 20, 1971, in order to participate in the planned demonstration there on that date.

NY T-6 stated that practically all the members of the uptown branch of the YSA, NY, were expected to participate in this activity.

NY T-5 related on January 20, 1972, that the scheduled November 20, 1971 march in Washington was "crucial" to all SWP and YSA branches in that it afforded an opportunity for selling of "The Militant" and other SWP/YSA literature, and also afforded an opportunity for "intervening " in the action via distribution of SWP Election Campaign literature.

NY T-8 on February 11, 1972, and NY T-9 and NY T-10 on February 14, 1972, provided information that a WONAAC convention was held February 11, 1972, to February 13, 1972, at Hayden Hall, Boston University, Boston, Massachusetts. The general theme of this convention was "How to Win Abortion Law Repeal". NY T-8 stated that approximately 30 members of the YSA or SWP Boston Chapters were observed in attendance at this convention.

NY T-7 related on February 14, 1972, that because of the de-escalation of the Vietnam War by the NIXON Administration, the YSA-New York Local (NYL), while continuing on with anti-war work through the NY Student Mobilization Committee (SMC) and NY National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC), both of which organizations they dominate, would also concentrate in the area of the Women's Liberation Movement through their influence in WONAAC.

> The SMC is controlled by the SWP and its youth affiliate, YSA. SMC initiates and supports public demonstrations against the war in Southeast Asia.
> NPAC was founded in 1970 by members of the SWP. Its objective is the immediate, total and unconditional withdrawal of all US forces and material in Southeast Asia.

NY T-7 advised on various dates, March 23, 1972, through October 17, 1972, that activities of WONAAC were dutifully reported and included on the agenda at regular meetings of the Upper West Side Branch, YSA-New York Local (NYL) during that period.

NY T-5 advised on April 18, 1972, that the leadership of WONAAC was then dominated by the SWP.

NY T-7 related on July 7, 1972, that at a WONAAC meeting held June 27, 1972, at 706 Broadway, NYC, NY, starting at 6:40 PM, it was announced that even though WONAAC previously had accused various female activists working along with them in the Women's Liberation struggle of red baiting because of the stand they had taken against the SWP-Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), at present they are forced to work with these individuals to help strengthen the WONAAC cause.

At this meeting, certain WONAAC staff members walked out and voiced their disapproval of the meeting being taken over by a majority of SWP-YSA members. They indicated that the SWP-YSA has no right to be in a policy-making position in WONAAC.

NY T-7 on July 18, 1972, and NY T-11 on July 19, 1972, provided information that a WONAAC conference was held at Hunter College, Park Avenue and 69th Street on July 15, 1972 and July 16, 1972.

NY T-7 stated that NYC was picked as the site of this convention because this city is considered to be the center of the most powerful anti-abortion effort so far.

Discussions held at this conference centered on plans for (one)-future activity in the campaign to repeal all anti-abortion and contraception laws and (two)-to end forced sterilization.

A discussion was held concerning the attacks being made by the Catholic Church Hierarchy and other anti-abortion groups against women's rights to their own bodies.

NY T-11 related that the evening plenary session of WONAAC occurred on July 15, 1972, and it was immediately apparent that the SWP-YSA groups dominated the meeting. Independent women who wanted to make statements during this session were voted down by SWP floor leaders and these same persons continued to vote as a block on all issues.

The group of independent women from various geographic areas, that is, those women who were not associated with the SWP or YSA, went together after the plenary session was adjourned and considered the problem of how to handle the SWP leaders. While these women were not political realists in their goals, they did believe in working throughout the existing system rather than functioning with the SWP in their eventual goal of revolution.

It was decided that the independent feminists would no longer continue hassling within WONAAC. They did not want to have decisions for them being structured by a male dominated group. They also decided that money being collected by WONAAC in the name of abortion law change was not being used for that purpose, but rather to sustain members of the SWP-YSA.

The Sunday morning session, July 16, 1972, was labeled "Meeting to Discuss Internal Hassles." About 35 independents attended and a few number of SWP-YSA members and sympathizers were present. Independents there were from New Haven, Boston, Detroit, New York (NY), Chicago, Philadelphia, and San Francisco.

The independents did not waiver in their firm opposition to SWP-YSA control of WONAAC. Six national coordinators of WONAAC were independents and decided to resign publicly at the afternoon plenary session. They also decided to combat SWP control of the feminist movement through the various publications.

The six national coordinators who resigned were JUDY SIPHERS, San Francisco; ANN C. DAVIDSON, Philadelphia; ROSE WEBER, NY; VICKI ESLINGER, Columbia, South Carolina; NANCY ROLF, NY; and ELLEN SHAPIRO, NY.

There were approximately 700-800 women in attendance at the afternoon session. According to one of the SWP leaders, these women were from 31 states and three countries-Canada, Italy and Sweden. The states that had more representation than others were Ohio, Illinois, New York and Massachusetts.

Most of the problems and differences between the independents and the SWP centered around approaches to abortion law reform. The SWP was charged with always having demonstrations and rallies and never doing any work through the legislative process.

The independents stated that they were tired of this hassle and that they believed there were more effective ways to change abortion laws than carrying placards in the streets.

After the independent women publicly resigned in front of the plenary session, two other coordinators announced they were staying on. One was BARBARA ROBERTS, the other's name is unknown.

BER OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATION MEMBER OF SUBJECT ORGANIZATION

LINDA JENNESS made a final plea for the independent women to reconsider. The removal of the independents from WONAAC has debilitated the organization and most independent representatives will be going back to their own cities to work for abortion law change in organizations which have no connection with the SWP.

The concern still exists, however, that WONAAC will be able to collect monies in the name of abortion reform and there is also the concern that women new to the movement will join in a mistaken notion that they will be furthering abortion law reform.

Independents vowed before leaving NY that they would try to publicize activities from the SWP in an effort to prevent this.

III. OBSERVATION OF CURRENT NATIONAL STAFF MEMBER REGARDING YSA/SWP INFLUENCE

When contacted under pretext on November 24, 1972, CAROL EATON, self-identified as a current National Staff member, and previously mentioned in this report, related that she has been active in WONAAC since its inception. EATON, while averring she is definitely not a YSA, SWP, or member of any "radical group", acknowledged there always have been SWP, YSA and "radical" elements in WONAAC. She went on to state, however, that WONAAC has never allied itself politically with any organization or individual, including any of the political candidates in the recent political election and, despite its diverse makeup as too ideaological beliefs of its membership, WONAAC is basically an organization which strives only to the objectives for which it was originally founded. To this end, she went on, WONAAC would accept help from whatever source offered.

EATON admitted there were some problems in the past with regard to friction within WONAAC about SWP and YSA influence. She stated, however, this matter, to her observation, never seemed a serious one, and is quite minimal today. With regard to the "walk out" of six national coordinators at the July, 1972 conference in NYC, she stated the walk out did not occur, in fact, because of the SWP/YSA influence question, but rather because those who walked out believed WONAAC should be a "referral agency", while those who stayed felt it should not. By referral agency, EATON stated she means an agency which would refer callers to a specific location or place where abortions could be obtained.

IV. PLANNED PROJECTS

CAROL EATON advised that WONAAC plans an international Tribunal march to be held in NYC, NY, from March 9, 1972, to March 11, 1972. She stated plans have not yet been finalized, including the exact location or site this event will take place. However, she noted that SIMONE BEAUVOIR, a Parisian, well known in the Women's Liberation Movement, would be honorary chairwoman.

ReALlet to NY, dated 10/31/72.

Attached for the information of the Albany Division is a copy of a flyer obtained by the New York Office, published by the National Office of WONAAC and calling attention and urging the attendance of recipients to legislative hearings on abortion, scheduled to be held in the state capital building in Albany, New York, on January 30, 1973. The flyer indicated that testimony would be heard from medical and legal experts on abortion along with reports from women who have had legal as well as illegal abortions. Those attending were urged to visit their legislators in the morning and attend the hearing in the afternoon.

On 1/9/73, SA WILLIAM R. CLOUGH, utilizing a pretext of an anonymous newspaper reporter, ascertained from an unknown female at National Office of WONAAC, located at 150 Fifth Avenue, New York City, New York (telephone 212-675-9150), that several hundred women were expected to attend the aforementioned hearings and that several buses accommodating most of these individuals were scheduled to leave from Union Square West, New York, New York, at 7 and 8 a.m. on 1/30/73.

This unknown individual stated she had reason to believe that those attending the hearings under the auspices of WONAAC would not conduct themselves in other than a peaceful manner.

Albany will, through logical informants or established sources, furnish any pertinent information developed re this matter.

Reurlet 1/31/73.

Referenced letter stated that a flier was passed out at an antiwar rally in Philadelphia on 10/26/72 revealing that the WONAAC had moved to offices located on the third floor at Houston Hall, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and that the telephone service for this office was subscribed to by the University of Pennsylvania.

In regard to your request to continue attempts to develop information regarding WONAAC, an organization dominated and controlled by the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), considering it now utilizes offices at the University of Pennsylvania, you are authorized to continue your investigation. You should, however, restrict your investigation to determining the degree of infiltration and domination of this organization by SWP or its youth arm, the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA). This investigation must be conducted in a most discreet manner and limited to established sources. No action is to be taken by you which could in any way be construed as infringement by the FBI on academic freedom at the University of Pennsylvania.

It is noted by the Bureau that the above information was received by your office on 10/26/72, however, your request was not submitted to the Bureau until 1/31/73, a period in excess of 90 days. Although it is recognized there may be other matters requiring more immediate attention, the delay in this instance appears unreasonable. In the future, insure that these matters are handled on a more timely basis.

Re Philadelphia letter to the Bureau dated 7/27/72, and Bureau letter to Philadelphia dated 8/11/72.

INFORMANT, who has furnished reliable information in the past, made available information on 9/1/72, which reflected that the various women's liberation groups in the Philadelphia area were planning a women's rights rally to be held on 8/26/72, at Rittenhouse Square, Philadelphia, Pa. The information furnished by the source further reflected that the coalition of women's rights groups which planned the rally for 8/26/72, held a meeting on 8/16/72, and at that time they voted to exclude the Socialist Workers Party and Young Socialist Alliance people from participation in the rally on the grounds that they were representatives of political organizations.

The records of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania as furnished on 12/15/72, by SOURCE, reflected that telephone service for the Women United For Abortion Rights, 1115 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa., consisted of telephone number WA 2-0381, which was installed on 6/25/71, and which was disconnected on 7/31/72, for non-payment of bill.

A flyer was passed out to the public at an anti-war rally held in Philadelphia on 10/26/72, which reflected that Philadelphia Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) had moved to the third floor, Houston Hall, 3417 Spruce Street, University of Pennsylvania, telephone number 594-5267. The records of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania as furnished by SOURCE [redacted] reflected that telephone service for number 594-5267 is subscribed to by the University of Pennsylvania, 34th and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia, Pa.

Sources of the Philadelphia Office have not furnished any information regarding WONAAC activities since referenced Philadelphia letter was submitted.

Request of Bureau

In view of the fact that WONAAC left 1115 Walnut Street in late July 1972, and is presently maintaining an office at the University of Pennnsylvania Houston Hall, Bureau authority is requested to continue to attempt to develop information regarding captioned organization, and to attempt to determine the extent of TROTSKYIST influence on direction of WONAAC.

Re Minneapolis letter and letterhead memorandum dated 9/21/72.

The Minnesota Supreme Court on 2/2/73 declared the state's abortion law unconstitutional in its entirety based on the 1/22/73 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court wherein it was ruled that the states cannot prohibit abortions during the first six months of pregnancy.

The decision of the Minnesota Supreme Court has resulted in several Twin Cities area hospitals in Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota, offering facilities and providing necessary procedures for staff members to perform abortions under these court rulings.

INFORMANT, who has furnished reliable information in the past, has advised that the object of the captioned group was to remove anti-abortion laws from the books in the state of Minnesota, as well as in the United States.

On 2/16/73 this source further related that the Women's Liberation Movement supporters in the Twin Cities area have generally reacted favorably to the court decisions relating to abortion laws and now that the principal object of the Minnesota Abortion Action Coalition has been achieved, the influence of its spokesmen is expected to decline.

Title: WOMEN'S NATIONAL ABORTION ACTION COALITION

Character: INTERNAL SECURITY - COMMUNIST (TROTSKYIST)

Synopsis: Informant advised: Boston Women's Abortion Action Coalition (BOWAAC), the local affiliate of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC), moved its headquarters in late summer, 1972, from 552 Massachusetts Ave., Cambridge, Mass., to 419 Boylston Street, Room 323, Boston. BOWAAC not a formal membership-type group but there are currently a limited number of activists, a maximum of fifteen, a majority of whom are local Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and/or Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) members, involved in BOWAAC work. A number of formerly active independents in BOWAAC have dropped out of BOWAAC work in view of U. S. Supreme Court decision liberalizing abortion laws; and as a result, SWP/YSA plans locally with respect to BOWAAC are indefinite. Activities set forth.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

I. ORGANIZATION OF BOSTON WOMEN'S ABORTION ACTION COALITION (BOWAAC)

BOWAAC, the local affiliate of the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC), was formed out of the local Female Liberation group; and while BOWAAC is not exclusively made up of Socialist Workers Party (SWP), Boston, and Young Socialist Alliance of Boston (YSA-B) female members, it is controlled by members of those groups.

WONAAC has been publicly described as an organization of groups whose aim is to effect the overthrow of existing abortion laws and to demand free abortion on demand.

The SWP, Boston, is the local affiliate and follows the aims and purposes of the national SWP.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The YSA-B is the Boston affiliate of the YSA, the youth organization of the SWP.

A. Headquarters

In late summer, 1972, BOWAAC moved its headquarters from 552 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridge, Mass., to 419 Boylston Street, Room 323, Boston, Massachusetts, telephone 266-3574.

BS T-1

BOWAAC headquarters continues to be located at 419 Boylston Street, Boston, Room 323.

The New England Telephone 1973 Directory for the Boston area lists BOWAAC at 419 Boylston Street, Boston, with telephone numbers 266-3574 and 266-1679.

B. Membership and SWP and YSA Infiltration

BOWAAC is not a formal membership-type group. There are, however, currently a limited number of activists, a maximum of fifteen, the majority of whom are members of the SWP and/or YSA in the Boston area, involved in BOWAAC work. The number of activists is currently limited as a number of the formerly active independents in the group have recently dropped out of BOWAAC work feeling that the United States Supreme Court decision relaxing legal restraints on the practice of abortion has resolved the abortion problems.

March 2, 1973

JANE ROLAND, the SWP, Boston, member then in charge of SWP/YSA work in BOWAAC, in early 1972, reported that work in BOWAAC was going quite slowly in the Boston area and that there continued to be opposition to the SWP/YSA control by independents active in BOWAAC.

BS T-1
September 28, 1972

ANN MARIE CAPUZZI, the SWP, Boston, member currently in charge of SWP/YSA work in BOWAAC, recently reported that, in view of the above-mentioned United States Supreme Court decision concerning abortion laws and the dropping out of BOWAAC work by a number of the independents, future plans of the SWP/YSA locally with respect to BOWAAC are indefinite.

C. Activities

"The Militant," a weekly newspaper of the SWP, in its September 22, 1972, edition carried an article entitled "Petition Filed for Vote on Abortion," which reported that representatives of an Abortion Referendum Committee had announced on September 7, 1972, the filing of a petition to allow Massachusetts citizens to vote on whether abortion should be legalized. According to the article, representatives of BOWAAC were among supporters of this Abortion Referendum Committee.

A leaflet entitled "Speak Outrage - A Woman's Right to Choose a Public Hearing" was distributed to the public in the general Boston area during October, 1972, to advertise a meeting at the Boston University, Boston, Law Auditorium under the joint sponsorship of BOWAAC and Female Liberation on October 28, 1972. According to the leaflet, women would testify at this gathering against persons or institutions which had victimized them with legal or illegal abortions or had denied them contraception, voluntary sterilization or good pre-natal care, or had sterilized them without their knowledge or consent.

Among the listed speakers was JANE ROLAND, identified as a member of BOWAAC, who was to speak on the topic, "Summary and Indictments."

"The Militant" in its November 10, 1972, edition carried an article which reported that on October 28, 1972, 300 women had gathered at the Law Auditorium of Boston University to hear testimony on "Crimes Against Women." The article reported that the program, entitled "Speak Outrage," was built by "Speak Outrage Project," a committee of individuals from several groups in the Boston area, one of which was identified as BOWAAC.

The article reported that topics covered in the testimony ranged from abortion to forced sterilization to poor pre-natal care and that presentations were given by women of diverse ages and economic and religious groups.

The "Observer," a campus newspaper of Tufts University, Medford, Massachusetts, in its November 3, 1972, edition carried an article entitled "Groups Debate Abortions," which reported that representatives from the "Value of Life Committee" and BOWAAC had met head on November 1, 1972, at Tufts University to debate the issue of legalized abortion. The article reported that JANE ROLAND, identified as the former coordinator of BOWAAC, spoke in favor of repealing all abortion laws.

Re New York letter to the Bureau, 6/6/72; Bureau O-7 to New York, 7/12/72; and Philadelphia letter to the Bureau, 2/28/73.

As outlined in referenced New York letter, the New York Office noted, as far back as June, 1972, it recognized that, although several leaders of WONAAC were known to be SWP members, their activities, as pertaining to WONAAC, had been directed toward the legal repeal of all restrictive abortion laws, and investigation had disclosed no indication that WONAAC, as an organization, had engaged in any subversive or violence prone activity.

Referenced Bureau O-7, referencing the aforementioned communication, nevertheless instructed that the New York Office, as office of origin, had overall responsibility for captioned organization, and directed the New York Office to reopen its case and submit semi-annual reports.

A review of the results of the continuing investigation of WONAAC, together with all indices and references pertaining thereto, since June 1972, reflects no apparent change in the activities or the organization or its membership from that outlined above.

The New York Office is in accord with the view of the Philadelphia Division, as set forth in its referenced letter, that WONAAC represents basically a social change vehicle which, despite disparate political views of its leaders and membership, deals with the single issue of abortion rights.

In view of instructions set forth in Bureau memorandum 10-73, dated 3/6/73, paragraph G, wherein the Bureau reiterated its policy that the FBI has no interest in individuals and organizations involved in legitimate dissent and the recent United States Supreme Court decision upholding the right to abortion, it appears continued investigation of WONAAC as such is not justified.

The New York Office further concurs with the Philadelphia view that continued investigation of the SWP and/or YSA would produce the desired coverage and information concerning its members who are associated or active in WONAAC.

RePHlet 2/28/73.

The Women's National Abortion Action Coalition (WONAAC) has been the subject of a separate investigation by the Bureau in numerous offices. In referenced letter, Philadelphia pointed out that WONAAC represents a basic social change dealing with abortion rights and that in view of the fact the U.S. Supreme Court upheld the right of abortion, the continued investigation of WONAAC at this time does not appear to be desirable and should be discontinued. Philadelphia also suggested that continued investigation of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and its youth group, the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), should determine pertinent activities of WONAAC.

After careful consideration of this matter, the Bureau agrees with the observations of the Philadelphia Office that the investigation of WONAAC should be discontinued. However, in view of the fact that WONAAC is dominated and controlled by the SWP, a Trotskyist communist organization cited by the Attorney General pursuant to Executive Order 10450, it is the responsibility of the Bureau to investigate and report pertinent information relating to the extent of SWP domination and control of captioned organization.

Therefore, recipients should close separate investigations concerning WONAAC. In the future, report above-described information regarding WONAAC under appropriate subheading in the SWP semiannual organizational reports.

For the information of New York, referenced Bureau letter to Philadelphia dated 2/12/73 authorized a continued investigation of WONAAC utilizing only established sources. The Bureau further advised that the investigation was to be conducted in a most discreet manner and that no action was to be taken which could in any way be construed as infringement by the FBI on academic freedom at the University of Pennsylvania.

The case file of captioned organization has been reviewed as well as all indices references to captioned organization and it has been determined that while some of the individuals associated with WONAAC in the Philadelphia area are also known to be affiliated with the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) and for the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), the majority of WONAAC supporters appear to be individuals interested in social change rather than revolutionary political change.

113

In view of the fact that WONAAC represents basically a social change vehicle dealing with the single issue of abortion rights and the fact that a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision upheld the right to abortion, thereby reducing the political value of this issue, it would appear that a continued investigation of WONAAC at this time is not desirable.

the Pentagon, April 10, 1971

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, on March 10, 1971 made available a four page folder captioned, "Women's National March On The Pentagon April 10," sub-captioned, "defend the right to live."

This folder reflected women's disagreement with the Nixon administration's policy in regards to Indochina, and states, in part, as follows:

"Our sisters in Vietnam have stretched forth a hand to us. They are our example. We answer them with our strength together. Women are marching against the Pentagon on April 10. With dignity and rage we march against the American Medical Association and its health system that cares nothing about the health of the people. We march against the partnership between police and organized crime, which makes heroin a big business-----silently endorsed by those who 'govern us'. We march against politicians, hustlers and kickback men, whose corruption and crimes are paid for by the people. We march against the injust court system, and for the freeing of all political prisoners."

Women's National March on

The folder indicated that contributions for the march should be sent to:

NY "April 10 Women's Committee
c/o Upper Westside Women's Center 627 Amsterdam Avenue, NYC (212) 847-6696," and information regarding transportation and child care could be obtained from the "New York Office."

"Grant's Tomb", a community newspaper, upper west side, New York City (NYC), March, 1971, Number 2 Issue, page 10, contained an article captioned, "Women March on Washington". This article reflected, in part, as follows:

"Out of the outrage against the war that was the unifying force of the Ann Arbor conference, the women's caucus decided to channel our frustration into a public statement calling for a women's march on Washington, D.C. on April 10. We all felt the urgency to show how we as women feel oppressed by the same U.S. system that needs the dominance of men over women, white over black, brown and,yellow,heterosexual over homosexual, and over poor to support the aggressive war policy that is killing our Vietnamese sisters and brothers.------

"We are making this march one step in showing the world our solidarity as women with all our sisters in Vietnam who are fighting for their lives. The Committee to Defend the Right to Live, a South Vietnamese women's organization, has called for our support."

The confidential source mentioned above on March 15, 1971, furnished information that on March 11, 1971, a "women's meeting" was held at Washington Square Methodist Church, 135 West 4th Street, New York, New York (NY). Approximately 70 people were present. It appears to the source that the Pentagon action April 10th is being led by the same women, in the "Women's Union", who are planning the trip to Toronto, Canada in late March, 1971. The only decision arrived at during the meeting, according to the source, was that on the scheduled date, April 10th, there will be a march on the Pentagon.

the Pentagon, April 10, 1971

Nothing was decided as to mode of travel to Washington and no other firm plans were made regarding any other action in Washington, D.C.

Women's National March
on the Pentagon, April 10, 1971

Reference is made to New York memorandum dated March 16, 1971.

On March 24, 1971, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that on March 22, 1971, a "Committee for April 10" held a meeting at the Law Commune Office, 640 Broadway, New York City (NYC), which was attended by 30 to 40 females. It was learned that a woman from the New York (NY) group was already in Washington, D.C. working with others there to arrange permits, speakers, et cetera, for the women's march on the Pentagon on April 10, 1971. It was stated that it was easier to obtain a permit for a march from the Justice Department to the Pentagon, than from the Pentagon to the Justice Department, but that no permit had been obtained as yet. It was pointed out that a march from the Pentagon to the Justice Department was preferred as there would be less chance of losing marchers en route to the Justice Department than from marching from the Justice Department to the Pentagon. It was stated that no buses had been chartered at NY, but it was hoped that 15 buses would be needed.

Law Commune

On September 16, 1969, a second source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that the Law Commune is not an organization in the usual sense of the word. It is rather a law firm comprised of a group of lawyers interested and sympathetic to the New Left and Black Power organizations, and who counsel and defend individuals in these groups as the occasion arises. They likewise permit their premises to be used on occasion as a meeting place for these organizations and distribute some of their literature.

On March 25, 1971, the second advised that as of now there is much confusion over the mechanical aspects of the Women's National March on April 10, 1971, and that the people in Washington, D.C. will make the ultimate decision regarding the route of the march. The source stated that in NY, information concerning buses for Washington, D.C. will be available at the Upper West Side Women's Center, 627 Amsterdam Avenue, NYC, telephone number 874-6696.

On March 24, 1971, the second source made available a piece of literature sent out by the "April 10 Women's Committee" concerning the national women's march on the Pentagon on April 10. This literature contained in part as follows:

"We are going to the Pentagon on April 10 to serve notice on our enemies that women are moving against them. Our urgency and our fury at the expansion of the Indochinese war and our rage at the repression of our black and brown sisters and brothers needs expression right now. We are joining with other women to struggle for the everyday things we need and against whatever and whoever prevents us from getting them.

"We need and want our sisters around the country to build for this action in their own ways, and to communicate with other sisters their ideas, suggestions and criticisms. This is a temporary contact list which came out of the Ann Arbor Conference:

Women's National March
on the Pentagon, April 10, 1971

Reference is made to New York (NY) memorandum dated March 26, 1971.

On March 30, 1971, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that on March 26, 1971, a "Committee for April 10" held a meeting at the McIntosh Student Union, Barnard College, New York City (NYC), to plan and organize for the Women's March on the Pentagon on April 10, 1971. The meeting was attended by 30 individuals and had no chairman.

The source stated that at the above meeting, two representatives,man and wife, from an "Action Committee" on certain islands near Okinawa,planned a march on April 10, 1971 in Washington, D.C. to protest giving over to Japan what they feel to be Chinese islands. This march is to begin at 1:00 p.m. at the Washington Monument, up Massachusetts Avenue to the State Department, and possibly on to the Japanese Embassy. Support of the women's group was requested; however, after the two left the meeting, the "Committee for April 10" decided not to support the Chinese march on the grounds that they were too "liberal."

ENCLOSURE 100-455 [illegible] -146

the Pentagon, April 10, 1971

The source advised that at the above meeting, it was stated that no permit had been obtained as yet for the Women's March on the Pentagon on April 10, 1971. It was stated that the march will proceed from a "grassy spot" at the Justice Department at noon, past the Bureau of Indian Affairs, Department of the Interior, Department of Labor and on to the Pentagon. An hour at each end of the march would be allowed for speakers, though the group doubted they would use it. Guerrilla theatre activity by participating groups in front of the various government buildings was discussed and encouraged, though specifics were not mentioned.

The source stated that at the above meeting, copies of a letter to Madame Binh, head of the Vietcong delegation to the Paris peace talks and the North Vietnamese in Paris, were passed out, describing the purpose of the April 10 march. This letter is set forth as follows:

"March 25, 1971

"Dear Mme. Binh,

"On April 10, many of us American women will be marching on the Pentagon. You know already of the other actions being planned here against the war. As women, we are coming out from separate cities and roles, trying to create reality out of what we once held looked up in our imaginations. In marching on the Pentagon, we are joining with all people inside and outside of Amerika, who fight against Amerika's attempt to control us.

"We've been conditioned so long to accept Amerika's definition of us as weak, passive, and powerless, and to deny all our feelings of love and strength, that it has been a struggle for us to turn towards each other and fight for our freedom.

"Your own long struggle in Indochina, and the struggle of Third World people here at home, awakened us to the destruction that Amerikan power represents all over the world. Your many victories against that power have been an inspiration to us. But it wasn't until we joined together to examine and share our own experiences as women in Amerika that we saw ourselves not only as your supporters, but as sisters in a revolutionary struggle for the liberation of all people.

"We are becoming women of the revolution, working in our own way to stop the bombs from dropping in your land, at the same time that we work to build day care centers, health clinics, and a whole culture that will come from and respond to the needs of all the people, not just the rich and the powerful. The enormous anger and energy of sisters together is a force that confuses and terrifies the rulers of Amerika.

"It's so incredibly hard for us to write what we're feeling, to express to you and our Vietnamese sisters and brothers the depth and strength of our love and solidarity.

"Tidings of revolutionary joy from sisters inside Amerika,

"In love and respect,
"April 10th Women's Committee"

Reference is made to New York (NY) memorandum dated March 31, 1971.

On March 30, 1971, a source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished a leaflet distributed on March 27, 1971, entitled, "April 10 Women's March On The Pentagon," which contained the sentence "Fresh Wind Blows Against the Empire" in the form of a rainbow. The leaflet, described by the source as a Weatherman leaflet, is quoted in part as follows:

"...the rainbow is a sign of that which is in all things.

"It is a sign of the union of all the peoples like one big family.

"Seek the vision. Become a warrior of the rainbow!

"Let it grow! Let it grow!

"We are creating reality out of what we once held locked up in our imaginations. We are coming out from separate cities and roles, channeling our life force into a revolution which will free not only women, but all people. We can't be free until everybody is free. In marching on the Pentagon, we are pointing out the source of our oppression

A characterization of the Weatherman is attached hereto.

West Side Women's Center

The "Rat", an underground type newspaper published in New York City (NYC) bi-weekly, in its issue of November 17-December 6, 1970, page 13, contained an article captioned: "News From: Women's Center in N.Y." This article reflects that a West Side Women's Center is located at 626 Amsterdam Avenue, NY, NY, where it is forming an "Abortion Program" for those living on the Mid to Upper West Side (of NYC.)

"The Village Voice," a weekly NYC newspaper, issue of December 10, 1970, page 16, reflects an article captioned, "Women's Center." This article states in part that "The West Side Women's Liberation Center, 627 Amsterdam Avenue (near 90th Street), has started a free abortion counseling and referral project to serve women of the Upper West Side. Women who need this service can come in or call the center at TR 4-6696 from 11:30 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays, and from 6:00 to 9:00 on Tuesdays and Wednesdays."

On April 2, 1971, the source advised that on March 29, 1971, approximately 40 women attended a meeting of the "April 10 Committee" which was held at New York University Loeb Student Center, NYC, to organize for the women's march on the Pentagon. Abbey Kaplan (not further identified) was Chairwoman. Kaplan stated she was negotiating the permit and other arrangements in Washington, D.C. A list of over 25 schools in the area was read by Kaplan to determine if contacts had been made to leaflet, et cetera. It appeared that the majority of schools had been reached, but there were still several yet to be organized.

A representative from the committee was sent to Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, where contact was made the women's center and the "Kensington Collective," concerning the April 10 march on Washington.

The source stated that several women at the meeting complained that the Weatherman leaflet (previously referred to) was ineffective as it was directed only toward young hippie women. One woman argued in favor of this leaflet, but later stated "we'll do another one."

The source stated that a committee was established to work on advertising of the march and that Barbara Reilly, among others, volunteered for this work. A second committee was formed to plan the rallies in Washington, D.C. It was stated there would be a brief rally at the Justice Department and a major rally at the Pentagon. In addition, they would arrange for the receipt of telegrams from the Toronto conference, and Madame Binh, head of the Vietcong delegation to the Paris peace talks and the North Vietnamese in Paris. It was also stated that there would be guerrilla theaters and a leaflet pointing out "targets" along Constitution Avenue.

Barbara Reilly

On October 21, 1970, the above source advised that Barbara Reilly as of that date was a member of the Weatherman faction of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS).

A characterization of SDS is attached hereto.

On April 5, 1971, the above source advised that concerning the Women's National March on the Pentagon, that six buses will depart the Uptown Women's Center, 627 Amsterdam Avenue, NYC, that six additional buses will depart the north side of Union Square, NYC, and that two more will depart from 109 East 184th Street, Bronx, NY (across the street from the

Crown Coach
Coast Cities Cruisers, Incorporated
Community Coach Lines and Garden State Transit Lines

The buses will proceed directly to the Justice Department, Washington, D.C., where they will unload. The empty buses will then drive to the Pentagon where they will wait for the end of the march. All will return to NY with their passengers on the night of April 10, 1971. The source said that each bus will carry 38 to 49 passengers and it is expected that approximately 630 persons will travel to Washington, D.C. from NYC by bus for the march.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

Students for a Democratic Society, commonly known as SDS, came into existence at a founding convention held during June, 1962, at Port Huron, Michigan. From an initial posture of "participatory democracy," Marxist-Leninist ideology of various shadings became predominant during 1968-1969 with debate centering on how best to create a revolutionary youth movement. SDS moved from involvement in the civil rights struggle to an anti-Vietnam war position to advocacy of a militant anti-imperialist line linking up the oppressed peoples of Asia, Africa and Latin America with the black liberation movement in the United States. All major factions within SDS embrace Marxism-Lenism and identify internationally with China, Cuba and North Vietnam as countries leading the worldwide struggles against the United States. However, the Soviet Union was regarded as imperialist and with the Communist Party, United States of America, "revisionist" in nature.

SDS operated under a national constitution which called for an annual National Convention (NC) and quarterly National Council meetings wherein programs were initiated and debated. Three national officers were elected annually with a National Interim Committee to run the organization. Regional offices and college chapters elected delegates to the national meetings but each functioned independently on local matters. Its official publication "Fire" (formerly "New Left Notes") last appeared in December, 1969.

Internal factionalism of serious proportions developed during 1968 - 1969 and the following three factions evolved as a result of a split at the June, 1969, NC: Weatherman, Worker Student Alliance (WSA), and Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM). The effect of the split on SDS chapters throughout the country was divisive. Some aligned with one or the other of the three major factions. Others, unable to identify with any faction, disassociated with SDS completely and changed names.

The SDS national office in recent years was located at 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois. It was closed in February, 1970.

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY (cont'd)

The Weatherman and RYM groups no longer consider themselves associated with SDS, and the WSA group refers to itself as the true SDS.

Characterizations of Weatherman, WSA and RYM are set out separately.

1. APPENDIX

WEATHERMAN

Initially called the "Action Faction," Weatherman came into being immediately before the June, 1969, Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) National Convention (NC). At this NC Weatherman won all three national officer positions and a majority of the National Interim Committee as well. Subsequently, they took over the SDS National Office (NO) in Chicago, and controlled its funds, paper and national records. Although internal struggle existed until late 1969, Weatherman for all major purposes controlled SDS nationally from June, 1969, until its NO closed in February, 1970. At this time it no longer considered itself part of SDS.

The term Weatherman emerged from an ideological paper prepared by its leaders entitled "You Don't Need a Weatherman to Know Which Way the Wind Blows" ("New Left Notes" June 18, 1969). This statement outlined the basic stance of Weatherman: Marxist-Leninist in content but with strong advocacy that action not theory would bring about revolution in the United States. This posture was complemented with an international identification to the Cuban revolution and CASTRO's statement that the duty of a revolutionary is to make revolution.

During October, 1969, Weatherman riots in Chicago resulted in more than 260 arrests for mob action and related charges. A program of armed struggle was finalized during a December, 1969, "War Council" wherein terrorist tactics and political assassination were contemplated. The basic strength of Weatherman was then revealed to be some 300 - 350 nationally and geographically apportioned to the Midwest, New York, and some Northwest.

As its rhetoric of violence escalated, Weatherman leaders increasingly discussed the necessity of an underground operation wherein more than 90 percent of the organization would be submerged; "affinity groups" of three - five members would function independently. In February, 1970, Weatherman leaders announced a program of "strategic sabotage" with police and military installations as primary targets.

In February, 1970, Weatherman abandoned the SDS NO, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, and throughout the country entered an underground status.

A characterization of the SDS is set out separately.

WORKER STUDENT ALLIANCE/ PROGRESSIVE LABOR PARTY

A source advised during August, 1969, that at the National Convention (NC) of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) held in Chicago, Illinois, during June, 1969, a split arose between the Progressive Labor Party (PLP) and the National Office (NO), the NO becoming known as the Weatherman faction. The PLP faction drew the largest support among those in attendance at the NC.

Source further advised that during late Summer, 1969, the PLP faction of SDS established its National Headquarters (NH) on the second floor of a loft-type building at 173A Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, Massachusetts. The campaign on which the PLP faction centered was to build a worker student alliance or a campus worker student alliance. Thus, they adopted the names of Worker Student Alliance (WSA) or Campus Worker Student Alliance.

A second source advised during January, 1970, that within the SDS, the WSA is a caucus of which the PLP constitutes the leadership.

A third source advised during July, 1970, that during demonstrations staged in the Boston area during the Spring and Summer of 1970 by the NH, the main theme of previous demonstrations staged by the NH shifted from protestations of the Vietnam War and other United States foreign policy matters to attacking domestic issues such as racism and unemployment and demonstrating support of the "workers' struggle."

Characterizations of the SDS and PLP are set out separately.

1. APPENDIX

REVOLUTIONARY YOUTH MOVEMENT

A source advised that the Revolutionary Youth Movement II (RYMII) faction of Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) held a national conference at Atlanta, Georgia, from November 26 to 30, 1969. At this conference it was decided to form a new organization to be known as Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM), characterized as a mass anti-imperialist youth organization, said organization being proposed as separate and distinct in form and content from SDS. The "Principles of Unity" adopted by the conference included a struggle against white supremacy and male supremacy; fights against imperialism, anticommunism, fascism and oppression of youth; and support of the right of self-determination of all "oppressed nations," also support of the right of all "oppressed and exploited" peoples "to armed self-defense." It was agreed that RYM would not be a Marxist-Leninist organization; however, source said this was decided in order to indicate an organization broad enough in form to be acceptable to everyone. A temporary National Steering Committee (NSC) made up of eight females and two males was elected to govern RYM until national officers could be elected during the Spring of 1970.

RYM publications have listed the RYM National Office (NO) at Post Office Box 5421 and Post Office Box 77012 C, both Atlanta, Georgia, and a second source has advised that the NO has no office space but would probably be considered as located at Apartment 27, 1067 Alta Avenue, Northeast, Atlanta.

Second source advised that women dominated the founding conference and have continued to dominate NSC meetings to the point that "women's liberation" has apparently become the RYM's principal issue - also that RYM's poor financial condition has resulted in its failure to publish a paper. During early 1970, RYM has decided to cater to the working class rather than youth, since the potential for social revolution lies in workers.

A third source has stated that it was decided at the March, 1970, NSC meeting that RYM women had decided the organization will be molded into a "working class, Marxist-Leninist, revolutionary, anti-imperialist, problack nationalist, people's women's liberation organization."

A characterization of the SDS is set out separately.

PROGRESSIVE LABOR PARTY

The "New York Times" city edition Tuesday, April 20, 1965, Page 27, reported that a new party of "revolutionary socialism" was formally founded on April 18, 1965, under the name of the Progressive Labor Party (PLP), which had been known as the Progressive Labor Movement.

According to the article, "The Progressive Labor Movement was founded in 1962, by MILTON ROSEN and MORTIMER SCHEER after they were expelled from the Communist Party of the United States for assertedly following the Chinese Communist line."

A source advised on June 3, 1968, that the PLP held its Second National Convention in New York City, May 31, to June 2, 1968, at which time the PLP reasserted its objective of the establishment of a militant working class movement based on Marxism-Leninism.

The source also advised that at the Second National Convention, MILTON ROSEN was unanimously re-elected National Chairman of the PLP and LEVI LAUB, FRED JEROME, JARED ISRAEL, WILLIAM EPTON, JACOB ROSEN, JEFFREY GORDON and WALTER LINDER were elected as the National Committee to lead the PLP until the next convention.

The PLP publishes "Progressive Labor," a bimonthly magazine, and "Challenge-Desafio," a monthly newspaper.

Source advised on May 25, 1970, that the PLP utilizes an address of General Post Office Box 808, Brooklyn, New York, and also utilizes an office in Room 617, 1 Union Square West, New York, New York.

SUBJECT: WOMEN'S NATIONAL MARCH ON PENTAGON
Saturday, 4/10/71

According to information received from the Washington Field Office and Domestic Intelligence Division, the "April Tenth Women's Committee" of New York City, a recently formed group of women's protest organizations, plans a "March on the Pentagon" on Saturday, 4/10/71, as an anti-war protest. Plans call for the protesters, who may number as many as 5,000, to assemble at L'Enfant Square, Constitution Avenue, between Seventh and Ninth Streets, Northwest, between 11:00 a.m. and noon, and thereafter march to the Pentagon via Constitution Avenue and Memorial Bridge. The demonstration is scheduled to end around 5:00 p.m. The Committee has reportedly chartered 14 busses capable of carrying 630 passengers from New York City to Washington. The busses are scheduled to unload at the Justice Building, where it is reported the women will demonstrate. It is noted that L'Enfant Square, the assembly point for the demonstrators, is within one block of the Justice Building. The protesters are then scheduled to march to the Pentagon, where they will hold another demonstration and will be picked up by the busses at the Pentagon.

General Services Administration (GSA) and Department security officials are cognizant and plan to reinforce the guard force at the Tenth Street Auto Entrance, which is the only Justice Building entrance open on Saturday. Since we do not conduct tours on Saturday, no adjustment in our tours is necessary.

Re Bureau letter, 3/9/71.

Contact has been maintained with all Seattle informants concerning this matter since early in March, 1971, and no information has been developed to indicate that captioned name is other than a temporary name used on a "one-shot" basis for one demonstration observing international women's day. Backers of the demonstration were factional Trotskyist elements who are few in number and poorly organized.

There is no indication captioned group is a separate entity, organized for on-going action.

UACB, this case is being closed, subject to being reopened in the event information is received to indicate the organization is viable.

Women's Bail Fund

Unless otherwise stated, all sources in this memorandum have furnished reliable information in the past.

On March 30, 1971, a first confidential source furnished literature, concerning the Women's Bail Fund, which was picked up at the Upper Westside Womens Center, 627 Amsterdam Avenue, New York, New York (NY) on March 27, 1971. The literature captioned, "Women's Bail Fund" argued that the Women's House of Detention, in New York City (NYC), should not exist and that "the Women's House of Detention, along with the prisons and jails across the country, is a weapon used by the power structure here in America to oppress and exploit the people of poor communities." It further relates that "Women have come together in New York from many different organizations to form a Women's Bail Fund for all the sisters inside the House of Detention. The Bail Fund is also working to prepare simple pamphlets on law because of the total lack of any legal resources in the House of Detention and secure legal assistance where needed." The address is listed as the Women's Bail Fund, P.O. Box 637, Cooper Station, NY, NY 10003.

On August 26, 1971, the first source furnished literature on the Women's Bail Fund which stated, "The Women's Bail Fund is a coalition of Third World and white women who are:

".....raising bail to release women prisoners from Rikers Island.

"...establishing communication with women inside.

"....assisting women who are bailed out in meeting their needs.

"....providing legal information for prisoners.

"....making public the torture these women undergo.

"....supporting prison struggles everywhere."

On April 12, 1971, a second confidential source made available a flyer on the Women's Bail Fund which was distributed at the National Womens March on the Pentagon on April 10, 1971. The flyer, captioned, "Victory to the NLF and All Oppressed Peoples" states "Women in Vietnam and in the United States are fighting for the right to live: for the very right to exist.....the U.S. is now dotted with concentration camps for the poor and non-white: the jails.....But imprisonment doesnt' break the spirit of the sisters in jail. They resist! When denied their dignity, they organize and fight back. When one sister is beaten they organiz and resist. In the coldest part of winter when the boilers had broken down, the women worked in freezing temperatures in cold water to do the laundry-not 'because the pigs made us do it - but for our own beautiful sisters.' .....We Vietnamese, Black, Latin, White and Asian-american women are united in our struggle - we share common goals and face a common enemy. We express our complete solidarity with the NLF and shall work to bring the victory there."

On May 14, 1971, Special Agents (SAS) of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) observed a demonstration in front of the NYC Women's House of Detention sponsored by the Women's Bail Fund and Youth Against War and Fascism (YAWF). The demonstrators chanted slogans calling for release of their "sisters" from jail and expressed opposition to a proposed move of the inmates of the Women's House of Detention from its downtown site to the Rikers Island Prison Facility. The demonstrators called this proposed move an attempt to isolate the "sisters from their supporters."

By means of a loudspeaker, the demonstrators called to several inmates of the House of Detention who appeared in the upper storey windows, obtained their names and place of arrest. This information allegedly was to be used to obtain bail for the prisoners in question. Thereafter, several speakers denounced the jails as concentration camps and called for the release of the "political prisoners." in the House of Detention. Among the speakers was Shirley Taylor of the Women's Bail Fund and a former inmate of the Women's House of Detention.

YAWF

YAWF is the youth group of the Workers World Party (WWP).

WWP

The WWP was founded in 1959 by individuals who disagreed with policies of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP). More recently the WWP has called for peaceful solutions to Sino-Soviet disputes, however, the WWP generally supports the People's Republic of China in its ideological differences with the Soviet Union.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

A third confidential source advised on May 18, 1971, the Women's Bail Fund has called for victory for the Vietcong and is setting up a "phone chain" to be able to call for "action against the transfer of women from the House of Detention to Rikers Island."

On June 6, 1971, the third source advised the Women's Bail Fund will have a "major bail out of women" from the Women's House of Detention from June 10 to June 13, 1971 at the Washington Square Methodist Church. It will include four days of "discussions, films, counseling and information services" for inmates and their families. The coordinator for the Bail Fund was identified as Pam Engle, telephone number 989-6717.

On July 26, 1971, SAS of the FBI observed a picket-type demonstration at 51st Street and Avenue of the Americas protesting the existence of all jails. Among the groups represented was the Women's Bail Fund.

On August 4, 1971, a fourth confidential source advised the following checks were among those drawn from the bank account of Lubell, Lubell, Fine and Schaap, Attorneys-at-Law, 103 Park Avenue, NY, NY.

The leaflet is a request for funds for the Bail Fund with the notation that donations are tax exempt. The leaflet, in part says, "The Women's Bail Fund is one arm of the growing nationwide prison solidarity movement. During the past year we raised bail to release over 120 women who have been imprisoned while awaiting trial....."

On January 23, 1972, a seventh confidential source advised that Post Office Box 637, Cooper Station, NY, NY, is subscribed to by the Women's House of Detention Bail Fund and rented by Mary C. Pinotti, 86 East 3rd Street, NY, NY (Telephone 777-5823.)

The third source advised on February 10, 1972 the Women's Bail Fund is trying to obtain a grant from the NY People's Life Fund (PLF), however, they have been advised by the PLF that they may receive a loan rather than an outright grant. The source advised the Fund participated in a demonstration a month ago at the New York City Correctional Institution at Riker's Island, NY, however, said its activities seem to be limited. The source advised that two principal activists of the Women's Bail Fund are Amy Lowenstein and Gerry Tosca.

Women's Bail Fund

A first confidential source advised that Beverly Sterner, Channel 13 News, 304 West 58th Street, New York, New York, is affiliated with the Women's Bail Fund (WBF).

An article appeared in the March, 1972 issue of the "Liberated Guardian", captioned "Women's Bail Fund; Organizing Our Anger", written by five unidentified members of the Women's Bail Fund Collective.

The article relates "The Women's Bail Fund is a group of about 35 women in New York City that bails women out of jail (150 so far). They have been organized for over a year and a half and did their first bailout on December 20, 1970. They have been active in supporting other groups involved in the prison struggle. They do legal follow-up for bailed-out sisters who want it and have been talking with people about the prison struggle, why jails exist, who the real enemies are, etcetera."

The article is introduced by the following statement:

"For this article we wanted to talk about ourselves. So five of us volunteered to collect different thoughts from as many women as possible in our group and then pooled these reflections in this article, using the words from their raps."

The article, being reflections of the various members of the group, is a series of quotes by unidentified members concerning the WBF.

Women's Bail Fund

The following are reflections of some WBF members carried under the subcaption "Our Roots - Why We Started - Why We Joined".

"There was a woman in my consciousness-raising group who was in the bail fund when it was first getting started and she talked with others about it. To some of us it was a very exciting idea. To others it was frightening - connecting to political activity as women. Ultimately it ended in a split of my small group on whether we should carry our newly raised consciousness to any sort of feminist political action or not.

"In the past, I was politically frustrated because I was only involved in one-shot actions. I saw what was happening in terms of how this system functions to oppress black people and that resulted in a lot of pain for me. I felt I had to reflect my stands in a day-to-day struggle. I had the sense that the women in the WBF were also aware of that need.

"When sisters want us to, we go to court with them. When I go to court I find that it can do bad things to my head. I make judgements like this jude is better than another one, but it's all shit. All judges are pigs. Or like feeling good that a sister got six months instead of five years when she shouldn't have gotten anything at all.

"I was in the House of Detention when there was the bail fund demonstration on December 20, 1970. The whole tier was so excited. When someone saw the first people she let out a scream and everyone rushed to the windows. As the chanting increased outside we started to sing and chant. They locked us in our cells so each person would be isolated and intimidated about chanting. But all the women kept it up. Everyone inside said the feeling about this demonstration was different than other demonstrations. There had been more contact. The women saw Afeni and Joan and another woman that they had known inside outside in the demonstration. That was real important.

"A lot of it was the bail fund. The bail fund banner with the address made it real that people were serious about supporting people inside. It wasn't going to be a one-shot deal.

Women's Bail Fund

The following are reflections carried under the sub-caption "Questions We Are Facing Right Now".

"There's a real dialectic between reform and revolution. So much of what we do is short-term support stuff that can be seen as reformist. When prisoners raise these demands it's understood to be revolutionary; when people on the outside raise them, they are felt to be reformist. I have done a whole lot of courtroom work, both in the bail fund and before too. In fact, the whole social work thing is what I come out of, which is why it is so hard for me to deal with all this ('cause I obviously reflect a lot of that work). Social work when it started back in the late 1800's and early 1900's came out of real radical circles, the radicals and feminists and such. And when you read MAO, he talks about service to the people as a revolutionary thing. But for us it feels weird because it has been co-opted. I think that the movement now, trying to recoup the revolutionary aspects, that original sense of service to the people, trying to help people survive.

"One of the ways to really keep ourselves out of the rut of being social workers is to engage in more political education among ourselves and to ask other groups how they've dealt with this question. Also we should be more involved in educating other people.

"We should be doing more for women inside. We need to really work on facilitating communications between the sisters inside the jail. Women prisoners have been slower to get organized but I'm sure this is because there is so much isolation in the women's jail. Concretely, we need to write more letters to find out what is going on, send literature, but also tell the women about each other, about what other women are thinking and feeling. This would stop the sense of isolation and increase the sense of solidarity.

"I think much of the movement is guilty of ultra-leftism. In China the Communists worked on a lot of things that were a lot less than what they ultimately wanted. We're too afraid of being contaminated by being involved in reform movements. We too often define our enemies too broadly and our allies too narrowly.

Women's Bail Fund

"I've been real impressed with what women in the group are willing to commit themselves to do and that they fulfill those commitments. And that atmosphere of responsibility affects new members too. This is real important. It helps me through the rough times and all the ideological hassles and struggles we go through. You really have a sense that everyone really wants to work things through, search for solutions, wants to hold together because we feel responsible for the work. Even the way people ask for leaves of absence when they are sick or too busy, that they feel they want to explain why they have to stop doing work for a while, shows people's commitment and responsibility."

> The "Liberated Guardian" was created in April, 1970, through active and violent dissent against the politics and policies of the "Guardian". Its major aims were to produce a "more revolutionary" paper, to operate collectively within it and to maintain by design a loose political position.
> The "Guardian" is self-described as an "independent radical newsweekly" which takes a strong left position but is not identified with any organized group. It is considered to be the largest radical weekly in America.

A second confidential source advised an account for the WBF was opened on July 6, 1971, for $3,500. The account was closed ten days later on July 16, 1971. This account was opened by Patricia Reiner of 2451 Aldrich Avenue South, Minneapolis. Reiner, on August 30, 1971, submitted a forwarding address of 855 South Cedar Lane, Valparaiso, Indiana 46383.

A third confidential source advised the WBF set aside money for Constance Trimble at the First National Bank, Minneapolis, Minnesota. The source advised two accounts were opened for the WBF on behalf of Trimble. One account was a savings account in the amount of $2,000; the other was a checking account in the amount of $2,800. The trustees for these accounts were listed as Neil B. Dietrich or Catherine Collins.

Women's Bail Fund

> Constance Trimble was tried and found not guilty on a charge of first degree murder for making a telephone call which lured a St. Paul, Minnesota police officer to an ambush slaying which occurred in 1970.

On April 5, 1972, and April 8, 1972, a fourth confidential source advised Jennifer Dohrn and Judith Clark were in contact with various members of the WBF on these two days.

> Judith Ann Clark is a member of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) - Weatherman faction and was underground in 1970 prior to her arrest on December 17, 1970 by Special Agents (SAS) of the FBI New York City, as a result of an outstanding arrest wanted for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution - mob action. Clark was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury at Chicago, Illinois in April, 1970, prior to her arrest. She was sentenced to three years, for which she spent nine months in the Cook County Jail, Chicago, Illinois, and was released in July, 1971, to serve the remaining time on probation in New York City.
> Jennifer Ellen Dohrn is the sister of FBI Top Ten Fugitive Bernadine Rae Dohrn. Both sisters are alleged members of the SDS - Weatherman faction.
> SDS was founded during June, 1962, at Port Huron, Michigan, and in the 1960's functioned as the leading New Left campus-based student organization in the United States. From a stance of "participatory democracy," the SDS moved to a radical-revolutionary position. It maintained a national office at 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois, until February, 1970. Internal factionalism during 1969 produced three main factions: Weatherman, Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM), and Worker Student Alliance (WSA). The Weatherman and RYM no longer consider themselves associated with the SDS. The WSA faction continues to use the name SDS.

On April 14, 1972, a fifth confidential source advised that Judith Clark was in touch on April 3, 1972, with a Beth Last Name Unknown (LNU), at 466 East 48th Street, Brooklyn, New York, concerning the WBF.

The source advised that Clark, on November 5, 1972, was in touch with an unknown female and discussed the Wednesday night meeting of the WBF. Clark discussed the fact that Jeannie LNU, Estelle LNU and Laurie LNU would be at the meeting at 5:30 PM, that evening at Clark's residence. The source related that Sara LNU and Naomi LNU, both from the Defense Bail Fund, were also expected at the meeting. Clark discussed the fact that the WBF has no common politics and no common political direction at this point and the WBF could become a defense committee, not because it would be desireable, but because of a lack of any other direction.

The source advised that on the same day, Clark was in touch with Amy Lobenstine from the WBF at telephone number 663-1136, and both agreed to attend an education meeting of the Fund.

The fifth confidential source further related that Clark was in contact, on April 8, 1972, with a Marilyn Dalismer, 254-4498, and a Shelley Lawrence, 663-1136. Both were identified by the source as being associated with the WBF.

On April 21, 1972, the fifth confidential source advised Clark and Dohrn went to the residence of Marilyn Dalsimer, 110 Bleecker Street, Apartment 7D, New York City, telephone number 254-4498 on that day. Dalsimer was identified as a member of the WBF.

Re New York airtel and LHM, 8/28/72, and captioned as above.

On 11/28/72, NY 7615-S advised the Women's Bail Fund (WBF) is not a leading element and lacks any influence in the movement in New York City.

A review of the subject file discloses there is no structure to the WBF and that it is a coalition of women who belong to various groups in the New York City area, whose main purpose is to raise funds for selected women in jail.

It is noted that Weatherman subjects have contacted those involved in the bail fund. However, have decryed the lack of political direction of the WBF and would like to turn it into a defense committee because of a lack of any other direction. There is no indication that this has occurred, and the bail fund still remains a loose coalition of like-minded individuals from various groups seeking to raise funds for various purposes. Because of its lack of common political direction, it has had no influence and presently is ineffective in the movement.

In view of the above, the NYO is discontinuing investigation in this matter to be reopened upon receipt of pertinent information from sources that the bail fund is being redirected as a structured group for a common political and ideological purpose.

"The paper includes letters, articles, fiction, poetry, news, and graphics, as well as information about various literatures for women."

WFO is currently conducting investigation of captioned publication, located at 219 11th St., S.E., WDC, in an effort to develop information pertaining to the following:

1. General nature of the publication
2. Location of publishing and printing facilities
3. Circulation
4. Sources of funds
5. Identities of leading activists
6. Connection with any revolutionary activity oriented organization
7. Propensity for violence of individuals who associate with this group
8. Whether individuals reside in a communal type existence
9. Extent of any foreign or domestic subversion.

To date, there have been 3 issues of "The Furies" published. The initial issue of captioned publication indicated that "this paper is printed by the Sojourner Truth Press Collective, in Altanta, Georgia." This issue also indicated that the mailing address for the publication is P.O. Box 8843, S.E. Station, WDC 20003. It is to be noted that this S.E. Station handles the address 219 11th St., S.E., WDC.

On 1/4/72, [redacted] advised that captioned publication espouses the cause of radical lesbianism and aligns itself politically with the views of the New Left.

On 3/20/72 [redacted] advised that the "Furies" is a gay newspaper for women in which the political line is the fight against racism and repression. Source advised that the members of the "Furies" believe that if you do not follow these general programs you are not a feminist.

A review of the initial issue of captioned publication indicates the following staff members.

SUSAN BAKER
JOAN BYRON

WFO 100-55290

RITA MAE BROWN
CHARLOTTE BUNCH
SHARON DEEVY
HELAINE HARRIS
SUSAN HATHAWAY

WFO is conducting individual investigations regarding the staff members to determine if their activities would warrant their inclusion on the ADEX.

For information of the Bureau, WF 4562-E (GHETTO), who is in a position to furnish limited information regarding the residents of 219 11th St., S.E., has furnished information on numerous occasions regarding vehicles which have been parked in front of or near the "Furies" residence. Source has observed occupants of these vehicles enter the residence at 219 11th St., S.E. Leads have been set out in referenced communications regarding these vehicles for identification.

On 4/10/72, WF 4562-E advised that several months ago, when several girls moved into the residence at 219 11th St., S.E., WDC, they were observed carrying what appeared to be a printing press into the basement of the apartment.

Source advises that several females frequent the house and one of the girls has a baby. The same source advised that most of the girls who frequent the address have extremely short hair and always wear slacks.

For information of the Bureau a review of the three existing issues of the newspaper indicates that most of the articles concern the problems that lesbians face, where they can go socially, and how to be strong and independent as a lesbian. The newspaper contains very few advertisements, but all of the ads refer to lesbians.

WFO is in receipt of only one copy each of the three issues; however, through established sources, WFO will obtain a copy of the next publication for the Bureau's perusal.

A review of WFO files indicates that SUSAN HATHAWAY and NATASHA BYRD, staff members of the above captioned publication, have known and associated with a few of the Weathermen fugitives. SUSAN HATHAWAY was on the defense for the Chicago Seven.

Boston file 100-38735 entitled "EVAN PATCHEN DELLINGER, aka PATCH DELLINGER; SM - ANARCHIST (BUFILE 100-450988)" reflected that DELLINGER was subject of Boston investigation based on his participation in a "Teach-In" and Rededication Service on 1/29/68 at the Arlington St. Church, Boston. During the above activity, DELLINGER made a statement in support of the "Resistance Group" and turned in what was reported to be Selective Service cards.

The primary function of the Resistance Group was to aid, abet, and counsel young men faced with the draft.

EVAN PATCHEN DELLINGER graduated from Swarthmore College, Swarthmore, Pa., on 6/6/66 majoring in economics. He was arrested at Chester, Pa. on 4/1/64 and was charged with disorderly conduct.

The 1968-69 Harvard University Directory of Officers and Students reflected that DELLINGER was enrolled in the School of Medicine, Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass.

It had been reported that PATCH DELLINGER was present at a Socialist Workers Party (SWP) Street Meeting in New York City on 7/21/64.

The file further disclosed that inasmuch as the Boston office had no current information associating DELLINGER with the SWP or the Young Socialist Alliance and that his activities on behalf of the New England Resistance were pacifist in nature, it was felt that DELLINGER did not warrant inclusion on the Security or Agitator Indexes maintained at that time; and thus, the case was placed in a closed status.

A review of Boston file 25-25585 (Bufile 25-569484) reflected that DELLINGER was also subject of investigation based on his participation in the previously mentioned Rededication Services at the Arlington St. Church in Boston on 1/29/68 at which 23 individuals turned in either a Notice of Classification and/or a Registration Certificate. Two other individuals turned in some other type of document. It was determined that DELLINGER had turned in a Selective Service Registration Certificate and two Notices of Classification issued by LB #28, Flemington, New Jersey. Also, a two-page statement signed PATCHEN DELLINGER supporting the Resistance movement was turned in.

In April, 1972, AUSA, Boston declined any prosecution concerning DELLINGER.

On 8/21/72, personnel of the Office of the Mass. Commissioner of Probation, Suffolk County Courthouse, Boston, a central repository for all traffic and criminal conviction records within the Commonwealth of Mass., advised that their files contain no record identifiable with CHARLES WELCH, WENDY SOBEL, or EVAN PATCHEN DELLINGER.

A review of the 1972 Police Listings for the cities of Melrose and Boston revealed the following information:

Name	Address	Occupation	Age
CHARLES A. WELCH	45 Tappan St., Melrose	Retired	66
EVAN PATCHEN DELLINGER	360 Longwood Ave., Roxbury	Physician	28

The 1971 Police Listing for the city of Somerville failed to reflect any information concerning WENDY SOBEL as residing at 18 Belmont St. in Somerville.

The "Chicago Sun Times," a daily newspaper in its issue of 11/11/71, described JUDSON H. MINER as president of the Chicago Council of Lawyers (CCL), "a reform-oriented group of 1,300 attorneys."

The "Chicago Sun Times" of 10/23/70 stated that most members of the CCL are youthful lawyers and the CCL was organized in June, 1969, to work for reform of the legal profession and the general community. This article described JUDSON H. MINER as a Legal Aid Bureau attorney and head of the CCL.

The files of the Chicago Office contain no information of a subversive nature concerning MINER.

On 8/11/72 SC JEROME J. COX reviewed the records of the Bureau of Records and Communications, Chicago PD, and located no record for JUDSON H. MINER.

On 8/11/72 SC RICHARD HAHN determined through records of the IBTC that 312 566-4622, an unpublished number, is listed to OLIE LYALL/RYAN, 2001 North Midlothian, Mundelein, Illinois.

appeared to be newspapers. Source states that all the girls are generally quiet and stay to themselves.

The folloiwng investigation was conducted by SA PHILLIP K. CRUMM at Carlsbad, New Mexico.

On 8/14/72, a check of the City Directory covering Carlsbad, New Mexico, revealed that telephone number 505-885-9609 is currently subscribed to RICHARD I. WOODUL, 1214 Cedar, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

On 8/14/72, criminal checks with the Carlsbad Police Department and Eddy County Sheriff's Office revealed no record in the name of RICHARD I. WOODUL.

On 8/14/72, Detective LEO ARMSTRONG, Carlsbad Police Department, advised that RICHARD I. WOODUL is a long-time resident of Carlsbad and is a local businessman there. He further advised that one of WOODUL's daughters, JENNIFER ANNE WOODUL, date of birth 11/24/48, was now a resident of Washington, D. C. (WDC).

A name check in Albuquerque indices revealed no record in the name of RICHARD I. WOODUL; however, a check of the name JENNIFER ANNE WOODUL revealed that she is the subject of a previous investigation, file 100-4154. JENNIFER ANNE WOODUL is also the subject of WFO file 100-55493.

Apparently JENNIFER ANNE WOODUL is still a resident of WDC, and is a friend of NANCY MYRON. Apparently JENNIFER WOODUL has placed telephone calls from the home of NANCY MYRON to the home of her father, RICHARD I. WOODUL, in Carlsbad, New Mexico, and he also apparently is no way involved in any of his daughter's activities in WDC.

On 9/13/72, Mrs. JEWEL JOHNSON, 1117 Anacostia Road, S.E., WDC, (protect identity), advised that SUSAN HATHAWAY, SUSAN SCHWING and COLETTA REID still rent and apparently reside at 219 11th Street, S.E., WDC.

Mrs. JOHNSON stated that these three girls pay their rent each month by check, which is drawn on an account at the American Security and Trust Company, WDC. She said that HATHAWAY, SCHWING and REID take turns each month signing the check for the rent.

WFO 100-55290

Mrs. JOHNSON related that she recalled that when she rented the dwelling to these three girls, they made a remark that they were employed by a "research organization", name unknown, and did most of their research at the Library of Congress.

Mrs. JOHNSON stated that she has not been in the dwelling at 219 11th Street, S.E., since it was rented to these three girls. She has received no complaints concerning any of their activities and she would have no personal knowledge of their activities.

She advised that she does plan to inspect the property in the near future, as this is her custom as the owner.

On 9/14/72, WF 4805-PSI furnished the August, 1972, copy of "The Furies" newspaper.

A subsequent review of this issue, as well as all previous issues, does not reflect any radical revolutionary or anti-Government theme. All issues have been devoted to articles pertaining to lesbian/feminist interests.

Investigation is continuing in an endeavor to develop further background information regarding the "Furies" newspaper and the individuals involved with this publication.

All receiving field offices are requested to complete necessary investigation and expeditiously furnish results to Bureau and WFO.

DETAILS: AT WASHINGTON, D.C.

I. PREDICATION AND BACKGROUND

Investigation to determine extent of activities was initiated regarding the "Furies" Newspaper in January, 1972, after the following information was received:

On January 4, 1972, WF T-1 advised that a new publication known as the "Furies" Newspaper was being formed in Washington, D.C. to espouse the cause of radical lesbianism and to align itself politically with the views of the "New Left." Source advised that a trial issue was scheduled to be published and distributed during January, 1972, no specific date given.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

U. S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE: 1970 O - 406-840

Nor duplicated within your agency.

On January 13, 1972, WF T-2 provided a copy of the January, 1972 issue of the "Furies" Newspaper.

A review of this issue revealed the following self description:

"The Furies is a new lesbian-feminist newspaper for every woman who has ever been raped, physically, economically or psychologically. We take the name FURIES, Now Goddesses of Vengeance and protectors of woman, as we want to build a movement in this country, and in the world which can effectively stop the violent, sick, oppressive acts of male supremacy.

The paper includes letters, articles, fiction, poetry, news, and graphics, as well as information about various literature for women."

The initial issue of the "Furies" Newspaper indicated that "this paper is printed by the Sojourner Truth Press collective in Atlanta, Georgia."

It was noted that the "Furies" is located at 219 11th Street, S.E., Washington, D.C., and a further review of the initial issue reflected the following staff members:

SUSAN BAKER
JOAN BIREN
CHARLOTTE BUNCH
HELAINE HARRIS
NANCY MYRON COLETTA REID
ANN SILVER

GINNY BERSON
RITA MAE BROWN
SUSAN HATHAWAY
TASH PETERSON
LEE SCHWING
JENNIFER WOODUF

II. ACTIVITIES

On March 20, 1972, WF T-3 advised that the "Furies" is a gay newspaper for women in which the political line is the fight against racism and repression by men. Source advised that the members of the "Furies" believe that if you do not follow these general programs you are not a feminist.

Source knew of no radical revolutionary tendencies or activities being planned or contemplated by any of the "Furies" members.

On April 10, 1972, WF T-4 advised that several months ago, when several girls moved into the residence at 219 11th Street, S.E., Washington, D.C., they were observed carrying what appeared to be a printing press into the basement of the apartment.

Source advised that several females frequented the house and one of the girls has a baby. Source advised that most of the girls who frequented the address have extremely short hair and always wear slacks.

On July 13, 1972, WF T-5 advised that three women, SUSAN HATHAWAY, SUSAN SCHWING, and COLETTA REID originally rented the house located at 219 11th Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. Source had no background information on any of these women and was not aware of anyone else residing at the residence. Source has received no complaints about the residence from the neighbors.

On July 7, 1972, WF T-6 advised that the Sojourner Truth Press in Atlanta, Georgia, was a printing press for hire, which prints mostly "New Left" material for "New Left" organizations, yet it espouses no opinions of its own. As long as their fee is met, they will print what is desired, i.e. papers, pamphlets, flyers, etc.

On September 11, 1972, WF T-7 advised that the Sojourner Truth Press had gone out of business on August 15, 1972, due to a lack of funds. Source also advised that the individuals connected with the Sojourner Truth Press were planning on leaving Atlanta.

On September 13, 1972, a telephone call was made to telephone number 688-6222, the telephone number for the Sojourner Truth Press, Atlanta, Georgia, and a recorded voice advised that service for that telephone number had been discontinued.

On July 13, 1972, WF T-4 advised that several young white girls continued to reside at 219 11th Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. They appear friendly, but keep very much to themselves.

On August 23, 1972, this source advised that apparently four or five young white girls now live at 219 11th Street, S.E. Source has seen numerous different girls frequenting the residence, but is unsure exactly how many reside there at the present time.

One girl, name unknown, who resides at the residence, has stated to source she is a music teacher. Source has seen several girls on different occasions carrying what appeared to be newspapers. Source states that all the girls are generally quiet and keep to themselves.

On September 13, 1972, WF T-5 advised that SUSAN HATHAWAY, SUSAN SCHWING and COLETTA REID still rent and apparently reside at 219 11th Street, S.E., Washington, D.C.

Source stated that these three girls continue to pay their monthly rent promptly and she said that each of the girls takes turns paying the rent each month.

Source related that when the dwelling was rented to these three girls, they made a remark that they were employed by a "research organization", name unknown, and did most of their research at the Library of Congress.

Source stated that she has not been in the dwelling at 219 11th Street, S.E., since it was rented to these three girls, but she has received no complaints concerning any of their activities.

On September 14, 1972, WF T-8 furnished the August, 1972 copy of the "Furies" Newspaper.

A subsequent review of this issue, as well as all previous issues, did not reflect any radical revolutionary or anti-government theme. All issues have been devoted to articles pertaining to lesbian/feminist interests.

On October 12, 1972, WF T-9 advised that an internal conflict has developed within the "Furies" collective and they are breaking up into different factions, based on ideological differents.

Whether or not the paper will continue is unknown at this time.

On December 1, 1972, WF T-9 advised that the "Furies" stopped publishing their newspaper sometime in the Fall of 1972.

Source was unable to locate a subsequent issue after the August, 1972 issue.

Re WFO report of SA JERRY M. GRAVES, dated 12/13/72. Dec 15

On 12/27/72, ~~WF 4027-S~~ advised that some of the internal conflicts within the "Furies" Organization had been settled, but there are no plans to reinstitute publication of the paper. Source stated that most remaining members are writing articles for other lesbian orientated publications and periodicals.

Mrs. JEWEL JOHNSON, 1117 Anacostia Avenue, S.E., Washington, D.C. (WDC), (protect identity) owner of property at 219 11th Street, S.E., WDC, advised on 1/16/73 that apparently this dwelling is being occupied by the same group of women who rented it, since the rent continues to be paid.

She added however, that about 6 weeks ago, she attempted to inspect the premises and found no one present at that time.

She has driven by the residence several times at night since then, and has not noted any lights on in the house, nor has several attempted phone calls been answered.

Baltimore and New York furnish results of previously requested investigation.

WFO will continue to follow activities of "Furies" members.

On 3/6/73, [redacted], advised that for all intents and purposes the "Furies" organization and collective have ceased to function. There are no plans to publish another newspaper, and most of the members have left to pursue their own interests.

As reported in re WFO report, investigation of this case did not reflect any activities on the part of the "Furies" that would be considered revolutionary or subversive.

The "Furies" newspaper ceased publication in August, 1972, and did not espouse a radical revolutionary line.

In view of the above, this case is being closed. WFO will remain alert for information regarding any possible future activity on the part of the "Furies", and will report same at that time.

Recommend entire document be classified "Secret," XGDS 1, 2, 3.

Portions recommended for excision from attached have been underlined in red or bracketed in red in left margin.

Generally, criteria for excision were:

1. Information which could identify sources or sensitive techniques
2. Names of individuals or organizations whose privacy requires protection
3. Information which would reveal our overall success or lack of success in a given investigative area
4. Information from "Third Agencies" or friendly foreign agencies
5. Identities of Bureau personnel below the Section Chief level

The adequacy of Personnel Sections, in general, disclose the extent of our commitment in specific areas of counterintelligence activity. We have given the Committee Administrative Division figures regarding total manpower involved in security investigations but, to my knowledge, we have not given them a breakdown as to where these personnel are assigned. A policy decision is necessary as to whether we want to pinpoint, through release of "Adequacy of Personnel" sections of these inspection reports, precisely how much or how little manpower we have on specific types of investigations.

It is questionable whether the information regarding criminal cases in the San Francisco report is germane to the Committee's inquiry. It would not seem improper to me to delete all references to criminal matters and merely substitute a page saying that "pages ____ to ____ relate to criminal investigations."

ELLSBERG CASE

SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL wRW
NATIONALITIES INTELLIGENCE SECTION

1. Initial investigation by Bureau opened 1/20/70 based on information from step-mother of subject's former wife to the effect that subject, with his children, took papers from his office at Rand Corporation in Santa Monica, California, and copied them with intent that they be made available for Senators Fulbright and Goodell. This information had come to knowledge of Carol Ellsberg through the Ellsberg children. Initial investigation continued through 9/25/70 when basic facts were presented to Department of Justice with note that no further action would be taken in the absence of a specific request from the Department. No such request was received.

On 6/13/71 "The New York Times" commenced publishing a series of articles purporting to report on the history of the U. S. decision-making process concerning Vietnam policies for the period 1945-1967. "The New York Times" claimed the articles were based on a study later identified as a 47-volume history entitled "United States - Vietnam Relations During the Period 1945-1967," commonly known as the "McNamara Study." The "McNamara Study" was prepared beginning in 1967 and was classified "Top Secret."

On 6/15/71 the Attorney General requested FBI to conduct all necessary investigation into the matter relating to the publication of classified information by "The New York Times." Our 1970 investigation and initial reports from sources obtained in instant matter pinpointed Ellsberg as the prime suspect responsible for the leak of classified data to news media. Extensive investigation at Los Angeles pinned down the identities of individuals present in October, 1969, when Ellsberg duplicated classified documents available to him through his employment at Rand Corporation in Santa Monica. Also revealed were his own statements to his former wife that he, in fact, was converting the classified documents to his own use to furnish them to various Congressional figures. The Los Angeles investigation has resulted in Ellsberg's current indictment alleging violation of Section 793(e), Title 18, U. S. Code (unauthorized possession of documents involved and unlawful retention of same) and Section 641, Title 18 (conversion of the documents to his own use). The Los Angeles investigation was the sole basis for this indictment and served as the basis for current imprisonment on charge of contempt of court of Anthony J. Russo who was present on one occasion when Ellsberg allegedly duplicated material in his possession.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
8/23/71
WRW:ams
4-A-3

Investigation at Washington, D. C., has pinned down Ellsberg's access to the documents in question and has additionally revealed his early change from "hawk" to "dove." It has also revealed his contacts with individuals at high levels in Federal Government attempting to persuade them to put before American public details of decisions underlying the U. S. policy in Vietnam.

Investigation at Boston has uncovered activity by Neil and Susan Sheehan, employees of "The New York Times," in late March, 1971. This activity has included extensive details of sessions where duplication of portions of the "McNamara Study" were involved. Revealed have been details identifying the printing companies utilized by the Sheehans, considerable travel between these companies and apartments available to or utilized by Ellsberg. We have uncovered extensive detail of Ellsberg's contacts from his Cambridge, Massachusetts, residence with members of the news media. Also revealed has been contact by Ellsberg with factions of the New Left and anti-Vietnam peace groups.

We have recently expanded our investigation in attempt to uncover details of dissemination of the "McNamara Study" by Ellsberg to other newspapers in which articles appeared attributed to the "McNamara Study." This investigation has revealed at least three newsmen from the Washington, D. C., bureaus of the newspapers involved were in the Boston and/or Cambridge area during the week immediately prior to Ellsberg's surrender on 6/28/71. We have learned that at least one newspaper had been contacted by an unknown individual in Boston who had offered the "McNamara Study" instructing that if the newspaper involved wished to avail itself of the offer, the classified documents could be picked up in Boston after contacting a given telephone number in that area for more detailed instructions. We are pursuing this facet of the investigation vigorously to pin down exact activities of the newspaper personnel involved and when this is done, we contemplate interviewing them for additional details.

Extensive investigation has been afforded the possibility that Ellsberg benefited from considerable assistance from other individuals in his attempt to disseminate the "McNamara Study" to the news media. Along these lines we have detected early reports of Ellsberg's cooperation with elements of the War Resistors League and have identified individuals in that organization described by Ellsberg as the principal influences on his change to a militant opposition to the U. S. - Vietnam policies. Investigation is continuing along these lines to establish if any individuals in these dissident groups may have assisted Ellsberg in his alleged violations of the statutes noted.

A relative of Mr. Haldeman at the White House, France Raine, reported that while attending a football game in Los Angeles in October, 1970, he overheard a conversation between two men sitting near him whom he believed to be prominent in the Business Executives Movement for Vietnam (BEM). This conversation involved the plan on the part of an unidentified individual to leak secret information to the press in the Spring of 1971, with the unidentified individual being mentioned as being an employee of Rand Corporation and having formerly served as an advisor to Dr. Kissinger at the White House. Also mentioned by the conversants was the plan on the part of two White House aides to resign their positions sometime during the Summer of 1971 and to make anti-Administration revelations at that time regarding U. S. - Vietnam policy. Ellsberg was known to have appeared on at least two occasions as a speaker for BEM functions in Los Angeles and Washington, D. C. A close associate of his in Los Angeles was a former leader of the BEM chapter in that city. We have intensified our investigation of BEM and conducted extensive investigation to pin down identities of persons seated near Raine during the game in question. We are continuing our investigation along these lines to pinpoint a possible conspiracy existing as early as October, 1970, with ramifications of anti-Administration activity and revelation of classified information.

We have recently received from Attorney General clarification of the areas in which we can conduct investigation in this matter and, as a result, are extending our interviews into news media circles where we feel we can uncover individuals who will cooperate with us in revealing details of the Ellsberg revelations and any conspiracy that may have existed involving him and others to expose to public scrutiny the classified information involved in this case.

2. At the outset of this investigation Assistant Director Brennan spoke at a Division Chiefs' Conference and also directly to the Section Chief, Nationalities Intelligence Section, regarding the possibility of a wide-scale conspiracy in which Ellsberg could be involved. His observations along these lines were recorded in a memorandum to all Division Chiefs dated 7/23/71 and captioned "Re: Organizational Survey (Priorities and Manpower)." In this memorandum he commented upon the fact that the Ellsberg case might be a landmark in historical significance in view of the long-range potential regarding Governmental operations and the FBI's role in relation thereto. He stated that the leak in this case represented a deliberate and determined effort on the part of certain individuals to seriously disrupt and destroy the Government's capacity to carry out effectively its foreign policy in various areas.

Mr. Brennan noted that the past 15 to 20 years had witnessed the evolution of a new breed of fanatics who were determined to disrupt and destroy Governmental operations and to alter this country's foreign policy. He further noted that the movement supported by these fanatics bordered on treason which must be dealt with if our current form of Government is to survive.

During the early stages of the investigation in this case it became quite evident that Ellsberg had received assistance in getting into the hands of various newspapers the "McNamara Study." He admitted as much on 6/28/71 in responding to questions raised by reporters when he surrendered himself at the Boston Courthouse following issuance of a complaint charging him with violating the Espionage Statute. Accordingly, the thrust of our investigation has been directed toward identifying any individual or individuals or organization that may have assisted or conspired with Ellsberg. It was noted that developments had indicated that at least part of the "McNamara Study" was reportedly in the possession of the Institute for Policy Studies and that while a page-by-page review of the Bureau's file on that Institute had not revealed any information concerning Ellsberg, we had developed material in the Ellsberg investigation showing connections between him and some of the Institute employees.

No excising

On 7/6/71 the Director prepared a memorandum for Messrs. Tolson, Sullivan, Brennan and Bishop to advise that the Honorable H. R. Haldeman, Assistant to the President, had called the Director about the Ellsberg case. The Director stated that Mr. Haldeman said the President wanted a report on the case immediately to bring him up to date and then to keep him filled in, and that the President was particularly interested in the complicity of individuals.

On 7/6/71 with the Director's approval a conference was held with Departmental attorneys during which Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian explained that information coming to his attention from Departments of Defense and State officials indicated that a group at each of these Departments may be involved in a ring to pass out classified information. He said that while this may or may not be related to the Ellsberg case he was most desirous of getting a complete rundown on Ellsberg's background to determine if any of his associates may have come under suspicion in connection with other leaks. He also said the President was vitally concerned not only with the Ellsberg case but with all aspects of leaks of classified information of the Executive Branch.

We have not developed any hard evidence confirming that a wide-spread organized conspiracy exists to leak Government information. We are aware, however, of one thread common to certain of these leaks. That is, individuals such as Ellsberg, who were either bitterly opposed to the U. S. - Vietnam policy or in disagreement with other major foreign policy issues, have set themselves up above the law, claiming the right to decide what should be released to the public regardless of Executive Branch classification assigned to information. Many of these individuals in common with Ellsberg have been affiliated with one or more of the so-called "think tanks," such as Rand Corporation, have served in a number of sensitive positions in the Executive Branch of the Government and to a large extent are acquainted with one another, at least on a professional basis. Communications to appropriate field offices dated 7/7 and 12/71 contained instructions regarding the necessity for exploring the various facets of this situation.

The conspiracy aspects of the Ellsberg case as revealed to date are set forth in Item 3 below.

3. Speculation that Daniel Ellsberg conspired with others in obtaining, reproducing and disclosing the "McNamara Study" has some basis in public remarks made by him on 6/28/71 indicating that "It is implicit ... that other individuals helped out in various ways," and that he and the press share the responsibility for the newspapers' obtaining the study. We have, however, pursued the possibility of conspiracy from every conceivable angle and while investigation has produced some circumstantial evidence to support this theory, we have not found grounds to indicate existence of an over-all plot or conspiracy, threading its way throughout Ellsberg's actions.

Count One of a two-count indictment returned by a Federal grand jury on 6/28/71 charges Ellsberg with unauthorized possession, access to, and control over copies of what, in effect, was the "McNamara Study," from about September, 1969, to approximately October, 1969, while Count Two of this indictment charges that during the same approximate time span Ellsberg willfully, knowingly and unlawfully converted to his own use copies of these documents. We have established Ellsberg legally had access to the Study in the course of his employment with Rand Corporation at Santa Monica, California, but that he also obtained and had in his possession 18 volumes of a preliminary draft of the Study for at least nine months without the knowledge of the Top Secret Control Officer at Rand in Santa Monica. Failure of Rand employees in Washington, D. C., and at Santa Monica to adhere to established, in-house security procedures accounts for the fact Ellsberg was able to conceal his possession of these 18 volumes, and while over-all possession by Ellsberg of the Study and its preliminary draft volumes continues to be closely examined, no evidence exists of conspiracy at this point of the case.

Count Two of the aforementioned indictment, relating to conversion of these documents, is founded on information that Ellsberg reproduced a large quantity of classified documents in October, 1969, at the office of one Lynda Sinay, in the Los Angeles area. Ellsberg's two children, present at this reproduction session, have identified individuals who assisted Ellsberg in this task, but interviews of these persons have developed nothing to indicate they were aware of the nature of the items being reproduced or of what use Ellsberg intended to make of the copies reproduced. Anthony Russo, a fellow employee of Ellsberg's at Rand in Santa Monica, would have been in an excellent position to have been aware of the ultimate purpose of Ellsberg's actions but has refused to talk to the Federal grand jury in Los Angeles, and is currently in jail for contempt of court relating to this refusal.

Subsequent to the duplicating of documents in October, 1969, Ellsberg, by his own statements, claims to have made efforts to furnish copies of these documents to Senator J. William Fulbright and former Senator Charles E. Goodell, and Senator George S. McGovern may also have been approached by Ellsberg concerning making these documents public. Representative Paul N. McCloskey, Jr., is also known to be in possession of documents which he publicly admits were given to him by Ellsberg. Data available concerning this phase of Ellsberg's actions also fails to indicate he acted in concert with anyone.

On 6/13/71 "The New York Times" published the first of a series of articles purporting to have been based on the "McNamara Study," and a number of other newspapers in the U. S. subsequently printed similar articles. Investigation has placed Neil Sheehan, a reporter for "The New York Times," in Cambridge, Massachusetts, during March and April, 1971, under an assumed name, and we have determined Sheehan and his wife engaged in a number of frantic copying sessions of documents during the period 3/21-23/71. Four blurred Xerox copies discarded during this duplicating have been identified by the National Security Agency as being reproductions of pages appearing in the "McNamara Study." It is highly probable Sheehan and Ellsberg cooperated closely in actions which enabled "The New York Times" to obtain the documents utilized in articles published by this newspaper and we have recently uncovered evidence indicating representatives of at least three other newspapers which have published articles based on the "McNamara Study" were in the Boston area in June, 1971, for the apparent purpose of obtaining copies of these documents. A source closely connected with one of these newspapers has advised that his newspaper obtained the documents after receiving a telephone call from an unknown individual who instructed that a reporter from the newspaper go to Cambridge and make the necessary arrangements to obtain them by calling a certain, unidentified telephone number. Investigation subsequently placed this reporter in Cambridge, but we have, to date, been unsuccessful in determining who furnished him with the material in question. While the newspapermen thus involved may have cooperated with Ellsberg in various ways in order to obtain the desired documents, available evidence does not suggest they conspired with him in carrying out the disclosure of these documents, but rather took advantage of his offer to furnish them with the material.

We are, however, vigorously pursuing all leads relating to the possession by "The New York Times" and other newspapers of the "McNamara Study" and have proposed that the field be authorized to immediately initiate interviews with friendly newsmen concerning this matter. We believe this area of investigation offers excellent possibilities of effecting a major breakthrough in this case.

There remains the suggestion Ellsberg may have received the cooperation of or conspired with various New Left, anti-draft, anti-Vietnam war elements, and this possibility has received the most penetrating examination. We know Ellsberg to have been friendly with a number of individuals connected with the Institute for Policy Studies (IPS) in Washington, D. C., and evidence exists that the IPS has been in possession for some time of documents which may be identical with the "McNamara Study." We have also learned, in tracing the development of Ellsberg's thinking from "hawk" to "dove," that from August, 1969, he became increasingly associated with a number of the more prominent anti-war exponents in this country, many of whom occupy important posts at Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. We are in the process of tying together all of this data, in an effort to surface, if possible, any possible connection between these elements and Ellsberg in the disclosure of the highly classified "McNamara Study," but information available to date does not, as yet, substantiate or corroborate existence of a conspiracy in this regard.

4. With particular regard to the President's concern expressed by Mr. Haldeman to the Director, mentioned hereinbefore, with respect to the complicity of individuals, and the instructions of the Attorney General that the Bureau in each leak case identify the individuals responsible, it is quite clear that we must resolve all allegations, especially those pertaining to possible conspiracies, during the course of our inquiries. As noted in Item 1, our inquiries have expanded to include not only the leak to "The New York Times" but to encompass the eight other newspapers which carried portions of the "McNamara Study." Since its inception, the Ellsberg case has required expanding supervisory attention here at the SOG. Nine men are currently committed to the case. There are no indications at this time that less supervisory attention will be needed in the near future. In fact, all indications are that there may have to be more commitments in this regard, particularly if the Department refers additional leak matters to us for the intensive investigative attention which has been requested in the past.

A successful investigation followed by a successful prosecution would certainly have a very important impact on Governmental processes, particularly within the Executive Branch of our Government. When the Supreme Court refused to grant injunctions sought by the Executive Branch against newspapers publishing the "McNamara Study," this upheld the freedom of the press. The question has not yet been litigated with respect to the right of the Executive Branch to protect its secrets through its classification system.

Unless Ellsberg is prosecuted successfully, anyone within the Executive Branch would apparently have the right to decide on his own initiative what information he wishes to place in the public domain by turning the information over to the newspapers. Much of the sensitive negotiations of the Executive Branch with foreign countries is dependent upon the secrecy with which they are carried out. If through a classification system or some other means the Executive Branch is not able to preclude the unauthorized disclosure of its secrets it is felt the Branch will be weakened to the extent that it cannot effectively function on the international scene certainly, and probably on the domestic scene in some instances. Thus, the structure of the Executive Branch might well collapse.

An unsuccessful prosecution would buttress the considerable support, particularly from the news media, for Ellsberg's contention that his disclosure of the classified documents was basically motivated by conscience and by deep concern that the public should be informed. It is closely related to the viewpoint held by a small but growing minority that an individual is free to follow the dictates of his conscience and to be the final arbiter of the validity of our criminal and civil statutes. If this thesis were to be supported, then it could apply to murder and bombings of Government and private institutions where such acts are dictated by conscience. It could follow that the Legislative, Executive and Judicial functions of the Nation are exercises in futility. This would be a road to anarchy.

From the above, it would appear that the outcome of the Ellsberg case would have a direct bearing on the Executive Branch of our Government and could affect the entire Governmental structure.

5(a). At the outset of the investigation, Assistant Director Brennan instructed the Section Chief to afford special attention to this case and to let him know of any manpower needs. He emphasized the importance of the case in his mind and wanted it handled as a special.

Within a day or two Mr. Brennan introduced the Section Chief to Departmental attorney James McGrath, who is a special assistant to Assistant Attorney General Mardian. Mr. Brennan advised the Section Chief that McGrath was the coordinator for Mardian of the various groups under Mardian engaged in consideration of phases of the Ellsberg case. For example, he explained that one group headed by Departmental attorney John Martin analyzed all investigative results received by the Department in an effort to establish whether a case was being made. Mr. Brennan advised the Section Chief that Mr. McGrath would be in a position to furnish any information required by the Section Chief from the Internal Security Division and instructed that copies of daily teletypes received from our various offices be furnished through Mr. McGrath to the Internal Security Division as they came in.

5(b). Approximately two weeks after this case was instituted, the Section Chief asked Mr. Brennan if he would brief both the Section Chief and the Section Number One Man on his concept of the magnitude of this case and its various ramifications. This was done and Mr. Brennan again emphasized the need for following all facets on a special basis.

Following the conference with Departmental attorneys 7/6/71, mentioned hereinbefore, Mr. Brennan summoned Inspector D. E. Moore and Section Chief Wannall to his office and instructed that a "book" be prepared on Ellsberg covering his activities and associates during a period of a couple of years. He explained what he wanted in this book and provided for an Agent from Research Section to be assigned full time on its compilation.

On 7/15/71 Mr. Brennan instructed that a copy of each teletype received at the SOG on this case be furnished to him.

On 7/28/71 Mr. Brennan summoned Inspector D. E. Moore, Section Chief, Section Number One Man, and all Agents working on this case to his office for a conference. In compliance with his request, he was briefed on investigative results to date. He asked if serious consideration had been given to the possibility that Ellsberg himself was not directly involved in turning over the "McNamara Study" to "The New York Times," and instructed that we look into this phase of the matter very carefully.

On 8/2/71 Mr. Brennan summoned to his office the Section Chief and Case Supervisor Wagoner for the purpose of introducing them to Mr. G. G. Liddey of the White House. He explained that Mr. Liddey was coordinating all White House interest in this matter. Mr. Liddey pointed out that the White House wanted this case handled as a "Bureau special" and that a letter from the White House to that effect would be forwarded.

5(c). At the present time there are nine Agent Supervisors assigned to this matter.

Investigation was instituted 6/15/71 and from then until 6/23/71 manpower assignments were handled within the Section.

On 6/23/71 two additional Agents were placed in the Section on a loan basis and they were assigned to operational desks, as Agents permanently assigned to those desks from within the Section were assigned to the McLek case.

On 6/28/71 an Agent was assigned on a loan basis from Extremist Intelligence Section and this loan Agent has been rotated on a weekly basis since. He has been utilized to cover an operational desk while one of the regularly assigned Agents in the Section (H. J. Morgan) has been assigned full time to this case.

On 7/8/71 an Agent from Research Section was assigned full time to prepare a "book" on Ellsberg and has worked on this exclusively with the exception of an annual leave period of 8/2-13/71. He has not participated in any other phase of the case on a day-to-day basis.

On 7/8/71 one man on weekly rotating basis was assigned temporarily from the Espionage Section and continues to the present time. This loan Supervisor has been utilized to cover an operational desk within the Section while the regularly assigned Supervisor on the desk (J. R. Hagy) has been utilized full time on instant case.

On 7/29/71 an Agent from within the Section (L. E. Belanger) was assigned part time to handle special aspects of the Ellsberg case, relating specifically to electronic surveillance checks on potential witnesses.

Memorandum Mr. Felt to Mr. Tolson 8/4/71 captioned "Adequacy of Personnel, Leak Cases, Domestic Intelligence Division (DID)," recommended and the Director approved that the number of Agents assigned to handle leak cases, including Ellsberg case, be increased immediately from five to seven, these two additional Agents to be diverted from other assignments in Domestic Intelligence Division with at least one to be diverted from the CP, USA Unit. The Director approved this. At that time we had five men working full time on instant and related cases, including J. M. Sizoo, who was involved exclusively in preparation of a "book" on Ellsberg.

On 8/9/71 in the absence of additional manpower from outside the Section, the number of Agents committed to instant and related cases was increased from five to seven by assigning full time from within the Section SA L. E. Belanger and on a rotating basis one Agent from the Middle and South American Unit (B. M. Perez). Perez was replaced by SA W. W. Hamilton on 8/16/71.

On 8/13/71 two additional Agents were provided from outside the Section, one on a full-time basis and one on a rotating weekly basis. The Agent assigned on a full-time basis (T. J. Seabaugh) was immediately assigned to the McLek case. The Agent assigned on the weekly rotating basis was assigned to assist on one of the regular operational desks within the Section and an Agent who had been continuously on loan with the exception of an annual leave period of 8/6-16/71 (J. P. Benedict) was assigned full time to instant matters.

In summary, manpower from outside the Section have been assigned on a temporary basis on 6/23/71 (two Agents); 6/28/71 (one Agent); 7/8/71 (two Agents); and 8/13/71 (two Agents). Three of these loan Agents are now working full time on McLek case while four are assisting in covering operational desks that exist within this Section. Six Agents from within this Section are assigned full time to McLek case.

5(d). From above discussion, it will be noted that this case is directed at developing evidence concerning violations of Federal statutes under which we have investigative jurisdiction and our principal efforts have been directed toward this responsibility. There are also far reaching aspects of the case which require investigative attention and because they are so diversified there is a necessity for directing efforts in the first instance along those channels which are of greatest importance. These channels relate especially to the possibility of a conspiracy, if in fact one exists, on the part of individuals to acquire and release without authorization classified material of the Executive Branch of the Government.

As noted above, evidence has been developed which would support those prosecutive aspects which to date have been considered by the Department and efforts are currently underway to resolve the potential conspiracy aspects.

The principal problems which have arisen with respect to supervision of this case have related to efforts on the part of Assistant Attorney General Mardian and attorneys within his Division to (1) conduct investigative activity on their own and (2) to direct our investigative activities frequently into areas tangential to the main thrust of the case. With respect to investigative efforts by Mardian, the following are cited as examples:

On 6/29/71 Mardian telephonically advised he was sending a Departmental attorney to see Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., who had received from Ellsberg some copies of classified documents. He said the Departmental attorney would discuss with Mathias the possibility of Mathias' turning these documents over to him. Mardian asked if we wanted to have an Agent accompany the attorney. The Director concurred that no Agent accompany the attorney, stating, "Let Mardian's emissary accept them."

On 7/21/71 when Agents of Washington Field Office endeavored to interview Mr. Charles W. Cooke, Special Assistant to the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, they were advised by Cooke that he would not submit to interview in the absence of clearance granted by the Deputy Attorney General. This was in pursuance of a lead which had been referred to us by Mardian and when the Cooke interview was attempted it was learned for the first time that two attorneys from the Internal Security Division had been designated to conduct the interview with Cooke.

On 8/10/71 one of Mardian's attorneys telephoned to say that he was going to interview an informant the next day in connection with this case and asked if the Bureau would arrange a place where he could meet securely with the informant and whether the Bureau desired to have an Agent present during the interview. In concurring that Bureau should not accede to these requests, the Director noted, "If Mardian's outfit would refrain from what are basically investigative activities and leave it to the Bureau there would be less friction."

On 8/12/71 the Bureau received through misrouting a communication which Mardian had addressed to the Attorney General to summarize current information in what he described as "Our continuing investigation into the acquisition of the 'McNamara Study' by the 'New York Times.'" The Director inquired whether Mardian's outfit was conducting their own investigation in this matter, as indicated by the contents of the memorandum. As a matter of fact, material summarized by Mardian was nothing more than information extracted from Bureau teletypes showing FBI investigative results.

With respect to Mardian's efforts to direct our investigative activities, the following are the most recent examples:

By letters dated 8/12 and 8/23/71 we received from Mardian lengthy instructions for conducting of investigation in the Ellsberg matter. It is quite evident from a review of these communications that the requests contained therein are the results of disorganized review of the material furnished to Department by the Bureau.

For example, both letters contained requests to conduct investigation previously conducted and reported to the Department. Certain other requests contained therein would more logically fall within the province of the Special Task Force Committee established by the Department of Defense to analyze Rand Corporation security procedures. Other requested investigation had previously been initiated by the Bureau and other investigative requests were not on their face germane to the violations or potential violations of law. Certain of the requested investigation appeared to be based on unsupported assumptions and theories of the invdvement of other individuals in the leak of the "Pentagon Papers" but offered no basis or reasons for the requested investigation.

The most recent letter, 8/23/71, contained request for investigation of Ellsberg's travel. We have been developing this information since the inception of our investigation and it has been furnished to the Department on an almost daily basis. This letter also requested inquiries concerning certain telephone calls by Ellsberg, investigation concerning most of which had also been previously initiated. Mardian also stated Department files had no information on Leonard S. Rodberg, whose name has recently come up in this case as the possible source of the "McNamara Study" material which will be published by the Beacon Press in Boston. We have in this and other cases furnished information on Rodberg in approximately a dozen communications.

The analyses of these lengthy letters from Mardian requires the expenditure of a considerable amount of Agent time. They indicate that Mardian's group, apparently in efforts to direct our investigation, are propounding questions, some of which are relevant but many of which are not relevant to the main thrust of our investigation, some of which should be referred elsewhere, and others of which have been previously answered.

In accordance with instructions issued by the Assistant Director, we are furnishing to Mardian copies of the daily teletypes from our field offices. These teletypes contain "raw" investigative results not coordinated. The coordination of these results regularly appears in our investigative reports which are also furnished to Mardian. We feel that the reports resolve many of the questions which have been propounded by Mardian in the past and it would enhance our investigative efforts to eliminate dissemination of the daily teletypes in the future and give to the Department investigative results in report form, supplemented by a weekly summary letter which we regularly forward to him.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN:

I generally concur with the comments of Mr. Wannall as to the progress and status of this case from an investigative standpoint. I have reminded Mr. Wannall that the development of direct evidence should not be obscured by the broadening of the scope of this case. He has been advised that his objective must consistently be the development of substantial admissible evidence necessary to establish a conviction as to Federal violations charged in the Los Angeles indictment of Ellsberg and others which may develop from other corollary investigations being conducted.

From the outset, as stated by Mr. Wannall, I expressed the importance of this case and instructed him to advise me of any manpower needs. The question of manpower is discussed under the caption "Adequacy of Personnel" found in 6E of this report and was the subject of my memorandum to Mr. Sullivan 7/29/71 captioned "Proposed Adjustments of Work Assignments, DID," memorandum of W. R. Wannall to Mr. Felt 8/12/71 captioned "Adequacy of Personnel, DID," and my memorandum to Mr. Sullivan 8/12/71 captioned "Adequacy of Personnel, Leak Cases, DID."

In reference to Mr. Wannall's concluding suggestion in his writeup, the procedure of furnishing daily teletypes to the Department in major cases is not unusual. The high level interest of the Department, which will eventually be responsible for the prosecution of this case, as well as the interest of the White House dictates that teletypes in this matter be disseminated consistent with the Director's instructions, copy attached. It appears we should clarify the Department's use of these "raw" investigative results as set forth in our teletypes and suggest their detailed reviews be conducted from Bureau investigative reports, which are the normal communication for such use. Mr. Wannall will be instructed to advise the Department by letter with regard to the foregoing pointing out that our weekly summary letters and investigative reports will resolve many of the questions they raise as to information in our teletypes.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. SULLIVAN
MR. BRENNAN
MR. ROSEN

I have tried to lay down intelligent guidelines as to what should be sent and what should not be sent to the Internal Security Division of the Department. In the last several days I have noted a number of memoranda addressed to the Attorney General and the Deputy Attorney General about matters about which the Internal Security Division should have been advised and I have had to send these back and request that memoranda be appropriately addressed to the Assistant Attorney General of the Internal Security Division. Apparently I have failed in pointing out the guidelines I desired, so henceforth, you should send everything, including the kitchen stove if it comes in, to the Internal Security Division. It is hopeless to get a considered understanding of my wishes in this matter, which I believe is largely due to some degree of stubbornness because of the recent disciplinary action I had to take when we failed to advise the Attorney General about the Media burglary.

Therefore, as I have indicated, henceforth you will send everything to the Internal Security Division that in any way relates directly or indirectly to the work and jurisdiction of that Division.

Very truly yours,

J. Edgar Hoover

ADDENDUM
INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER:
(R. E. White:bhg, 9/7/71)

This case involves the publishing of parts of the "McNamara Study" in June, 1971, by "The New York Times." The evidence to date strongly indicates Daniel Ellsberg is responsible for furnishing the classified data to representatives of this newspaper, and he has been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury for the unauthorized possession and conversion of these documents. This is the case simply stated; however, this matter is far from being so simple. From its inception, this case has been complicated by the enormity of the work to be completed and problems inherent in this unusual investigation.

In regard to the amount of work involved, a survey was made to establish how many communications were dated during the period of a single week (Saturdays and Sundays included). As a result of this survey, the following represents the number of communications dated during the weeks noted below:

INCOMING

	Teletypes	Airtels	Reports	Letters
7/11-17/71	107	21	5	2
8/1-7/71	81	26	5	3
8/8-14/71	82	24	4	2

OUTGOING

	Teletypes	Airtels	Letters
7/11-17/71	8	4	8
8/1-7/71	14	0	8
8/8-14/71	19	3	10

INTRA - SOG

	Memo
7/11-17/71	15
8/8-14/71	15

The above-noted chart is believed to be representative of the high volume of communications received daily. Many of these communications were lengthy and/or complicated requiring close analysis by one or more supervisors assigned to this "Special." Also, a check of the work devoted to the preparation of daily summary memos and of weekly summaries disclosed a supervisor would arrive at the office at approximately 5:30 a.m. each morning, Monday through Friday, to have the daily memos dictated and typed by 8:15 a.m. the same day, and the Supervisor responsible for the weekly summary due each Monday would spend approximately 6 hours preparing this communication on the prior Sunday. Noteworthy, too, is the fact that many responses to the letters from the Attorney General's Office require extensive research.

With the approval by the Attorney General to interview newspapermen, it is anticipated that the work load will increase rather than decrease in the immediate future. Initially there will be at least 75 newspapermen to be interviewed and numerous additional leads will be developed from these interviews. This investigation involves numerous facets and requires extensive work and supervision.

Presently there are 9 Supervisors assigned to this case and their responsibilities are as follows:

E. R. Harrell, Unit Chief, reviews all outgoing correspondence, reviews incoming reports in Ellsberg case; supervises preparation of daily summary memorandum, weekly White House memorandum in Ellsberg case, SALT Lek case (leak of classified information concerning Strategic Arms Limitations Talks appearing in "The New York Times"), and the Toll Lek case (leak from State Department cables concerning alleged misconduct of Bert M. Tollefson, Jr.); assists in setting out leads from daily teletype correspondence from field.

J. R. Wagoner, as case Agent in McLek, responsible for review of all incoming reports as to adequacy of reporting and leads; maintains and supervises operation of lead box in Ellsberg case; responsible for follow-up communications on outstanding leads; has basic responsibility for preparation of weekly White House summary; assists in preparation of daily memorandum summarizing prior day's investigative activity in the field.

J. R. Hagy, as case Agent, has all supervisory responsibility for Toll Lek; conducts research on all New Left aspects of Ellsberg investigation and responsible for preparation of comprehensive analysis of New Left implication in the case; responsible for setting out leads relative to New Left associates and contacts by Ellsberg; responsible for following field investigation; corroborating attendance by Ellsberg at New Left functions; assists in leads obtained from daily teletypes in McLek and Toll Lek cases; assists in preparation of daily summary memorandum; and assists in preparation of weekly White House summary.

H. J. Morgan, as case Agent, has primary responsibility for supervision of SALT Lek case; reviews all incoming correspondence and sets out pertinent leads relative to SALT Lek; assists in preparation of daily memorandum summarizing investigation in all three major leak cases aforementioned; assists in review of daily teletype traffic in all three major leak cases; review of dissemination of weekly reports in SALT Lek; assists in preparation of White House summary.

L. E. Belanger handles all ELSUR checks; reviews, correlates and conducts necessary research relative to all material received from Department of Defense in Ellsberg investigation; responsible for backup file reviews in connection with New Left contacts by Ellsberg; assists in preparation of weekly White House memorandum; assists in preparation of daily summary memorandum.

T. J. Seabaugh assigned exclusively to a comprehensive study, charting and research into extensive travel performed by Daniel Ellsberg; responsible for setting out leads to insure complete coverage of all details of travel facets of investigation.

J. P. Benedict responsible for extensive file reviews regarding numerous news media personnel and personalities involved in Ellsberg investigation to ascertain their susceptibility to interview as cooperative sources; conducting extensive research and charting of the considerable telephone traffic involved in this matter, including traffic from Daniel Ellsberg, Anthony Russo, the Sheehans, "The New York Times," the Washington bureaus of all newspapers involved, traffic from various hotels utilized by Ellsberg and his contacts, and all other individuals whose telephone traffic has been subpoenaed as a result of Departmental action via Grand Jury subpoena.

W. W. Hamilton assists in preparation of daily summary memorandum; responsible for review and appropriate preparation of all summary teletypes for dissemination to Department of Justice; file reviews on the numerous news personalities being considered for interviews as potential cooperative sources in the Ellsberg investigation; handling of correspondence connected with leads obtained from daily teletypes; assists in preparation of White House summary.

J. M. Sizoo assigned exclusively to the research and preparation of an extensive biographical write-up on Ellsberg. In this regard, facts concerning Ellsberg's life, behavioral patterns, associates, education, political views, personality transformations, family, and influences will be studied and analyzed.

In addition to the above specific assignments, each member of the unit on a daily basis is required to participate in Section, Unit and/or Branch conferences for resolution of investigative facets of the Ellsberg, Toll Lek and SALT Lek investigations.

Some of the problems involved in this investigation are:

(1) Whether Ellsberg was alone responsible for this crime, or whether he was part of a small or large-scale conspiracy.

(2) Whether the purpose was for idealistic reasons (anti-Vietnam War beliefs), to discredit the Executive Branch of the Government, or to make available classified information to a foreign nation.

(3) Investigations have been conducted by agencies other than the FBI: State Department, Department of Defense, NSA and the Attorney General's Office, and it is the Bureau's responsibility to review and analyze these investigations.

(4) To determine what other persons and newspapers received these documents and from whom they received this data.

(5) Innumerable interviews involve newspapermen, Government officials, and persons having far left leanings, against U. S. policy in Vietnam and antagonistic toward the present Administration. These are all delicate interviews.

(6) To determine whether the New Left and/or any anti-Vietnam peace groups are involved in this case.

(7) All logical avenues of investigation to bring this case to a successful prosecution must be explored. An unsuccessful prosecution would open the door for anyone at whim to disclose classified information which could easily endanger the stability of the Executive Branch and impair our relations with other nations.

(8) The White House and the Attorney General's Office are closely following this matter and all other leak cases, and in this respect the Attorney General's Office has sent numerous communications requesting certain leads be covered by the FBI. These requests must be analyzed by DID and the appropriate communications answered, which is a time-consuming administrative procedure.

In regard to the last situation noted above, you are aware that the Department is reviewing for lead purposes the daily teletypes we furnish them. Thereafter, they send us a communication requesting us to conduct these leads. This must be stopped. Such a procedure is unproductive and time consuming, resulting in additional unnecessary communications to the Department. You are instructed to immediately advise the Department that the purpose of the daily teletypes is to make them cognizant of the developments in this case and that the FBI fully intends to pursue all other logical investigation based on these communications.

With the importance of this case, the urgency of the problems to be resolved, the immediacy of the work to be performed, and the volume of communications received daily, there appears sufficient work at the present for nine Supervisors. However, you must constantly evaluate the work load to assure that the assigned manpower is fully justified. Also, much of the present work is exploratory, which involves researching and analyzing and thereafter assuring that the many facets are immediately and fully probed. Once these exploratory aspects are sufficiently investigated, this case will be directed toward more specific objectives which will narrow the investigative field. As this transition period is entered, immediate consideration should be given to reducing the manpower assigned to this matter. Also, it is incumbent upon you to make certain that all logical investigation is expeditiously and fully conducted in order that the Bureau will not be subjected to criticism by any person or agency.

A review of this matter indicates that you should continue affording it top priority supervision and direction.

Comments of Assistant Director and Section Chief Wannall requested.

ADDENDUM
SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL: The analysis and observations of the Inspector have been noted.
(WRW:ams 9/7/71) WRW

We will continue affording top priority supervision and direction to this case. In addition, we will immediately advise the Department that the purpose of daily dissemination of teletypes to the Internal Security Division is to make that Division cognizant of developments in the case and that the FBI fully intends to pursue all other logical investigation based on these communications.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: I concur with the above.

EAST COAST CONSPIRACY 4-A-4

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: At the time of the last inspection this matter was being afforded urgent supervision and investigation for the purpose of identifying all of the conspirators and perfecting cases for prosecution against them.

You are requested to provide a brief narrative summary of this investigation and bring it up to date. Indicate in your response the number of subjects on whom we have developed prosecutive cases, the number yet to be developed and in each instance indicate what you feel are the possibilities of successful prosecution.

In this regard, identify any cases in which successful prosecution is in doubt and indicate what action is being taken to erase the doubt.

What is the current status of prosecution of these cases and when do you feel these cases will be adjudicated?

From a supervisory standpoint, advise how much manpower is being expended presently on the supervision of this (these) cases and indicate when you feel these men can be reassigned to other work.

Comments of Assistant Director requested.

SECTION CHIEF R. L. SHACKELFORD: The investigation of the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives (EASTCON) is concerned with plots in Washington, D. C., to blow up the tunnels housing the heating system servicing Government buildings and to kidnap a high Government official. Individuals connected with these plots are all associated with the Berrigan antiwar movement. An indictment was returned during the last inspection (1/12/71) at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, which charged six individuals with complicity in these plots and two of these six were charged additionally with a violation of the contraband statute in that they caused unauthorized letters to be exchanged into and out of the Federal Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania. There were also seven individuals named in the indictment as unindicted co-conspirators.

Our investigation into this matter continued, and on 4/30/71, a superseding indictment was returned which expanded the charges and strengthened our case. Eight individuals were included in this indictment as defendants, and the number of unindicted co-conspirators was reduced to four. The superseding indictment includes those charges listed above and added the conspiracy aspects of the selected Selective Service break-in cases in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Rochester, New York; Wilmington, Dover, and Georgetown, Delaware. Two additional counts added to the superseding indictment involve three individuals and charged them with the mailing of a threatening communication.

In addition to the substantive case, potential witnesses have been either cited for civil contempt of court or indicted for criminal contempt of court in connection with their refusal to answer questions before the Federal Grand Jury (FGJ) in Harrisburg after being granted immunity. Five individuals were cited for civil contempt, and four individuals were indicted for criminal contempt. Two of these cases are currently the subject of a petition by the Government to the Supreme Court of the United States for a writ of certiorari, and the other cases are being held in abeyance until the Supreme Court renders its decision.

From the investigation conducted to date and the comments of the prosecutive staff of the Department, there does not appear to be any reason to believe that prosecution of this case will not be successful.

The substantive EASTCON case is currently in the pretrial stage with numerous motions of both the Government and the defense still pending before the court. At present, it appears that the court will be unable to set this matter for trial until January, 1972. Even though we are well on our way to trial, due to the complexities of charges in the indictment and the broad scope of the violations involved, there exists additional facets of investigation of a continuing nature which will possibly increase as the trial date approaches.

For example, in the Fall of 1970 we undertook to determine through an Automatic Data Processing (ADP) project whether EASTCON principals had established a long distance telephone communication network. The basis for this theory was information received from our informant, PH 1211-S, who advised that fictitious telephone credit card numbers were being utilized by members of the Berrigan antiwar movement to facilitate contacts. This project disclosed voluminous calls between EASTCON principals and between them and sympathizers from their own telephones and also corroborate the fraudulent use of fictitious telephone credit card numbers. This information was of value to the Department in the examination of witnesses before the FGJ since it placed witnesses in a position of either admitting contact between each other on specific dates, committing perjury, or claiming the Fifth Amendment. This project has more recently been extended and is now being utilized to identify individuals involved in the Washington, D. C., plots of the EASTCON case through "nonhit" telephone toll calls between EASTCON activists and persons not previously known to have been active in the movement. It is believed that recent information from this project, developed further by investigation, has identified a Capitol Hill elevator operator who was recruited for these plots. The project is a continuing one, and the investigation of pertinent developments hopefully will identify an engineer who was consulted on the tunnel plot, as well as other individuals involved in the Washington, D. C., action. The very technical nature of the raw material developed by the ADP project has resulted in individuals at the Bureau and certain offices such as Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, and WFO having become well versed and particularly adroit in the interpretation of such complicated information.

The investigation of EASTCON includes the handling of two informants; the first, PH 1211-S, is the individual who will be responsible for the introduction of the most convincing evidence against all of the defendants - the letters between Philip Berrigan and Elizabeth McAlister which relate to every count in the indictment. Since the testimony of this informant before the FGJ, he has become theoretically the responsibility of the Department, as a Government witness, but of necessity, the Bureau has coordinated his activities, etc., because of his peculiar status until he testifies at trial. He is currently living many miles from Harrisburg under an assumed identity and is gainfully employed through the assistance of the Bureau. All of these problems have been coordinated through the Bureau to insure the security of this valuable source. As an example, the informant's father recently died and unfriendly members of the news media became aware of funeral arrangements. By instructions of the Bureau and through very competent handling by the field, the security of this informant was maintained in spite of the presence of unfriendly members of the press at the funeral. It will be necessary to continue to coordinate any other problems of this nature until his testimony is heard during trial. In this regard, as the trial date approaches, other problems develop requiring Bureau assistance such as arrangements for "in depth" conferences with the Department's prosecutive team under secure circumstances. This will be a very important conference since the informant has only been interviewed (briefly) by the Department on one occasion, and no opportunity has existed since his appearance before the FGJ to further explore his testimony.

We have also developed another informant, PH 1223-S, who is a close friend of Philip Berrigan and active sympathizers in the Berrigan antiwar movement. He is the only individual who has obtained any identification of possible MEDBURG suspects from John Peter Grady (arrested in the Camden Federal Building break-in 8/22/71). Grady indirectly claimed credit for that action and by inference named other people who are considered prime suspects. The informant has recently accepted a position of running a newspaper at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on behalf of The Defense Committee, the legal, bail bond, and public relations arm of the Berrigan antiwar movement. He is a unique and cunning individual who is now in a vital position to keep us informed of the on-the-scene and behind-the-scene activities in Harrisburg during the EASTCON trial. One extremely important example of the valuable information this informant has furnished resulted in our initiating (as a corollary investigation to EASTCON) an Espionage - X-type case based upon information he received from an ardent Berrigan supporter who has stated the intention to obtain classified documents from the Lyndon B. Johnson Library in Austin, Texas, to be publicized for the benefit of the antiwar movement in the same manner as those circulated by Daniel Ellsberg.

With respect to The Defense Committee, investigation is being coordinated as to the activities of this loose-knit group due to its direct relationship to the EASTCON case. There has evolved a national organization, and the activities of local groups, as they become organized, will be followed by the Bureau for intelligence information. As an indication of the potential of this body, recognizing that its real push for funds will reportedly not begin until the Fall of 1971, information has been received that they already have substantial funds in their coffers.

From information developed by PH 1223-S, it was determined that John Peter Grady was planning an "action" which from an analysis of the facts known at the Bureau appeared to centered in the New Jersey area. After observations in this regard were furnished to the field, investigation culminated in his being located in the Camden, New Jersey, area. The investigation which followed resulted in the arrest of 20 individuals on 8/22/71 in the act of destroying and stealing draft board records in the Camden Federal Building. The individuals arrested included Peter Fordi (an original member of the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives), Paul Couming, and John Swinglish, both indicted at Harrisburg for criminal contempt after refusing to testify before the EASTCON FGJ when granted immunity from prosecution. PH 1211-S determined Swinglish was the "recruiter" for the Washington, D. C., plots in the EASTCON case. It is to be expected that other individuals who are EASTCON activists will also be indicted at Camden. The evidence already obtained in that case discloses other EASTCON activists were responsible for the Selective Service draft board break-in at Trenton, New Jersey, 5/21/71. Likewise, the obviously coordinated Buffalo, New York, draft board break-in on the night of 8/21-22/71 involved sympathizers of the EASTCON movement.

Much of the foregoing represents the continuing intelligence coverage of the Berrigan antiwar movement, absolutely necessary to the Bureau's interests, aside from the important development of admissible evidence in the EASTCON prosecution. Further, many pretrial motions (by defense counsel) have been ruled on by the court, and many others are still outstanding. In anticipation of the court ruling on a motion for Discovery and Inspection as provided by the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, the Government, in order to expedite such matters, has previously allowed the inspection of certain evidence in this case. This has been done at various field offices under Departmental supervision. The lists of evidence made available, other arrangements and details with regard to such inspection, has been handled by guidance from the Bureau. Approximately one half of this evidence has thus far been inspected with hundreds of items of evidence still to be inspected in Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, and Baltimore. The court has ruled in favor of the defense broadly interpreting the right of Discovery and Inspection, particularly as to photographic evidence, Laboratory, and Identification Division reports. The Department has requested such material to be made available for inspection at the Department in the near future, and this project is being coordinated by the Bureau. There are estimated approximately 1,000 photographs submitted by 11 offices. The Laboratory (document examinations) and Identification Division reports will be voluminous since they include not only those prepared in connection with the EASTCON case itself, but also all of those prepared in connection with six Selective Service Act cases included as conspiracy charges in the EASTCON indictment. It is apparent that the evidence from the three offices covering these six Selective Service Act cases will be voluminous and require close coordination by the Bureau with the Department into the EASTCON case for a successful prosecution at trial.

At present, two supervisors are assigned full-time, and one supervisor spends approximately one half of his time in the supervision of this case. This investigation continues to generate a great deal of paper not only on the substantive case but also in connection with the other matters directly related thereto. It is anticipated the time of two and a half Agents will be the absolute minimum required to effectively handle this matter through the completion of the trial. Depending upon the volume of work generated by necessary requests of the Department in the pretrial and trial stages, additional manpower may be necessary at various times.

The Inspector has specifically inquired as to when these men can be reassigned to other work. It is to be noted that since the return of the superseding indictment on 4/30/71, two other full-time supervisors have been reassigned to other work within the Division.

It is not anticipated that the two supervisors assigned full-time to this case will be released prior to the conclusion of the trial in this matter.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: I have read the attached and concur in the views expressed by Section Chief Shackelford.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS 4-E

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: Briefly set forth the noteworthy accomplishments of your Division, with a section breakdown, since the last inspection, which ended on 1/26/71. This request deals with specific accomplishments other than statistical accomplishments. Specifically where you have devised a program for a definite purpose furnish also where possible specific tangible accomplishments on this program. This will give you an opportunity to set forth any Division achievements pertaining to the Bureau's progress, welfare, efficiency or any other items not covered elsewhere in this inspection.

A short paragraph on each phase should be sufficient. Do not include identifying data concerning highly confidential matters and any references to such matters should be in general terms.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS
INTERNAL SECURITY SECTION

SECTION CHIEF - ARBOR W. GRAY

Attached are memoranda setting out noteworthy accomplishments of the Internal Security Section since the last inspection.

This Section is responsible for supervision of investigations of the Communist Party, USA, its fronts, pro-Chinese communist groups, selected Trotskyist-communist groups, Klan and white hate groups, international organizations affiliated with the world communist movement and international New Left extremist movement, individuals affiliated with these organizations and movements, as well as sedition cases. Our purpose is to gather evidence to support prosecutions of these subversive organizations and individuals under various statutes relating to the internal security of the Nation and to gather intelligence of interest to Government officials and other agencies. The Section also supervises the development and administration of security informants in basic revolutionary organizations and other subversive and New Left groups. Where appropriate, the Section directs counterintelligence operations against subversive groups and individuals in cases under our supervision.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS
COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, UNIT

The major accomplishment of this Unit evolves from the case entitled, "Solo, IS - C." Due to the sensitive nature of this case, it will be orally discussed with the Inspector.

In essence, this case involves sources developing intelligence information of the highest quality concerning the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), the Soviet Union and its satellites, and the world communist movement. Since its inception, 38 successful missions to communist countries have been completed. Information developed by this operation from high-level contacts in the world communist movement is continually disseminated to the highest levels of our Government and, in many instances, is information not available from another source. Examples of this since early 1971 include the following: Soviets requested CPUSA to provide analysis of public opinion in U.S. regarding Nixon Administration and U.S.-Soviet relations to be used by General Secretary of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (CPSU), Leonid Brezhnev, in speech before 24th Congress of CPSU in March, 1971, and essence of analysis was provided; during the 24th Congress, it was learned Soviets doubted whether U.S. was serious on disarmament and they were concerned over U.S.-Chinese communist improved relations; Soviet countermeasures to counteract include planned vast propaganda campaign against U.S., initiation of a European Security Conference to isolate U.S., and improvement of Soviet relations with Japan; General Secretary, CPUSA, Gus Hall, planned visit to North Vietnam and Laos Spring of 1971, thereafter returning to U.S. to hold mass rallies to raise antiwar movement in U.S. to a new high; visit was set for 5/15-20/71; however, North Vietnamese canceled same, angering Hall who felt this resulted from Chinese communist pressure; information concerning possible split in CPUSA along racial lines; details concerning meeting of CPUSA leaders and Soviet Ambassador to U.S. Anatoliy F. Dobrynin, at which time Dobrynin stated hope for world peace would be improved if President Nixon were re-elected in 1972.

All of this information was furnished the White House and other interested officials of our Government, usually by teletype. Central Intelligence Agency has expressed great interest in information developed by this operation and on July 24, 1970, requested permission to include pertinent data developed by our operation in a "Top Secret/No Foreign/Controlled Dissemination" classified document for senior U.S. Intelligence Board officials.

The two principal informants in this operation have received the "Order of Lenin," with the title "Hero of Soviet Labor" from the Soviets. This is the highest award given civilians by the Soviet Union and was given our sources for their "invaluable contribution to the international communist movement."

Continued high-level penetration of the CPUSA represents a sustained major accomplishment. At the time of the last inspection, we had 11 informants who were officially members of the CPUSA National Committee. This number remains the same. In addition, we have another informant who is an ex officio member of the National Committee because of the sensitive nature of his Party assignments. This latter source is also a member of the Political Committee which, in effect, runs the Party. This top-level coverage is responsible for furnishing information regarding policy-making matters on a day-to-day basis as they occur.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS
FOREIGN INFLUENCE AND PRO-CHICOM UNIT

A prime responsibility of the Bureau and the intelligence community is to develop intelligence relating to efforts of foreign hostile governments, organizations, and individuals who influence, direct, or dominate the domestic subversive and extremist movements. There has been considerable evidence compiled over the years of this foreign influence. Since the last inspection, the following noteworthy achievements in our investigations relating to foreign influence have been accomplished:

1. In March, 1971, a coalition of leftist individuals including subversives and extremists under the sponsorship of the Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, American Friends Service Committee, and Fellowship of Reconciliation traveled to Paris where they were in contact with the North Vietnamese and other elements antagonistic to the U.S. We developed two informants to participate in this travel and as a result, identified all 170 people in attendance, their activities, contacts, and objectives. All information developed was afforded dissemination to appropriate Government agencies and we were commended by one intelligence agency for the excellent coverage.

2. The World Peace Council is the leading Soviet-dominated international effort to discredit and subvert U.S. domestic and foreign policy. Upon determining the World Peace Council would hold a General Session in Budapest, Hungary, in May, 1971, an effort was made to obtain informant coverage. An informant was developed for the travel and coverage resulted in the identification of all American participants including the Communist Party, USA, delegation and the activities of these individuals at the meeting. All pertinent documents relating to the Conference were obtained, as were the contacts and activities of American subversives at the Conference. Widespread dissemination of intelligence relating to this Conference was made and both the White House and Central Intelligence Agency favorably commented on its exceptional value.

3. During the past six months, the Unit has afforded specific coverage to the travel of U.S. citizens to three hostile communist countries: North Vietnam, North Korea, and Communist China. All individuals traveling to these countries during 1970 have been identified and, where pertinent, investigations have been opened. Careful records have been maintained regarding U.S. citizens who have visited these countries during the current year and arrangements have been made to receive quarterly reports from another intelligence agency which will enable us to double check our files and insure cases are opened on visitors to these hostile countries, when warranted. We feel this is a strong achievement because, as noted below, we have developed evidence that Americans are currently being recruited for intelligence assignments in these countries.

4. Early in 1971 it was determined an informant who had participated in Venceremos Brigade travel to Cuba had established a rapport with North Koreans in that country. Through careful direction of this informant, he was able to effect an invitation from the North Koreans to visit their country at their expense. He departed the U.S. with a group of three other Americans and traveled to Korea via Paris and Algiers. In Korea he was recruited by the North Koreans for an intelligence assignment, furnished funds, and a code. This is the first individual affiliated with the domestic subversive movement who, acting in a capacity for the U.S. Government, has been able to penetrate North Korea. We believe this informant will be able to furnish exceptionally valuable intelligence relating to foreign intelligence and political influence of the North Koreans in the domestic subversive movement.

5. Through cooperation with the British Security Service we have developed, during the past six months, direct connection between an individual who was associated with the Weatherman in the U.S. and bombing activities in England. British intelligence is extremely interested in this matter and we are carefully following it for developments.

Through intensified investigation of the Revolutionary Union (RU) and Venceremos Party (VP), we have been able to identify over 200 hard-core Marxist-Leninists who have all indicated violence-prone propensities. Of particular note is the fact that our closely supervised investigations in this area have developed an informant on the National Committee of the RU and have resulted in identification of an extremely militant RU group in Eugene, Oregon. The Department has expressed extreme interest in our RU investigation and has indicated a desire to explore prosecutions at the first opportunity.

In late 1970 Mark Lawrence Wefers, the student body president of the University of New Hampshire, traveled with a National Student Association group to North Vietnam. While there he made recorded speeches encouraging the servicemen in South Vietnam to lay down their arms or turn their guns on the real "pigs." Wefers' incendiary comments were broadcast over Radio Hanoi. Intensive investigation has been and is continuing to be conducted and the Department has indicated an interest to prosecute Wefers under the sedition statutes at an early date. This will represent the first prosecution under the sedition statutes since the 1950's.

A suit was instituted against the Director and two Special Agents of the Memphis Office seeking preliminary injunction against the FBI and punitive and compensatory damages amounting to over $100,000 against the Director and the Agents. The suit was instituted by the Southern Conference Educational Fund claiming harassment and intimidation of war resisters. Former communists, extremists, and subversives were involved as plaintiffs. In July the plaintiffs dropped their plea for a preliminary injunction. Excellent information identifying the principal plaintiff, on whose statements the false allegations were based, as having a criminal record involving furnishing of false information and theft, has been furnished to the Department as well as the fact that he is the subject of a current outstanding State Bench Warrant. It is anticipated when this matter is argued before the court, the plea for punitive damages will be dropped, much to the embarrassment of the communist subversives and extremists involved.

The Unit endeavors to keep track of all efforts to discredit the U.S. military effort through organization of antiwar coffeehouses, oriented groups, and publications. Last January we intensified investigation on Peoples House, a coffeehouse operated by subversives in Clarksville, Tennessee. Excellent information has been developed, all the principal subversives participating have been identified, and details have been furnished to the Department and interested military intelligence agencies. The House Committee on Internal Security has taken an interest in this coffeehouse and it is expected to be the subject of a Congressional hearing which will publicly expose the involvement, tactics, and objectives of the extremist elements behind this subversive endeavor.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS
KLAN AND WHITE HATE GROUPS UNIT 4-E

The FBI has continued its investigation of 18 Klan-type organizations including 255 klaverns (units) throughout the United States which had a slight increase in membership from 4,300 a year ago to approximately 4,500 at present. This increase in membership is primarily attributed to renewed interest in Klan-type organizations brought about by Federal directives regarding school busing in order to achieve racial balance in public schools.

In recent months the UKA and Shelton have undertaken a major campaign aimed at harassing the FBI. The initial step of the campaign was named by Shelton as "Operation Polly" in which he sought to obtain polygraph machines to help "weed out FBI pimps." We have taken steps to assure he is not successful by instructing our key informants to talk it down and, if necessary, to ultimately refuse to take such an exam. We have also discreetly contacted a potential supplier to be assured we are aware of any positive action taken by Shelton in this regard.

Further, as a result of our hard-hitting investigation and interviews of Klansmen, Shelton printed a series of articles in the monthly UKA publication "The Fiery Cross," entitled "Exposing the CIA and FBI," in which Shelton vehemently attacked the Bureau as a "Gestapo-like police force" and the Director as "a man who has sold out his country for his prided FBI." Picketing of the Norfolk and Richmond FBI Offices to protest interviews of Klansmen by FBI Agents as infringement of the individual rights of Klan members also took place recently and Klansmen were instructed to attempt to secure photographs and identities of our Agents in order that this information could be published in "The Fiery Cross" with the intent that the FBI be embarrassed and our Agents transferred. This information was furnished to appropriate field offices and to the Department. To date our Agents have avoided having their photographs taken by the Klan.

Violence has been noticeably absent among Klan-type organizations during the past year. This is due in the main to our effective informant program. We have been able to direct our informants to positions of leadership throughout the country, and these informants have been extremely successful in forming nonviolent Klan policy. We have also been able to keep local authorities advised of potential Klan violence in time to thwart such action.

Since last inspection, information was also developed through Joan Gourley, former mistress of head of Minutemen, Robert DePugh, concerning murder of Walter Barnes, former Minutemen member who was allegedly murdered and buried by DePugh while in underground hide-out in New Mexico prior to his arrest by the FBI. Gourley traveled to New Mexico to locate gravesite in company of local authorities who granted her immunity. Gravesite disclosed only four small bones identified by coroner as coming from foot of human victim. Gourley furnished statement to New Mexico authorities and, in addition, stated DePugh had indicated in July, 1970, while imprisoned, that body had been removed from original gravesite, but she did not believe him at that time. Local District Attorney, while believing Gourley's story, felt prosecution not feasible without body. During July, 1971, SD 1155-R, a Minutemen informant of this Bureau furnished information and explosives reportedly to be utilized in the bombings of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms Division (ATFD) and Internal Revenue Service offices in the California area, resulting in the arrest of several individuals, including informant, by ATFD, thus preventing the bombings.

Subsequent to last inspection, dissemination has been made concerning weapons, possible violence and demonstrations of these groups which has resulted in the curtailment of activity and disenchantment with the Klan and other white hate group organizations in some areas. In several cases, confiscation of weapons has been made by ATFD of the Treasury Department based on our information. We have also made apprehensions of extremist subjects for illegal possession of firearms following conviction of a felony, a violation under our jurisdiction.

SECTION CHIEF R. D. COTTER: There follows a summary of accomplishments of the Research Section since the last inspection:

Central Research Unit

This Unit performs a wide range of research and writing assignments and preparation of various documents and special reports. These include the following:

An extensive special assignment on new left research for the Director.

A special report which is kept up to date on FBI usage of electronic surveillances.

The "FBI Current Intelligence Analysis" issued approximately every week summarizes significant items of interest in subversive field.

The monograph entitled "The CPUSA Annual Intelligence Digest" was issued in February.

A number of papers were prepared for the Intelligence Evaluation Committee.

A number of book reviews of interest were prepared.

Special reports are prepared on a continuing basis for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Special Committee.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
8/19/71

4-E

The Unit coordinated the preparation of material for the Division's participation in the conference with police officials concerning attacks on police and prepared a special packet of material for distribution to those police officials in attendance.

This Unit also was responsible for coordination of preparation of damage assessments relating to Domestic Intelligence Division documents stolen in the burglary of the former Media, Pennsylvania, Resident Agency, and handling other aspects of the Medburg case as related to this Division.

In addition, the Unit also collected and prepared material for various articles, speeches, and surveys. Personnel of the Unit have handled lectures on subjects of communism, the new left, and racial extremism. These have consisted of classified lectures to Bureau's New Agents and In-Service classes, appearances before other intelligence agencies and National Academy classes and appearances before outside groups.

Special Records Unit

This Unit is primarily responsible for records keeping for emergency planning. Further details concerning programs handled by this Unit are set forth in Section 4-H.

Civil Disorder Reporting Unit

This Unit, formerly called the Racial Reporting Unit, has continued to coordinate all phases of disturbances, violence and other developments where race is a factor as well as information bearing on the potential for violence throughout the country. Material being reported on a daily basis by the field offices is reviewed, coordinated and disseminated to interested officials and agencies and current teletype summaries are furnished to the White House, Attorney General, and other high officials. Statistical data on civil disorders, school disorders and attacks on police is extracted from communications received from the field and is maintained in this Unit for use in the preparation of special papers. Detailed statistical data is prepared for automatic data processing.

This Unit also prepares on demand certain studies and briefs concerning specific subject matters relating to racial extremists and racial situations. Examples of these are a detailed study on the extent of foreign influence on the black extremist movement completed in February of this year. A current document on this subject matter is presently being prepared for early dissemination. In June, 1971, a comprehensive document on the potential for violence in the Nation during the Summer of 1971 was prepared for high-level dissemination.

In addition to the above, this Unit prepares a monthly "FBI Digest of Civil Disorders" briefly summarizing all disorders occurring in the previous month growing out of racial unrest. The incidents are listed geographically and chronologically so that the White House and other recipients can tell at a glance the general nature of incidents and problems and where they are.

Current Intelligence Reporting Unit

This Unit, formerly known as the New Left Reporting Unit, coordinates coverage of activities relating to all New Left, student, and antiwar demonstrations, as well as other civil disturbances arising from issues other than racial in nature. A daily teletype summary on demonstrations and other disruptive activity is prepared for dissemination to the White House, the Attorney General and other interested Government officials.

Continuing and timely dissemination is made concerning major demonstrations in addition to the teletype summary and advance information concerning possible demonstrations is furnished Government officials (principally the President and Vice President) traveling throughout the country.

Since the last inspection, this Unit has covered the following major demonstrations:

Marches on Washington, D. C., and San Francisco, California, on 3/20/71 sponsored by the Progressive Labor Party (PLP) to protest unemployment.

A series of disruptive demonstrations held in Washington, D. C., during the period 4/1-5/71 sponsored by People's Coalition for Peace and Justice (PCPJ) and May Day Collectives. During this series of demonstrations, some 12,000 arrests were made.

A massive demonstration in Washington, D. C., on 4/24/71 sponsored by the National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC). A similar demonstration was held in San Francisco. The Washington, D. C., demonstration attracted an estimated 400,000 persons.

A March for Victory demonstration sponsored by the Reverend Carl McIntire held in Washington, D. C., 5/8/71 to protest withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

A "smoke-in" sponsored by the May Day Collectives in Washington, D. C., 7/4/71.

Nationwide demonstrations during the period 8/6-9/71 sponsored by NPAC and PCPJ, as well as other peace groups to protest the war in Vietnam and to commemorate the atomic bombing of Japan.

This Unit also prepared studies and briefs when they are called upon to do so and regularly issues the monthly "FBI Intelligence Calendar of Major Events." Also statistics are maintained concerning the disorders for use as needed.

NEW LEFT SECTION

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS UNIT - WEST

The primary objective in this Unit has been and continues to be the goal of overcoming the threat to American institutions presented by violence prone extremists, such as those within the revolutionary Weatherman organization. This Unit and the Special Investigation Unit - East, supervise security investigations of the Weatherman group and its individual members. Through coordination with the General Investigative Division, which has handled certain criminal investigations involving Weatherman members, and with the Special Investigative Division, which has supervised the investigation of Weatherman fugitives, substantial accomplishments in the task of neutralizing these extremists have been achieved. A number of Weatherman leaders have been indicted on Federal charges involving violations of the Federal Anti-riot, gun control and bombing statutes. Many leaders and activists in the Weatherman organization have gone underground and the organization is currently composed of a few hundred adherents including those underground and above ground. Its underground existence and the fugitive status of its leaders have isolated Weatherman from the mass of American youth. Consequently, Weatherman has experienced a considerable reduction in strength, based on the number of its present adherents and its influence among young people.

Weatherman, though a small group, continues to be extremely dangerous in view of its violent and destructive tactics. It is noted that Weatherman has claimed credit for a number of bombings, including the bombing of the national Capitol building on 3/1/71.

Weatherman continues to receive intensive investigation. In recent months, a Weatherman bomb making factory has been discovered at 1038 A Pine Street, San Francisco, California, and subsequent investigation there has uncovered a number of persons, including attorneys, who are acting in a covert support role for Weatherman. The Department of Justice has now indicated in a letter to the Bureau that it will institute Federal Grand Jury proceedings concerning activities at this Pine Street address, with the prospect of further indictments and further discouragement of Weatherman sympathizers. Approval has been obtained for this Unit to supervise this Pine Street case in view of its intimate connection with the overall Weatherman investigation. Approval has also been obtained for this Unit to supervise a New Left - Violence case in Tucson, Arizona, which involves Unlawful Possession or Receipt of Firearms (UPRF) charges. This Tucson case concerns five New Left extremists, three of whom have now been indicted by a Federal Grand Jury. Two of these have been apprehended and the third is a fugitive. Another subject in this case has been sentenced to jail for contempt of court for refusing to testify before the Grand Jury.

An example of the salutary effect of vigorous investigation and prosecution of New Left extremists is seen in the Seattle area. There, a radical group called the Seattle Liberation Front (SLF), which was composed of former Weatherman members, had fomented continuing violence. Then SLF leaders were tried in Federal court on anti-riot charges. This trial ended in a mistrial but the SLF leaders were cited for contempt of court. Since that mistrial in December, 1970, SLF has been disbanded and most SLF members have left Seattle. There has been a noticeable reduction in New Left violence in Seattle.

In the several cases referred to above, it is noted that in each instance information crucial to the prosecution of New Left extremists was provided by New Left informants.

In recent months significant accomplishments were made in a case involving two extremists in Ohio through the use of a tesur installation. These two extremists were Nancy Kurshan and Howard Emmer, who were leaders of the Youth International Party (YIP). Between February and June, 1971, a tesur covered the activities of Kurshan, Emmer, and others with outstanding success. This source provided advance information concerning the plans of May Day leader Rennie Davis for the recent May Day national action. The source also provided extensive information on planned demonstrations and strikes at Kent State University on May 3 and 4, 1971, the anniversary of the killing of Kent State students by the National Guard in May 1970. This source furnished information concerning activities and movements of suspects in the Capbom case and other New Left extremists. This source also developed information on plans for the Women's March on Washington on April 10, 1971.

As a result of dissemination of advance information developed by this source, authorities were able to further control these demonstrations and reduce the violence arising out of such activity.

With reference to the complicated Weatherman investigation, much progress has been made recently in the development of information on the technical aspects of the actual operation of the Weatherman underground, particularly its use and methods of obtaining false identities, its courier system, its use of radical attorneys in covert support roles and in the movement of its support personnel. Effort is continually being made to develop new techniques and approaches to facilitate this investigation. A "stop index" program in NCIC, for Bureau use only, concerning extremists on Priority I of the Security Index was initiated in June, 1971. This program enables our field offices to receive prompt notice by teletype when police agencies make inquiries about these subjects. In addition, new procedures have recently been devised whereby the Identification Division can better disseminate to the field arrest information on Security Index subjects for whom no fingerprints are on file. This is accomplished by periodic submission by the field of Security Flash Notices to determine if fingerprints have been received since the last check.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS UNIT-EAST

Incidents of sabotage currently being investigated by the Bureau.are, for the most part, the "home grown variety" occasioned by attacks against the military and related operations on the part of New Leftists, dissidents, and elements opposed to U.S. participation in the Vietnam War.

There are under investigation at the present time 9 sabotage initiated investigations with prosecution pending, involving 21 subjects who are charged with various violations including Attempted Sabotage, Destruction of Government Property, Antiriot Law violations, Civil Rights violations, Violation of National Firearms Act, Possession of Destructive Device, Interstate Transportation of Stolen Motor Vehicle, Contempt of Court and Conspiracy.

Since last inspection and as a result of sabotage investigations, 10 individuals have either been tried in Federal court and found guilty or have entered guilty pleas. Three of these individuals have been sentenced to a total of 30 years while the remaining 7 are awaiting sentencing. Additionally, since last inspection and as a result of sabotage investigations, 6 additional individuals have been indicted but not yet brought to trial. Two of these 6 are currently in a fugitive status. It should be noted that as a direct result of this Bureau's sabotage investigations, 5 subjects are currently included in the Bureau's Most Wanted Fugitives List and Identification Orders are currently in effect concerning another 3 subjects.

VENCEREMOS BRIGADE

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS UNIT - EAST 4-E

Four contingents have traveled to Cuba since November, 1969. The first group was composed of 216 young Americans who obtained their own transportation to Cuba in defiance of the State Department ban on travel to that country. These young revolutionaries were returned to Canada on 2/12/70 at the expense of the Cuban Government which converted a cattle boat into a makeshift troop ship. The second contingent of 687 sympathetic American youths were loaded aboard this boat for its return trip to Cuba. This group, like the first contingent, worked in the sugar cane fields until its return by the same means of transportation on April 28, 1970. In August, 1970, the third contingent of the VB, made up of 407 persons, journeyed to the Isle of Youth where they participated in a Cuban agricultural experiment of planting and fertilizing citrus trees. This group returned to the U. S. mid-October, 1970. The fourth contingent of 233 young Americans traveled by air to Cuba during the last week of March, 1971, and were returned to Canada by Cuban ship on May 29, 1971.

Each group worked approximately 7½ hours a day, 5½ days a week, and in their free time were afforded the opportunity of absorbing communist propaganda offered by the Cubans, North Koreans and North Vietnamese. They were reminded by the Cuban camp director that they were here to show "solidarity with the socialist struggle, to smash the U. S. blockade, and to make a breach in the facade of the U. S. imperialist monster."

Each of the more than 1500 brigade members has been the subject of a security investigation which includes the identification and obtaining of background data as well as a personal interview with each brigade member. These investigations are being made to determine the immediate danger presented by these young revolutionaries and also to ascertain the long-range role they will take in the revolutionary movement in the U. S. Upon completion of the investigation and the interview of each of these individuals, the field must recommend either the inclusion or noninclusion of the subject in the Security Index. In addition the field must continue to report every 90 days for a period of one year on the activities and whereabouts of each brigade member.

The intelligence responsibilities of the Bureau in regard to the VB have been handled through the placing of Bureau informants in the ranks of the various contingents. Accurate on-the-scene reports concerning the training and activities of these groups in Cuba have been furnished to the intelligence community and factual responses have been made to congressional and other legitimate inquiries regarding these young supporters of the Castro Regime. As a result of our investigations, more than 275 VB participants have been placed on the Security Index and it has been noted that about 25% of those individuals currently being intensively investigated as extremists in the New Left section, are ex-VB members.

Plans for a fifth contingent of the VB have been formulated. This new group is tentatively scheduled to depart for Cuba in early January, 1972, and is to be comprised of 225-250 individuals politically oriented to the socialist cause.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

SUBVERSIVE INDIVIDUALS - NEW LEFT UNIT

Among the primary responsibilities of this unit is the identification and investigation of individuals who, because of activities or affiliation with one or more violence-prone revolutionary groups, are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the nation. In most instances, this unit handles initial stages of the investigation and carries it through to completion. In some instances where individuals are determined to be of an extremist nature, those cases are referred to the units in this section handling extremist cases. At the conclusion of each investigation or at the phase of the investigation when it is determined that the individual therein could be considered a danger to the internal security of the country, an evaluation is made and, if appropriate, the individual's name is included on the Security Index.

The immense volume of cases handled in this unit is clearly exhibited by the fact that since the last inspection approximately 5000 cases have been handled in this unit. To be exact, 5418 cases have been opened and 4951 cases have been closed.

PROTEST AND TROTSKYIST GROUPS UNIT

This Unit is responsible for the investigation of antiwar protest groups and key activists connected therewith, as well as the Eastcon case. Accomplishments of the Unit worthy of note are as follows:

EASTCON

As a result of our investigation of the plots to blow up the underground tunnels housing the heating system servicing Government buildings in Washington, D. C., and to kidnap a high Government official, an indictment was returned at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, on 1-12-71 covering six individuals as defendants and seven unindicted co-conspirators. Our investigation into this matter continued, and on 4-30-71 a superseding indictment was returned at Harrisburg which added two additional defendants and reduced the number of unindicted co-conspirators to four. In addition, five individuals have been cited for civil contempt for refusal to testify before the Federal Grand Jury regarding this matter, and four individuals have been indicted for criminal contempt. By letter dated 2-25-71 to the Director, Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian advised of his appreciation for cooperation extended by the Bureau in this case and singled out the efforts of six members of the Domestic Intelligence Division, as well as two Agents of the Philadelphia Office.

Of paramount importance to the successful prosecution of this case is our principal witness, Boyd Frederick Douglas. He testified before the Grand Jury in January, 1971, and subsequently assumed a new identity and has been living under appropriate cover in Des Moines, Iowa. Inasmuch as he is a witness rather than an informant, the Department is primarily responsible for his welfare and his cover. We maintain liaison between the witness and the Department in order to insure that the Bureau's interests are properly looked after. The death of the informant's father in July, 1971, created a situation whereby the informant's identity and location could have been ascertained by irresponsible members of the press. Through the concerted efforts of the Omaha Office, the informant and his wife attended the funeral with no adverse effects. Assistant Attorney General Mardian, by letter dated 7-21-71, praised the high degree of proficiency of five Agents of the Omaha Office in protecting the identity of the witness.

The development of a highly placed informant, PH 1223-S, within the pro-Berrigan forces is also a significant accomplishment. This individual has gained the confidence of leaders in the Berrigan movement and is privy to information not available from any other source. The informant has furnished a wealth of information regarding fund raising and strategy and tactics planned by movement leaders to propagandize their position and to attempt to gain public support for the Berrigan cause. In the course of this coverage, the informant furnished information concerning plans of the group for action in the event parole was not granted to Philip and Daniel Berrigan on 7-28-71. He also furnished plans of the group to mount an attack on the Bureau of Prisons which culminated in a hunger-work strike at the Federal Correctional Institution, Danbury, Connecticut, on 8/6-7/71. This action resulted in the transfer of eleven inmates to the Medical Center for Federal Prisoners, Springfield, Missouri. We furnished plans of this proposed action to the Bureau of Prisons, and in a letter to the Attorney General dated 8-11-71, the Director of the Bureau of Prisons noted that the action of the inmates confirmed our intelligence reports received several weeks prior.

PH 1223-S also furnished information concerning the intention of the group to embarrass the administration by having Daniel Berrigan prepare the text for a Mass composed by musical conductor Leonard Bernstein. This Mass is to be part of the dedication ceremonies for the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D. C., and is to be performed on 9-9-71. The words prepared by Daniel Berrigan were to have been in Latin and were to follow an antiwar theme. The group anticipated the President and high ranking administration officials would applaud the work and subsequent publicity would be to the effect that they had applauded antiadministration views. This information was furnished the White House and, according to the news media, the President has declined to attend the ceremonies on 9-9-71.

PH 1223-S has also furnished information showing the Berrigan supporters are interested in obtaining classified material such as that publicized by Daniel Ellsberg in an effort to embarrass the Government. The individual who is to attempt to get these papers is Linda Shaw Finlay, an ardent supporter of the Berrigan cause. Her target is the Lyndon B. Johnson Library at the University of Texas, Austin, which is the repository for former President Johnson's papers. We have a separate espionage investigation underway regarding this situation.

ANTIWAR MOVEMENT

This Unit is responsible for the investigation of dissident protest groups in order that their potential threat to the internal security of the country can be assessed. This includes development of informant coverage and the dissemination of timely intelligence information, as well as possible violations of Federal laws.

The organizations concerned are the communist Socialist Workers Party (SWP), its youth group, the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), and the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC) which is controlled by the SWP/YSA. All three of these groups utilize the National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC) as a vehicle to project their antiwar message. The Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice (PCPJ), continuation group of the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NMC), also exercises considerable influence in the antiwar movement and is a target for infiltration by the Communist Party, USA (CP). The May Day Collective (MDC), organized by Rennie Davis, is a militant group which split from the PCPJ following the May, 1971, demonstrations in Washington, D. C. Also of considerable interest is the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW) which came into prominence during the Washington demonstrations. We have disseminated on a daily basis hundreds of reports and memoranda concerning the activities of these and other groups, as well as information regarding principal activists. This dissemination has been augmented by the preparation of several CINALs pertinent to specific demonstrations, conferences, or activities.

Of particular value has been our coverage of national conferences and conventions sponsored by various groups which are used to plan future antiwar activity and demonstrations. We have been able to cover these sessions most effectively and have furnished other interested Government agencies with advance information of their plans. Included in these conferences were the following:

2/19-21/71 --	National student antiwar conference, Washington, D. C., sponsored by SMC.
5/15/71 --	SMC National Steering Committee meeting.
6/25-27/71 --	PCPJ national conference, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

7/2-4/71 -- NPAC national antiwar convention, New York City.

8/8-15/71 -- SWP national convention, Oberlin, Ohio, which also included Student Activist Educational Conference of the YSA.

8/13-17/71 -- MDC national conference, Atlanta, Georgia, preceded by regional conferences in Washington, D. C., and Fayetteville, Arkansas.

With regard to the MDC national conference, our informant coverage led to the apprehension of three leaders of the New York MDC contingent by the New York City Police Department for possession of firearms. Our informant determined the exact location in a specific vehicle where a shotgun, 22 caliber rifle, and 357 Smith and Wesson revolver, all loaded, were recovered. In addition, in excess of 500 rounds of ammunition for these weapons were seized.

Our investigation of the Committee of Liaison with Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam (COLIFAM) produced significant intelligence information with regard to the exchange of letters between prisoners of war in North Vietnam and their families within the U.S. By letter dated 8-9-71, the Directorate of Special Investigations, U.S. Air Force, advised that this information was of "considerable assistance" in an intelligence collection program concerned with prisoners of war.

NEW LEFT GROUPS UNIT

In 1969, the Worker Student Alliance (WSA), Weatherman, and Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM) factions of SDS split into separate groups. Accomplishments concerning Weatherman are reported elsewhere in this survey. The RYM faction of SDS is now practically defunct. Currently, the largest faction of SDS is the WSA faction, which is dominated by the pro-Chinese Marxist-Leninist Progressive Labor Party (PLP).

Approximately twenty Bureau informants attended the SDS/WSA National Convention in Chicago, December 26-30, 1970. This convention was dominated by PLP controlled leadership; however, dissent was widespread, much of which was led by our informants. Since the last Inspection, this dissent has spread further and has resulted in additional factionalism within the SDS/WSA.

During the past winter, the SDS/WSA has continuously attempted to inject itself into labor disputes without success, due mainly to factionalism. The objective of the SDS/WSA is to build ties with workers inasmuch as in the old Marxist-Leninist tradition, they view the students-workers as the vanguard of the revolution. In this regard, the SDS/WSA set up a Summer Project with the twofold objective of a massive recruitment program and the fostering of a general strike, nationwide, through infiltration of industry and unions. We have been on top of this program from its inception and have kept all interested Government agencies advised of developments on a continuing basis. In addition, again largely due to factionalization, the SDS/WSA Summer Project program has not had significant success in any of its twenty-one target cities.

New Left Movement reports submitted quarterly by each field office have enabled us to furnish interested agencies timely and informative documents on the activities of the New Left movement. This is a substantial contribution to the objective that responsible Government officials be alerted concerning the nature and extent of this aspect of subversive activities and the threat it presents to our democratic society.

By conducting an intensive review of many New Left publications which range from the pornographic to the clearly revolutionary, we have determined the leadership of these publications; their subversive activities and whether or not they urge violence; and sources of funds. Since these publications are the voice of the New Left and are influencial in recruiting youth, pertinent factors concerning them are disseminated to interested officials and agencies. Since our review of these "underground" publications has revealed many of them frequently come into being and become defunct within a short time, we are alert to the birth of new publications by perusing various underground news service lists as well as other documents and books which report new publications in this field.

A library of research material on the New Left is maintained for use of Bureau officials in connection with approved speaking engagements before Government officials and responsible citizens. In this manner, we have assisted these Government officials and responsible citizens to more fully understand the subversive and anarchist manifestations of the New Left movement.

Through the key activist program, we have focused investigative attention on the leaders of the New Left movement with the aim of prosecuting these leaders under appropriate statutes, Federal or local, wherever possible. This program has proved successful in that we have been able to closely follow the activities of these individuals and furnish interested agencies and high Government officials with information concerning their subversive and agitational activities. Of particular note is the fact that more than half of the 73 individuals designated as key activists are subjects of some type of prosecutive action.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Section Chief W. A. Branigan
Espionage Section

The primary mission of this Section involves counterintelligence operations against Soviet-Bloc Intelligence Services (SBIS). Counterintelligence, by definition and in practice, is a reaction to initiative displayed by a hostile intelligence service. This factor largely inhibits bold and aggressive initiatives on our part and the major part of our efforts is spent in routine, programmatic, nonremunerative work and patient, painstaking analysis of information developed. Positive counterintelligence achievement in the final analysis depends on the ability to detect and exploit in a timely fashion circumstances which arise naturally--contriving, to the extent this is feasible, to anticipate, encourage, or modify circumstances to our own advantage or the disadvantage of the SBIS.

In this perspective, the accomplishments listed below are most noteworthy. These are highlighted by the current operation of four defectors-in-place and the identification of three "illegal" agents since the last inspection. From both a quantitative and qualitative viewpoint, these successes represent an extremely high level of accomplishment in these two vital areas.

In keeping with the Inspector's instructions, brevity will be stressed in the examples portrayed. Security and the "need-to-know" principle also requires limitation of detailed information on many cases discussed. These matters, however, are identified sufficiently so that any additional data desired may be obtained from the individual file. Accomplishments cited are restricted to the most significant and/or representative.

I. Defectors-in-Place (DIP)

The most valuable asset which counterintelligence can acquire is the recruitment of a Soviet-bloc official who is an active intelligence officer or who otherwise has access to intelligence information. Such a source can produce information of incalculable value not obtainable from any other source. Highest priority and emphasis is assigned to cases which have such potential. Although we have had success in this area in the past, at the time of the last inspection we had no DIP. Currently we are operating four sources in this category, which are briefly described below.

IRONCLAD is a sensitive, highly placed DIP who furnishes, on a continuing basis, a large volume of high level information concerning operations of Soviet Intelligence Services (SIS). He has identified hundreds of SIS officers and furnished information concerning approximately 250 intelligence operations. Some of his information involves penetrations of other Government agencies as well as substantial information which has been of high interest to the White House. The value of information he has furnished and has a potential to furnish is beyond estimate.

WINGTIP is a DIP who is in a position to furnish information concerning Polish intelligence activities. He was recently recruited and his potential is still being exploited.

KIELBASA is a DIP who is a Polish intelligence officer whose recruitment was recently effected. He is under continuing development.

SPINNAKER is a DIP in the Yugoslav field who has furnished information on Yugoslav intelligence activities pertaining to identities of intelligence agents, their sources and targets. Dissemination of pertinent information furnished by him has been made to interested U. S. agencies.

II. Double Agents

A double agent is an individual under Bureau control who has been recruited and given intelligence assignments by SBIS. Double agent development is given great emphasis since this is a primary method to obtain valuable information concerning hostile intelligence operations, targets, techniques and personnel. At the time of the last inspection, this Section listed 138 double agents, 296 potential double agents, and 49 inactive double agents. Figures for August 1, 1971, are 133, 291, and 47 for the respective categories. Apart from statistics, the most significant accomplishment lies in the quality of the double agent operations which has developed since the last inspection. A representative number of these situations are set forth below.

CHOWLINE is a double agent which began in 1958. Through the years this operation has grown steadily in significance and productivity. The source has been paid over $52,000 by the Soviets while passing carefully cleared material, some of which was deceptive in nature. A deception concept concerning nonexistent U. S. military capability has been accepted by the Soviets and their attempts to counteract this capability have reportedly caused them to commit $1.5 billion in their defense budget. Most significant developments were the identification of two Soviet illegal agents in the U. S. as a direct product of the CHOWLINE operation (see Palmetto and Ixora).

The SNOOD operation involves a Soviet agent who was uncovered through information received in 1962 from a DIP. We initiated interviews with this individual on a pretext of interest in the source of funds deposited by him which we knew to have originated with the Soviets. After extensive interviews source admitted his involvement as an agent for SIS and agreed to cooperate with the Bureau. During June, 1971, he met with a Soviet contact and through corroborative information from DIP, we know that Soviets still accept him as one of their most trusted and valuable U. S. agents.

BASELINE is a double agent operated against Hungarian Intelligence Services (HIS), who is reportedly considered to be the top Hungarian agent in the U. S. Although HIS has been most reluctant to have personal contact with this source in the U. S., we were able to induce such a meeting on January 28, 1971, in New York City and identified a Third Secretary of the Hungarian United Nations Mission. Informant has been told he will handle HIS agents in the U. S.

CANDY is a double agent operation directed against HIS on intermittent basis for 14 years. HIS interest was dormant from 1966 to 1970, when this operation was reactivated by HIS. HIS has attempted to have source meet with them abroad, but under our direction he has resisted this presure. We are still attempting to manipulate this operation to bring about intelligence meetings in the U. S.

In 1968 HIS, under cover of the East-West Exchange Program, dispatched a 29-year-old Hungarian national (LA5478-PSI) to the U. S. on an intelligence mission. This individual is now under our control. Under HIS instructions he was to seek permanent residence in this country to further his intelligence mission. This is being done under our control.

AQ 366-S is a double agent serving with U. S. Air Force in New Mexico. He has been operated against the GRU (Soviet Military Intelligence). He receives radio messages originating with GRU radio in Havana, Cuba. In June, 1971, he had a meet in Juarez, Mexico, and the Soviet principal was identified as an official from the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City. Considerable information has been developed in this case concerning Soviet capabilities and communications systems.

In three double agent operations in the U. S. - Mexican border area we have identified four Soviet officials assigned to Mexico City as intelligence officers. In addition, we have uncovered a Soviet illegal agent. (EP 628-S; EP 656-S; SA 888-S).

III. Soviet Illegal Operations

These operations are staffed by officers or agents of SIS who enter the U. S. and operate without any connection with the legal bases, i. e., the intelligence residencies staffed by intelligence personnel under cover of official position located at the Soviet Embassy and Mission to the United Nations. In view of the completely clandestine nature of these operations, they are the most difficult to detect. We have in the past achieved some success in detecting several illegal operations. Since the last inspection, three such agents have been identified in the cases outlined below.

PALMETTO is an investigation of an individual detected removing espionage material from a dead drop filled by the CHOWLINE source in March, 1971. This individual was successfully identified through intensive, discreet investigation as a Mexican national currently doing graduate work at a western university in the U. S. Intensive investigation is underway in this case to determine additional information concerning this individual's activities with a view to uncovering other Soviet agents in the U. S. whom he may be servicing.

In another outgrowth of the CHOWLINE case, we have identified the IXORA subject as a Soviet illegal agent. This individual is an Austrian national who entered the U. S. in 1968 as a permanent resident and resides and is employed in the New York City area. Identity of this person was furnished the CHOWLINE informant as an emergency contact to be made only in event a war is imminent. Intensive investigation is also underway in this case to determine the extent of this individual's activities and contacts.

In a double agent operation (referred to above), a Soviet illegal agent has been identified as a resident of Juarez, Mexico, who has been used in servicing Soviet agents in the U. S.

IV. Counterintelligence and Special Operations

In this category, on a highly selective basis we take initiative in actions which are designed to disrupt, deter or otherwise disadvantage the operations of SBIS. We employ our own resources and whenever feasible, those of other U. S. agencies. Brief examples of activity in this category since the last inspection are set forth.

A former Soviet exchange student in the U. S. reappeared as an official assigned to the Soviet United Nations Mission. During his previous visit in the U. S. he had recruited a fellow student, whom we had identified as a result of information furnished by a DIP. When the Soviet recontacted this American we were in a position to control the latter's actions. At our direction the double agent wrote a letter to the Soviet United Nations Ambassador complaining about the treatment he had received and the indiscretions committed by the Soviet. The Soviet has been reprimanded and there are indications that his assignment to the U. S. will be cut short.

A Soviet defector who formally operated as a KGB officer in the USSR was recently used by us to contact a Czech professor temporarily in the U. S. as an East-West exchange participant. The professor's wife is a Soviet national who was known to our defector source as an agent for the KGB in the Soviet Union. The Czech was suspected of being affiliated with Czech intelligence. An approach was made and although the Czech couple seriously considered the proposition for defection put to them, they finally decided against such action and returned to Czechoslovakia. During our contacts some information of low level intelligence significance was developed.

The Soviet Government is currently engaged in securing property in San Francisco to house the office and personnel of the Consulate General. Through conferences held with State Department we have been able to exert an influence on the choice of properties made available to the Soviets. As a result of our action it appears almost certain that the Soviets are settling on a property considered by us to offer the best advantage for counterintelligence coverage.

In late January, 1971, we furnished information to State Department and White House concerning activities of a very aggressive KGB officer in Washington, D. C., who was attempting to obtain equipment involved in a classified communications system used by White House and other agencies. We suggested to State that subject be declared persona nongrata and State, after securing concurrence of White House, decided instead to personally admonish a representative of the Soviet Embassy concerning these activities. This action resulted in curtailing the Soviet's intelligence activities and probably resulted in his early recall.

A Soviet attached to the staff of the new Consulate General in San Francisco came to our attention as a KGB officer who had formerly been stationed in China. He had been declared persona nongrata and expelled from Peking with some publicity. This information was furnished by us to a cooperative newspaper source in San Francisco and resulted in a newspaper article which repeated the charges. Considerable embarrassment was caused and long range curtailment of this Soviet's intelligence activities is hoped for.

V. Prosecutive Action

One objective of counterintelligence investigations is prosecution. Since most intelligence officers have diplomatic immunity, this objective is rarely attained.

A Soviet intelligence officer operating under cover of employment at the United Nations Secretariat has requested classified information from a double agent regarding the F-14 aircraft being manufactured by Grumman. The facts have been presented to the Department of Justice and Department of State and both have approved prosecutive action. The Soviet was scheduled for arrest during May, 1971, but this action was held in abeyance pending final approval of the White House, which had requested a temporary delay. Soviet has been on summer leave and recently returned to the U. S. We are currently seeking concurrence from the White House so that arrest may take place at the next meeting scheduled for 9/13/71.

VI. Dissemination of Significant Intelligence Data

One of the products of our counterintelligence operations is the development of intelligence data of interest to other U. S. agencies. The following are examples of significant data which has been disseminated on a high level since the last inspection.

1. Dissemination to National Security Agency regarding an unknown subject connected with that Agency who was reported to us as cooperating with the KGB.

2. Dissemination to Atomic Energy Commission concerning a high official of that Agency who was being cultivated by the Soviets for intelligence purposes.

3. Dissemination to State, CIA, and the White House of information we developed concerning the delivery to the Soviet Embassy on June 17, 1971, of a package containing a copy of the "Pentagon Papers."

4. Dissemination to White House, CIA, and State concerning an intelligence approach made by the Soviets to a member of the President's Science Advisory Committee.

5. Dissemination to the White House of information we developed concerning the receipt by Soviet intelligence of information concerning Dr. Kissinger's trip to China prior to the release of this information by the President. This information was obtained from an American agent of the KGB in Washington, D. C..

6. Dissemination on high level to White House and CIA concerning Soviet intelligence targets relating to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks then in progress.

7. Information in the CHOWLINE and PALMETTO cases has been disseminated to Dr. Kissinger and the Attorney General. Dr. Kissinger has commended the Director and the FBI in this matter and specifically requested that he be kept informed of any additional developments

VII. Soviet Information Collation System (SICS)

SICS is the system in which we have utilized automatic data processing equipment to record data concerning Soviet officials in the U. S. Since the last inspection, a continuing expansion has been made in this system and we are looking to the inclusion of Satellite personnel in the near future. This is a time consuming project which holds a tremendous potential, already partially realized, for reducing administrative work and making our overall investigative operations more efficient and successful. Detailed write-up is included in Section 5-Q of the inspection report.

VIII. Recovery

$9,288.76 has been claimed as a recovery in the SNOOD case. This is the amount paid Internal Revenue Service as tax on income belatedly reported by subject due to action by the Bureau.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

4-E

SECTION CHIEF G. C. MOORE
EXTREMIST INTELLIGENCE SECTION

The significant accomplishments of the Extremist Intelligence Section can be seen most clearly in the accomplishments through our investigative efforts as well as the accomplishments achieved through the extremist informants.

Since the last inspection we have supervised the "Newkill Special." This case involves unprovoked attack on two New York City (NYC) police officers, 5/21/71, by two Negro male assailants. Both officers were shot and killed. Prior to this shooting on 5/19/71 two NYC officers were machine gunned and seriously wounded as they attempted to stop a speeding car occupied by Negro males. Anonymous letters were received by news media in NYC claiming credit for these shootings.

The Director met with the President and the Attorney General regarding the killing of the two officers as this incident received nationwide publicity. The Director instructed an all-out effort be made to effect Bureau solution.

Intensive investigation has been conducted to identify assailants with investigation conducted abroad and in over 40 field offices. Over 2000 people have been interviewed. The Identification Division has compared the fingerprints of over 700 persons with latent evidence and the Laboratory Division has conducted about 400 separate examinations of ballistics and other type evidence in this case.

Since its inception, we have concentrated on members of the violence-prone Black Panther Party (BPP) as suspects. This has paid off since four persons were arrested in NYC on 6/5/71 while attempting an armed robbery. Two of the individuals arrested were Bureau fugitives. We had previously identified the two Bureau fugitives from fingerprints from material submitted by them to news media in May claiming credit for the murders. The two Bureau fugitives, Richard Moore and Edward Joseph, were BPP members who were reportedly in Algeria. A machine gun utilized in armed robbery and in possession of Moore was determined to be same weapon used in machine gunning of two NYC police officers on 5/19/71. Moore has been indicted by Queens County, New York, Grand Jury for attempted murder of the two officers. He and Joseph remain in custody of local officials.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

Our intense investigation has in some respects decimated the BPP in NYC. We have kept them on the defensive and in hiding. Our investigation and interview program has resulted in developing a witness who is an associate of the prime suspects in this case.

Based upon her testimony of acts of violence, she identified seven Panthers who participated in killing a Negro BPP leader in NYC. Of the seven, three had previously been arrested in the above-mentioned armed robbery 6/5/71. The remaining four became Bureau fugitives for Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution for murder.

On 8/7/71 a Panther informant of our Detroit Office under instructions to locate the four fugitives located Michael Dennis Hill, one of the four, who was accompanied by an associate. Based upon informant's report, Hill and Anthony Nicholas La Borde were arrested, both armed with firearms, and La Borde also had a live hand grenade in his possession. A Federal Grand Jury has indicted Hill and La Borde with possession of destructive device and La Borde also charged with harboring Hill.

Hill is reportedly the "trigger man" in shooting of two officers on 5/19/71 and our witness has stated Hill was extremely upset for his failure to actually kill the officers and is a likely suspect in killing the two officers two nights later on 5/21/71. Hill is described as the "hit man" of BPP and was the planner and "hit man" in armed robberies and acts of violence committed by BPP. La Borde was also indicted on armed robbery charges on 8/16/71 in NYC having been identified as the person who held up a bar during July, 1971.

Hill and La Borde are prime suspects in the killing on 5/21/71 and lineup is being arranged for our crime scene witnesses to view these two.

We have kept the White House and the Attorney General apprised of all pertinent developments in this case and on five occasions Mr. John D. Ehrlichman, Assistant to the President for Domestic Affairs, the White House, has advised the Director by letter of his appreciation of being kept fully informed on this case.

Through the investigative efforts of the field and the various Bureau programs, we have been able to follow closely the development and activity of the BPP which revealed as of June, 1971, a total membership of 710 in 39 branches located in 37 cities.

The Bureau's Black Nationalist Counterintelligence Program (COINTELPRO), which was in effect for several years, was discontinued 4/27/71. Prior to discontinuance, counterintelligence activity directed toward disruption of the BPP was carried out at an accelerated rate taking advantage of and exploiting any appropriate situation. Emphasis was placed on creating distrust between Huey P. Newton, BPP Minister of Defense, and Eldridge Cleaver, BPP Minister of Information, a fugitive in Algeria. These efforts resulted in a break between Newton and Cleaver on 2/26/71 which soon grew into an irreconcilable split and a name-calling contest between the two of them. Through our mass media program, we disseminated publicity concerning the split within the party as well as the fact that Newton lived in a $650-a-month apartment while rank and file Panthers went hungry.

The publicity concerning the internal factionalism as well as Newton's high living definitely served to discredit the BPP and caused further factionalism. The financial supporters were disenchanted bringing to a halt the flow of donations into the organization. The resulting strain added to the paranoia of Newton causing him to create complete chaos within BPP national headquarters. Newton, in an effort to justify his position and to criticize Cleaver and his dissident followers, claimed that Cleaver and his appetite for violence were the root of all of the BPP problems in the recent past. Newton maintained the BPP was really nonviolent but was led astray by Cleaver and that he, Newton, will now return the organization to a position of nonviolence and community work.

In summation, our COINTELPRO efforts split the BPP, cut off their supplies of outside funds and created chaos within.

As a result of the ever increasing information being reported by our informants regarding the acquisition of weapons by black extremist groups, on 5/17/71 an airtel was sent to all SACs setting forth instructions regarding the handling of such information. This airtel sets out in detail the possible gun law violations under the National Firearms Act, State Firearms Control Act and the unlawful possession or receipt of firearms. The field was instructed that we have secondary investigative jurisdiction in such matters and that information developed by our informant coverage regarding possible gun law violations should be handled by us and vigorously pursued looking to the ultimate prosecution of the black extremists involved.

The Black Afro Militant Movement (BAMM) was organized in the Miami Division in the early part of 1970. The leader of this group was Alfred Dwight Amos Featherstone, an articulate black extremist and an admitted communist who had in the past visited Fidel Castro in Cuba. Through the outstanding informant coverage developed by the Miami Office and the aggressive investigative techniques used, this dangerous extremist organization has been completely destroyed and is no longer a factor in the extremist activities in the Miami area. Our informant coverage developed information regarding the participation by BAMM leaders and members in fire bombings in the Miami area including a bombing at the University of Miami. Through this coverage and other investigations an excellent criminal case was developed regarding the teaching and demonstrating of explosive devices by BAMM leaders. In December, 1970, Federal Grand Jury in Miami, Florida, rendered indictment charging Featherstone and two other BAMM leaders with violation of the new antiriot laws. All three subjects have been found guilty in Federal court Miami. Featherstone and Charles Riley, Jr., another BAMM leader, have been sentenced to the custody of the Attorney General for periods of four and two and a half years respectively. The third subject, after testifying for the Federal Government, was placed on probation.

Earlier this year, one of our informants being operated by the Richmond Office reported on a conspiracy by leaders of the Washington, D. C., Chapter of the BPP and leaders of the Richmond Information Center (RIC), an affiliate of the BPP, to steal and transport weapons from Richmond, Virginia, to Washington, D. C. This informant reported on the theft of such weapons in Richmond and their subsequent illegal transportation to Washington, D. C., by this group.

As a result of this information developed and other investigation, two of the BPP leaders in Washington and three RIC leaders in Richmond, Virginia, were subsequently indicted by a Federal Grand Jury.

Our informant testified in Federal court as the principal Government witness resulting in the conviction of the two Washington, D. C., leaders and two of the RIC leaders. The trial for the fifth individual involved is scheduled for 8/20/71 in Richmond. The sentencing of the convicted leaders is scheduled in the near future.

As a result of the conviction obtained based on the excellent information furnished by our informant, the RIC has been completely destroyed and conviction of the two Washington BPP leaders has been highly significant in curtailing the activity of the Washington, D. C., BPP Chapter.

The continued operation and development of extremist informants has resulted in a steady flow of valuable intelligence information, which information has brought about the apprehension of badly wanted extremist fugitives, confiscation of explosives and firearms in possession of extremists, the prevention of violence and the saving of lives. In addition, these informants have been responsible for bringing about the arrest of 630 individuals since the last inspection, 145 of these individuals were Bureau fugitives, as well as being responsible for the recovery of $327,760.53.

Concerning the development of information as to black extremist activities outside the United States effecting the United States, we have placed an informant in Canada under the direction of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. This operation is commented on in detail in the extremist informant write-up.

Some of the concrete examples of our informant and investigative accomplishments can be seen in the following:

Ghetto informants in June, 1971, developed information concerning the motive and circumstances leading up to an unsuccessful attempted fire bombing of a Jackson, Mississippi, police vehicle; identified a local subject involved in assault and theft of a revolver of a Cincinnati, Ohio, police officer, which information resulted in the arrest of the subject by the police department; furnished information which was instrumental in arranging for the surrender to FBI Special Agents of a 16-year-old male who was badly wanted by the Buffalo Police Department in connection with a shooting incident.

Omaha informants advised of the location of several weapons which were owned by members of the Black Revolutionary Party in Omaha and which were subsequently seized by the Omaha Police Department; Houston informants furnished information which was the basis of a raid by the Houston Police Department on the headquarters of the Peoples Party II, which resulted in the arrest of nine individuals, eight of whom were charged with burglary and firearms theft, and the recovery of numerous weapons.

Detroit extremist informants advised concerning a BPP member who was involved in a holdup killing in Detroit. He also advised that this individual was carrying the same pistol used in the killing, which enabled the Detroit police to arrest the BPP member, recover the pistol and determine that this weapon was used in the killing referred to above.

A Tampa informant furnished information concerning identity of two Negro males who placed a fire bomb in a garage in Tampa, Florida.

A Miami ghetto informant was instrumental in obtaining advance information concerning problems in a local high school. It is noted there was a walkout by students at this high school and as a result several Negro students were arrested. A Washington Field informant obtained information concerning Stokely Carmichael's trip to the United States from Africa and this information was verified by the New York Division.

Detroit informant provided information which saved two lives. This informant, who was a member of the BPP, was instrumental in saving the lives of two BPP members who were being disciplined by the BPP and his information when furnished to local police was responsible for arrest of seven BPP members who were charged with kidnaping and assault to do bodily harm less than murder.

A Memphis informant furnished information which prevented a shootout between members of the BPP chapter and the Memphis Police Department.

Extremist intelligence information gathered through our informants and investigations makes up a major portion of the Bureau's sophisticated document which is disseminated to the White House and other high-level Government agencies. This document captioned "FBI Summary of Extremist Activities" furnishes the White House and other agencies with a digest of the extremist problem in the United States.

The quality of our informants can also be judged by the fact that since the last inspection 16 Special Agents have been recommended for either incentive awards or letters of commendation for their work in developing and handling these informants. In addition, 11 extremist informants were given bonus awards for valuable information furnished and services rendered.

In relating to the accomplishments of the Extremist Intelligence Section, comment must be made concerning the contributions regularly being made by the Inspection Division during their analysis of extremist matters in the various field divisions. In addition to acting upon information furnished to them by this Section, the Inspection Staff, through their on-the-spot review of extremist matters in the field, are often able to detect weaknesses not apparent at the Seat of Government and offer constructive assistance to the office involved in strengthening their operation.

The information furnished in the Inspection reports is used by this Section to do a comprehensive analysis of every field office operation and to furnish the results of the analysis to the field divisions by communications captioned "Administrative Review." These reviews have been most helpful in strengthening the various field office operations.

Since the last inspection, informant coverage has improved in the Boston, Charlotte, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Newark and New Haven field divisions and this improvement can be attributed in part to the Inspector's analysis of the above operations.

SPECIAL COORDINATION UNIT

FBI liaison Agents stationed abroad in 17 foreign posts have facilitated and encouraged the prompt handling by foreign agencies of FBI requests for investigation in the countries covered by those agencies. The productivity of this liaison during the first six months of 1971 was demonstrated by the location in those countries of 779 FBI fugitives, 35 fugitives wanted by other agencies, and 573 Selective Service delinquents for a total of 1,387 persons wanted in the U. S. Eighty-eight automobiles, stolen in the U. S., were recovered abroad during the same six months and the total estimated value of stolen property and funds recovered abroad was $596,442.

Requests for U. S. information and investigations within the U. S. are handled on a reciprocal basis for the foreign agencies with which we are in contact. This cooperation has played a large part in maintaining our dominant position in international police work and has encouraged a spirit of cooperation between the countries concerned. During the first seven months in 1971, we handled a total of 1,773 investigations under our Foreign Police Cooperation program. In one of these cases initiated as an FPC matter but transformed into an Interstate Transportation of Stolen Property case, New York City Agents were successful in locating the famous painting by El Greco "La Asuncion de la Virgen," which had been stolen in Spain in 1936 and brought into the U. S. in 1968 through Mexico. This painting, a Spanish national art treasure, is estimated as worth a minimum of one million dollars and its location has received exceptionally wide publicity in Spain and resulted in expressions of gratitude to our Legal Attache for FBI cooperation.

The expansion of our operations abroad was undertaken at the instruction of the President for the specific purpose of developing high-level political intelligence and each such item submitted is identified by the code word "HILEV." After a slow start in January, when the new offices were just getting underway, the production of HILEV items has increased to the point that during July, 1971, 73 such items were submitted of which 53 or 72.6% were actually disseminated to Dr. Kissinger and the Attorney General. Through August 17, 1971, a total of 245 items have been so disseminated. By letter March 3, 1971, Dr. Kissinger, referring to our work, stated "it is gratifying that efforts thus far have been so fruitful" and "your contributions in the foreign area are deeply appreciated." In June, 1971, the President informed the Director that he desired that we again expand our foreign liaison in view of the valuable information which had been procured by the Bureau in its operations abroad.

Agents of the Unit receive telephone calls from the other agencies in the Executive Branch who need information or have problems they wish to discuss with the FBI. Some of these are referred to the interested division but every effort is made to resolve them without unnecessarily involving Bureau officials. As an example, in May, 1971, we received an Army proposal for the checking of all fingerprints submitted by applicants for enlistment or induction into the Armed Forces. Special Agent Schwartz immediately discussed this proposal with the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Security Policy and a Special Assistant to the Under Secretary of the Army and was able to convince these officials that no change in the present procedures was necessary or desirable. As a result of the efforts of Special Agent Schwartz, the Bureau was saved a large volume of fingerprint classification and searching, and he was commended by the Director for his successful handling of this proposal.

CUBAN UNIT

This Unit has responsibility for neutralizing Cuban intelligence and subversive Puerto Rican independence activities against the United States. The Cuban Mission to the United Nations (CMUN), New York City, is the focal point for Cuban spying operations, but Puerto Rican terroristic endeavors are carried out by several groups, some being strictly local San Juan operations and others, under Cuban direction, carrying out incendiary bombings and acts of sabotage in the New York City area, as well as in Puerto Rico.

Cuban Intelligence Matters

We currently have 11 active, 21 potential and one inactive double agents in the Cuban intelligence field. Through a concerted effort mounted against the CMUN in February, 1970, we had developed 24 DESECO-type sources at the time of the last inspection. Since that date, 19 other similar sources have been cultivated, and each is being used in some capacity on a continuing or intermittent basis in our efforts to establish blanket coverage of the known intelligence officials at the CMUN (9 out of a 15 man complement) and to develop a defector-in-place there.

Recently we have developed documentary proof that an Attache at the CMUN is illegally purchasing television cameras in violation of United States regulations, and State Department is considering persona non grata action based on this data. One of our sources has obtained the repair contract for CMUN automobiles which assures us continuing access to them.

In March, 1971, the Director's approval was obtained to carry out a concerted defection effort against a CMUN Second Secretary, using a Special Agent of the New York Office who has a Latin American background and who has gained the complete confidence of the Cuban intelligence official through his facility with the Spanish language and his finesse in posing as a Washington, D. C., businessman who is looking ahead to the time when United States will reestablish trade relations with Cuba. State Department is preparing back-up material for this operation. The White House has been offered this arrangement as a vehicle to feed disinformation to the Cuban Government, and it has responded with enthusiasm that serious consideration is being given to use of this communication channel.

In other positive moves we have arranged for a friendly newspaperman, who writes for Spanish-language newspapers in New York City, to prepare feature articles on Cuban defectors who have settled happily in the United States. In conjunction with State Department, we received concurrence of Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations to bar two strong-arm-type Cuban intelligence officials from United States territory even though neither had ever been in the United States or performed any known acts of violence against United States property or citizens. Mr. U Thant pointed out that this was a landmark action, as the United States had never before presented a case which warranted entry denials in the history of the United Nations.

Our around-the-clock coverage of Cuban intelligence activities has allowed us to identify, with a minimum of effort, the various extremist, New Left and subversive Puerto Rican independence leaders who maintain contact with the CMUN. Two valuable double agents in the Miami area have gained the complete confidence of a top Cuban collaborator based in New York City, and they are able to provide full details concerning Cuban Government military and civilian targets in the Miami area. One of these double agents is being groomed to make clandestine trips to New York City, and it is anticipated that we will receive valuable data concerning other Cuban Government targets when these trips materialize.

The field offices responsible for covering Cuban intelligence activities have consistently taken an imaginative approach to the problem, and supervisory personnel in the field and at the Seat of Government consistently strive to insure that all available tools are furnished the investigating Agents.

Subversive Puerto Rican Independence Matters

The terroristic Puerto Rican proindependence movement, responsible for over 230 incendiary bombings in Puerto Rico and over 40 in the New York City area since 1967, is a very real menace to major United States installations and to the security of Puerto Rico, as well as to the United States. While only a small minority of persons desiring independence for Puerto Rico is involved, we now have approximately 1,000 individuals marked for special handling in case of a national emergency, and a majority of these have been associated in some way with violent acts against public or private property.

The largest of the extremist Puerto Rican independence groups is the Puerto Rican Independence Movement (MPIPR), while others practicing violence are the Puerto Rican Socialist Workers Party (PSO), Armed Revolutionary Independence Movement (MIRA), Armed Commandos for Liberation (CAL), and the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico (NPPR), the oldest of the revolutionary groups. MIRA and CAL, in particular, are dominated by native Puerto Ricans who had many years of sabotage training in Cuba, returned surreptitiously to Puerto Rico and led the wave of major explosions which heavily damaged United States installations in metropolitan Puerto Rican areas. Property loss resulting from such acts of violence since 1967 has been estimated at over $15 million with an economic loss of over $100 million.

In addition to the previous apprehension of Filiberto Ojeda Rios, Cuban espionage agent and leader of several major bombing expeditions, the FBI was instrumental in the arrest by Police of Puerto Rico (POPR) of Narciso Rabell Martinez and Roberto Jose Todd Pagan, two other long-time espionage agents with extensive sabotage training in Cuba. Following the deaths of two police officials and an ROTC cadet during a riot in March, 1971, at the University of Puerto Rico, one of our informants was able to identify and bring about the arrest of a Federation of University Students for Independence (FUPI) leader involved in the killings. FUPI is a radical college student group which advocates violence in bringing about independence for Puerto Rico.

Our sources in the Puerto Rican independence field have given us information concerning subversives traveling between Puerto Rico and New York City to transport incendiary devices for use in acts of sabotage. Also a close rapport has been established between POPR and our San Juan Office in recent months. The resulting arrests and seizure of explosives, as well as intelligence material, have slowed down the acts of violence noticeably during the first seven months of 1971.

We are quite apprehensive that the National Conference of Governors has been scheduled for September 12-15, 1971, at San Juan. Realizing the volatile nature of the Puerto Rican independence movement, we have directed an airtel to all offices pointing up the powder keg situation and asking that every effort be made to obtain advance information concerning planned acts of violence to be carried out against participating officials. We are watching this situation closely and are prepared to give the POPR all logical assistance in helping to curtail any such plans.

MIDDLE AND SOUTH AMERICAN UNIT

This Unit is primarily responsible for the overall supervision and direction of the FBI's activities relating to countries in the Western Hemisphere commonly referred to as the Latin American nations. Such activities involve Espionage, Internal Security, Registration Act, Neutrality Matters and the collection and dissemination of foreign intelligence data. In addition, the Unit handles anti-Castro activities, pro-Castro organizations and individuals, Cuban Security Index matters and cases and Cuban travel, immigrant and refugee matters. The Unit is also responsible for the supervision of cases involving Spanish American and other ethnic groups.

The President and other policy makers have indicated a continuing interest in political intelligence information from areas in South and Central America and the Carribean. The critical need for such data from these areas, which are in constant political turmoil, prompted us to augument our office in Buenos Aires and to establish new offices in La Paz, Bolivia; Managua, Nicaragua; and Caracas, Venezuela. These offices coupled with our offices in Mexico and Buenos Aires give us representation in the areas from which political intelligence data is urgently needed. To further develop such information, we have established sensitive coverage in Panamanian and Chilean fields.

We have on a continuing basis been able to provide the President and other responsible officials with information of the type needed. With increasing frequency our Legal Attaches have been able to provide high level intelligence information which has been given exclusively to the White House and the Attorney General. One such item, for example, provided by the Legal Attache in La Paz on 5/20/71 and disseminated on the same date to the White House and the Attorney General dealt with plans of the Bolivian Government to request the withdrawal of the Peace Corps from that country. Subsequently on 5/22/71, the Bolivian Government did request the withdrawal of this group from the country. A representative of the National Security Council commented favorably concerning this data and the Legal Attache was commended by the Director for developing the source who was able to produce this type of information.

The Unit continues to be successful in thwarting the plans of militant anti-Castro groups which have sought to infiltrate Cuba and to attack ships and property of foreign nations engaged in trade with Cuba. Successful development of key informants who have infiltrated anti-Castro groups under Bureau direction has enabled the Bureau to keep abreast of their activities. Cuban exile activities are embarrassing to the U. S. Government and could lead to a major confrontation between the U. S. and the Soviet Union which has assumed the role of Cuba's protector. An example of our success in this area was the arrest by appropriate authorities of four members of Alpha 66, militant anti-Castro group, on 7/11/71 and the seizure of machine guns, ammunition, explosives, hand grenades, other weapons and a boat. Seizure of this material has hurt Alpha 66's capability to conduct raids on Cuba. Action taken in this instance was based on data furnished by FBI informant.

CHINESE UNIT 4-E

During February, 1971, we identified Robert Moling Teng (65-73910) as the individual reported by Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) as having had clandestine contact with a Chinese communist (Chicom) intelligence officer in Ottawa, Canada, on 2/2/71. Teng has outstanding credentials as a former Chinese Nationalist diplomat and a former United States Government employee. His background makes him an ideal type for covert use by the Chinese Communist Intelligence Service. Since February, 1971, Teng has attempted to gain employment on the White House staff, with State Department, with Department of Justice, and with a contractor handling work for National Aeronautics and Space Administration. We learned of these efforts through a sensitive source and were able to alert responsible officials concerning Teng.

In July, 1971, with Director's approval, a desk-level conference regarding Chicom matters was held at the Bureau with our RCMP counterparts. The conference was most rewarding and informative and the results were furnished to the Director, who instructed that a memorandum, based on results of the conference, be prepared for Dr. Kissinger at the White House. This memorandum was sent to Dr. Kissinger, who replied with a personal letter of thanks to the Director. Dr. Kissinger noted that the Bureau's timely coverage of these matters is most important, and he requested to be further advised of these developments as they occur.

An analysis of our existing method of handling cases on Chinese seaman deserters was made during February and March, 1971. This study resulted in a recommendation, approved, to streamline handling of these matters. Annual savings of $16,160 realized from this new procedure (see Bureau letter to Albany dated 3/22/71 captioned "Chinese Seamen Deserting in the U. S., IS - CH," 105-129735).

In view of the recent increase in the number of contact cases growing out of the establishment of a Chicom Embassy at Ottawa, Canada, it was recommended and approved that Legat, Ottawa, submit communications in unknown subject contact cases in a manner which would allow prompt relay to appropriate field offices inasmuch as identification of unknown subjects is of extreme importance at the outset.

4-E

In view of the increase in the number of contact cases mentioned above, Legat, Ottawa, has been requested to devise a form he can utilize in furnishing pertinent information to the Bureau. The present manner of submission of this data does cause some administrative problems here.

During August, 1971, one of our sources began a trip scheduled to last almost three weeks during which he will contact a number of pro-Chicom individuals in the United States and Canada and will culminate in an effort to establish contact with Chicom intelligence officers in Ottawa. Travel to Canada is with the concurrence of RCMP, and RCMP will provide coverage in order that we can evaluate the results of the source's efforts.

During the last three months, two other sources being directed against the Chicoms traveled to Hong Kong where they were scheduled to meet with their Chicom contacts.

Another source, who is under Bureau direction and who is employed at the United Nations (UN), is now in Red China on home leave. This travel was made at no cost to the Bureau and when debriefed, it is expected that this source will be able to provide us with up-to-date information regarding conditions in Red China and possibly valuable political intelligence.

During July, 1971, Paul Lin, described by RCMP as the foremost Chicom agent of influence in Canada, visited Cambridge, Massachusetts, to consult with Harvard University officials. His schedule also called for a meeting with Senator Kennedy who has exhibited a keen interest in U. S. relations with Red China. One of our sources was able to maintain personal contact with Lin during this visit, and Lin has asked the source to carry tasks for him. It should be noted that RCMP has described Lin as the person most likely to be involved in any future discussions in the United States relating to Chicom efforts to ensure entry into the UN.

Israeli and Middle East Investigations

Information from these investigations continues to be of extreme interest to the White House, the Secretary of State, and high-level officials within the intelligence community. We have continued to furnish information from our sensitive coverage in the Israeli field under a program of dissemination which has been assigned the security designation of "SCOPE." "SCOPE" information is disseminated only to select individuals at the White House and Department of State and to a previously cleared chain of command within agencies of the intelligence community. Data primarily relates to attempts by officials of the Israeli Government to obtain favorable reaction and support within United States Government circles for continued support of the Israeli Government politically and economically, as well as affording military equipment. The personalities involved in these dealings with Israeli officials have included prominent members of the United States Congress, as well as individuals in the Executive Branch. With regard to the information we have furnished, favorable comment has been received from Dr. Henry A. Kissinger at the White House, the Secretary of State and other dignitaries within the intelligence community relative to its timeliness and value in formulating United States Government policy and keeping abreast of the continuing tense situation in the Middle East.

This Unit has the supervisory responsibility for extremely sensitive operations undertaken in cooperation with the National Security Agency designed to penetrate diplomatic communications of foreign governments. We are currently conducting six such operations, all of which are most successful and responsive to high national priority requirements in the production of cryptanalytic and intelligence data. Two of the above-described operations were accomplished since January, 1971.

In view of the sensitivity of these particular operations, it is suggested that I or my Number One Man be consulted for details.

Investigation of Unauthorized Disclosure of Classified Information to "The New York Times: by Daniel Ellsberg

On June 15, 1971, the Attorney General requested the FBI conduct all necessary investigation into the publication of classified information by "The New York Times." Our continuing investigation on a "special" basis into this matter has, from its inception, identified Daniel Ellsberg, Senior Research Associate, Center of International Studies, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts, as being the principal suspect in this matter. Investigation has revealed that Ellsberg had access to the material involved while employed at Rand Corporation, Santa Monica, California; reproduced classified documents in Los Angeles, California, in October, 1969; and subsequently made copies of this material available to various members of Congress who failed to make the data public. Strong circumstantial evidence has been developed indicating that in March, 1971, he made copies of the information available to representatives of "The New York Times" for reproduction.

On June 28, 1971, a Federal Grand Jury at Los Angeles returned a two-count indictment charging Ellsberg with violation of Section 793 (E) of the Espionage Statute in that he unlawfully retained classified documents and failed to deliver them to appropriate Government officials. He was also charged with violation of Section 641 of the Theft of Government Property Statute in that he converted to his own use certain documents having a value of excess of $100.

Investigation revealed that Anthony Russo, former employee at Rand Corporation and associate of Ellsberg, assisted Ellsberg in the reproduction of documents in October, 1969. He was immunized from prosecution and subsequently refused to testify before a Federal Grand Jury. As a result, he was held in contempt and was committed to jail on 8/16/71 until such time as he purges himself by testifying.

Considerable evidence has been developed indicating employees of "The New York Times" have also violated Section 793(E) of the Espionage Statute in regard to their unauthorized possession of classified information and refusal to deliver the information to appropriate officials of the United States Government upon demand.

The summary of facts in the Ellsberg matter, as stated above, derived from a mass of details uncovered by extensive investigation handled on a "special" basis in four of the Bureau's major offices and represents lesser degrees of investigative activity in virtually every Bureau continental office, as well as several Legal Attaches. The Unit has successfully coped with the supervisory responsibilities of this investigation to date and it's servicing of the numerous inquiries in this matter has contributed to the Bureau's stature in the eyes of the highest levels of the Executive Branch who have evidenced concern in the overall problem of the leak of classified information to unauthorized persons. Ramifications of the Ellsberg investigation could foreseeably touch every level of Government operation in view of the necessary revisions in the handling of classified data pointed up as being required because of shortcomings uncovered in this investigation. The need to uncover such shortcomings and to uncover any indication of a concentrated conspiracy to subvert the national security by violation of classification rules continues to be a matter of considerable concern in our investigation of Ellsberg and shares equally with the Unit's recognized responsibility for overseeing the investigation looking toward successful prosecution of Daniel Ellsberg and others involved in this matter.

SECURITY INDEX PROGRAM
BASIC REVOLUTIONARY ORGANIZATIONS 4-H

BACKGROUND AND DATE OF INCEPTION

Studies pertaining to the handling of individuals who in time of an emergency would represent a potential threat to the national security began prior to World War II. The actual program began in June, 1940, and dealt mainly with lists of individuals considered for detention in the event of a threat to the national security.

SCOPE AND DESIRED OBJECTIVES

This program is field-wide in scope. The goal of the Security Index (SI) Program is the identification of individuals who because of their membership and activity and/or association with subversive organizations are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country. The program includes the collection of sufficient information relating to the activities of such individuals to justify their apprehension and detention in the event of a national emergency. Another goal of the SI is to maintain it in a current status in the event immediate implementation is necessary to minimize possibilities of espionage, sabotage and subversion. The SI is broken down into three Priority groupings, the cards being tabbed either Priority I, II or III in accordance with the relative factor of dangerousness. Most dangerous individuals are tabbed Priority I.

POSITIVE RESULTS ACHIEVED SINCE LAST INSPECTION

By way of background, in February, 1969, as a matter of temporary expediency, the Executives Conference approved a moratorium on certain Security Matter - Communist investigations and periodic report writing in Priority II and Priority III Security Index cases; moratorium later extended to January 1, 1971. By memorandum October 29, 1970, from the Executives Conference to Mr. Tolson, approved by the Director, the moratorium was lifted. At the time there were approximately 10,690 individuals on the SI who were of the Priority II and III types. Virtually no investigation had been conducted regarding approximately 7,000 of these individuals since the imposition of the moratorium in February, 1969. Many of these persons had changed residence and/or employment and their whereabouts were unknown. It can thus be seen that the lifting of the moratorium was an aggressive, timely and precise step toward fulfilling our current responsibilities, especially in knowing the whereabouts of these individuals. Implementation was directed by airtel November 3, 1970, to all offices, and in doing so we took a realistic step in permitting the field to stagger the reopening of these cases so that they would be spread out over the period November 3, 1970, to June 30, 1971. This was considered essential in view of our approximation that it would be necessary to reopen about 7,000 of the Priority II and III types. Our experience in the nine months since moratorium was lifted has demonstrated the wisdom of the lifting of the moratorium as it was found that many of these subjects had changed residence and/or employment, thus necessitating substantial investigation to determine new whereabouts. There are presently pending a number of these cases for the precise purpose of determining whereabouts.

EXTENT AND NATURE OF CURRENT SUPERVISION

Responsibility for administrative handling of the SI rests with the Special Records Unit of the Research Section. Responsibility for individual cases rests with appropriate supervisory personnel. I personally follow this matter closely to insure it is current and that necessary changes are made where desirable. This program receives constant supervision.

JUSTIFICATION FOR CONTINUANCE

This is a major internal security program based upon Title II of the Internal Security Act of 1950 and is to be implemented in the event of a national emergency to minimize acts of espionage, sabotage and subversion.

FREQUENCY OF EVALUATION

The SI Program is constantly being re-evaluated. The most recent justification is contained in memorandum from R. D. Cotter to Mr. C. D. Brennan dated January 12, 1971.

BACKGROUND, DATE OF INCEPTION AND DESIRED OBJECTIVES

This program was initiated in September, 1964, for the purpose of counteracting and neutralizing white extremist organizations, leaders and adherents. During period January, February, and March of 1971, there were 17 field offices involved in this program and as specific situations arose, other divisions participated.

THE UNITED KLANS OF AMERICA, INC., (UKA)

Under the leadership of John Paul Rogers, Grand Dragon, Realm of Florida, the UKA in that area has become increasingly aggressive in recent months and has been afforded generally favorable coverage by the news media in Florida. In addition, Rogers has been infuriated by recent interviews of Klansmen by the FBI and has been increasingly vehement in his verbal attacks against FBI Agents. As a result, Rogers has been considered a primary subject for counterintelligence activity. Tampa has instructed its informants to discredit Rogers wherever possible without creating suspicion.

John Paul Rogers above has also recently devoted practically all of his energy to the UKA to the exclusion of his wife and job, having hired a retired barber to handle most of his business; yet he purchased a $19,000 home. Tampa is seeking ways to create suspicion of Rogers by other Klansmen.

Imperial Wizard, Robert M. Shelton of the UKA has for some time been attempting, without success, to purchase polygraph machines in order to "weed out FBI informants." Chicago, with Bureau authority, interviewed Walter Van De Werkin, past president of the American Society of Polygraph Examiners, in an effort to ascertain who we should logically contact in the polygraph field to prevent Shelton and the UKA from purchasing this machine. Interview, which was handled in a discreet manner and in complete confidence, revealed that we should not expand this endeavor further at this time due to the large number of individuals and companies involved. In the event we learn of a specific firm or individual the UKA desires to contact for this purpose, further consideration will be given to this matter.

During March, 1971, Washington Field Office was authorized to interview Robert J. Lee, admitted National Socialist White People's Party (NSWPP) official allegedly involved in raid on Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam to cast suspicion on Jesse Clayborn Stephens, self-styled east coast coordinator for Minutemen and to disrupt cooperative relationship between respective organizations and effect possible defection of Lee. Interview appeared to be successful in that rapport was established with Lee which may be beneficial in the future. Lee volunteered information concerning NSWPP matters not previously known to the Bureau and indicated he would be receptive for further contacts. It is felt this matter has long range potential.

CURRENT STATUS OF PROGRAM

While counterintelligence of Klan and white hate groups is an ongoing thing all counterintelligence programs as such which were operated by this division were discontinued by airtel to all field offices 4/27/71. In exceptional instances where counterintelligence action appears warranted, recommendations are now submitted to the Bureau under the individual case caption to which it pertains. These recommendations are then considered on an individual basis.

THUMBNAIL SKETCH PROGRAM 4-H

This program was initiated and authorized by SAC Letter 53-72 (J) dated October 27, 1953, to insure that the field is using current characterizations of subversive organizations and to provide uniformity in characterizing such organizations. Those characterizations deemed to be of field-wide interest are now to be furnished to the field by letter to all offices on an annual basis rather than by SAC Letter as was formerly the practice, in accordance with approval of suggestion in memorandum J. J. Casper to Mr. Mohr dated December 7, 1970.

The background and value of this program is the same as it was at the time of last inspection. Since June 1, 1971, we have been receiving and processing the annual submission of thumbnail sketches. To date thumbnail sketches on 387 separate organizations have been received and these are being processed by appropriate supervisory personnel at the Bureau. Those of field-wide interest, of which there are 70 at this time, will be furnished to the field by letter to all offices. Others are being returned to submitting field offices as they are approved. This program was last reviewed and analyzed and its continuance approved by memorandum R. L. Shackelford to Mr. C. D. Brennan dated October 12, 1970. Annual approval will again be requested when the current project is completed.

SECURITY INFORMANT PROGRAM
BASIC REVOLUTIONARY AND NEW LEFT ORGANIZATIONS

At the time of the last inspection in January, 1971, the Internal Security Section handled informants only in the basic revolutionary organizations and related groups. There was no Security Informant Unit as such, informants being handled on subversive organization desks. On June 16, 1971, a Security Informant Unit was formed and this Unit now handles informants in the New Left field as well as in basic revolutionary organizations and related groups.

At last inspection there were 264 member informants in the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA); at present there are 226, a decrease of 38. At last inspection there were 31 member informants in the Socialist Workers Party (SWP); at present there are 48, an increase of 17. As of July 31, 1971, date of latest monthly tabulation, the Security Informant Unit handled a total of 795 security informants and 671 potential security informants, a total of 1,466. This includes 630 informant cases transferred from the New Left Section to the Security Informant Unit in the Internal Security Section on June 16, 1971.

There has been continuing recognition of the fact there must be no letdown in maintaining adequate informant coverage. However, economy has increasingly become a primary factor. In line with the President's message on August 15, 1971, tightening economic controls and our continuing efforts to hold down expenditures, the field is being instructed by letter to all offices to cut down payments to security and extremist informants and sources by five percent. To assure uniformity and fairness in the application of this cutback throughout the field, each office was instructed to follow this formula: Total expenditures for all such informants and sources for the six month period ending July 31, 1971; reduce this total by five percent; divide the resulting figure by six (months). The resulting figure is to be the guideline for each office.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
8/19/71
HEM:cb
4-H

This instruction is not a mandate to reduce payments across the board on all informants and sources. Offices are to evaluate expenditures within the determined guideline amount and adjust individual payments accordingly.

These instructions do not mean the Bureau will cease authorizing payments where new informants are developed and fully justified. It is incumbent on all offices to evaluate these matters within the guideline figure. There are to be no increases in payments to informants and sources for the next 90 days, in line with the Director's instructions.

Each office was instructed to advise the Bureau by return airtel of the guideline figure determined. By close of business September 30, 1971, the Bureau is to be advised by each office that these instructions have been complied with and that expenditures have been reduced by the five percent factor. On the basis of our expenditures during the past fiscal year, the five percent reduction will result in an annual saving of approximately $129,000.

Security informant development receives continuous supervision. It is not technically a program justified semiannually or annually but rather a fundamental procedure in our investigative operations that requires and receives vigorous day to day attention.

The Security Informant Unit maintains an up-to-date index of Security Informants and potential security informants. It correlates personal and operating data (such as name, address, code, file and symbol number) concerning these informants, which it receives from the Division's investigative sections, and places such material on FD-348s, three by five cards that constitute the index. This index is maintained on discontinued as well as current informants.

SECURITY INFORMANT PROGRAM
HEM:cb 8/19/71

At the time of last inspection in January, 1971, a total of 1,159 security informants was being operated. As of July 31, 1971, the number had increased to 1,182, or an increase of 23. During the same period the number of potential security informants increased from 765 to 841, or an increase of 76.

SURVEYS, PROJECTS AND/OR INTENSIFICATION PROGRAMS 4-H

RDC/nw

Section Chief R. D. Cotter: Following are applicable activities of Research Section.

Security Index (SI) Program

Refer to white write-up prepared by Internal Security Section (4-H), which has investigative responsibility under this program. Research Section, Special Records Unit, maintains records applicable to the SI and is responsible for coordinating program. In line with this responsibility, Research Section prepared a memorandum to Assistant Director Brennan, dated 1/12/71, re-evaluating SI.

As of 12/15/70 there were in the Index 3,450 persons of leadership capacity (Priority I and II) and 8,614 rank-and-file subjects (Priority III) for a total of 12,064. Of these, 831 and 4,718, respectively, are communists--a total of 5,549 or 46 percent. As of 7/15/71 there were in the Index 4,013 persons of leadership capacity (Priority I and II) and 8,680 rank-and-file subjects (Priority III) for a total of 12, 693. Of these, 825 and 4,329, respectively, are communists--a total of 5,154 or 40.6 percent.

Emergency Detention Program

The Emergency Detention Program (EDP), which is field-wide, involves the planning for apprehension and detention of persons considered potentially dangerous to the national defense and public safety of the U. S. in time of a national emergency and for the search and seizure of contraband. The EDP is not a program as such but is based on Title II of the Internal Security Act (ISA) of 1950. The basic responsibility for the operation and implementation of the EDP rests with the Attorney General. Detailed plans regarding the EDP are drawn up and included in the "Attorney General's Portfolio," copies of which are in the Bureau's possession.

This program has been maintained in an up-to-date status. Administrative plans for the implementation of the program in each office are maintained in the form of a "Detpro Survey." Lists of individuals to be detained are furnished to of the Internal Security Division of the Department each month and the listing of places to be searched under authority of the Master Search Warrant are maintained on a current basis. The Seat of Government and all field divisions maintain essential records for successful implementation of the EDP. Each office also maintains instructions to be turned over to the U. S. Attorneys and U. S. Marshals upon implementation.

This program is coordinated by Special Records Unit, Research Section. Primary responsibility rests with the Department and changes can be made only upon approval of the Department. We merely recommend and/or suggest any desirable changes. Periodic checks are made to insure that all records connected with the EDP, stored away from Headquarters city,* are current. Field division surveys are kept up to date and the Bureau is advised semiannually of the status.

Legislation has been introduced in the 92nd Congress to repeal Title II of the ISA of 1950. In the event Title II should be repealed at a future date under new legislation, the Government's inherent right to protect itself internally will continue to be safeguarded by the Bureau under its basic responsibility for protecting this Nation's internal security.

This program is under constant supervision and re-evaluation so that any necessary changes and streamlining may be made. A memorandum justifying the continuance of this program was last submitted on 1/12/71.

Technical and Microphone Surveillances

There has been no significant change regarding the utilization of these techniques in the internal security field since the last inspection. As of 8/16/71, we have 30 telephone surveillances (tesurs) in Bureau's internal security cases. We also have two tesurs in operation at the request of the State Department.

We are conducting four microphone surveillances (misurs) in internal security field, four misur installations are being operated at the request of the National Security Agency (NSA) and one at the request of Central Intelligence Agency. In addition, 62 teletype facilities are being covered at the written request of NSA.

*Only such records presently maintained away from SOG or field office headquarters are located at Quantico, Virginia.

Survey Regarding Potential for Racial Violence

This program was initiated in 1964 under the title "Possible Racial Violence, Major Urban Areas." It requires each field office to conduct a continuing survey of localities having a potential for violence based on current racial conditions. Objective is twofold--to insure Bureau receives a current, realistic, and comprehensive picture of existing conditions which may lead to violence, and to obtain advance information of developments clearly pointing to the possibility of violence.

The field submits semiannual reports summarizing information received. Of course, pertinent information is submited on a timely basis depending upon the circumstances involved. The survey provides the basis for a cogent analysis of potential for violence and pertinent information is disseminated to the White House, Attorney General, and other Government agencies. In the spring of each year an analysis entitled "Potential for Violence in Major Cities in Summer" is prepared and disseminated on a high level in the Government.

SECTION CHIEF - R. L. SHACKELFORD: Attached are comments concerning surveys, projects and/or intensification programs in effect against the New Left Movement. This section is responsible for the supervision of investigations of the New Left Movement, including terrorist groups and individuals engaged in bombings, arson and assassinations, and other New Left groups and individuals both on college campuses and off campus. New Left Movement

Special Investigations Unit - West

The following surveys, projects and/or intensification programs are in effect against the New Left movement:

New Left Extremists

By letter to all field offices dated 2/13/70, the field was advised that the violence-prone Weatherman group planned to go underground and to direct "strategic sabotage" at military and police installations. The field was instructed to vigorously investigate the Weatherman group and to advise appropriate local police agencies of Weatherman plans. By airtel to all offices dated 3/19/70, the field was advised of Weatherman plans for extreme violence. The field was instructed to locate and identify Weatherman communes and activists. Intensive investigation of Weatherman leaders was ordered.

By airtel to Chicago dated 3/24/70, that office was instructed to initiate investigations and interview all individuals arrested in Chicago during a Weatherman rampage in October, 1969, where such investigations had not already been undertaken. More than 280 persons had been arrested, most of whom were either members of or closely associated with the Weatherman group. In connection with cases of bombing or arson which appeared to have New Left or black extremist connotations, SAC Letter 70-18 (C), dated 4/7/70, captioned "New Left and Black Extremist Terrorism - Bombing Matters" provided the field with guidance. In those cases where no Bureau substantive jurisdiction exists or where the Department has advised that no investigation is warranted, the Bureau must be immediately advised concerning involvement of subversive groups or individuals suspected in the incident and recommendation made concerning additional investigation.

By teletype to all offices dated 4/17/70, the field was advised of specific areas of investigations to be made against New Left terrorist groups and standards were set for investigations of communes. The field was also instructed to develop necessary informant coverage of these communes and groups so that advanced knowledge of planned violence could be obtained, preventive action initiated, and prosecution undertaken where possible.

By Bureau airtel to all offices dated 5/13/70, instructions were given concerning implementation of investigations of New Left terrorism which were begun with available manpower and further implementation was to be as rapid as possible. All adherents to the Weatherman ideology which advocated a Marxist-Leninist revolution and the use of terroristic tactics in furtherance of revolution are made subjects of these investigations. These subjects are to be considered for Priority I of the Security Index and when placed on Priority I, the Bureau must be advised every 45 days of their current residence and other pertinent information developed. Each office was instructed to submit a monthly airtel beginning 6/1/70 setting forth (1) identities of communes or organizations; (2) number of cases opened during month on individuals in these categories; (3) total number of cases under investigation; (4) informant coverage utilized against these communes and organizations; and, (5) a brief summary of New Left violence in area during preceding month and action taken.

By Bureau airtel to all offices dated 5/15/70, the field was furnished a copy of a Departmental letter concerning specific areas of interest to the Department of Justice in campus disorders looking toward possible prosecutive action. The field was specifically instructed to develop information concerning New Left involvement in campus violence and concerning agitational activities prior to and during violent campus disorders by subversive groups.

By airtel to all offices dated 7/16/70, the field was advised that New Left terrorism was continuing through bombings, arsons, and other violence and that each Special Agent in Charge must personally insure that sufficient personnel are assigned to handle these matters and to investigating New Left terrorists.

SAC Letter 70-46 dated 9/1/70, captioned "New Left Movement - Violence, Internal Security - Miscellaneous (Weatherman)" instructed the field to develop better informant coverage of Weatherman and other terrorist groups. By airtel to all offices dated 9/3/70, captioned "Attacks on Police, Extremist Activity" the field was instructed that in view of increased attacks on the police, it could be expected there will also be physical attacks against the FBI and that all Special Agent personnel should be fully cognizant of this possibility. To obtain complete intelligence data concerning any extremist influence in attacks on police, the field was instructed to institute appropriate investigation when information was received concerning an impending attack on police and informants directed to develop full facts concerning the attack.

SAC Letter 70-48 (B) dated 9/15/70, captioned "New Left and Black Extremist Terrorism - Informant Coverage" instructed the field to immediately institute an aggressive policy of developing new productive informants who can infiltrate terrorist groups.

SAC Letter 70-57 (C) dated 10/13/70, captioned "New Left Movement - Police Training Matters" advised the field that in view of recent violence by New Left terrorists, the Bureau will consider requests for SACs or ASACs to brief local law enforcement command and supervisory personnel regarding New Left extremism and violence. These briefings would be at law enforcement meetings and conferences where attendance is restricted to full-time duly constituted law enforcement officials.

Bureau airtel to all offices dated 9/9/70 advised that a special single fingerprint file on Weatherman fugitives and other New Left terrorists has been initiated. The field was instructed to submit to the Bureau the identity of New Left terrorists whose fingerprints should be included in this special file.

By airtel to all offices dated 6/15/71 the field was advised that a new "stop index" program had been instituted in the National Crime Information Center (NCIC). This program is for Bureau use only and concerns extremists who are in Priority I of the Security Index and who are not already carried in the NCIC Wanted Persons file. Through this program, the field obtains prompt notice from NCIC by teletype whenever a police agency makes inquiry concerning one of these extremists, which enables the field to better follow the activities and movements of extremists.

By SAC Letter 71-37 (E) dated 8/10/71, captioned "Security Flash Notices Regarding Security Index Subjects" the field was advised of new procedures which will enable the Identification Division to better disseminate arrest information on Security Index subjects for whom no fingerprints are on file in the Identification Division. This is accomplished by periodic submission by the field of Security Flash Notices (FD-165) which determine if fingerprints of a Security Index subject have been received since the last check and if so, a stop is placed in the fingerprint record to assure that the field is advised of all subsequent fingerprint submissions. The Security Flash Notice is periodically submitted at different intervals depending on the priority of the subject's Security Index status.

Intensified investigation of New Left extremists has led to numerous prosecutions and indictments of extremist leaders. To provide further guidance for the field in these matters, SAC Letter 71-10 (E) dated 3/9/71 and captioned "Security Informants - Judicial Matters" advised the field of procedures to be followed in handling informants who are developing information on New Left groups and individuals who are in contact with these New Left activists or with their attorneys.

The Department of Justice has advised that informants may be utilized in furnishing information concerning the location of fugitives or the location of other New Left activists even though such utilization may result in the informant inadvertently learning of defense plans or strategy. The field has been instructed that when an informant is present in a conversation between an attorney and an individual under indictment he should, if possible, leave, or if this is not possible, he is not to report the substance of any such conversation to the FBI. Since radical attorneys are deeply involved with New Left extremists, not only in their legal defense but in their other activities, the above procedures are most helpful in extremist investigations.

Intensified investigation of New Left extremists has severely disrupted their operations and limited their influence. Numerous Weatherman leaders have been indicted and subsequently arrested or remain in fugitive status. The Weatherman organization has gone underground and is isolated from contact with the mass of American youth. The number of adherents to Weatherman is significantly less as a result of these prosecutions and investigations. The Weatherman group continues to be most dangerous in view of its adherence to violent tactics and continuous effort is being made to develop new approaches and techniques to facilitate this investigation.

Key Activists

By airtel to all offices dated 10/23/68, the Key Activist program was intensified and expanded. The field was instructed to maintain high-level informant coverage on individuals designated as key activists in the New Left movement. At the present time there are 73 key activists under investigation.

A Key Activist album containing photographs and biographical data on each key activist has been furnished to all offices. This album is maintained in a current status and has proved invaluable in following activities and travel of New Left key activists. By airtel dated 3/10/69 to all offices the field was instructed to submit reports each three months on key activists. The field was also instructed to prepare communications suitable for dissemination when these key activists filled a speaking engagement and whenever they made statements indicating a propensity for violence or urging student agitation. The purpose of this program is to secure testimony and evidence concerning violations of statutes particularly where these key activists are involved in campus disorders. The field has also been instructed to develop detailed information on sources of funds used by key activists and to closely follow their travel. Handwriting specimens of each key activist must be obtained and placed in the National Security File maintained by the laboratory.

The key activist program has been most successful. We have been enabled to closely follow the activities of these individuals and to provide other interested agencies with pertinent information. It is noted that more than half of the individuals designated as key activists are subjects of some type of prosecutive action.

NEW LEFT GROUPS UNIT
STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY (SDS)
WORKER STUDENT ALLIANCE (WSA)

In Bureau airtels 5/24/71, 6/2/71 and 6/3/71, appropriate field offices were alerted to the SDS/WSA Summer Project and its twofold objective consisting of a massive recruitment program in 21 target cities and the fostering of a general strike, nationwide, through infiltration of industry and labor unions. Instructions were given to appropriate offices to take aggressive measures to expand their informant coverage during the SDS/WSA recruitment effort, and to develop and furnish information concerning the SDS/WSA Summer Projects in their territories. Numerous SDS/WSA members have been identified as having moved into cities other than those in which they usually operate, in connection with the SDS/WSA Summer Project....

New University Conference (NUC)

The NUC, composed of radical professors, graduate students and teachers, is committed to the growth of a revolutionary socialist movement in the U.S., with educational institutions and professional associations being their primary targets. In Bureau airtel 6/4/71, the attention of Chicago Division, office of origin, was directed to the fact that the NUC claimed 42 national chapters plus fifteen pre-chapter groupings, with 675 national members, and anticipated further expansion. Chicago Division was instructed to insure appropriate leads were set out to confirm the existence of all NUC chapters and to conduct appropriate investigations in accordance with Bureau instructions relating to investigations of organizations connected with institutions of learning. It was further instructed these investigations should include information concerning the leaders and leading activists, aims and objectives and the activities of these chapters.

New Left Movement Reports

By airtel to SAC, Albany, and all offices dated 10/28/68, a program was instituted to obtain a comprehensive study of the whole New Left movement. Offices were instructed to prepare summary reports on the New Left movement in their territories and to follow these reports with a report each quarter, similarly captioned, showing the status of the movement and its activity during the preceeding three-month period. These reports have enabled the Bureau and the submitting field offices to assess the potential dangerousness of the New Left movement, determine from one document the divisive or unifying issues within the movement and whether the activity is increasing, decreasing or continuing at the level indicated in the previous report. Since individual reports have not been required on the many small local New Left groups in each territory in lieu of adequate LHM, inclusion of pertinent data concerning these groups in the quarterly report alleviates the need for regularly submitted reports and puts the activities in a better perspective within each field division. Additionally, these reports have presented on a continuing basis a clear cut picture of the entire New Left movement which identifies its leaders, sources of funds, propaganda outlets, and shows the extent to which the New Left movement has been influenced by domestic and foreign subversive elements. This program has enabled the Bureau and the field to make a self analysis of all facets of our investigation of the New Left movement so we may expand and intensify our investigation of those phases indicating a need thereof. These reports have served as a valuable research tool at the Bureau and afford the individual field divisions an opportunity to evaluate the direction and success of their investigations in the New Left movement.

New Left Movement - Finances

No deletion

In February, 1970, Mr. Egil Krogh, Jr., Deputy Assistant to the President for Domestic Affairs, requested, for the President, available information concerning income sources of various revolutionary groups. Since that time, information of this nature has been gathered and transmitted periodically by memoranda to the White House, Attorney General, Deputy Attorney General, and Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division, after approval by the Director.

Key Activist Program

The Key Activist Program, described in detail in the Special Investigations Unit - West write-up, is coordinated by the New Left Groups Unit.

New Left Movement - Publications

By letter dated 11/5/68 to all offices under the caption of "New Left Movement, Publications, Internal Security - Miscellaneous," the field was instructed to cover the principal propaganda mills of the New Left which are described as "underground" newspapers. This survey has been particularly beneficial in view of the fact that the New Left, to a great extent, depends on the written word to spread its propaganda. The survey has disclosed that in excess of 200 papers are published on a regular basis with a central theme being criticism of the "establishment" in general and law enforcement, the draft and the Vietnam War in particular. Youth, particularly students, are the main target of these publications, which are effective vehicles for agitation and recruitment in that they reach a large portion of the student population. Additionally, the survey has revealed the papers are in poor financial condition and often miss publication dates due to lack of funds. Funds are generally received from advertising, subscriptions, donations and benefits. Volunteer labor is used in most instances and many times the staff of the publication resides collectively in a commune.

A survey of underground publications is currently being conducted by the New Left Groups Unit, the purpose of which is to determine if trend information can be developed. Trend information is being developed during the course of this survey and information obtained will be incorporated into an educational-type document. Based on this survey, it appears the New Left movement is at a crossroads and is groping for a sense of unity and direction. This unity, if developed, will no doubt include future activity in political channels. These newspapers, which are often written in the foulest language, are a major influence on the youth in this country and are the strident propaganda voice of the New Left movement.

Informant Development - New Left Groups

Bureau airtel to all offices dated 11/5/70 concerning informant development in New Left groups directed each SAC to submit to the Bureau by 11/13/70 a complete analysis of his informant coverage in New Left groups, clearly setting forth the weaknesses and productive steps being taken to rectify these weaknesses. As a result, a clear-cut view of each division's informant coverage was obtained as well as an analysis of where programs needed shoring up. Those offices found to be deficient in their coverage were directed to submit periodic communications detailing their coverage and setting out what steps are being taken to increase the coverage in terms of quantity and quality.

The Counterintelligence Program - New Left was discontinued by Bureau airtel to all offices dated 4/28/71 in view of the fact that sensitive intelligence techniques and disruptive activities were involved and absolute security was difficult to achieve.

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS UNIT - EAST

The Venceremos Brigade

The field was authorized by airtel to all offices, dated 5/11/70, to interview all Venceremos Brigade (VB) members on SAC authority except in those instances where the subject is under 21, currently a student, professor, has some connection with an institution of learning or is a journalist. Bureau approval is still needed concerning the latter individuals.

Bureau airtel to all offices, dated 5/15/70, instructed the field to immediately intensify investigations of all VB returnees from Cuba, ascertain their whereabouts, conduct prompt interviews and submit current reports with Security Index recommendation. In view of rebuttable presumption of at least sympathy to a violent Marxist-Leninist revolution and willingness to participate in that revolution by these VB members, the field was also instructed for one year to advise the Bureau every 90 days of whereabouts and activities of Priority II and III and non-Security Index returnees. In case of Priority I Security Index subjects, this information is to be furnished the Bureau every 45 days.

Prosab

Current Bureau instructions require development of adequate informant coverage of Strategic Air Command and Intercontinental Ballistic Missile Bases of the United States Air Force (PROSAB) to insure that our investigative responsibilities in the sabotage, espionage and internal security fields can be properly discharged. Semiannual reports are submitted by each office having a Strategic Air Command Base or an Intercontinental Ballistic Missile Base within its territory. A review of semiannual reports submitted by the field as of 7/1/71 disclosed that a total of 1,225 informants have been developed.

PROTEST AND TROTSKYIST GROUPS UNIT

May Day Collective (MDC)

Prior to May, 1971, MDC was the hard-core youth activist group of the Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice (PCPJ) and was the main force behind massive civil disobedience in Washington, D.C. There has been a definite split between the two groups over the question of violence which is favored by MDC. Following regional conferences in Fayetteville, Arkansas, and Washington, D.C., MDC held a national conference in Atlanta, Georgia, 8/13-17/71 to map its future course and to plan antiwar activity for the Fall of 1971. By airtel to all offices dated 7-26-71, the field was instructed to determine the existence of MDC organizations in the respective divisions and to furnish all available information to Bureau by 8-30-71 with comments regarding extent of coverage. Potential for violence by MDC was emphasized, and the field was alerted to possibility of violations of Federal laws.

Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW)

Letter to all offices dated 8-3-71 instructed each office to initiate a survey to determine existence of VVAW. This action was necessary in the light of increasing indication that the VVAW may be a target for infiltration by subversive groups such as the Communist Party, USA, and the Socialist Workers Party and their respective youth groups. VVAW has also been involved in aiding and financing U.S. deserters, including false identity papers and reportedly in one area has a cache of arms. VVAW has become increasingly active in the antiwar field and must be considered a prime target for infiltration.

East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives (EASTCON)

This is an extremely important investigation requiring constant supervision and review at the Seat of Government. It involves plots to blow up the tunnels, housing, heating systems servicing Government buildings and to kidnap a high Government official. Conspiracy aspects of selected Selective Service break in cases are included in the indictment as well as violations involving the contraband and issuing threatening communications statutes. The Eastcon case is the subject of a write-up in Section 4-A-4.

SUBVERSIVE INDIVIDUALS - NEW LEFT GROUPS UNIT

Bureau airtel to all offices, dated 11/3/70, instructed the field to resume verification of residence and employment in Priority II and Priority III Security Index cases and to resume periodic report writing in proportionate number in Priority II Security Index cases so that all such cases would be opened by 6/30/71.

As a result, annual reports in Priority II Security Index cases are being received pursuant to existing instructions and where verification of residence and employment shows a change, appropriate changes are being made on Security Index cards.

Bureau airtel to all offices, dated 11/4/70, instructed the field to initiate investigation of all SDS members as well as members of procommunist, militant New Left-type campus organizations who follow SDS advocacy of revolution and violence and that each individual investigated should be considered for the Security Index. Results of investigations in these cases are being received and supervised in this section. Activities in each instance are evaluated and where it is found the subject could be considered a danger to the internal security of this country in the event of a national emergency, the individual's name is included on the Security Index.

SAC Letter 71-35 (D), dated 7/27/71, instructed the field to discontinue use of Internal Security - Miscellaneous, Security Matter - Miscellaneous, and Security Matter - Anarchist as characters in security investigations. Instructions for using new characters were set out. This action was necessary in order to facilitate routine of mail at the Bureau and to more properly describe the characters of security investigations.

ALEM PROGRAM

4-H

1. ALEM is the code name for the Bureau program to uncover Soviet "illegal" agents who have entered the U. S. under assumed identities as 1. alien husbands of American wives or 2. as male immigrants on first preference petitions because of certain professional and technical skills. The basis of this program is information furnished by the Fedora informant. This program was initiated in August, 1965. Individuals entering the U. S. under the above two categories have been determined through a machine run of Immigration and Naturalization Service Form G-188 punch cards. The Bureau has reimbursed the Immigration and Naturalization Service for expenses incurred in sorting these cards for immigrants entering the U. S. between the years 1960-1965.

2. Approximately 2100 cases have been opened under this program since its inception, of which 77 are now pending. We have not uncovered any illegals to date although we have been able to identify through this program a valuable KGB agent who entered the U. S. as an immigrant from Belgium (Buckboard case, Bufile 65-68188).

3. ALEM is supervised in the Espionage Section, Special Cases Unit, by SA A. P. Litrento. The responsibility of reviewing the pertinent G-188 cards and initiating investigations is placed with the Washington Field Office. The procedures followed in opening cases do not require the use of much personnel or many man hours by the Washington Field Office.

4. According to the Fedora informant, the KGB has used the techniques set forth above in dispatching KGB "illegals" to the U. S. During 1960-1965, four KGB "illegals" reportedly arrived in the U. S. under category number one according to information the Fedora informant was able to obtain from a KGB officer in the New York Residency.

5. This program is evaluated on an annual basis. It was last evaluated on December 24, 1970.

BANPOP PROGRAM
Bufile: 65-70741

4-H

1. BANPOP is the code name for a program initiated in August, 1966, in an attempt to identify illegals in the U. S. who may be receiving funds through Swiss banks. The basis for the program was an analysis of four Soviet illegal cases between 1955 and 1966 in which the Banque Populaire Swisse of Switzerland was used by the Soviets to fund illegals. The transfers are screened with the following criteria: (1) the person or individual beneficiary is named; (2) the amount of the transfer is between $300 and $5000 and (3) the last name of the person ordering and receiving the funds is the same or the money is directed to a specific bank account.

2. The program is now operated in the New York, Chicago and Philadelphia Offices.

3. When one of the offices locates an individual who might be a possible suspect, the Bureau is advised by letter and a copy is sent to the appropriate field office requesting investigation to identify this person. The title includes the name of the subject and the code name of the program to insure that all mail is handled by the same Supervisor. At the present time, there are 7 pending cases. For the six-month period ending 4/1/71, Philadelphia reviewed 2950 transfers, has two pending cases and used two Agent hours per month. Chicago reviewed 1000 transactions, opened no cases and used six Agent hours per month. New York Office reviewed 6050 transactions, opened 8 cases and used 15 Agent hours per month.

4. This program is supervised by SA J.P. Lee of the Special Cases Unit, Espionage Section.

5. All offices keep the Bureau advised of the progress of the program on a six-month basis. The program was last justified by memorandum of April 1, 1971.

CANIL PROGRAM
Bufile: 65-70719

4-H

1. CANIL is the code name for the Bureau program to uncover Soviet illegals who may have arrived in Canada as European immigrants and thereafter entered the U. S. on immigrant visas obtained at one of the American consulates in Canada. This program is based on the Cowslip case which involved a Soviet illegal husband and wife team who used this method of entry. Legat, Ottawa, effected arrangements with various American consulates in Canada to obtain the Immigration Visa and Alien Registration (IVAR) forms filed by European immigrants prior to their destruction by the consulates. It is consulate practice to retain these forms for 16 to 18 months then to destroy them. Legat, Ottawa, forwards these forms to the New York Office where they are reviewed. To develop suspects, the New York Office uses criteria developed from analysis of the Cowslip case.

2. Since inception of this program in June, 1966, 35 cases were opened. There are 7 cases pending. No illegals have been uncovered to date. The procedures followed in this program do not require the use of much personnel or many man hours by the New York Office.

3. CANIL is supervised in the Espionage Section, Special Cases Unit, by SA A.P. Litrento.

4. The detection of Soviet illegals is one of the most difficult problems facing the Bureau in the security field. It is felt this program still has a good potential in uncovering illegals because it is logical and has a sound basis. Past experience has shown that Soviet intelligence will use the same modus operandi continuously, if successful.

5. This program was evaluated in February, 1971. Legat, Ottawa, has suggested discontinuance of this program and New York's comments have been requested by Bulet 8/5/71.

COKMA PROGRAM

1. Title is code word for physical surveillance coverage of known meeting areas utilized by Soviet intelligence in the past several years. The New York Office instituted this program in July, 1970. This program receives close supervisory attention, is evaluated on a continuing basis and was subject of justification memorandum dated 8/16/71. In view of the success of this program by the New York Office, consideration has been given to its implementation by the Washington Field Office, however, the absence of subway transportation facilities used extensively by the Soviets in New York City precludes its adaption by the Washington Field Office.

2. The New York Office has catalogued known meeting areas as a result of past physical surveillances of Soviet intelligence officers, information received from defectors-in-place and double agents operating against Soviet intelligence officers. It is almost impossible to conduct a discreet physical surveillance of a trained intelligence officer and this program places our Agents in an area where there is a likelihood of a Soviet meet without surveillance hazards that could thwart meetings. Our objective is to identify American agents meeting Soviet intelligence officers under clandestine circumstances.

3. The New York Office utilized one four-man team initially in connection with this program. During the initial six months of this program, seven Soviet intelligence officers were observed in the area selected for coverage (Jamaica area of the Queens, New York,) on 22 occasions. Two individuals were observed in contact with Soviets and one individual contacted a Polish official. Based on the results obtained, coverage was expanded to the Flushing and Woodside section of the Queens, as well as the Rego Park section of the Queens, adding an additional four-man team. Since January known or suspected Soviet intelligence officers have been observed on 38 occasions accompanied by unknown individual or individuals on five occasions in the area covered by this program. We have determined through our Ironclad source the Soviets have placed the Jamaica section of the Queen off limits for meetings. While we are still affording this area some coverage we are now concentrating on the other selected sites mentioned above. One of the most interesting developments of recent date has been the detection of a known Committee for State Security (KGB) officer who during his tour of duty in the United States has made approaches to Soviets who defected to this country, visiting a residence in the Jamaica area. The occupant of this residence is currently the subject of an investigation and it is anticipated he will be interviewed to determine the nature of his contacts with the Soviets.

4. This program is supervised by Special Agent F. J. Cassidy, Soviet Unit-New York, Espionage Section. Expense and time in handling this program is negligible at Seat of Government. Since program in field consist of surveillance activities there must be close supervision at field level.

5. This program is sound and has enabled us to uncover Soviet intelligence activities with minimum expenditure of manpower. It has also given us additional insight into Soviet modus operandi. Manpower limitations have restricted our full utilization of this investigative technique. Special Agent personnel assigned to this program must be familiar with Soviets assigned to the New York area and must be experienced in surveillance procedures.

DESECO PROGRAM 4-H
Bufile 105-71688

1. The Deseco Program (program for development of selected contacts to be directed against Soviet-bloc officials) originated as result of conference between field and Bureau representatives in December, 1957. Purpose is to select and develop individuals to be placed in contact with Soviet-bloc intelligence officers as a means of (1) penetrating Soviet-bloc intelligence; (2) exerting control by keeping intelligence officers occupied with running our sources; and (3) assisting in possible defection of bloc intelligence officers.

2. Nineteen offices are engaged regularly in this program and other offices on occasion conduct investigations to develop background on selected sources. Greatest activity has been in New York, Washington Field, Chicago and San Francisco which cover Soviet-bloc establishments. The 19 offices are authorized to conduct "sounding-out" interviews of prospective sources without prior Bureau authority. Follow-up interviews with potential Deseco sources are conducted on a UACB basis. New York and Washington Field submit monthly progress letters summarizing the results of the program. The other 17 offices submit summaries on a semi-annual basis.

3. Between the last inspection and July 15, 1971, approximately a 6-month period, 26 Deseco subjects were placed in contact with Soviet-bloc officials. Of these, four have developed to the status of security informants or double agents.

4. This program is correlated in the Espionage Section, Coordination Unit by Special Agent Lish Whitson. The program is handled in the field by Special Agents assigned to Soviet-bloc investigations who are familiar with the habits, weaknesses and intelligence targets of bloc personnel and are qualified to select and develop the type of individuals needed in this program. Unusual or sensitive cases in this program are routed to the Division front office for approval. All rules, policies and procedures regarding interviews, developments and handling of Deseco sources are contained in Section 105 O, pages 42-44, Manual of Instructions.

5. This program is re-evaluated on an annual basis. It was last justified by memorandum W. A. Branigan to C. D. Brennan, dated March 29, 1971. Limitations on other investigative techniques have underscored the value of this program demonstrated in the individuals developed as security informants or double agents. Selectees have enabled us to uncover and pin-point Soviet-bloc intelligence targets, identify Soviet-bloc intelligence officers and furnish information of value in considering defection approaches. During the month of March, 1971, a double agent, developed through the Deseco program, was instrumental in enabling the Bureau to identify a Soviet illegal operating in the guise of a graduate student in Salt Lake City. Direction of this program against Soviet-bloc intelligence officers will continue to be pressed to insure improvement in our coverage of Soviet-bloc intelligence operations.

EAST-WEST EXCHANGE PROGRAM

Bufile: 105-42300 4-H

This program originated in 1955 in an attempt to provide internal security safeguards regarding the admission of Soviet and satellite nationals. Soviet intelligence regards the visits of East-West Exchange Agreement participants as opportunities to promote intelligence activity.

As a result of the 1970 Inspection revisions were made in the investigative action taken in this field. The change was made as a result of other manpower commitments. SAC Letter 70-25 provided that no investigations will be conducted of groups or individuals participating in the East-West Exchange Program in the absence of any information indicating affiliation with Soviet intelligence. Bufiles are checked on all Soviet participants and where information is developed showing intelligence affiliation, cases are then opened and the field instructed to conduct necessary investigation.

During the period of January-June, 1971, 982 individuals were scheduled to enter the U. S. under the provisions of this exchange program and of this number, we had information indicating Soviet intelligence affiliation on 25 of these individuals.

With regard to Soviet exchange students there are currently 32 in the U. S. Based on information furnished by defector sources and investigations of Soviet students previously in the U. S., we have determined that Soviet intelligence utilizes these students in an intelligence capacity, principally as spotters. In view of this, we afford these students active investigation. We have also found that a number of these students return to the U. S. for assignment at one of the Soviet establishments and in most instances, contacts which they made while in the U. S. as students are generally reactivated. The case of Yuriy Aleksandrovich Gostintsev is an example of an individual entering the U. S. under the East-West Exchange Program as a graduate student and engaging in intelligence activities. Ironclad, our sensitive defector in place, advised that Gostintsev who entered the U. S. 5/9/71 for a period of six months to do research at three American universities was working for Dr. Martin Summerfield at a laboratory at Princeton University. According to our source, Gostintsev, on 7/2/71, turned over a portfolio of 1,000 pages to a Soviet intelligence officer who took the documents to the Soviet Mission to the United Nations, photographed them and returned them to Gostintsev. Similar operations took place on 7/16 and 7/23/71. Gostintsev originally entered the U. S. in 9/69 under the East-West Scientific Exchange Agreement for three months to work under Dr. Summerfield. He left the U. S. in 12/69 and returned again in 5/71.

RADIO AND TECHNICAL EQUIPMENT PURCHASED BY THE SOVIETS

1. Program commenced in March, 1955, in order to have central repository for information developed in connection with investigations of Soviets in this country pertaining to radio and technical equipment purchased by them.

2. Washington Field and New York Offices furnish information developed concerning these purchases on a monthly basis. Dissemination of the material is made to Department of State, Central Intelligence Agency, Army, Navy, Air Force, Atomic Energy Commission, Bureau of International Commerce, United States Department of Commerce and where pertinent, to the National Security Agency (NSA). Material submitted includes name of Soviet purchaser, date, quantity, description and cost of the items purchased. It involves maintenance of three control files; one each at Bureau, Washington Field and New York Offices. Program established to achieve following objectives: disseminate to interested Government agencies information concerning purchase of technical equipment in the United States by Soviet officials; determine whether Soviet intelligence is circumventing restrictions regarding material appearing on Department of Commerce restricted export control list; and to permit discreet markings by FBI Laboratory of certain technical equipment furnished to Soviets through overt or covert means which would permit its identification at some future time.

3. Since January, 1971, Program has disclosed continuing purchases by Soviet nationals of Grundig Satellite Multiband portable radios. During 3/71 one KGB officer in Washington purchased 12 of these radios at one time. Soviet husband and wife illegal team previously in U. S. used one of these radios to receive clandestine broadcasts from USSR which contained their operating instructions. Program made it possible to secure serial numbers for possible future identification. Analysis of purchases enables Laboratory to make reasonable estimate of internal communications used at Soviet establishments and security devices being operated. Program also disclosed detailed information concerning two new antennae systems purchased by Soviets from company in Nebraska. It appears one of these will be used at new Consulate General in San Francisco when permanent location for that establishment secured. Details concerning such installations are of interest, not only to FBI Laboratory, but to State Department and NSA in connection with its worldwide coverage of Soviet communications capabilities. Intelligence agencies of the military, such as Navy and Air Force, look to Bureau for details concerning purchases of this type made by Soviets since it enables reasonable estimate of their ability to monitor and intercept U. S. military communications. During 7/71, Program identified Soviet interest in purchase of sophisticated electronic apparatus in New York which can be utilized for radar or communications satellite tracking. They had not requested export license from Commerce Department for this article. It may be intended for clandestine use in U. S. for satellite tracking designed to improve accuracy of Soviet ICBM guidance systems. We have notified White House and interested Government agencies concerning this activity which is being conducted clandestinely from Soviet establishment in Washington, D. C.

4. Program supervised by Special Agent Eugene C. Peterson, Soviet Unit - Washington, Espionage Section. Expense and time utilized in handling program is negligible. Dissemination of material submitted by Washington Field and New York Offices requires minimum of time each month on part of Bureau Supervisor and no weaknesses in program are apparent. Administrative tickler for control maintained on Soviet Embassy Desk, Soviet Unit - Washington, Espionage Section.

5. Program is of value not only to Domestic Intelligence Division and field offices but to agencies receiving dissemination of material developed. Possession of some equipment on which discreet markings were previously placed by FBI Laboratory or item with serial number showing original acquisition by Soviets could serve to identify possessor with involvement in Soviet intelligence activity. Program is evaluated annually to determine justification for continuance.

6. Program last evaluated and justified January 8, 1971. Tickler maintained for reevaluation by January 15, 1972, and each year thereafter, if still of continuing value.

SECTION CHIEF GEORGE C. MOORE
EXTREMIST INTELLIGENCE SECTION

BLACK EXTREMIST MATTERS

Racial matters investigations were intensified through establishment of the Racial Intelligence Section on 10/2/67.

By memorandum dated 7/14/71 it was recommended, and the Director approved, that the Racial Intelligence Section would, thereafter, be known as the Extremist Intelligence Section and the character of cases supervised would be changed from Racial Matters to Extremist Matters. This action was taken as the majority of extremist activity in U.S. is not based solely on racial hatred but based on a desire to overthrow U.S. Government by revolution.

This section handles extremist matters investigations involving black extremist organizations and individuals. Objectives are to identify organizations and individuals that are involved in extremist activities, that advocate or had actually committed or have conspired to commit acts of violence, that advocate revolutionary or terrorist activities and that violate Federal laws. The dangerousness to the U.S. of such individuals must be assessed and a determination made as to whether they should be included in the Security Index. The extent of foreign influence or influence of the Communist Party or other domestic revolutionary groups among black extremists, especially black extremist organizations, is a prime objective. To accomplish these objectives, sources have been developed who can furnish quality and timely information concerning individual extremists and extremist organizations. Such sources likewise have forewarned us of potential violence and enabled the Bureau to stay on top of the black extremist situation. These sources have assisted the Bureau in executing its responsibilities of alerting local authorities, and of keeping other Government agencies dependent upon us for information informed of pertinent developments and advance intelligence, including data concerning potential violence.

Our informant coverage has made it possible for us to keep a constant flow of information going to the White House, the Attorney General and other Government agencies having an interest. Additional information pertaining to black extremist intelligence matters and the survey regarding "Potential for Racial Violence" is set forth under data furnished by the Research Section.

Reports submitted by the field are thoroughly reviewed at the Seat of Government to insure that essential information is being obtained on a timely basis and that it is being promptly disseminated in the field, as well as at the Seat of Government.

The activities of black extremists continue to place a heavy demand upon the Bureau's manpower and resources.

There are numerous black extremist groups throughout the nation, the majority of which are local in nature and relatively small in membership. These groups, however, either directly or indirectly, advocate defiance of the law, hostility toward constituted authority and, in some instances, advocate outright destruction of Government and establishment of a Marxist-Leninist form of Government. The activities of these groups constitute a constant threat to the internal security of the country through their propensity for violence, hatred of and outright opposition to our form of Government.

BLACK NATIONALIST MOVEMENT

4-H

Black extremism is concentrated in organized activities of 64 groups, some of which have chapters in major cities throughout the U.S. The five major nationwide groups have chapters in 139 cities. Hard-core membership in these black extremist groups totals in excess of 8,300. This membership figure, however, disguises the real following of extremist groups in black areas of our cities and the extent of influence and leadership they exercise. This real support, especially from young blacks, is surfaced during confrontations with police and the Establishment. In fact, hostility toward the police by black extremist groups, as well as by black youths, continues unabated in many of our major cities.

Set out hereinafter are summaries concerning the key black extremist organizations that are presently under active and penetrative investigation.

Computerized Telephone Number File (CTNF) was expanded on 2/26/71 to include telephone numbers of black, New Left and other ethnic extremists. As a result, black extremist groups, black extremist Security Index subjects and individuals included in the Black Nationalist Photograph Album have been entered into the CTNF. This has proven to be extremely valuable investigative tool and has saved the field considerable investigative time in ascertaining subscribers of telephone numbers since "hits" are made on 15.5 percent of numbers checked against the file.

The Black Nationalist Photograph Album (BNPA) was established on 3/8/69 to assist in identification of militant black extremists who travel extensively.

The BNPA is maintained in all offices. BNPA includes a photograph and biographical data on leaders of black extremist organizations, militant black nationalists who are known to travel and black extremists who are Bureau fugitives. Each office prepares a form on such individuals within its territory and the form is then furnished to the Bureau and all offices where it is maintained in a complete album. In the event of travel by any of these individuals, the office covering the area being visited already has a photograph and biographical sketch of the individual immediately available. The album is also furnished to the Legats in Ottawa and Mexico City and to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Central Intelligence Agency, in the event of foreign travel. Over 470 extremists are currently carried in this album. Information concerning fugitives was included to insure each office has a photograph and biographic sketch immediately available for its use in conducting investigation to locate or apprehend them.

To insure broad circulation among investigative personnel and to serve as an avenue for greater utilization of informants, especially extremist sources, we initiated the Black Extremist Bureau Fugitives List in June, 1970. This list, which is prepared quarterly and sent each field office and selected Legats, identifies those Bureau fugitives who by reason of their activities or organizational affiliations are black extremists. For the months in which no quarterly list is prepared, all offices and selected Legats are advised of deletions and additions to this list. Currently there are 64 fugitives listed, 20 of whom are IO fugitives. This list has given greater emphasis to the location of these fugitives, particularly among Special Agents handling extremist matters and extremist informants and has been effective in affording greater exposure of these fugitives among extremist informants. Thirty-two of these fugitives have been arrested since the list was initiated.

Bureau airtel 11/12/70 advised the field of formation of Black Extremist Section of Single Fingerprint File in Latent Fingerprint Section of the Identification Division. Field was instructed to insure all black extremists who have a propensity for violence or who would logically be considered suspects in serious crimes in which the Bureau may have an interest were included in the Black Extremist Section.

By airtel dated 3/19/71, captioned "Black Extremist Section of Single Fingerprint File, Identification Matters, Racial Matters," all offices were instructed to give greater emphasis to this program on a continuing basis due to increasing participation of black extremists in crimes of violence and continued reports from knowledgeable sources of plans of these extremists to participate in bombings, hijackings, kidnapings and other crimes of violence. As a result of this communication and aggressive supervision by Extremist Intelligence Section supervisors, the Black Extremist Section of the Single Fingerprint File has doubled. The value of this valuable investigative tool was demonstrated in the special investigation being handled by this section known as Newkill. This case involves the murder of two New York City police officers on 5/21/71. Latents forwarded by our New York Office for comparison against this file resulted in the identification of two Black Panther Party (BPP) members and directly led to the solution of the machine gunning of two New York City police officers on 5/19/71. This information has also resulted in these individuals being developed as suspects in the Newkill murder. Supervisors are constantly alert to insure logical black extremists are included in this file.

In view of the high percentage of black extremists who have been reported to have weapons in their possession, the field by letter 3/18/71 captioned "Firearms Acts" and by airtel 5/17/71 captioned "National Firearms Act, State Firearms Control Assistance Act, Unlawful Possession or Receipt of Firearms, Racial Matters," emphasized that active investigation should be initiated concerning firearms violations stemming from Bureau investigations over matters within our primary jurisdiction, including racial (now extremist) matters investigations. Field was instructed to vigorously pursue possible violations arising out of extremist matters investigations. Such investigations will lead to statistical accomplishments and to the neutralization of black extremists. It was emphasized that all Agents assigned to extremist matters should thoroughly review all of the criminal statutes involving Federal gun law violations so that they would be in a position to recognize and vigorously pursue possible violations coming to their attention during extremist matters investigations.

Numerous investigations have been initiated by the field as a result of these instructions and recently four BPP leaders in Richmond or Washington, D. C., were convicted for Federal gun violations and one is awaiting trial. With the emphasis being placed on violations of Federal gun laws by black extremists, the number of convictions will increase and add to the Bureau's statistical accomplishments as well as neutralizing black extremists.

Investigation disclosed in Fall of 1970 that increased campus disorders involving black students posed a definite threat to the nation's stability and indicated the need for increase in both quality and quantity of intelligence concerning Black Student Unions (BSU) and similar groups which were targets for influence and control by violence-prone BPP and other extremists. On 10/29/70 the Executive Conference approved a program to conduct discreet preliminary inquiries, limited to established sources, on BSU and similar groups, their leaders, and key activists to determine if the activities of these groups and individuals warrant further active investigation. On 11/4/70 instructions were sent to the field to implement the program authorized by the Executive Conference.

The results of these discreet preliminary inquiries were analyzed and it was concluded that our responsibilities could adequately be handled by limiting our inquiries to black student groups on college campuses which have engaged in violent and lawless activities or are reported by knowledgeable sources to be moving in the direction of violence and lawlessness. As a result, field offices were instructed by letter dated 7/26/71 that, thereafter, discreet preliminary inquiries on black student groups on college campuses should be limited to those groups which have engaged in violence and/or lawless activities or are moving in the direction of violence and lawlessness. Results of any preliminary inquiries conducted through established sources only in accordance with the above provisions must be reported to the Bureau in form suitable for dissemination along with recommendations regarding whether an active investigation of the group and/or its leaders is warranted. The field was instructed that if established sources report a black student group is moving toward, or being influenced in the direction of, violence and lawlessness, although no such activity has occurred, the facts are to be furnished the Bureau with field office recommendations regarding active investigation. No active investigation of an organization connected with an institution of learning is conducted without prior Bureau authority.

The following pages set forth summaries concerning the key black extremist organizations that are presently under active and penetrative investigation.

BLACK PANTHER PARTY 4H

The Black Panther Party (BPP), a black extremist organization, continues to be extremely active throughout the country. Formed during late 1966 in Oakland, California, for the obstensible purpose of patrolling the black community to prevent alleged police brutality, it was originally known as the Black Panther Party for Self-Defense.

It expanded rapidly throughout the United States during 1967-68, then suffered a gradual decline during 1969. Revitalized in December, 1969, and throughout the 1970s, it expanded until there were approximately 48 branches of the BPP with an estimated 1,000 hard-core members supported by many thousands of sympathizers as of December, 1970. Another gradual decline began in 1971; and as of June, 1971, the Party had 710 hard-core members in 39 branches representing 37 cities.

In February, 1971, the differences between Huey P. Newton, BPP Minister of Defense, and Eldridge Cleaver, then BPP Minister of Information, a fugitive in Algeria, rose to the surface; and Newton expelled Cleaver and his followers. About 100 BPP members in New York and New Jersey declared allegiance to Cleaver and became known as the BPP-Cleaver Faction.

The official goal of the BPP has always been the violent overthrow of the United States Government and its replacement with a Marxist-Leninist system. The BPP has openly advocated urban guerrilla warfare, assassination of Government leaders and other forms of violent terrorism. Since its inception, the BPP has aimed its most vicious invectives against law enforcement and particularly local police. "Off the pigs," BPP jargon for "kill the cop" is the battle cry of the organization. Newton now claims the BPP was led astray by Cleaver in his quest for violence when actually the BPP is a nonviolent, community serving organization. In spite of Newton's peace loving front, the truth is that Newton and his BPP are just as much anarchists as ever. On 6-30-71 a Washington, D. C. BPP leader and follower of Newton stated "the ultimate goal of the BPP is the complete destruction of the United States Government and its replacement with Marxist-Leninist socialism."

Our investigation of the BPP was instituted in 1967 and since that time has expanded as the organization itself expanded.

By letter to all offices dated 2-27-70, approved by the Director, offices having BPP investigations were instructed to submit intelligence reports on the BPP every six months in compliance with instructions in the Manual of Instructions. Previously, offices were submitting quarterly reports on the BPP. The changes made on the basis of a recommendation by a Racial Informants Conference of field supervisors to eliminate some paper work in the field.

All field offices conducting an active BPP investigation are required to submit a monthly airtel summary of the status and activities of the BPP within its territory. This survey was commenced as a biweekly summary in November, 1968, and changed to a monthly summary on the approval of the Director by letter to all offices dated 2-27-70. This change is a result of a recommendation by the Racial Informants Conference of field supervisors to cut down paper work in the field. The monthly summary relieves the field of some paper work and at the same time keeps the Bureau and the field up to date on BPP developments.

San Francisco as office of origin in the BPP case continues to submit a biweekly summary and analysis of the BPP. Because of the excellence of this summary and the need for such an analysis by the field, San Francisco was instructed by Bureau airtel 1-21-70 to furnish copies of its summary to all continental offices which is the current practice.

All field offices conducting an active BPP investigation were instructed by airtel 6-17-70 to submit a monthly summary on the financial activities of each BPP branch. This financial summary includes data on sources of income, foreign funding, expenses, the mechanics of local finance operations, and the steps being taken by each office to develop full financial data. This summary enables the Bureau to keep abreast of all financial developments regarding the BPP on a national and international basis.

San Francisco was instructed 8-19-70 to submit monthly lists of nationwide bank accounts and expenses for BPP. This survey was devised by San Francisco; and since it is very helpful in establishing the "big picture" it is being required monthly.

The Black Panther Party has formed a corporation known as Stronghold Consolidated Productions, Inc. (SCPI) to control all BPP funds and assets and to act as purchaser and/or lessee of any property utilized by the BPP. The corporation and its activities are under intensive investigation which has revealed that its activities are centered in San Francisco and New York. By airtels 1-7 and 1-19-71 to San Francisco and New York, these offices were instructed to submit a weekly summary of all pertinent developments concerning the corporation during the previous week plus a monthly review of SCPI bank accounts. These summaries keep the Bureau aware of SCPI operations and also enables us to regularly fulfill our dissemination requirements.

It is noted that there are currently 25 field offices conducting active investigations of the BPP. Our intensive investigation has enabled us to identify its leaders, members and new branches. In addition, we have developed detailed information concerning its operations and activities including organization plans, funding programs, extent of control by headquarters and foreign support and internal factionalism.

All field offices having a BPP investigation were required by Bureau airtel 10-3-68 to submit a monthly report containing evidentiary data required by the Department, and they were also required by Bureau airtel 6-25-69 to maintain records of and to use permanent T symbol numbers to identify all concealed sources in BPP organization reports. Both of these requirements were based on Department requests. The Department advised that the need on which these requests were based no longer existed, and the field offices were instructed by Bureau airtel 5-17-71 to discontinue both programs.

By Bureau airtel 11-6-70, all continental offices were instructed to submit a biweekly airtel regarding underground BPP operations within each field office. This specific requirement was removed by Bureau airtel 4-29-71. However, all offices were admonished to keep the Bureau advised of any developments in this area.

"The Black Panther" newspaper, official organ of the BPP, had been printed in San Francisco since 1967 until recently when the printing was changed to New York City. The Bureau receives a sufficient quantity of the paper from New York to disseminate it to interested agencies and all Legal Attaches. New York also furnishes one copy of each weekly issue to all field offices. This newspaper in the past has been the best indication of current Party line; therefore, this program is essential to our intelligence gathering efforts.

Our ultimate objective is the prosecution of the BPP as an organization or by individual members for any violations of Federal or State laws. As in the past, we will continue to disseminate to local authorities any information we may receive concerning possible local violations. A secondary objective is to more completely develop information concerning the activities and objectives of the BPP for intelligence purposes.

In July, 1969, the Attorney General established a special task force for the specific purpose of developing a prosecutive theory against the BPP. Attorneys of this task force, known as the Special Interdivisional Unit, have interviewed many of our informants in furtherance of this purpose.

It is recommended that the intensive investigation of the BPP including all surveys and procedures outlined as above be continued.

BLACK REVOLUTIONARY PARTY
157-15276

The Black Revolutionary Party is an all black revolutionary, political organization which was formed in April, 1971, at an internal meeting of the pro-Red China Communist Party of Canada (Marxist-Leninist) (CP of C-ML). Among 16 people present were four Americans including well-known black extremist, Charles Knox, former Black Panther Party leader in Des Moines, Iowa.

The BRP was formed within the CP of C-ML to organize blacks in the United States and Canada operating from headquarters in Detroit, Michigan. The BRP follows the political line of communist Chinese leader MAO Tse-tung and publishes a newspaper which serves as its vehicle for disseminating its revolutionary dogma known as the "Black Revolutionary," the first issue of which appeared in May, 1971.

The BRP intends to maintain its existence secret until firmly established which is estimated at taking from one and one-half to two years. It intends to draw recruits from both sides of the current Black Panther Party factionalism and its proposed revolutionary program will reportedly be based on the issue of racial suppression. This is to be accomplished by the formation of armed self-defense units to "fight against the barbarous rule of the monopoly, capitalist class."

On July 12, 1971, Charles Knox and an additional Omaha black extremist were detained temporarily by United States Customs officials in Detroit while returning to the United States from Canada. Search of their vehicle by Customs officials determined Knox and his companion were in possession of numerous pamphlets and leaflets of a pro-communist nature.

Investigations of the BRP and its identified leaders and members are being aggressively pursued and, where necessary, closely coordinated with Royal Canadian Mounted Police via Legat, Ottawa.

CONGRESS OF AFRICAN PEOPLES (CAP)
157-16554

CAP was formed as an international black separatist organization as the result of the convening of the fourth annual gathering of black power advocates in the United States and Atlanta, Georgia, during September, 1970. The organization, which is heavily infiltrated at the leadership level by black extremists, advocates the unity of blacks and the establishment of a black nation via the revolutionary ideology of Pan-Africanism as espoused by CAP supporter and well-known black revolutionary, Stokely Carmichael.

CAP is now active in 15 cities across the Nation and is vigorously pursuing its objectives in this country as well as establishing rapport and lines of communication with black groups and individuals abroad. Recent information indicates two United States CAP representatives plan a trip in the future to Tanzania for the purpose of establishing a CAP organization in that country.

CAP's domestic extremist element, headed by black revolutionaries Hayward Henry and LeRoi Jones, call for the extensive use of disruption and violence, if necessary, by blacks in order to create Independent Black Institutions as are necessary to accomplish CAP's revolutionary objectives by mass action programs utilizing "direction, dedication, and discipline."

CAP held a Western Regional Conference in San Diego, California, during June, 1971, during which it was recommended a national committee be established to consider the possibility of establishing a black paramilitary organization which would furnish support in the form of a united front action with all "liberation struggles" in the United States and internationally.

CAP is currently engaged in efforts at forming an all-black political party in the United States to nominate and elect black officials at local, state, and national levels who, it is felt, will support CAP's plans at establishing a separate black nation. The organization has planned an Eastern Regional Conference in Newark, New Jersey, for September, 1971, and has tentatively scheduled another international meeting in early 1972.

Investigations of the CAP, its black extremist leaders and members, are receiving most close supervision. Pertinent information developed in regard to their activities is being disseminated to the Department and interested Government agencies and officials.

INTERNATIONAL BLACK WORKERS CONGRESS, aka
BLACK WORKERS CONGRESS
Bufile 157-21532

The International Black Workers Congress (IBWC), which is in its formative stages, is dominated by James Forman, an official in the black revolutionary Student National Coordinating Committee. The IBWC makes its headquarters in Detroit, Michigan, at the same locale as that of League of Revolutionary Black Workers, a black extremist labor union in that city.

IBWC is involved in the organizing of black workers and students to further the revolutionary struggle in the United States and other parts of the world as well as for the purpose of building unity among all third world peoples. IBWC's stated objective in organizing black workers is to bring about a national work stoppage, thus severely damaging the United States economy. James Forman has repeatedly stressed the necessity for blacks to be organized to change the capitalistic system to that of a Marxist-Leninist society through seizure of state power.

The IBWC held a regional meeting in Gary, Indiana, in June, 1971, at which discussions centered around organizing black workers into a Marxist-Leninist society and preparations for a drive to organize blacks employed in the steel industry and in the "U. S. Post Office." It was indicated that IBWC would receive assistance from the pro-Chinese Communist Progressive Labor Party (PLP) in the form of advice concerning organizing activities.

An IBWC conference tentatively scheduled to be held in Detroit on August 21 - 22, 1971, has apparently been canceled. Indications are that the conference site has been shifted to Chicago, Illinois, where the conference will be scheduled within two weeks.

It is particularly significant to note IBWC leader James Forman, together with other United States black extremists, including affiliates of the League of Revolutionary Black Workers, recently undertook travel abroad which was to include visits to North Korea, North Vietnam, the Soviet Union, and Algeria.

JUNTA OF MILITANT ORGANIZATIONS
BUFILE 157-9903 4-H

The Junta of Militant Organizations (JOMO) is a black extremist organization with headquarters in St. Petersburg, Florida. This group continues to be the leading organization of all black militant groups in the State of Florida. It was founded in St. Petersburg during May, 1968, with 85 ghetto youths as a nucleus who believed liberation of black people will not come about through "normal channels." The organization has affiliated groups in Louisville, Kentucky, and other cities in Florida. They have attempted to organize on a national basis but have experienced little success except with the establishment of a chapter in Boston, Massachusetts.

The founder and leader of this organization is Joseph Waller, Jr., an articulate Negro who holds the position of "Chairman" and states that he intends to have all black militant groups in Florida designated as affiliates of JOMO.

The organization's voice and propaganda organ is "The Burning Spear" which is published on a monthly basis. This publication has urged blacks to buy arms and to be prepared to fight white America. In this connection, JOMO members have participated in racial disturbances, fire bombings, and have been involved in attacks on police through the use of violence. Members reportedly blew up a radio station in Tampa, Florida, and participated in a plot to break out two black "political prisoners" from a Florida prison. Members have also been arrested for the commission of murders and robberies.

The organization has accumulated a large cache of weapons, and its members are taught guerrilla warfare and receive firearms training.

Recently JOMO has been reincorporated under "The International Junta of Militant Organizations" and now appears to be attempting to make contact with organizations abroad and has embraced Stokely Carmichael's concept of Pan-Africanism.

JOMO has received contributions from all over the United States and recently was almost successful in receiving a large contribution from a church group in New York; however, this latter contribution was ultimately not received.

NATION OF ISLAM
Bufile 25-330971

The Nation of Islam (NOI) is an independent semi-religious group consisting of an adult, hard-core, all black membership of 6,000 members. Muhammad's Temple Number 2 of the Holy Temples of Islam, Chicago, Illinois, is the national headquarters of this organization consisting of 108 groups in the U.S. and one in Bermuda. In seven U.S. cities it operates University of Islam schools for 200 to 600 children at each school. Local groups convene weekly, and once each year a national convention is held in Chicago which is attended by 5,000 to 6,000 individuals.

The NOI remains under leadership of Elijah Muhammed who is the self-proclaimed Messenger of Allah and "Supreme Ruler of the Universe." Leaders continue to stress creation of a separate black nation; complete segregation of the races; hatred of the white man; and development of a black economic community. The group opposes the war in Vietnam, teaches members to evade the draft, and strongly supports the Arabs in their conflict with Israel in the Middle East.

Although for years the leaders of the NOI have taught members to refrain from carrying weapons and engaging in acts of violence and open attacks on the white man, as recently as July, 1971, the NOI Mosque, Tyler, Texas, planned the execution of radio disc jockey and his associate for having previously killed a fellow NOI member. Subsequently, seven members of this mosque were involved in killing one of these men. Local police recovered three pistols and a rifle from among members of this group. The highly inflammatory antiwhite ideology espoused by the NOI continues to make this group a highly volatile extremist organization.

The organization is reaching new heights in accumulating wealth. Three-fourths of a million dollars monthly flows in and out of bank accounts at a national level. Corporations have been formed to operate food processing plants, acquire land in the U.S. and in Bermuda, and acquire and maintain a fleet of jet airplanes.

This group continues the propagation of its beliefs through distributing 400,000 copies weekly of its newspaper, "Muhammad Speaks," and radio broadcasts throughout the country.

We have conducted a continuous security and/or extremist type investigation of this group since 1953 in accordance with Department directives. Each group is reported on semiannually, and the leaders, functionaries, and those involved in violence or extremist activities are subject to active investigation. The Department by letter dated 7/28/66 requested our investigation of this organization be continued.

REPUBLIC OF NEW AFRICA
Bufile 157-9079

The Republic of New Africa (RNA) was formed in Detroit, Michigan, in March, 1968, by followers of Malcolm X, assassinated black extremist. It has chapters in nine U.S. cities and a current hard-core membership of approximately 116 individuals.

RNA was primarily formed by Milton and Richard Henry, long-time extremists in the Detroit area. When first formed, RNA named as its President-in-exile Robert Franklin Williams, violence-prone black extremist then living in China. Williams, who has since returned to the U.S., has resigned his position as head of the RNA due to his own legal problems and dissension existing within the organization.

RNA was established to create a black nation within the U.S. demanding from the U.S. Government the States of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, in addition to individual reparations of $10,000 per black citizen as payment for 400 years of ancestral slave labor.

RNA's organizational structure is revolutionary in character and its leaders have proposed efforts be made for international recognition and financial assistance from Cuba, Red China and the black nations of the world. RNA, in September, 1970, made a formal agreement of mutual revolutionary and financial support with the leader of the Black Power Movement in Surinam.

RNA established a black army known as the Black Legion whose function was to protect the persons and property and to attack the enemies (police) of that nation. Training programs were instituted and uniforms complete with leopard skin epaulets were designed as the official dress for the Black Legionaires.

RNA maintains its national headquarters in Detroit, Michigan, despite the fact that since early 1970, two factions have arisen within the organization. One faction, led by Richard Henry, is attempting to establish a national headquarters in New Orleans, Louisiana. This faction is the most active and militant of the two groups and has called for intensification of RNA activities throughout the U.S. The other group, under the leadership of Milton Henry in Detroit, has been relatively inactive for some time. The Milton Henry Faction, however, has scheduled a national RNA convention to be held in Dayton, Ohio, September 4 through 6, 1971, which activity could herald renewed revolutionary activity by this group.

The Richard Henry Faction has been extremely active in the past several months in attempting to obtain land and establish a black nation in Hinds County, Mississippi. During July, 1971, this faction held a "peoples court" to hear RNA's case against a black farmer and owner of the land claimed by RNA which was consecrated as the group's capitol in March 3, 1971. The black farmer has reneged on a former offer to sell his land to RNA. The RNA group found the farmer guilty and threatens to seize the land by force, if necessary.

The RNA's propensity for violent action is demonstrated by the fact that on August 18, 1971, local police officers in Jackson, Mississippi, accompanied by Bureau Agents raided an RNA site seeking four subjects for whom warrants were outstanding, one of whom was wanted for Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution (UFAP) for murder in Detroit. A shoot-out occurred during which two police officers and a Bureau Agent were wounded. One police officer subsequently died of a head wound. Eleven RNA members, including Richard Henry, have been arrested by local authorities and the UFAP subject is still being sought. A subsequent search of the raided RNA headquarters determined it was a virtual arsenal of weapons of all types including homemade bombs and Molotov cocktails. The front door of this building had been booby-trapped and it had an escape tunnel leading from its rear which was accessible via a trap door in the building's interior and a trench-bunker similar to that utilized by the Viet Cong in the war in South Vietnam.

STUDENT NATIONAL COORDINATING COMMITTEE (SNCC)

SNCC was originally organized in Atlanta, Georgia, in 1960 under the name Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Prior to the election of Stokely Carmichael as its Chairman in May, 1966, the organization operated as a nonmembership civil rights organization with both white and black participation. Carmichael, on assuming the Chairmanship of SNCC, immediately eliminated all whites from participation and changed the organization from a civil rights-oriented group to one whose aims were those of antiwhite revolutionary action and the overthrow of the United States Government, a position which the organization maintains today.

H. Rap Brown, Bureau fugitive and well-known black extremist who served as National Chairman for a time following Carmichael's vacating of that position in 1967, again assumed the National Chairmanship of SNCC in the Summer of 1969. At that time, it was announced SNCC was eliminating the word "nonviolent" from its title. The organization's headquarters were also moved from Atlanta, Georgia, to New York City.

Under Brown's direction, SNCC moved to restructure and revitalize itself in an attempt to regain its prominence as a black extremist organization. The national leadership issued directives on the reorganization of the national office in New York City, as well as the local organizations and the formation of councils to include a Revolutionary Economic Council, an Armed Guerrilla Tactics Council, a Research Council, and others which make up a body within SNCC known as the Revolutionary Political Council.

As a result of H. Rap Brown's flight in May, 1970, to avoid prosecution in Howard County, Maryland, on local charges of inciting to riot and arson, SNCC is presently under the titular leadership of William Edward Hunt. Hunt also serves as head of the organization's Revolutionary Political Council. Frances Beal is the National Political Education Officer. Hunt and Beal are the only two national officers of SNCC.

In July, 1971, a reorganizational meeting was held in Atlanta, Georgia. SNCC cadres gathered from several states and were directed by Hunt to study, understand, and then practice principles set forth in "Contradictions" by Mao Tse-tung and "Dialectical and Historical Materialism" by Joseph Stalin. SNCC members in San Antonio, Texas, are already receiving extensive political education in communist ideology of Marx, Lenin and Stalin. The decision was made to establish a State Bureau of SNCC in every state and to move the national headquarters from New York City to Atlanta. SNCC will support various black revolutionary labor groups and will attempt to rally those under 25 years of age into a new Revolutionary Youth Organization. The cadres discussed establishment of a short-wave communication system utilizing code as a more secure alternative to telephone and mail systems.

Investigations of SNCC, its leaders, affiliates, and their activities continue to receive close supervision. Information of pertinence concerning the organization continues to be disseminated to the White House, the Department and other interested Government agencies and officials.

COMMUNIST INFLUENCE OF BLACK EXTREMIST GROUPS
100-442529

This intensification was initiated in August, 1964. The subject matter was previously reported in a subsection of the Communist Party report, but the volume and importance of this information made it necessary to follow this communist influence in a separate investigation. This investigation includes not only the influence of the Communist Party but also that of the Trotskyite groups, splinter groups and others including the New Left.

The overall objective in this and related investigations is to protect the internal security of the United States by submitting information relating to possible Federal violations to the Attorney General for prosecution. We also have the responsibility to develop intelligence information and disseminate to interested Government agencies. Additionally, we take measures to neutralize the communist influence in the black extremist field whenever feasible.

Reports are submitted quarterly and the investigation is evaluated upon receipt of each report. Pertinent information is disseminated to the White House and the Attorney General.

The year 1970 saw continued influence by communists and other subversives in extremist groups. In fact, the communist attempts to influence the black extremist Black Panther Party were so insistent that the Panthers have become wary of the motives of the Communist Party. This has not diminished in any way the Communist Party's efforts to influence and support the Black Panther Party, the communist tactic being to support the Panthers whether they want it or not.

There are those in the Communist Party who oppose or are extremely reluctant to support the Black Panther Party especially those in the Black Panther Party who call for "revolutionary suicide." Charlene Mitchell, Secretary of the Black Liberation of the Communist Party, is reportedly attempting to split the Communist Party and form a Black Panther Communist Party which believes in violent and dramatic action. Her group is reportedly waiting for Angela Davis, admitted Communist Party member currently incarcerated in California awaiting trial in connection with the kidnapping and murder of a judge in California during an attempted escape by prisoners from the courtroom, to be released at which time Davis will become public leader of the new party. The Communist Party is girding itself to oppose the split.

In June, 1971, a group led by James Rufus Forman, Coordinator of International Affairs for the black extremist Student National Coordinating Committee (SNCC), visited Hanoi ostensibly to establish rapport between the North Vietnamese and black people in the United States. The group's trip was also to include Algiers, Guinea, and Tanzania to reestablish old contacts for SNCC and initiate new ones.

"SNCC Monthly," the publication of SNCC, in its March, 1971, issue, contained an article about "Third World People," united by "common historical oppression." People in Cuba, Vietnam, Guinea, and the Palestinian guerrillas were mentioned as having cut off the tentacles of "the monster," imperialism. Another article in the same issue was printed to politicize the readers on the Arab-Israeli conflict and clarify the similarity between the Arab position and that of other "people of color" throughout the world.

Curtis Nelson Powell, Black Panther Party member involved in restructuring of Black Panther Party - Cleaver Faction, while in Stockholm, Sweden, in early August, 1971, inquired about the possibility of obtaining small arms on behalf of Eldridge Cleaver for the Black Panther Party. He specifically mentioned machine guns, pistols and bazookas and stated there would be no difficulty in getting these items into the United States. His request was rejected. Powell subsequently traveled to Algeria, headquarters of the Black Panther Party International Section, and then on to Tanzania. He met with the Tanzanian Minister for Economic Affairs and Development Planning and requested permission to open a Black Panther Party office in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania. Although the Tanzanian Minister was sympathetic, he doubted the Tanzanian Government would grant such permission at this time.

Write-ups concerning the Black Revolutionary Party and the International Black Workers Congress are incorporated in this survey. Such write-ups document the pro-Red China Communist Party of Canada (Marxist-Leninist) influence over the Black Revolutionary Party and the Marxist-Leninist doctrine of the International Black Workers Congress.

KEY BLACK EXTREMIST PROGRAM

4-H

Key Black Extremist (KBE) Program initiated 12/23/70 with Director's approval to intensify investigative coverage of selected black extremists throughout United States who are extremely active and most vocal in their calls for terrorism and violence. Ninety individuals are currently on the KBE list, including such persons as Stokely Carmichael, Huey Newton and David Hilliard.

Objective of program is to develop complete and detailed information on the day-to-day activities and future plans of KBE individuals. Investigative summary report is required followed by investigative report every 90 days.

All KBE individuals are included in Priority I of Security Index. Each is included in the Black Nationalist Photograph Album. All aspects of their finances are determined. Their handwriting specimens are placed in the National Security File in the Laboratory Division. Their fingerprints are included in the Black Extremist Section of the Single Fingerprint File in the Identification Division. Particular attention is paid to their travel. Possible criminal violations are vigorously pursued. Emphasis is placed on obtaining record of their inflammatory statements. High level of informant coverage on each individual is required.

Supervision of KBE investigations is handled on the individual desks and additions to and deletions from KBE list must be approved by Bureau. Inasmuch as KBE individuals are of the type whose investigation would ordinarily require close supervision by Bureau supervisors, the administration and supervision of this program entails only a minimum amount of time above that which would ordinarily be expended on the supervision of the cases of these persons.

Continuation of this program will be justified in December, 1971.

The prime purpose of development and utilization of extremist informants and sources is to provide intelligence and evidenciary information concerning black and white extremist organizations and individuals. These sources are also called upon to furnish information concerning situations affecting civil unrest in all parts of the country.

Supervision of extremist informants at the Seat of Government includes review and approval of new informants and confidential sources, review of progress of informants, review of payments being made to informants, analysis of informant coverage in each field office, analysis of nationwide informant coverage of the various extremist organizations, coordination of informant coverage of specific functions such as Black Panther Party (BPP) and other extremist groups' conventions, supervision of operations for the development of top-echelon BPP informants, and other special projects such as development of information concerning black extremist underground escape routes and coordinating utilization of informants abroad with other agencies. All procedures are constantly evaluated in an effort to increase the efficiency of our operation and to provide the field with the necessary supervision with a minimum of paper work.

As of 7/31/71 we are operating a total of 7,477 extremist informants compared with a total of 7,184 at the time of the last Inspection. This is an increase of 293 informants. Concerning the above informants, 583 informants report on black extremist organizations and 353 informants report on white extremist organizations such as the Klan. We are operating 6,541 ghetto informants who provide general information within the black ghetto areas of our cities as compared to 6,224 ghetto informants at the time of the last Inspection which represents an increase of 317 ghetto informants.

In line with the fluctuating membership in the various black extremist organizations, we have constantly adjusted our informant coverage. This can be seen very clearly with the most violent of the black extremist groups, the Black Panther Party. At the time of the last Inspection BPP membership was 1,000, and we afforded coverage of these 1,000 members with 173 informants which represents 17.3 percent of the membership. The present membership is 710, and we have 156 informants reporting on these individuals which represents 21.7 percent of the membership. This is a net increase of informant coverage to total membership of 4.4 since the last Inspection. This also indicates our aims and purposes of penetrating these organizations with the most qualified informants and keeping within the policy of operating the informant program in a very efficient manner.

At the time of the last Inspection we were operating 376 informants furnishing information concerning white extremist organizations, and as of 7/31/71 we are operating 353 informants. This is in keeping with the current membership of the Klan and white hate organizations.

By memorandum dated 2/19/71 from G. C. Moore to Mr. C. D. Brennan captioned "Penetration of Black Extremist Groups in Canada, Racial Matters" it was recommended and approved that this Bureau attempt to penetrate the black extremist activities in Canada due to the close working relationship being developed between the extremists in that country and the United States. We made available to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) a top source of the Baltimore Division. By letter dated 7/20/71 from Legat, Ottawa, it was set out that the RCMP advised they have been extremely pleased with the progress made by our source in that he has furnished information concerning future plans for acts of violence and the establishment of guerrilla warfare training by black extremist groups in the Toronto, Canada, area.

RCMP indicated that Halifax, Nova Scotia, is fast becoming a focal point of black extremist activity in Canada.

RCMP pointed out that the above area is visited frequently by black extremist figures from the United States and admitted that they have experienced considerable difficulty in the recruitment of suitable sources in the Halifax area. RCMP requested of the Bureau another source of the caliber of the one presently operating in Canada.

By memorandum dated 7/29/71 it was recommended and approved that we solicit of the field the identities of informants who may be able to travel to Canada. This project is presently being followed very closely.

By memorandum dated 5/5/70 from G. C. Moore to Mr. W. C. Sullivan captioned "Racial Informant Development, Black Panther Party (BPP), Racial Matters" it was recommended and approved that two Special Agents of the San Francisco Division be assigned to work exclusively on developing a top-level informant in the BPP. By letter dated 8/17/71 San Francisco was instructed that captioned program is being discontinued. Review of this program showed that all avenues leading to the possible development of high-level BPP informants have been explored and the groundwork laid for the development of top-echelon leaders who might defect. Therefore, it was believed that it was no longer necessary to have two Special Agents assigned exclusively to this program. This will bring about a savings in manpower; however, San Francisco is under instructions to continue aggressive efforts to penetrate the top echelon of the BPP. This is being closely followed at the Seat of Government.

GHETTO INFORMANTS

The ghetto informant program was instituted 10/11/67 to fulfill an urgent need to develop a network of "listening posts" in the ghetto areas of our cities. A ghetto informant is an individual living or working in the ghetto area who is available to furnish information concerning conditions which may create civil unrest.

Since 1967 this program has been significantly modified in that this vast network of informants have been changed from listening posts to individuals who are actively seeking extremist information as well as information concerning violations of Federal and local statutes.

We have noted numerous incidents where ghetto informants are being converted by the field to regular extremist informants in that they have been graduated into positions where they can report on a regular basis concerning the activities of individual extremists and/or extremist organizations. As a valuable by-product we are also achieving criminal statistics through contacts with our ghetto informants. This program was justified by memorandum dated 7/4/71 from G. C. Moore to Mr. C. D. Brennan captioned "Ghetto Informant Program, Racial Matters" and is scheduled to be rejustified in July, 1972.

COUNTERINTELLIGENCE PROGRAM - BLACK EXTREMISTS
Bufile 100-448006

Counterintelligence action regarding black extremists was initiated 8/25/67 and was last justified 5/14/70. This program was a supplement to our black extremist investigative activities and involved a variety of sensitive intelligence techniques which were afforded close supervision at the Seat of Government. No action could be instituted under this program without prior Bureau authorization.

To afford additional security to our sensitive techniques and operations, all counterintelligence programs, including this program, were discontinued and the field was so advised by airtel 4/28/71.

Although this program was discontinued, the field was advised if exceptional instances arose wherein it was considered counterintelligence action is warranted, that recommendations should be submitted to the Bureau under the specific case caption involved. These recommendations will then be considered on an individual basis. The field was also reminded that prior Bureau authority is required before initiating any activity of a counterintelligence nature.

Significant results since last inspection as a result of this program are set forth under "Accomplishments 4E" elsewhere in this report.

NAME CHECKS OF ALIENS HOLDING DIPLOMATIC AND INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION VISAS

This program was initiated in January, 1952, as a means of keeping the Attorney General advised of information of a subversive nature relating to the diplomats and officials of foreign countries entering the United States in official capacities. These data are required by the Attorney General to assist in discharging his responsibilities under the Immigration and Nationality Act for exclusion and/or deportation of foreign officials where their activity requires such action.

The basis for this program is found in the procedure by Immigration and Naturalization Service in its submission of a form advising of the arrival of the alien officials in this country, which form is sent to member agencies of the intelligence community. The separate agencies perform name checks on the data in these forms with the results being channelized to the FBI. We correlate this information with data from our files and furnish same to the Attorney General. In those instances where additional investigation appears warranted, we obtain clearance from Department of State and issue appropriate instructions to the field for active investigation.

Since the program was initiated, 794,570 Immigration and Naturalization Service forms have been processed and we have undertaken 474 investigations based on results thereof.

The program continues to supplement our overall coverage in the intelligence field with the majority of the work being handled by trained clerical personnel within the Nationalities Intelligence Section and some isolated instances of involved investigations being handled by substantive desk supervisors within the Division. Based on the limited number of active investigations opened since the inception of this program, the cost of the program consists mainly of name check expenditures. The program continues to serve a necessary purpose in our overall intelligence coverage, serving to alert us to the presence in this country of persons having a capability for intelligence activities or who may pose a security threat to the United States.

The program is justified annually, with the last justification having been made February 18, 1971.

PROGRAM
COMMUNIST COVERAGE ALONG THE MEXICAN BORDER
BOCOV
BUFILE: 100-356015

Substitute

I. Background and Date of Inception

BOCOV was initiated by the Director in 1948 to fill a void in adequacy of coverage in the 25-mile zone south of the U. S. - Mexican border by the Central Intelligence Agency and the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

II. Scope and Desired Objectives

Three border offices, El Paso, San Antonio, and San Diego, as well as the office of the Legal Attache, Mexico, participate in this program. Ten Agents and two Assistant Legal Attaches devote a portion of their time directing some 200 sources and informants. Population of the zone areas involved is approximately 1,700,000 persons of which some 2,400 have been identified as either members or sympathizers of major Mexican subversive groups.

III. Positive Results Achieved Since Last Inspection

Program has furnished valuable information relative to threat against U. S. by Mexican subversives residing and or operating in the border area. Investigative results are furnished to all levels of interested U. S. Government intelligence community. Program continues to keep us advised of potential trouble areas and allows for appropriate counter-measures.

IV. Extent and Nature of Current Supervision

Periodic reports on individuals and organizations as well as informant coverage relating to BOCOV are analyzed and correlated by SA Bernardo M. Perez. Involved is review of incoming letters, memoranda, reports and semiannual progress letters detailing informant coverage and subversive strength. Analysis of this material provides a basis for detecting weaknesses and making arrangements for counterintelligence moves.

V. Current Justification for Continuance

BOCOV continues to fill the above-described intelligence void and, in addition, is coordinated with other intelligence programs originating in the border area, in particular the SECOMEX program.

VI. Frequency of Evaluation and Date of Last Justification

Program is evaluated annually and was last justified January 8, 1971.

BOCOV

Bocov is a code word which concerns a highly sensitive intelligence operation of this Bureau which was in effect from 4/24/48 until 9/11/72. The purpose of this operation was to attempt to identify foreign subversive elements entering the U. S. Although this operation is no longer in existence, the disclosure of the fact that it was once carried on would undoubtedly severely impair the abilities of this Bureau to fulfill its domestic obligations, not only with regard to the internal security of the U. S., but also in investigating criminal matters of an international nature. Furthermore, unauthorized disclosure of details of this operation could jeopardize the lives of individuals who cooperated with this Bureau and who are currently residing abroad.

SECURITY INDEX - CUBA

Background and Date of Inception

This program was instituted in November, 1960. By that date it was obvious that Cuba, whose Government had been taken over by Fidel Castro in January, 1959, was a communist state posing a real and present threat to the internal security of the United States. In 1962, at the time of the Cuban missile crisis, an Agent Supervisor at the Bureau was assigned the specific responsibility for administering this program to assure the apprehension and special handling of the individuals included therein in the event of a limited emergency involving Cuba.

Scope and Desired Objectives

As of July 15, 1971, there were 409 individuals included in the Security Index - Cuba Program, divided into two categories:

1. Individuals placed on the Security Index solely on account of their pro-Cuban activities (Cuban Special Section - 93 persons).
2. Persons already on the Security Index because of other subversive connections and activities who would warrant special attention in the event of hostilities with Cuba (Security Index subjects tabbed "Pro-Cuban" - 316 individuals).

Program is designed to maintain an up-to-date record of location and activities of individuals included therein, by means of established Security Index procedures and reporting, in order that we are in a position to move swiftly should the apprehension or special handling of these persons become necessary.

Positive Results Achieved

Determination as to the validity of an individual's inclusion in this program is constantly under review. Since the program was last justified on April 7, 1971, the number of persons on the Cuban Section of the Index has been reduced from 95 to 93. These 93 persons are judged to be hard-core pro-Cubans, action against whom in a Cuban emergency would be mandatory. Of these 93, 28 are Cuban aliens. Each subject of pending security investigations with Cuban ramifications is considered for inclusion in the Index.

Extent and Nature of Current Supervision

The Agent Supervisor responsible for this program is required to review each investigative communication in current cases of pro-Cuban individuals to determine whether the individual meets the criteria for inclusion in the Index, as outlined in the Manual of Instructions. He must make a decision as to the degree of dangerousness of the individual under the Priority Apprehension Program and rule on the field's recommendations regarding these matters. He initiates procedures with the Security Index Desk of the Domestic Intelligence Division and Voucher Statistical Section of the Administrative Division regarding the placing of an individual on the Index, his removal and the assignment or change in apprehension priority.

If the individual involved is an alien, correspondence with the Internal Security Division of the Department is required to assure the preparation of a pre-positioned arrest warrant by Immigration and Naturalization Service. Action is also taken with the Department to cancel the arrest warrant if the alien is removed from the Index.

Current Justification

The threat to the internal security of the United States from communist Cuba has not lessened in recent years. A workable priority apprehension system which receives current and continuing attention is mandatory. This program, as presently organized and handled, is fully justified.

Frequencies of Evaluation and Date of Last Evaluation

This program is evaluated on a semiannual basis. The most recent review and evaluation was dated April 7, 1971.

AMERICAN REPATRIATE PROGRAM

The American Repatriate Program which was instituted in February, 1962, to specify procedure to be followed upon receipt of information that U.S. citizens residing in Cuba had been issued Swiss Protection Passports by Swiss Embassy in Havana, Cuba, for travel to U. S. was discontinued by memorandum W. R. Wannall to Mr. C. D. Brennan, dated March 25, 1971.

INTELLIGENCE COVERAGE OF FRIENDLY FOREIGN COUNTRIES
(Bufile: 65-63113)

1. Background, Scope and Objectives

Program was inaugurated 1954 aimed at developing positive intelligence information, as well as data of value to FBI investigations. Expansion of the program took place in 1955 and 1959 and during 1962 and 1963, as well as in 1970, additional coverage was approved.

The program has four principal phases as follows:

a. Regular notification to the FBI by other U. S. agencies regarding arrival in U. S. of intelligence personnel from non-Soviet bloc countries. This phase consists chiefly of file reviews at Seat of Government at nominal expense.

b. Maintenance of special coverage on official establishments of selected non-Soviet bloc countries with the approval of State Department and the Attorney General. We currently have special coverage on six diplomatic establishments of four non-Soviet bloc countries. Countries currently covered are Panama, Cuba, Israel and the United Arab Republic. Our cost in operating this phase of the program is related to translation of the intelligence product and salary of personnel who man special coverage equipment. Costs are analyzed on an individual basis each time the special coverage is justified. This justification is based on the value of the data developed.

c. This phase relates to the development of live sources within diplomatic establishments of non-Soviet bloc countries as well as the development of individuals so closely connected with official establishments they are able to provide accurate up-to-date intelligence information. We now have 39 actual and 14 potential live sources

8/18/71
ERH:bjp

at the establishments of 24 non-Soviet bloc countries. The principal cost involved in this phase relates to Agent time devoted to investigations of sources and time spent in handling these sources.

d. This phase relates to our intensification of efforts by our legal attache offices abroad to develop and instantaneously report high-level intelligence information susceptible to immediate transmission to the White House for consideration by appropriate officials involved in determining national policy on critical international issues.

Since the last inspection we have instituted a program operating under the code word of "HILEV" which provides for specific channels of transmission and dissemination along the lines noted above. The expansion of our operations abroad, at the instruction of the President, has resulted in the development of considerable expertise on the part of our legal attaches in developing the type of information required in this area and the resulting product of their efforts has resulted in laudatory comments by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and other high-level members of the Executive Branch.

2. Positive Results Achieved

This program has enabled us to continue to produce a steady flow of substantive information of an intelligence nature for the White House and the highest level of the intelligence community. The program has been particularly productive in our coverage of such critical areas of tension as the Middle East crisis, the continuing crisis in Panama, and the recurring areas of tension created in South America by the frequent overthrow and/or establishment of regimes in that continent, some of which are strongly anti-American in political leaning. In other fringe nationality areas, the program has served as a basis for obtaining information which has served as a basis for advice to various high-level Government officials necessary for policy decisions within the international political arena. The majority of these data are not otherwise obtainable.

The daily flow of information from our sources in the various facets of this program to the highest levels of Government has succeeded in firmly establishing the FBI as a lucrative source of foreign intelligence.

This ability to produce such information has been recognized, as noted, by Dr. Kissinger at the White House and by various officials of the Central Intelligence Agency in frequent contact with the Bureau. Specific comments regarding the HILEV program and its productivity may be found in the work papers of this inspection under Section 4-E, Accomplishments - Special Coordination Unit.

3. Extent and Nature of Current Supervision

The program as it relates to all friendly foreign countries (except West Germany) is coordinated by the Number One Man of the Nationalities Intelligence Section working through the separate supervisors assigned to the individual country's desk within the Section.

4. Current Justification for Continuation

This program continues to produce information of substantial value relative to Bureau investigations as well as substantive foreign political information of vital interest to the White House and members of the intelligence community. The information continues to illustrate the FBI's ability to produce valuable intelligence information relative to foreign political matters and to solidify the Bureau's position as a valuable source of foreign intelligence data. It is recommended that this program be continued.

5. Periodic Justification

Program is evaluated annually and was last justified by memorandum dated 5/5/71.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS - DANGEROUS ALIENS OF NATIONS OUTSIDE THE SOVIET BLOC

Program was initiated in April, 1951, to create a centralized compilation of undesirable and potentially dangerous aliens with diplomatic immunity against whom State Department can, when wartime emergency arises, initiate steps for deportation or lifting of their diplomatic immunity.

The program applies only to aliens from countries outside the Soviet bloc employed in the United States in international organizations within provisions of International Organizations Immunities Act. The program is similar in intent to the Emergency Detention Program and the PRODIP Program; however, it involves an entirely different type of individual.

The program is a control device only and involves no investigative activity. Twenty-three individuals (as of 8/18/71) are included on the list, with New York Office responsible for nineteen and Washington Field Office responsible for four.

Current program requires only an annual letter with deletions or additions being made by separate letter as subjects involved qualify for elimination or inclusion. Substantive desk supervisors review field submissions to verify need for inclusion of individuals on list.

Program continues to serve a useful purpose as a precautionary measure for U. S. security in time of emergency. It is justified annually, with last justification having been made 2/21/71.

CHINESE ALIENS ENTERING THE U. S.
(Bufile 105-135923)

CHINESE ENTERING THE U.S. CLAIMING U.S. CITIZENSHIP
(Bufile 105-12752)

Inasmuch as the criteria and objectives regarding the above two programs are similar, both are included in this write-up.

Investigations under the Chinese alien program were instituted 1/26/65 and investigations relating to Chinese entering the U. S. claiming U. S. citizenship were initiated 9/14/65.

Both of the above programs are designed to uncover, through investigation, ethnic Chinese who may enter the U. S. under the guise of a legitimate alien and/or U. S. citizen but who, in fact, may be covert intelligence agents of Communist China. Prior to inception of these programs, we were made aware of emphasis placed by Chinese communist (Chicom) intelligence organizations on the need to introduce illegal agents into the U. S. Provided sufficient indoctrination and training are given, the legal alien channel is undoubtedly the easiest way to accomplish the desire of the Chicoms to plant their agents in this country.

Under existing immigration laws, up to 10,000 Chinese aliens may be admitted to the U. S. for permanent residence annually. Under an additional program initiated in 1971, another 250 Chinese aliens may be admitted to the U. S. monthly as Conditional Entrants. All of these aliens have backgrounds closely connecting them with Communist China and some leave behind on the mainland immediate family members or very close relatives. Our experience in this field over the years indicates that alien entrants into the U. S. who may be selected for intelligence assignments would probably have resided in a communist country while in the 19 to 45-year age group and would probably have at least 8 years of formal education. Accordingly, our investigations of aliens are limited to those who fit the above criteria.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
8/19/71
FXO:dgo
4-H

169

The key to investigations of this type is the initial interview which is conducted after the field office covering the alien's residence has developed sufficient background information on the subject. These interviews are designed to have the subject personally verify information he may have furnished to U. S. authorities at some time in the past and in cases where significant discrepancies are disclosed through the interview, we will intensify the investigation, looking toward the possibility that the subject is now unable to recall a previous cover story. In the event the initial interview is satisfactory, the case is closed subject to being reopened after two years for a second interview. The second interview, which is conducted for the same purpose as the first interview, will determine whether or not additional action is to be taken. If the second interview is satisfactory, no subsequent action is taken with regard to the subject. Cases investigated under the citizenship program are handled in a similar manner.

Our investigations in both these areas produce intelligence information of various types which is valuable to other U. S. agencies having a primary interest in developments in mainland China. The two programs have produced tangible results in that a number of sources in the Chinese field have been developed through interviews.

Chinese alien cases originate with Legal Attache, Hong Kong, who views appropriate records and thereafter submits pertinent data to the Bureau regarding those aliens who fit the criteria for investigation or any others whose backgrounds are deemed to be so unusual that investigation may be justified even though they do not fit the criteria. Cases in the citizenship category are initiated by the Washington Field Office after review of passport records. Alien and citizenship cases are handled on the Desks of two Supervisors and constitute only a portion of the work on each Desk. Results of investigation are carefully reviewed and evaluated in line with our objective of determining if the subject is or may be of investigative interest.

It is felt that these two programs are fully justified for continuation since they cover areas which may be utilized by the Chicoms to introduce illegal agents into this country. No other U. S. investigative agency carries out investigative activity along this line. In addition, these programs provide us with sources and positive intelligence of interest to other U. S. agencies. No additional manpower is necessary to carry out our responsibilities under these programs.

COUNTERINTELLIGENCE OPERATIONS AGAINST CHINESE COMMUNIST INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITIES IN THE UNITED STATES (CHICOIN)

(Bufile 105-135614)

4-H

Captioned program was initiated in May, 1965, to combat Chinese communist (Chicom) efforts to initiate intelligence operations and develop intelligence data in the United States.

Analysis indicates that our current efforts relating to development of informants, particularly double agents, is an activity which we normally carry out in connection with our intelligence responsibilities. Since CHICOIN was previously defined as a means by which we were creating situations and placing our informants in contact with Chicoms abroad, with the aim of their being recruited by the Chicoms, it is felt we are accomplishing the same objective through source and double agent development in individual cases.

We are constantly aware of the need to employ counterintelligence methods designed toward penetration of Chicom intelligence, particularly since a Chicom official establishment has opened in Canada and with the knowledge that the Chicoms will probably enter the United Nations within the next 14 months. Along these lines, we are continuing, on an individual basis, development of sources who can be directed toward the penetration mentioned above.

Accordingly, it is felt that use of the term CHICOIN in connection with our basic efforts, is no longer necessary. CHICOIN, as a program, is therefore discontinued.

VISITORS TO COMMUNIST CHINA AND CONTACTS BY UNITED STATES RESIDENTS OF CHINESE DIPLOMATIC ESTABLISHMENTS

4-H

1. Background, Date of Inception, Scope and Desired Objectives.

This program was initiated in 8/65 in an effort to uncover Chinese communist (Chicom) activities in the United States. The identities of individuals, both citizens and noncitizens who are residents of this country, were furnished to us by United States intelligence agencies and friendly foreign intelligence services. These individuals either attempted to enter Communist China or contacted the diplomatic establishments of the People's Republic of China (PRC) throughout the world. Since 1965, the number of diplomatic establishments maintained by the PRC has increased many times, particularly during the past year when many countries recognized the PRC.

This program is field-wide and not directly connected with any other investigative program. The objectives include identifying those individuals who enter the PRC and who may be engaged in Chicom activities in their contacts with Chicom establishments. It is essential that visitors to Communist China and PRC Embassies in foreign countries be identified to determine if they have access to classified material or could be utilized for an intelligence or espionage assignment upon their return to the United States. During recent months, the United States Government has lifted the ban on travel to Communist China. However, the PRC has been very selective in the issuance of travel documents to United States citizens and, up until now, has restricted the issuance of these documents to chiefly a few newspapermen, some scholars, known pro-Chicom sympathizers and a very limited number of ethnic Chinese. During the past month, the Department of State and the Justice Department have indicated that the travel restrictions will be lifted on permanent resident aliens in the United States who wish to visit Communist China, Outer Mongolia and Albania. Previously, the restrictions on United States citizens limited the number who actually entered China as well as the number of visitors to PRC diplomatic establishments. The lifting of the restrictions on United States citizens and the proposed amendment to the law concerning permanent resident aliens will greatly increase the number of investigations under this program. Many of the individuals traveling to China from the United States will be legitimate merchants, scholars and tourists. However, they will be subjected to possible approaches for intelligence purposes. In addition, we will possibly be able to utilize legitimate travelers as walk-ins. Therefore, it is essential that we fully identify all those who enter China or contact PRC diplomatic establishments abroad. The ethnic Chinese is of greatest interest to the Chicoms as a visitor, particularly if he has relatives residing on the Chinese mainland. Based upon the experiences of friendly foreign intelligence agencies, particularly RCMP, we have learned that the Chicoms primarily recruit as intelligence agents the ethnic Chinese.

2. Positive Results Achieved Since Last Inspection.

Investigations since the last inspection have greatly increased. Many of the investigations are in the initial stages of identifying the individuals. In February, 1971, the Chicoms established an Embassy in Ottawa, Canada. During that month, 14 United States residents contacted the Embassy. During June, 156 residents contacted the Embassy in addition to contacts with the Chicom propaganda news agency, New China News Agency. Included among these people are ethnic Chinese, national political figures in the United States, China scholars, journalists and merchants. The increase from February through June of over 1,000 percent indicates the acceleration of the problem facing the Bureau in this program. During July, there was a substantial increase over June. The Chicoms have taken on a new look and are encouraging visitors to the Embassy in Ottawa. Our common border, which is so easily crossed, offers no resistance, and it is through the excellent cooperation of the RCMP that we are able to obtain the names and addresses of individuals contacting the Embassy or the New China News Agency (NCNA). It is expected that in the future the number of contacts will increase both at Ottawa as well as at the China Travel Service in Hong Kong and the various Embassies of the PRC in foreign countries. The present policies of the President and the Department of State speaking for the United States Government will continue to encourage visitors, any of which is a possible subject for recruitment by Chicom intelligence for hard espionage, intelligence activities or propagandizing the American people.

3. Extent and Nature of Current Supervision.

Portions of this program are handled by three Bureau supervisors. However, the visitors to China are correlated by one supervisor and the contacts with Chicom diplomatic establishments are correlated by a second supervisor. This has become necessary because of the increased work load based upon information furnished by RCMP through Legat, Ottawa. Investigations are conducted to fully identify the individuals primarily through established sources, if possible, to determine their current residence and particularly their employment. Identification of employment is essential to determine if the individual has access to classified information or if he is in some field of endeavor which is of particular interest to the Chicoms. Each case is evaluated on its individual merits and cases are not opened on individuals on whom sufficient background information is available, such as nationally known journalists, scholars or political figures.

4. Current Justification for Continuation.

RCMP has advised as recently as July, 1971, that they feel that at least 50 percent of the Chinese communist intelligence effort in Canada will be directed against the United States. The wife of a Chicom intelligence officer of the Chicom Embassy in Ottawa has stated that the Embassy staff in Canada will be large because "we will be responsible for the United States as well as Canada." It is absolutely necessary that this program be continued to identify all contacts both in Canada as well as at other PRC diplomatic establishments throughout the world. In addition, Legat, Hong Kong, has submitted a form which has been approved to forward to the Bureau the identities of those individuals who are American citizens or permanent resident aliens who cross the border of Hong Kong into Communist China at Lo Wu.

In addition, identity of visitors will give us a fertile field for development of sources which we may utilize as walk-ins, particularly at the Embassy in Ottawa. RCMP has greatly encouraged this procedure.

5. How Often Evaluated and Date of Last Justification.

This program is evaluated annually and the last date of justification took place on 1/12/71.

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: In order that the overall foreign liaison can be fully and currently evaluated, you are requested to furnish your comments concerning each Legal Attache Office presently operating (17); former Legal Attache Offices which you have proposed to be reopened (3); and proposed new Legal Attache Offices (3).

In providing this information, you are requested to be specific as to: (1) productivity (including intelligence) of each existing office (provide examples); (2) comment as to adequacy of personnel assigned (fully document if additions, deletions or changes recommended); (3) make specific recommendations regarding continuing or discontinuing each of existing offices.

You are also requested to state your current recommendations regarding each former and new Legal Attache Office proposed above.

Comments of Assistant Director Brennan and Section Chief Wannall requested.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR: C. D. BRENNAN:
(CDB:mls 8/25/71)
I concur with the attached comprehensive analysis of Section Chief Wannall in regard to our Legal Attache operations abroad. The Inspector should particularly note Wannall's concluding observation that any future expansion abroad will be resisted by the Department of State and Central Intelligence Agency and unless specifically ordered by the White House, will require approval from State and Bureau of the Budget. As Mr. Wannall points out, we are not in a position to balance the value of the information expected against the costs, and I would suggest the Inspector insure that a copy of Mr. Wannall's overall analysis is furnished to the Administrative Division inasmuch as the Director on 8/23/71 approved the recommendation that the Administrative Division should coordinate and handle all requests for increased staffing, as well as the creation of new Legal Attache posts.

LEGAL ATTACHE OFFICES
FOREIGN LIAISON

COMMENTS OF SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL: WRW In response to the Inspector's inquiry, comments follow concerning (1) the 11 foreign offices in operation prior to the expansion in December, 1970, (2) the 6 new offices opened in December, 1970, and (3) the 6 additional offices which we proposed be opened in response to the Director's inquiry in May, 1971. With respect to categories (1) and (2) it is noted that these 17 offices have just undergone inspection, most of them during the current month. As very few of the inspection reports are yet available, these comments are necessarily based upon those facets of the work which it is possible to observe from the Seat of Government.

(1) Offices in Operation Prior to Expansion

BERN

Our operations in Switzerland are most delicate because of the fierce independence of the Swiss, who would not permit the use of "Legal Attache" as it was considered too widely identified with the FBI. As a result, our representative is known in the Embassy and in Switzerland merely as an Attache. The office has become increasingly important in the criminal field very recently as a result of the large scale thefts of securities in the United States and their transportation to and attempted sale or hypothecation in Switzerland. In addition, it has long been the goal to obtain access to information concerning bank accounts opened in Switzerland by subjects of our investigations. Progress has been slow but we have been able to secure limited information and the cooperation received is the direct result of the personal liaison of our Legal Attache.

Productivity

During fiscal 1971, the office located 7 fugitives and arranged 4 "informal deportations." Its pending case load as of 6/30/71 was 83 which is approximately average on a per agent basis in the foreign field. Through 8/23/71 Bern had submitted 7 HILEV items of which 5 were actually disseminated. This is the smallest number of submissions of any Legal Attache and the second smallest number of acceptable items.

Personnel

BONN

This is a very important European office covering Germany, Austria, and the Netherlands. There is a high volume of both criminal and security work. The large United State military presence in Germany is both an espionage target and a source of Bureau work. The military intercept program furnishes our office copies of correspondence passing through Germany to and from Iron Curtain countries and the volume of this is so great as to require extra clerical assistance. The Legal Attache has served in Germany since 1951 and is universely respected and given full cooperation.

Productivity

In fiscal 1971 20 persons wanted in the United States were located in the Bonn territory and 5 stolen cars were recovered. The Legal Attache is currently working a ring case which will result in location of an additional number. Through 8/23/71 he has submitted 18 HILEV items of which 7 have been disseminated. This is considerably below average and this matter was discussed with the Legal Attache during his visit to Washington on home leave recently. He has shown improvement as evidenced by the fact that he has submitted 4 items already during August of which 3 have been used. His pending case load as of 6/30/71 was 355 which is considerably above average on a per agent basis.

Personnel

A third agent was added to Bonn in December, 1970, at the time Austria was added to its territory. It is felt this is adequate.

Recommendation

Continue.

BUENOS AIRES

For several years this was a one-man office attempting to cover not only Argentina but also Brazil, some 1,200 miles away and larger than the United States. Although we had a very capable Legal Attache, he could barely touch the high spots in his territory and maintained a very low case load. Two additional agents were assigned in December, 1970, and Paraguay was added to the Legal Attache's responsibilities as was intelligence reporting on Chile. We believe the results have justified this move although one agent is still trying to cover Brazil on a road trip basis.

Productivity

During fiscal 1971, 38 persons wanted in the United States were located in the territory. The pending case load as of 6/30/71 was 294 and above average on a per agent basis. As of 8/23/71, the office had submitted 47 HILEV items of which 21 have been used and 2 are still pending. This is well above the average.

Personnel

One agent and one clerk could be transferred from Buenos Aires if an office were to be opened in Rio de Janeiro. Under present circumstances, the personnel is adequate but three agents and three clerks would not be needed if Brazil was removed from their territory.

Recommendation

Continue. At present, this is our only point of coverage for an enormous area of South America.

HONG KONG

Originally opened to provide coverage of Chinese communist activities, Hong Kong fell heir to the entire Southwest Pacific area when our office in Manila was closed. We believe the area has a high potential both for cases pertaining to the Bureau's domestic jurisdiction and for items of high-level intelligence. The intermittent road trips, however, do not permit adequate development of contacts who can be relied upon to look out for our interests. In addition, the Legal Attache has required an abnormal amount of supervision in regard to administrative matters. He experiences great difficulty in meeting deadlines and has been censured twice already this year for delays in reporting. He has an outstanding personality, speaks readily and fluently, and has a good background in Chinese matters. Nevertheless, very few of his HILEV submissions have been acceptable and he has evidenced a lack of understanding of what constitutes intelligence of interest to the White House. It was suggested that these matters be inquired into by the Inspector together with the Legal Attache's relationship with the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) so far as the passage of information to and from British sources is concerned. The results of the inspection are not yet known.

Productivity

Fifty-four persons wanted in the United States were located by the office during fiscal 1971. Eight "informal deportations" were arranged. The case load as of 6/30/71 was 178 which is approximately average on a per agent basis. As of 8/23/71, the Legal Attache had submitted 27 items for HILEV dissemination of which 7 were considered acceptable.

Personnel

The present personnel complement is not considered adequate to discharge the Bureau's responsibilities, including HILEV in Southeast Asia. We have, however, recommended that three additional offices be opened in this area. If these offices are opened, the complement of two agents and two clerks should be able to handle the work in Hong Kong and, if necessary, provide relief to any one-man office opened in the area.

Recommendation

Continue. The resumption of relations with Communist China will make this office increasingly important.

LONDON

This is our most productive office in Western Europe and handles a heavy volume of criminal cases. Our office has developed a very close relationship with Scotland Yard and its Special Branch with the result that we receive splendid cooperation in both criminal and security investigations in the London area. There are always a large number of Americans in England and Ireland and there will always be a need for our representation there.

Productivity

As of 6/30/71, London had 333 pending cases, the largest number per agent of any office except Ottawa. Ninety-one persons wanted in the United States were located by the office during fiscal 1971 and 4 "informal deportations" were arranged despite the British insistence upon formal legal procedures. As of 8/23/71, London had submitted 20 items for HILEV dissemination 11 of which were accepted. This is slightly below average.

Personnel

We have recommended that consideration be given to assigning an additional agent to London and if approved, this will still leave London with an above average number of cases per man. We believe that the Bureau gets high value for its investment in the London Office.

MADRID

An increasing number of American travelers are visiting Spain and they have included fugitives and other United States criminals. The present Legal Attache has developed strong contacts in Spain, including Prince Juan Carlos, the heir apparent to General Franco. Although operating alone, the Legal Attache has done a particularly good job both in his contacts and the administration of his office.

Productivity

Twenty-four persons wanted in the United States were located by the Legal Attache during fiscal 1971. His case load as of 6/30/71 was 115 which is substantially above average on a per agent basis. To date, he has submitted 28 items for HILEV dissemination of which 17 have been accepted with 2 still pending. This is above average.

182

Personnel

We recently recommended that one agent and one clerk be added to Madrid in the event of a future expansion. While the present complement can handle the normal FBI cases, the emphasis on HILEV items can best be satisfied by an additional agent.

Recommendation

Continue.

MEXICO CITY

Our operation in Mexico is unique in that we are actively developing informants and working most closely with the cooperative Mexican officers who handle our cases there. This is our largest office both in terms of case load and personnel. Unlike Canada where practically all our work is handled by one agency, we are dealing with a number of different agencies in Mexico most of which lack the training and sophistication of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) hence the disparity in the personnel required to handle our work north and south of the border. In an effort to streamline our operations in Mexico, the Legal Attache has been instructed to reduce the number of informants he is operating and to cut back on his investigation in certain areas such as the American Communist Group in Mexico.

Productivity

Two hundred and eighteen persons wanted in the United States were located by the Mexico City Office during fiscal 1971. Thirty "informal deportations"were arranged and 53 stolen automobiles were recovered. The case load as of 6/30/71 was 627 which is below average on a per agent basis. As of 8/23/71, the office had submitted 37 HILEV items of which 28 were actually disseminated. This is substantially above average.

Personnel

We feel the present complement is adequate until the Legal Attache recommends additional "Resident Agencies." The large expanse of territory and the necessity of working closely with Mexican police require our agents to be on the scene for anything but relatively routine investigations. The Legal Attache has for some time been considering possibility of opening one or more additional "Resident Agencies" to afford faster coverage and more thorough investigations in areas which now require extended road trips.

Recommendation

Continue.

OTTAWA

With Mexico City this is one of our two most important and productive offices. The establishment of a Chinese Communist Diplomatic Mission in Canada, the asylum afforded our deserters and Selective Service fugitives, and the relatively open border make Canada an area of intense FBI interest. We are fortunate in having RCMP with nation-wide security jurisdiction and nearly nation-wide police jurisdiction to handle our investigations. While we have a two-man office in Ottawa, RCMP has a three-man office in Washington because of the number of United States agencies with which they do business. Our relations with RCMP are outstanding and they are the closest counterpart of the FBI of any foreign investigative agency.

Productivity

The case load as of 6/30/71 was 548 which is by far the highest on a per agent basis. During fiscal 1971, the office located 994 FBI fugitives, 37 fugitives for other agencies, 755 Selective Service delinquents, and recovered 92 stolen automobiles. Ninety "informal deportations" were effected. As of 8/23/71, the office had submitted 22 HILEV items of which 10 were used. This is below average.

Personnel

The sheer volume of work makes the problem in Ottawa primarily clerical. As a streamlining measure, RCMP has printed routing slips with spaces for our titles and file numbers which the Legal Attache uses in forwarding RCMP work to the Bureau. An additional clerk has recently been furnished Ottawa and it is expected that the recent inspection will have noted the effect of this increase.

Recommendation

Continue.

PARIS

This is a major continental office to which an additional Agent was assigned at the time of the recent expansion in order to concentrate on development of high-level intelligence. Our Legat enjoys the confidence of the French investigative agencies and is able to secure cooperation which is denied to the Central Intelligence Agency as a result of the latter's involvement in a wire tapping incident during the 1960's. The departure of the American military from France has somewhat reduced the volume of criminal matters, but the establishment of NATO Headquarters in Brussels, also in Paris territory, has continued the flow of security matters. A substantial number of friends of the Bureau visit Paris each year and require time and attention from our Legat.

Productivity

During fiscal 1971, 23 persons wanted in the United States were located by Legat, Paris. His case load as of 6/30/71 was 244, which is average on a per Agent basis. As of 8/23/71, Paris has submitted 38 HILEV items, of which 21 have been used and one is pending. This is above average.

Personnel

No increase in personnel is envisaged for Paris. This office provides both clerical and Agent relief to Madrid.

Recommendation

Continue.

ROME

In addition to Italy, Rome covers Greece, Turkey, and Cyprus on a road trip basis. The office has not yet reached its full potential in the development of political intelligence, but a very satisfactory relationship exists with the Italian investigative agencies; and we are receiving coverage of organized crime figures and other criminals who have relocated in Italy. It is expected that the Legat will expand his contacts in Italian cities other than Rome, such as Naples, Milan, Florence, and Venice, in order to widen his capabilities in the criminal field and improve his collection of HILEV intelligence items.

185

Productivity

During fiscal 1971, 14 persons wanted in the United States were located by the office and one informal deportation was arranged. As of 6/30/71, there were 145 pending cases, slightly below average on a per Agent basis. As of 8/23/71, 13 HILEV items had been submitted, of which 9 were used. This is below average.

Personnel

We believe the personnel are adequate but not excessive.

Recommendation

Continue.

TOKYO

In addition to Japan, Tokyo covers South Korea and Formosa. The latter presents a particularly delicate situation as the United States moves toward recognition of Communist China. Our Nationalist Chinese contacts, however, have promised to continue their cooperation despite what they view as an unsympathetic move by the United States Government. Despite the language barrier in both South Korea and Formosa, our representatives have been consistently successful in getting the work of the Bureau handled in adequate fashion. As the United States military commitment in Japan is reduced and as the economic goals of the United States and Japan draw farther apart, it is increasingly important that we have a liaison capability in Tokyo.

Productivity

During fiscal 1971, Tokyo located 23 persons wanted in the United States and arranged three informal deportations. The case load as of 6/30/71 was 279, substantially above average on a per Agent basis and the third highest of the foreign offices on that basis. Tokyo has submitted 40 items for HILEV dissemination, of which 17 have been used. This is slightly above average.

186

Personnel

We have recommended that one Agent and one clerk be added to Tokyo in the event of further expansion. This would permit more frequent visits to Taiwan and South Korea and would also permit widening of contacts within Japan itself, which is necessary if increased emphasis is to be placed upon HILEV production.

Recommendation

Continue.

(2) New Offices Opened in December, 1970

The following six offices were opened in December 1970, for the specific purpose of developing HILEV intelligence. Four of these offices were opened in entirely new territory while two were assigned areas previously handled by other Legats. In considering these six offices, it must be recognized that they were primarily intended as intelligence collectors and not as sources of normal Bureau cases. We have been pleased, however, to note that several of these offices are making a substantial contribution to the Bureau's domestic jurisdiction in addition to their HILEV work.

BEIRUT

This is a one-man post established in new territory where there had previously been little need for coverage. The Legat has developed several very productive sources of political intelligence and at the present time is the highest producer of HILEV items. He has been commended for this. Nevertheless, should there be any reduction in White House interest in HILEV items, we could not justify continuation of this office.

Productivity

One FBI fugitive and one Selective Service delinquent were located by this office between January and June,

187

1971. As of 6/30/71, there was a pending case load of 27, which is the smallest case load of any foreign office. Beirut has submitted 61 HILEV items, of which 31 have been used and three are still pending. This is the largest number of items used submitted by any office.

Personnel

Present complement is fully adequate and cannot be reduced. Vacation relief for the Legat should come from Rome and for the clerk from Tel Aviv (we cannot send Assistant Legat Rubenstein to relieve in Beirut because of the political situation).

Recommendation

In view of the high production of HILEV items, the office should be continued.

CARACAS

This office was opened to cover the large area of northern South America, together with the numerous territories and independent countries in the West Indies. It is essentially a road trip office and affords the Bureau coverage in an area where we have been totally dependent upon the Department of State and the Central Intelligence Agency for the handling of our leads. Our Legat, who started out with a semihostile Ambassador, has won the latter's respect and has made a gratifying start at development of the large and scattered area assigned to him. In addition to the Latin-American countries, he is covering French, British, and Dutch possessions; and the effectiveness of his liaison is demonstrated by his ability to devise channels of communication to his contacts throughout his area.

Productivity

During the first six months of 1971, Caracas located 11 FBI fugitives, one fugitive for another agency, and three Selective Service delinquents, while arranging one informal deportation. His case load 6/30/71 was 72, which is well below average on a per agent basis but is expected to increase with the further development of his territory. He has submitted 25 HILEV items, of which 12 have been used. This is slightly below average.

188

Personnel

In view of the road trip nature of this territory, two Agents will be necessary to insure continued coverage. While the present case load is low, this is a brand new office in completely new territory and we expect improvement.

Recommendation

This office should be continued without regard to the emphasis on HILEVS.

COPENHAGEN

This office was opened to exploit the potential of the Scandinavian countries handled on a road trip basis from London prior to the expansion in December, 1970. A large number of deserters, Selective Service subjects, and other fugitives have been granted asylum in Sweden and the liberality of the laws in Denmark has served as a magnet for youth from the United States. In addition, the entire area is attuned to moves from the Soviet Union and it was hoped that there would be a reasonable volume of regular Bureau work together with a steady flow of political intelligence. The potential of the office has not yet been reached. The unfortunate security breach which resulted in the change of Legal Attaches has put an experienced man in charge but he has been there less than two months and has not yet been able to bring the office into line. There has already been a marked improvement in the rate of HILEV submissions and we expect the office to be more successful under new management.

Productivity

Twenty-eight persons wanted in the United States were located by the Legal Attache during the first six months of 1971. One "informal deportation" was arranged. The case load as of 6/30/71 (prior to arrival of the new Legal Attache) was 43 representing the smallest per agent assignment of any Legal Attache. Through July, 1971, Copenhagen had submitted 8 HILEVs of which 2 were used. Already in August, 4 submissions have been received for a total of 12 and 3 have been used for a total of 5 with 1 still pending. This is the smallest HILEV production of any Legal Attache and Bulet 8/4/71 pointed this out and insisted upon improvement. Results thus far in August indicate that the Legal Attache is responding.

Personnel

While the present case load does not, on the surface, justify continuation of a two-man office, we believe the potential for far greater achievement exists in the Scandinavian countries and we feel that the new Legal Attache should be given an opportunity to exploit this potential.

190

Recommendation

We recommend that the office be continued in its present status for an additional six months at the end of which time consideration should be given as to its personnel complement.

LA PAZ

Coverage of Bolivia and Peru was initiated for the sole purpose of developing HILEV data and cannot be justified on any other grounds. The Legal Attache has done an outstanding job under very difficult circumstances. The government (until 8/22/71) was pro-communist and basically anti-United States. The Legal Attache is living inside a barbed wire fence with a full-time guard at his door. We have had to armor plate his car and furnish him a two-way radio to insure full-time communications with his Embassy. The altitude is such that persons with other than completely strong hearts and lungs should not be permitted to visit there. The office gives us coverage in an area we have not visited since the days of SIS but normal Bureau work there is minimal.

Productivity

During the first six months of 1971, the Legal Attache located 1 FBI fugitive and 3 Selective Service delinquents. His case load as of 6/30/71 was 45 which is well below average on a per agent basis. He has submitted 24 HILEV items of which 14 have been used which is about average. He has twice furnished advance information concerning important political developments including the current coup and he has received commendation from the Director for the material he has furnished.

Personnel

The work load certainly cannot justify any increase in personnel but it cannot be decreased without closing the office.

Recommendation

It is recommended that operations continue in La Paz for another six months at the end of which time a close hard look should be given to closing the office. It is possible that a more friendly regime in Bolivia will result in an increase in HILEV items but it will have no bearing on his over-all case load.

MANAGUA

This is an office opened in the right area but in the wrong place. There is Bureau business in Central America and we had long considered recommending an office there prior to the President's request in 1970. We did not want to open in Managua, however, but in San Jose, Costa Rica, where the living conditions are far superior. We were forced to settle for Managua when the Ambassador to Costa Rica objected to our opening there. As a result, we have two men living under difficult circumstances resulting in varied domestic problems including education of their children, and morale in our Managua Office is probably lower than in any other foreign post. It was expected that Central America would prove a fertile source of HILEV items because of the constantly changing political alignments in the various governments. This has not been the case and Bulet 6/4/71 informed the Legal Attache of our disappointment in his production. At the start of June he had only submitted 2 items, 1 of which had been used. He is showing improvement as indicated by the submission of three items in June, four in July, and five in August, as of 8/23/71. The Legal Attache has been placed on probation as a result of administrative deficiencies discovered by the Inspector and it is expected that this will have a salutary effect not only in his administration but also in the contribution of his office to the work of the Bureau.

Productivity

During the first six months of 1971, 14 persons wanted in the United States were located in Central America, 5 "informal deportations" were arranged, and 10 stolen automobiles were recovered. The Managua case load as of 6/30/71 was 65 which is far below average. A total of 14 HILEV items have been received of which 9 have been accepted. This total is below average but his current submission rate is well above average.

Personnel

The 7 Central American countries have enough substantive Bureau work to justify the present complement of this office, if the potential is fully exploited. We are watching this situation closely and expect marked improvement.

Recommendation

It is recommended that this office continue. It is possible that a change in leadership may be necessary as indicated by the Inspector's findings and recommendations concerning this will be made as soon as it can be determined whether or not there has been an improvement.

TEL AVIV

This office was opened solely as a source of HILEV material and it has proved fertile in this respect. There have been some unexpected fringe benefits in that an organized crime figure has taken refuge in Tel Aviv and the Legal Attache has been able to secure the cooperation of the Israeli police in affording coverage to the anti-Soviet Jewish Defense League, which has proven so troublesome in the New York City area. As the office has only been open during the current year, it is too early to assess accurately either its potential or its achievements.

Productivity

Eight persons wanted in the United States have been located in Israel and 3 "informal deportations" arranged. The case load as of 6/30/71 was 69, which is considerably below average on a per agent basis. Forty-four HILEV items have been submitted of which 27 have been used with 1 pending. This is substantially above average, and the Director recently noted the Legal Attache's excellent production and he has been recommended for commendation.

Personnel

It is too early to make an accurate assessment as to future personnel needs. One agent could handle the present case load but we do not feel that the full potential of the area has yet been reached and any reduction would result in two one-man offices at the end of the Mediterranean with accompanying problems of relief.

Recommendation

Continue for the time being.

(3) New Offices Recommended If Further Expansion Undertaken

In response to the Director's request, we recommended by memorandum 5/28/71 that six additional offices be opened for the specific purpose of increasing our production of high-level intelligence of interest to the White House. Three of these would be offices formerly operated but presently closed, while three would be completely new offices. The following are the three former Legat offices which we proposed be opened:

MANILA

We recommended that one Agent and one clerk be assigned to Manila to relieve Hong Kong of its present road trip coverage and to provide closer following of political developments in the Philippines, which area is apparently drawing farther away from its former close alignment with the United States. We have a number of applicant-type leads in the Philippines, and the handling of these could be expedited by a representative on the scene.

RIO DE JANEIRO

We proposed that two Agents and two clerks be assigned to reopen our office in this important population center of Brazil, a country larger than the United States. We are presently trying to cover this area from Buenos Aires, which is over 1,200 miles away, and we are passing up the opportunity to develop political intelligence items concerning developments in this huge country which, like most of Latin America, is in the throes of deciding between communism and capitalism.

SANTO DOMINGO

We proposed that one Agent and one clerk be assigned to reopen our office at the capital of the Dominican Republic. This would be entirely for the purpose of developing HILEV items, although there is a modicum of Bureau work in the area which is presently handled on a road trip basis from San Juan. We developed a number of informants and sources during our period of operation there, and we feel that these could be reactivated to become a productive source of HILEV material.

194

The following are the three new offices which we proposed be opened, each to have a complement of 2 Agents and 2 clerks:

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA

This office could cover Australia and New Zealand thereby relieving Hong Kong from its present futile efforts to cover the area by road trip and give on-scene coverage in this huge area where our work has been increasing. We presently are trying to cover 35 leads in the area which indicates there is a nucleus of essential Bureau business upon which an office can be predicated. Here again, however, the primary function of the new office would be production of HILEV items.

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYSIA

This office would cover Thailand, Malaysia and Singapore, presently handled out of Hong Kong, and would initiate coverage in Indonesia, where we have no coverage other than through State and the Central Intelligence Agency. There is now a nucleus of 20 Bureau cases pending, insufficient to justify the opening of an office, but the high interest in Southeast Asia would indicate that any production of political intelligence should include coverage in this area. Opening of the two foregoing offices, plus Manila, would relieve Hong Kong of all road trips and permit that office to concentrate on the important security matters involved in the new relationship between Communist China and the United States.

NEW DELHI, INDIA

This office would open completely new territory affording coverage of India, East and West Pakistan, and Nepal. The potential for political intelligence here is high, but there would be very little substantive Bureau work in the area.

Our recommendation for opening of the six foregoing offices was made strictly in response to the Director's request. We cannot justify opening of these offices on the basis of substantive Bureau business, but it is our judgment that these offer the most productive locations for the development of political intelligence. Any expansion abroad will be resisted by State and the Central Intelligence Agency; and unless specifically ordered by the White House, will require approval from Budget and State who maintain a personnel ceiling for each Department's representatives abroad. We are not in a position to balance the value of the information expected against the costs.

ADDENDUM OF THE INSPECTION DIVISION E.S. MILLER:wmj 8/26/71

You are requested to clarify and document your observations "that any future expansion abroad will be resisted by the Department of State and Central Intelligence Agency and unless specifically ordered by the White House will require approval from State and the Bureau of the Budget."

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: The quoted observation concerning anticipated problems to be encountered in connection with any future expansion is based solely upon our experience during the December, 1970, expansion, together with regulations which have been promulgated applicable to United States personnel overseas. In December, 1970, we asked to open an office in San Jose, Costa Rica, but ended up in Managua, Nicaragua, a much less desirable location, because of what was termed the "objective of lower United States profile" in Costa Rica. We asked to open an office in Saigon, Vietnam, and were met with intolerable restrictions imposed by the Ambassador, with the result that we canceled our request. In connection with opening in Caracas, Venezuela, the Ambassador there demanded that we agree to coordinate any intelligence activities with the Central Intelligence Agency under the provisions of National Security Council Intelligence Directive 5 and that our representative measure up to a certain standard in his ability in Spanish. In fact, the Ambassador in Caracas said he would send our man back on the same plane if he did not possess the desired ability. Even before we had made a formal request, State indicated their desire that we not open an office in Helsinki, Finland, because of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) then in progress.
(GAD:hc 8/27/71)

Reference to approval by State and Budget is actually reference to the procedures established for any increase in overseas personnel. Such procedures are of long standing being known under the Johnson Administration as "BALPA" (Balance of Payments) and initially during the Nixon Administration as "OPRED" (Overseas Personnel Reduction). A "National Security Council Undersecretaries Committee," which includes representation from Budget and State, establishes fixed ceilings on all United States civilian employees abroad. Under the rules established by this committee any increase in these ceilings must be either (a) a result of "special studies" or at White House direction; or (b) by a request for a ceiling increase by proposal to the committee explaining the requirement and demonstrating its consistency with national policy and approved program plans. The present FBI ceiling is 88, and regular reports concerning our overseas positions are made to the committee through the Department by the Administrative Division.

The above has been set forth in some detail in response to the Inspector's request. The Director has stated that any expansion will be discussed with Dr. Kissinger at the White House before any action is taken. White House approval supersedes red tape developed by other agencies. We are confident that the President's desires can be rapidly and efficiently satisfied onces he gives the word.

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: Since the last inspection there have been certain significant developments in the overall problems of meeting our responsibilities to this work. You are requested to furnish briefly such developments and also provide your appraisal of the situation as you presently see it. Obviously, there are strong indications that increases of investigative manpower in the field and imaginative supervision and direction here will be necessary. What has been accomplished since last inspection and what are your plans for the immediate future? Be specific in advising of programs currently being considered for recommended implementation.

Comments of Assistant Director requested.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: There is no doubt that our DEM:mjt 8/23/71
work in the Chinese field will increase both at the SOG and in the field. Attached are comments by Section Chief Wannall with which I concur. Proposals for implementing programs discussed will be recommended by appropriate memoranda.

SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL
NATIONALITIES INTELLIGENCE SECTION

At the outset it should be noted that Western nations have been isolated from Communist China for more than twenty years. The Chinese communists (Chicoms) have established themselves officially in countries of the same or similar political persuasion and, therefore, we receive little or no data concerning the Chicoms which is relevant to our investigative responsibilities in the security field. We have been fortunate, however, to receive from Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) much data relating to their experience with the Chicoms who are now firmly officially established in Canada. The programs and methods we use or may implement in the future to deal with the Chicoms must, in some measure, be based on our prior experience in the security and intelligence fields and an analysis of the data we have received from the RCMP.

Recent Developments and Appraisals Thereof

Since last inspection (1/8-26/71), the following significant developments have occurred:

1. The Chicom Embassy in Canada has become operational. The Embassy staff numbers 26, of whom nine (33 percent) are known or suspected intelligence officers. The significance of the aforementioned figures is obvious when we recall the report of an RCMP source who quoted the wife of an Embassy official as stating "The (Chicom) staff will necessarily be large as it will be responsible for the United States as well as Canada." In addition, RCMP has advised, based on its intensified and expanded coverage of the Chicoms, that at least 50 percent of Chicom effort in the intelligence field having a Canadian base will be directed against the United States. RCMP has confidentially advised us that the Canadian External Affairs Office is willing to allow the Chicom official staff in Canada a maximum of 60 persons. This approximates the number of individuals staffing Soviet official establishments in Canada.

In appraising the above, we must heed the warning flags and prepare for a severe test of our resourcefulness. We cannot expect less than a substantial effort by the Chicoms to mount a variety of intelligence operations against this country from Canada. This situation will exist at least as long as no official Chicom establishment is located in this country.

2. Restrictions on travel of U. S. citizens to Red China have been lifted entirely, and there is presently under study by Department of State and the Attorney General a recommendation that the prohibition on travel of permanent resident aliens to Red China also be lifted.

While the Chicoms have not allowed wholesale entry of Occidentals into their country, recent events suggest they are slowly but surely revising policy to permit more Westerners to visit the mainland. We are aware that the Chicoms have openly supported revolutionaries who operate in the U. S., and the desirability of personal contact with such types as well as with others who would work for the Chicoms is obvious. The new United States policy regarding travel of U. S. citizens to Red China will most assuredly prompt overt travel by individuals of Chicom persuasion as well as by persons who could well be subjected to an intelligence recruitment approach albeit unwittingly. While this area may not immediately present problems of the magnitude expected in other areas involving the Chicoms, we must realistically consider that U. S. citizens traveling to Red China deserve a careful look from an investigative standpoint, either as potential sources, one-time interviews for intelligence purposes, or as individuals who may have been recruited by the Chicoms during their visit to Red China.

With regard to the possibility that restrictions on travel of resident aliens to Red China will be lifted soon, there are in the United States many thousands of Chinese aliens having permanent resident status, most of whom have family members or close relatives residing on the mainland. If travel restrictions on these individuals are lifted, we are faced with an even greater danger of having Chicom-recruited individuals returning here. On its face, such a situation would pose an enormous investigative problem for the Bureau.

3. Within the last few weeks, Secretary of State Rogers announced U. S. policy as regards admission of Communist China to the United Nations (UN). Simply stated, Administration policy is to not oppose UN membership for the Chicoms while not agreeing to the ouster of Nationalist China (Taiwan) from the UN. There has been much talk of a "two China policy," but this is incidental to the real problem we face. With the removal of U. S. opposition, it is likely Red China will be admitted to UN membership and that its representatives will appear in New York City between October, 1971, and September, 1972. When this almost certain development takes place, we will be faced with grave internal security/intelligence problems.

In appraising the above situation and noting that the Chicoms, should they gain UN membership, would be entitled to the largest delegation and largest percentage of UN Secretariat employees of any member nation, we would clearly require a substantial increase in the number of Agents handling Chinese work in the New York Office. Such an increase would include assignments to that office of as many Chinese-speaking Special Agent personnel as may be available and examination of the need to train additional Agents in the Chinese language. Dependent on the size of a Chicom UN delegation, it might be necessary to establish a Chinese Section in New York Office. Should a substantial increase in case load in the Chicom field come about as a result of Chicom entry into the UN, it would also suggest an increase in the number of Supervisors in this field at the Seat of Government.

With regard to the investigative aspect of Chicom entry into the UN, it is felt that the Chicoms, on arrival, will proceed cautiously at the outset in any program of covert or overt intelligence activity. That intelligence efforts will be undertaken, there is no doubt inasmuch as information in our files and sound logic demand the conclusion that the Chicoms will rely on a variety of methods by which to gather information to assist in the planning and execution of political moves as well as to combat or neutralize technical and scientific progress and military moves made by this and other countries. The Chicoms, with a base at the UN, might limit early intelligence efforts to political matters until they have their feet on the ground. Knowledge of their collection of such intelligence, however, could be of as much benefit to this country as would knowledge of Chicoms efforts to collect other types of intelligence.

The inevitability of the appearance of a Chicom delegation at the UN requires that we marshall all the assets we have in this field in order to be in a position to have broad quality coverage in the informant area and the ability to spring into quick and effective action from an investigative standpoint.

4. On 7/15/71, President Nixon announced his plan to visit Red China before May, 1972. The FBI may well be called upon in months ahead to provide intelligence support in connection with the President's trip.

The step taken by President Nixon emphasizes the importance our Government places on the status of Red China as a world power. It is felt we should be in a position to provide the White House with as much intelligence as we can logically gather in the event such a request is levied upon us.

Accomplishments Since Last Inspection (1/8-26/71)

Our cooperative efforts with RCMP paid off during February, 1971, when we identified an unknown subject who made a clandestine contact with a Chicom intelligence officer in Ottawa. RCMP, through its coverage, recognized at the outset that preliminary contacts by the unknown subject were most unusual because of security precautions demanded by him. Within hours after our investigation was initiated, we identified the unknown subject as a Washington, D. C., resident holding impressive credentials in political circles. Our subsequent coverage in this case disclosed efforts made by the subject to gain employment on the White House staff as well as jobs with State and Justice Departments. We promptly alerted the White House and appropriate officials of other agencies.

In July, 1971, with the Director's approval, a desk-level conference was held at the Bureau with our RCMP counterparts. The results were most productive and, at the Director's instruction, we sent a memorandum to Dr. Kissinger setting out the highlights of the conference. Dr. Kissinger, in a personal letter to the Director, expressed his thanks for the information and noted that the Bureau's timely coverage of these matters is most important. He requested he be advised of significant developments as they occur.

Two of our sources who are being developed to fulfill double agent roles traveled from the U. S. to Hong Kong where they were scheduled to meet with their Chicom contacts. Another source, who is employed at the UN, is now in Communist China, and this trip was made at no cost to the Bureau. We expect to obtain valuable current intelligence information from this source upon her return to this country. Yet another source was directed to undertake a three-week period of travel during which he was to contact pro-Chicom individuals on the West Coasts of the U. S.

and Canada. These contacts were planned to serve as a basis for his contact with the Chicom Embassy in Ottawa as the last phase of his trip.

Nine individuals are being considered for use along DESECO lines with the expectation that we will be able to target them against the Chicoms, either in Canada or in the U. S.

State Department approval has been obtained to interview and/or re-establish contact with 16 employees of the United Nations Secretariat who, it is felt, offer potential to assist us in the future or in an early effort connected with a joint operation with RCMP.

Two suggestions were submitted with a view toward streamlining administrative and investigative procedures in the Chicom field. Both were adopted and annual savings indicated to be $16,160.

Future Plans

In connection with foreseeable additional security and intelligence responsibility as regards Chicom activities, the following is set forth:

1. We have an Index of over 600 names of Chinese aliens who have been interviewed in the past and who are graduates of universities and/or graduate schools in Red China. We see this group as a reservoir from which we could develop a number of sources who could be directed against the Chicoms in the future or, if facts so indicate, could be utilized in connection with existing efforts to penetrate Chicom intelligence operations. This would involve opening cases on these individuals, providing instructions to the field offices involved, looking toward interviews for the purpose of determining informant potential and willingness to assist us.

2. Five field offices are currently involved in an effort relating to ethnic Chinese scientists having security clearances. Each office involved has been instructed to limit its efforts to ten such individuals, in the hope that we may find some who would be willing to initiate a contact with the Chicoms for the purpose of making themselves available for possible recruitment by Chicom Intelligence.

We have a list of approximately 3500 ethnic Chinese scientists and/or technicians who have security clearances. Because of manpower limitations, we have not included other offices in this program nor have we allowed more than 50 cases of this type to be opened. It would be desirable to expand this effort to include other offices and to increase the number of individuals involved in each office to perhaps 50. Again, our object is to develop a nucleus of sources who would be of present or future value in our counterintelligence operations against the Chicoms.

3. We would like to consider the use of ethnic Chinese Special Agents as well as nonethnic Chinese-speaking Special Agents who could, in an undercover capacity, be targeted against the Chicoms in Canada or against any Chicom establishment which may be located in this country in the future. Such an operation would require substantial indoctrination, direction, and development of cover employment and identity, and would be in essence a most appropriate and secure means by which to mount an operation designed to develop a defector in place.

4. Since the door to travel by U. S. citizens to Red China is wide open, we should expand our efforts in this area to fully identify each traveler (other than legislators and news media types) for the purpose of considering these individuals for interviews in order to gather positive intelligence or to identify any traveler who may have been subjected to a recruitment approach by the Chicoms.

5. We should consider instructing a limited number of field offices to begin efforts to develop sources who could be used in a "walk-in" program directed against the Chicoms in Canada as well as any Chicom establishment formed in this country. Here, we would not have to look toward ethnic Chinese but could selectively approach types who might be of interest to the Chicoms including military personnel because of their backgrounds in fields in which the Chicoms have expressed an interest.

6. In Chinese alien cases where a hostage situation exists, we should revamp current instructions to require a reinterview of such persons one year after the initial interview

(current practice calls for reinterview two years after initial interview). This is felt desirable since the alien who has immediate family and/or relatives residing in Red China is most susceptible to a recruitment approach and is more likely to be the type who has entered the United States on an intelligence mission.

7. We should consider issuing instructions to closely examine our UN sources to determine which may be logically directed to initiate contact with the Chicom Embassy in Canada. Contacts of this type, although they may indicate no immediate interest on the part of the Chicoms, may well serve as a basis for a later approach by the Chicoms, either before or after Chicom entry into the UN.

8. National Security Agency (NSA) representatives are of the opinion that the possibility exists that Chinese Intelligence Service is beaming broadcasts to agents in the United States or in border countries (Canada, Mexico). Under Bureau instructions, our San Diego Office recently monitored broadcasts on the basis of predictions made by NSA. Broadcasts undoubtedly emanating from Red China were heard during this monitoring and the clarity of the signal on our West Coast was excellent. Discussion with NSA led NSA representatives to observe that the broadcasts mentioned above might be connected with an illegal agent network, and they agreed to make a further study of this situation and provide us with additional sensitive material they have uncovered in order to determine if some tie-in could be developed. While this effort is a new one, and does not definitely establish that an illegal Chicom operation exists in this country, it is an indication that we should undertake action designed to uncover such a situation. In the absence of more specific data, we should consider at this time having field offices check warranty cards submitted by purchasers of certain radio equipment, primarily radio receivers capable of tuning in on broadcasts such as those mentioned above. This would involve identification of the equipment, its manufacturer and subsequent instructions to the field to check warranty cards on a regular basis for the purpose of determining names of ethnic Chinese who have submitted such cards. Inquiry should include developing background information on the purchaser and, in cases where warranted, conducting interviews.

ADDENDUM
INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER:
(ESM:wmj 8/26/71)

You have advised that items one through nine in this write-up will be fully implemented by separate memorandum in each case consistent with the availability of manpower.

It would appear that present developments indicate that further delay in implementation of some of these programs may seriously retard our response to important investigative responsibilities.

You are requested to advise specifically when such programs will be implemented and what manpower requirements are necessary to do so.

Comments of Assistant Director Brennan and Section Chief Wannall requested.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN:
(CDB:mls 9/1/71)

I believe the five areas outlined by W. R. Wannall constitute a valid base from which to expand our coverage of anticipated Chicom intelligence and subversion which will be directed against this country when diplomatic relations are established and/or United Nations membership is established for the Chicoms. It is desirable to initiate these programs as soon as possible, prior to being faced with the Chicom activity.

My position concerning available manpower to accomplish this is covered under the write-up captioned "Adequacy of Personnel," 6E. As you are aware, the proposed work load adjustments contained in my memorandum dated 7/29/71 will make available some additional personnel, and further adjustments may well be made possible by close examination of case count figures under the new tightened procedures for counting pending cases. A mid-month case count was prepared for the Inspection Staff as of 8/20/71, and an end of the month case count is currently being prepared.

If these figures confirm a lower case load for Nationalities Intelligence (8/20/71 figure is 275 case load average and well below other Sections), I believe at least one man from within that Section should be made available to implement this program.

If the Inspector feels two men should be made immediately available to this program from within the Domestic Intelligence Division complement and the nine men currently utilized by Wannall on the Ellsberg case are necessary and productive, a thorough review of case loads and other gauges of work load will be made, Section by Section, and another man added.

SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL
NATIONALITIES INTELLIGENCE SECTION

In connection with our objective of being prepared to counteract and/or neutralize the Chinese communist (Chicom) intelligence and subversion effort we expect will be mounted against this country, it is proposed that the following action be recommended for implementation immediately. In each case, a separate memorandum containing appropriate recommendation will be submitted within the next ten days.

1. Initiate investigations on 300 of the over 600 individuals listed in our Chinese Universities and Graduate Schools Index. This effort would be aimed at developing quality sources we can direct against the Chicoms as well as developing intelligence from among a group of well-educated Chinese aliens. Based on our initial accomplishments in this area, additional cases on the balance of more than 300 names in the above Index would be opened for the purposes indicated above.

2. Initiate investigations on 500 ethnic Chinese scientists who have security clearances. This represents an expansion of our current effort which we have heretofore limited to five field offices representing a total of 50 individuals in the above category. The objective of this effort is to identify ethnic Chinese scientists who would, under Bureau direction, be willing to initiate contacts with Chicoms for the purpose of making themselves available for possible recruitment by Chicom intelligence.

We have a listing of over 3500 ethnic Chinese scientists who have security clearances, and opening 500 cases would be our initial attempt to expand source development in this area. Depending on the success of this effort, additional cases would be considered for opening for the purpose indicated above.

3. Expand our investigations relating to United States residents who visit Communist China to include development of background information on each visitor and, except in cases where the purpose of the visit appears legitimate on its face, to consider these individuals for interview. Such expansion is the obvious follow-up to the recent lifting of restrictions on travel by U. S. citizens to Red China. Experience in the

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
FXO:dgo
8/31/71

security field has shown that intelligence recruitment of individuals visiting communist countries is an established practice. These investigation and/or interviews would not include subjects of pending cases handled in other Sections in this Division. Examples of the latter would be travel to Red China by New Left types or black extremists who are subjects of continuing investigation.

4. Close examination of the situation as regards our sources in the Chinese field now employed at or having access to the United Nations who could be directed against the Chicoms immediately. This must be a critical examination closely supervised with the expectation that some of our existing sources and others who may be developed could be directed in early contacts with the Chicom Embassy in Ottawa, Canada. Our objective here is to develop within the United Nations itself sources who can supply us with quality information on the Chicoms, who will almost certainly enter the United Nations within the next year.

5. Initiate a survey of offices having ethnic Chinese-speaking Special Agents assigned to determine whether or not any of these Special Agents can be directed toward an operation against the Chicoms involving an undercover role. The purpose here is to establish an appropriate and secure means for utilizing one or more Special Agents for development of a defector in place among the Chicoms.

Implementation of the above will require a substantial amount of research for the purpose of issuing instructions to field offices. It is felt that in order to provide adequate supervision regarding the above numbered items, two Supervisors should be added to the existing complement (3) of the Chinese Unit.

Consideration has been given to all items (9) previously mentioned as being within the area of future plans for meeting our responsibilities in the Chicom field. It is felt that immediate implementation of the above 5 items should be accomplished while the remaining items herein before discussed will be considered for implementation in light of continuing developments in this field. We believe we have selected for immediate implementation those matters which will bring about the most substantial positive accomplishments in areas of current critical need.

9. Foreign intelligence agencies have concluded that one of the weakest links in Chicom intelligence operations is in the field of communications. We should, therefore, consider renewing the Chiclet and Chiprop programs, both of which were discontinued in 1965. Through these programs, we had a secure means to review communications between the United States and Red China and from them we acquired data on both ethnic Chinese and Caucasians which was of security interest to us.

The matters discussed above are set forth in light of our current knowledge in the Chicom field. It is realized that continuing developments in this area may suggest new efforts which could be initiated or could suggest further expansion of our existing programs. Such recommendations would, of course, be made on a timely basis.

Items 1 through 9 above will be fully implemented by separate memorandum in each case consistent with the availability of manpower.

SUBVERSIVE ACTIVITIES CONTROL BOARD 4-H-5

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: It is understood that additional work is anticipated as a result of Executive Order 11605 and subsequent Congressional action. You are requested to advise what action you have taken to brace for this additional work and how much volume you anticipate. Also advise as specifically as possible which Units will be affected the greatest, and to what extent.

Comments of Assistant Director requested.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: The implementation of Executive Order 11605 will affect primarily the work of the New Left Section, Extremist Intelligence Section and Internal Security Section.

I have conferred with the Section Chiefs of the aforementioned Sections and instructed them to initiate a review of each of the cases which the Department has indicated it intends to proceed against to determine what additional investigation is required to develop the evidence necessary to present to the SACB. Administrative procedures for handling these cases have been worked out and since the cases are supervised in three different Sections, a Division Coordinator, who has had previous experience in preparing cases for presentation to the SACB, has been designated to insure that the cases are handled in a uniform manner in each of the three Sections.

So far, the Department has indicated that it intends to initiate proceedings against the Black Panther Party, Progressive Labor Party, Young Socialist Alliance and Ku Klux Klan; however, we have not as yet had any specific requirements levied upon us by the Department in these cases. Based on past experience, it can be anticipated the services of one supervisor, full time, will be required to prepare each of these cases for presentation to the SACB.

The language of Executive Order 11605 is very broad and generally coincides with the basis for our investigation of extremist groups. Conceivably, consistent with manpower available, proceedings could be initiated on most of the organizations we have under investigation although the Department has not indicated at this time that they will undertake any wholesale action.

For additional observations concerning the anticipated impact of Executive Order 11605 on the work of this Division, see the Adequacy of Personnel write-ups of the New Left Section, Extremist Intelligence Section and the Internal Security Section.

ADMINISTRATIVE OPERATIONS

DIVIDING DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INTO TWO DIVISIONS

5-A-1a

INSPECTOR E.S. MILLER: Assistant to the Director Sullivan has suggested that Domestic Intelligence Division (DID) be divided into two separate divisions. In order that this matter can be analyzed during this inspection you are requested to furnish:

1. Complete table of organization for each of two new Divisions as you would organize them if suggestion were adopted. Do not use names of supervisors, Section Chiefs, Front Office administrators. Use only position designations, Section and Unit designations and number of Agents and clerks designated for each Unit and Section.

2. In the event you feel work now being handled by another Division should be realigned in the event above suggestion adopted, so indicate under appropriate new division.

3. Following each of the two tables of organization for the above new divisions, set out Section by Section and where appropriate, Unit by Unit, your reasoning for placement in division. In this regard, it will be necessary to take into account and balance both volume of work and nature of work being handled.

4. Indicate advantages in adoption of above suggestion.

5. Set out disadvantages you feel apparent in dividing DID. Also indicate how such can be overcome and resolved.

6. Since adoption of above would involve possible realignment of space in some instances, you are requested to advise what new space would be necessary and what other movement of personnel and equipment would be involved.

Comments of Assistant Director requested.

2. It will be noted that supervision of antiriot and bombing cases currently in General Investigative Division has been included in table of organization of proposed Domestic Intelligence Division and specifically assigned to the Extremist Intelligence Section. Four Agents and two clerks are now assigned to this Unit in the General Investigative Division and should, of course, be transferred to the new Division.

This is a most logical move and will afford tighter and more effective supervision of antiriot and bombing violations in view of fact that extremists and terrorists mostly involved are being actively investigated by Domestic Intelligence Division (DID). Accordingly, in addition to avoiding duplicative supervisory action, it follows that DID is better prepared to handle these criminal investigations and final prosecutive actions.

3. The line of reasoning utilized in the breakdowns as set forth above in the tables of organization was to separate the work into two categories as nearly as possible - domestic and foreign.

The proposed Domestic Intelligence Division is composed of New Left, Extremist Intelligence and Internal Security Sections. All work of these Sections is domestic oriented consisting of domestic subversive and extremist organizations such as Communist Party, Socialist Workers Party, black extremists, New Left and anti-war groups as well as individuals affiliated therewith.

On the other hand, the proposed Counterespionage - Foreign Intelligence Division is composed of the Espionage and Nationalities Intelligence Sections which supervise investigations which for the most part have definite foreign ramifications. The work of these Sections is foreign oriented consisting of such investigations as Soviet and satellite establishments and individuals as well as other foreign nationality groups and nationals, including Chinese communists. The Nationalities Intelligence Section will continue to supervise Legal Attaches and domestic Liaison through the Special Coordination Unit. Other miscellaneous investigative matters involving extremist groups with foreign nationality ties such as Mexican-Americans, Spanish-Americans, and Puerto Ricans will continue to be assigned to the Nationalities Intelligence Section.

The Research Section has been placed in the Counterespionage - Foreign Intelligence Division in order to balance the workload as well as to provide for expansion for research-type work in espionage and foreign intelligence areas or for the manpower therein to be used as the Assistant Director sees most advantageous to carry out his responsibilities. It is recognized that this will cut DID short but it is felt DID will be able to handle any needed research at a Section level.

The New Left and Civil Disorder Reporting Units, currently in the Research Section, will be placed in Internal Security Section as data pertains solely to domestic groups. Likewise, administration of Security Index (SI) will be shifted from Research Section to the Internal Security Section as most of the cases on the SI are supervised in the DID.

In realigning work, we have provided for transfer of three Agents from Sections within the proposed Domestic Intelligence Division to the Nationalities Intelligence Section of other new Division. This has been accomplished by absorbing Klan and White Hate cases (2 men) into Extremist Intelligence Section and releasing one Agent from the current four-man Security Informant Unit of the Internal Security Section.

The proposed reorganization will result in the following Agent - clerical count:

Domestic Intelligence Division

73 Agents
105 clerks
This includes four Agents and two clerks to be transferred from General Investigative Division to handle antiriot and bombing matters.

Counterespionage - Foreign Intelligence Division

52 Agents
96 clerks
This includes raising the overall Agent complement of current Division personnel by one to provide for a new Assistant Director.

4. The advantage of the suggestion to form two separate Divisions out of the current Division is that it would provide for smaller Divisions thus allowing for tighter and more effective supervision.

5. The disadvantages in dividing the current Division far outweigh the advantages as can be seen from the following observations:

(a) The nature of the work of DID does not readily lend itself to division. The interrelationship of foreign influence in domestic subversion cases is well established and requires close coordination within the Division. If split, something would be lost in the process, as is now the case with antiriot and explosives and incendiary devices cases, predominantly involving extremists who are DID subjects being handled by General Investigative Division. Our goal should be to obtain maximum utilization of the knowledge and expertise of supervisory personnel, and division of DID would obviously result in diffusion of related talents and a less efficient use of available manpower.

(b) Budgetary considerations and administrative efficiency would be affected by imposing an additional Divisional superstructure (mail room, mail delivery clerks, Division Head and staff, with their equipment, odd-hour duty Agents, supply clerks, and steno pool, etc.) to handle the work presently being handled efficiently by existing DID. The creation of an additional high-level job (Division Head and staff) would be contrary to the President's economic freeze. Apparently the suggestion of Assistant to the Director W. C. Sullivan to divide the Division referred to by the Inspector is that set forth in memorandum from Mr. Sullivan to Mr. Tolson dated June 28, 1971. On that memorandum the Director stated, "I do not approve. We do not have any provision for another Assistant Director and all hearings before Budget Bureau and Congress have been concluded for Fiscal Year 1972." In light of the current national economic picture, the Director's comment is even more meaningful today.

These disadvantages, with the exception of the economy factor, can be overcome to a large extent by utilizing current space in 9th and D Street building with a minimum of carpentry work involved. The Executive office space can easily be arranged to handle another Assistant Director and staff. The Mail Room and Steno Pool would require alterations involving additions of partitions. Extra-duty shifts involving 4 p.m. to Midnight and Midnight to 8 a.m. can be arranged to service both Divisions from operational and security standpoints. On the other hand, the biggest disadvantage is that the split definitely will serve to lessen coordination of cases having foreign ramifications as so many of our domestic extremist cases do. This disadvantage likewise can be overcome to a large extent if we make up our minds to be extra careful to make certain that coordination between the new Division is such that Bureau is not embarrassed. This could cause a certain slow down in the handling of mail and result in duplicative handling in some instances.

6. It is felt current space is adequate to house the two Divisions with slight alterations as previously set out. Equipment for a new Assistant Director should not present any significant problem.

ANTI-RIOT LAWS AND BOMBING MATTERS 5-A-1 b

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: In discussions, you have advised that in your opinion there appears a great deal of logic in realigning supervision of above cases from General Investigative Division to Domestic Intelligence Division.

You are requested to advise in greater detail documentation of your reasoning and your recommendations in this regard.

For your information, on receipt of your response to this write-up it will be furnished to General Investigative Division for their observations and recommendations.

Comments of Assistant Director Brennan requested.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: By memorandum 8/30/68 from Mr. Felt to Mr. Tolson, Inspection Division did an in-depth survey with respect to similar problem relative to transfer of substantive violations of Antiriot Laws and bombing cases involving subversive matters from GID to DID. Survey ascertained proposed transfer involved two categories supervised by GID which were so interrelated with gathering of intelligence in racial and security field that overlapping supervisory responsibilities constantly occurred. Accordingly, Inspection Division recommended transfer of these cases to DID to avoid duplication of supervisory review and to promote efficiency. Transfer not effected as Director stated he was opposed to transfer of these duties. A copy of Mr. Felt's 8/30/68 memorandum is attached together with a cover memorandum from Mr. Felt dated 9/4/68.

Developments since 9/4/68 dictate that we take another good look at this problem.

Activities of extremists and terrorists have definitely escalated to the point that the overall situation is a matter of increasing concern to the public and the administration. Since terrorist activities such as bombings, riots and the like are in violation of statutes under Bureau's investigative responsibility it behooves us to make certain that our supervision is as tight and effective as possible.

Inasmuch as DID is actively investigating the terrorists who are in violation of these laws, it follows that DID is better prepared to handle these criminal investigations and handle final prosecutive actions. Not only would duplicative supervisory action be avoided but the DID supervisor has at his fingertips a feel of the case, necessary background data and a full knowledge of sources who can develop needed evidence.

In 1968, criminal prosecutions of these violations were handled for most part by Department's Criminal Division but now the Department has moved to invest the Internal Security Division with the overall responsibility of prosecuting terrorist activities regarding above-mentioned matters. Similar reorganization on our part would certainly enhance more effective supervision. Of course, any transfer of cases to DID would require transfer of personnel from GID now handling these matters.

In view of the foregoing, it is recommended that supervisory responsibility for all violations of Antiriot Laws and substantive violations of Explosive and Incendiary Devices Act (Bombing Matters) involving extremist and political terrorists be transferred from GID to DID together with required Agent personnel.

Mr. Tolson:

We have carefully re-evaluated the proposal to shift subversive bombing cases and antiriot cases from Mr. Rosen's Division to Mr. Sullivan's Division but find ourselves coming back to the original conclusion.

Messrs. DeLoach, Rosen and Sullivan are strongly in favor. We recognize this does not resolve a wide variety of cases where supervisory responsibility could overlap, but these are the two areas where constant overlap occurs and where we have great need for continuity of supervision.

The memorandum clearly spells out that antiriot cases are handled in the Criminal Division of the Department, racial bombings in the Civil Rights Division and nationalist bombings in the Internal Security Division.

SUBJECT: PROPOSED TRANSFER OF SUPERVISORY RESPONSIBILITY FOR CERTAIN CASES FROM GENERAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION TO DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

SYNOPSIS

General Investigative Division (GID) and Domestic Intelligence Division (D propose that supervisory responsibility for substantive violations of the new Antir Laws and for bombing cases involving subversive matters should be transferred f GID to DID. Mr. DeLoach recommended and the Director approved that Inspectio Division examine matter to be certain that responsibilities are sharply and defini fixed.

In-depth Inspection survey reflects problem of overlapping supervisory responsibilities between divisions cannot be eliminated unless all investigative an intelligence functions are centered in a single division --- not feasible because of sheer volume. There are many investigative situations where occasional overla occurs, e.g. the close connection between criminal cases handled by GID and th Criminal Intelligence Program supervised by another division. However, propos transfer involves two categories now supervised by GID which are so inter-relate with the gathering of intelligence in the racial and security fields that overlap constantly occurs. Accordingly, these two categories (relatively small in case volume) should be transferred to DID, as proposed, to avoid duplication of supervisory review and to promote efficiency.

ANTIRIOT LAWS

These laws were enacted on 4/11/68 and prohibit incitement to riot and related violent acts connected with riots and civil disorders. Since enactment on 11 substantive cases have been opened; however, extensive intelligence gathering is continuously directed by DID relative to organizations and individuals likely to engage in riots such as Stokely Carmichael, H. Rap Brown and other agitators throughout the country. Individual acts arising from riots and constituting possi violations of Antiriot Laws are not practicably separable without causing duplic of supervisory review and loss of continuity in the development of cases.

Antiriot Laws are handled by the Criminal Division of the Department. DI now disseminates intelligence material to the Criminal Division and works with that Division on specific violations such as current sedition case against Stokely Carmichael and prior requests of Criminal Division concerning activities of H. Rap Brown. Since enactment, 11 specific cases have arisen, the most recent being in connection with allegations of police brutality during the Democratic Convention in Chicago involving injury to over 70 police officers.

BOMBING MATTERS

The same principle of duplicate supervisory review is involved in those bombing cases that arise from the activities of subversive organizations and individuals which are supervised on a day-to-day basis by DID. Examples are fore nationalist groups, Ku Klux Klan, militant black nationalist groups and New Left groups. These cases should definitely be supervised by DID for maximum efficienc All other bombing cases will remain with GID.

The Internal Security Division of the Department now has responsibility ov these foreign nationalist groups as well as the Klan and black nationalist organizations. Mr. Yeagley's Division is also charged with the development of criminal violations in the recent bombings by the so-called Cuban Power group. The Civil Rights Division of the Department usually has jurisdiction over other bombing case arising from white and black hate groups, but again DID has liaison with that Divisi on intelligence matters affecting these groups and has engaged in specific investigations to observe and photograph demonstrations at request of Civil Rights Divisio

Guidelines to delineate the proposed consolidation of supervision have bee drawn and are set forth in an appropriate SAC Letter to so inform the field (attache for approval).

EFFECT ON WORK LOAD AND PERSONNEL

The changes proposed herein deal only in the two specific categories of A riot Laws and certain Bombing Matters cases. Special cases that arise in the civi rights field such as the murder of Martin Luther King and the murder of the three civil rights workers in Mississippi will not be affected by the proposed changes. Review of all pending cases that are affected by these changes discloses only one group (11 cases) that should now be transferred -- these are the recent bombings instituted by the Cuban Power group.

Analysis of all work load factors represented in the proposed switch of su visory responsibilities indicates that, if approved, it would be appropriate at the same time to reduce personnel complement of Civil Rights Section (GID) by one Ag supervisor and increase complement of Racial Intelligence Section (DID) by one Ag supervisor.

For Certain Cases From General Investigative Division to Domestic Intelligence Division

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That effective close of business 9/16/68 DID have supervisory responsibility over all violations of Antiriot Laws and over those Bombing Matters violatio within guidelines set forth herein.

2. That Supervisory responsibility for the specific pending cases (Cuban Power group of bombing cases) identified in this memorandum be transferred to DID effective 9/16/68.

3. That Agent personnel complement of GID be reduced by one and that of DID increased by one. If approved, to be handled by Mr. Mohr's office.

4. That attached SAC Letter be approved.

DETAILS

BACKGROUND

By memorandum W. C. Sullivan to Mr. DeLoach, 8/2/68, it was jointly proposed by Domestic Intelligence Division (DID) and General Investigative Divisio (GID) that supervisory responsibility for the new Antiriot Laws investigations (classification 176) and certain types of bombing matter cases be transferred from GID to DID. With respect to the new FBI jurisdiction in Antiriot Laws, it was poi out in this memorandum that extremist organizations and individuals who will likel be engaged in riots and racial disturbances are the subject of continuing racial investigations supervised by DID. Similarly many of the bombing cases arise out of work handled in DID such as bombing of diplomatic establishments and bombings arising out of activities of groups in the racial field and internal security field. Following submission of this memorandum, Assistant to the Director DeLoach proposed and it was approved that Inspection Division thoroughly survey the entire question in order to draw appropriate guidelines and clearly define responsibilities to achieve orderly transition of the proposed reassignment of supervisory responsibility in these matters.

Thorough analysis has been made by Inspection Staff of all aspects of the proposal and means to accomplish it in the most practicable manner, including reviews of representative cases that have been handled under these categories and the overall volume and work load represented. The logic of the proposed reassignments appears unassailable. In both categories of cases the principle invo is the same, namely; that individual violations of applicable statutes arising from the activities of subversive organizations or groups should be supervised within th same division (DID) that has the basic and continuing responsibility for supervisio of the overall investigations of these organizations and groups as well as of the members thereof and the development of informants within the groups. The obviou benefit to be derived from the reassignment of these categories is the avoidance o duplication of supervisory reviews of these interrelated matters and the ready identification of individuals who may be involved in a specific violation with person already under investigation from an intelligence standpoint. Informants who may be utilized in specific violations or who are developed in the course of investigatio of such violations must of necessity be closely correlated with the supervision of these informant programs which now rests with DID. Furthermore, violations of the new Antiriot Laws may well be revealed in the course of general supervision of racial intelligence matters.

ANTIRIOT LAWS

Contained in Public Law 90-284 enacted 4/11/68 (Civil Rights Act of 1968) were certain new additions to Title 18, representing criminal statutes for which investigative jurisdiction has been assigned FBI. Other provisions of this Act extended and enlarged existing civil rights legislation, the investigative jurisdiction for which primarily remains in the Civil Rights Section and is not involved in the subject matter herein discussed. The three pertinent statutes are as follows:

1. Section 245-b (3) of Chapter 13, Title 18, which makes it a violation for any person to use force or threat of force to wilfully injure, intimidate or interfere with any person engaged in a business affecting interstate commerce during or incident to a riot or civil disorder or attempting to perform any of these acts.

2. Section 2101, Chapter 102, Title 18, makes it a violation to travel interstate or to use the mail, telegraph, telephone, radio, television or other facility of interstate commerce to incite a riot or organize, promote, encourage, participate in or carry on a riot or commit any act of violence in furtherance of a riot or aid or abet any person in inciting or participating in a riot.

3. Section 231, Chapter 12, Title 18, makes it a violation to teach or demonstrate the use, application or making of a firearm or explosive or incendiary device or technique causing injury or death intending or having reason to know that same will be used in connection with a civil disorder which may interfere with commerce or with a federally protected function or the transportation in interstate commerce of such devices with similar intent or the commission of any act to interfere with any law enforcement officer or fireman engaged in official duties in connection with civil disorder or a federally protected function.

The foregoing three statutes have been designated by the Bureau as having the character of Antiriot Laws and are all included in the new classification 176. No other violations are included in this character or classification. Thus the reassignment of the entire classification to DID should present no problems with respect to any division of responsibility or routing of communications. Experience gained thus far under apparent violations which the Bureau has been requested by the Department to investigate supports the close correlation of such violations with racial intelligence matters now handled by DID. 11 specific cases have been opened thus far and are now pending. The most recent involves allegations of police brutal during Democratic Convention in Chicago involving injury to over 70 police officers. Review of these cases disclosed them to be noncomplex in nature and in view of the current status of supervision and investigation, it appears most practicable for GID to retain the specific supervision of these 11 cases to their conclusion. Thus supervisory responsibility under this classification will be fixed at a clear cut-off point after which all new cases arising will automatically be routed to and supervised by DID from inception. No further guidelines appear necessary in this classification.

BOMBING MATTERS

A variety of different types of cases arises under this category and it will hereafter represent a split classification with those cases applicable to the overall fields of supervision in DID being handled by that Division and the remainder continuing under supervision of GID. Accordingly, specific guidelines have been drawn to delineate this division of supervisory responsibility and encompassed in an SAC Letter in order that the field may make appropriate designation on communications to facilitate routing at the Seat of Government. Upon adoption of the guidelines and the dual character coincidental therewith proper routing will automatically be achieved of new matters arising (this coordinated with Files and Communications Division).

Inspection Staff analyzed the various types of bombing cases handled during Fiscal Year (FY) 1968 and reviewed representative sampling of specific pending files. There are two major areas herein which appear proper and logical to delegate future supervisory responsibility to DID. These are bombing matters arising from foreign nationalistic interests and those arising from racial intelligence interests. The reasons are the same as heretofore cited, namely the overall familiarity within DID of aims and activities of organizations and groups involved as well as the following of activities of individual members of such groups and the responsibility for the informant programs applicable to them. Other types of bombing cases not falling within the guidelines set forth hereinafter will remain with GID as in the past. Bombing matter violations (including threats) represent violations of Section 837, Chapter 39, Title 18. The violation is the interstate transportation of explosives with intent they be used for destruction of real or personal property which property is used for the objectives specified in the statute (educational, business, civic, etc.). Threats or false reports also constitute violations within statute and the entire discussion within this memorandum includes threats or false reports under the use of the term bombing matters. Although the Department frequently resorts to other statutes for prosecutive considerations, this appears to have no significant bearing on the question of supervisory responsibility which is directed toward the full development of the investigation to establish identity of the perpetrators of the bombing violation and evidence to support prosecution.

In the vast majority of potential bombing violations that arise from the field, the Department is promptly advised and appropriate dissemination made without there being a substantial supervisory responsibility thereafter for the following of investigations because relatively few are opened by the Department for full investigation. For example, in FY 1968 there were approximately 15 bomb matter cases opened for full investigation at the Department's request whereas approximately 170 instances occurred of dissemination of initial information to the Department with no subsequent investigation requested. Of the 15 bombing matter cases opened for full investigation during FY 1968, nine were in the racial field (apparently Klan inspired), five in the foreign nationalist field and one unrelated to DID responsibility.

The following guidelines are proposed for determination of supervisory responsibility in bombing matter cases that hereafter will lie with DID (all others remaining with GID). Bombing matters (including threats) wherein:

1. The victim is a diplomatic or other establishment of a foreign government (such as embassy, consulate, official or quasi-official tourist agency, purchasing agency, etc.).

2. It is apparent or circumstances strongly indicate that the bombing was instigated by a foreign nationalistic organization, group or coalition (such as recent series of bombings by so-called Cuban power groups), or member thereof.

3. It is apparent or circumstances strongly indicate that the bombing was instigated by a subversive organization (such as Communist Party, Socialist Workers Party, or Students for a Democratic Society), or member thereof.

4. It is apparent or circumstances strongly indicate that bombing was instigated by a white or black extremist group (such as Minutemen, Ku Klux Klan, Nation of Islam or Black Panthers Party), or member thereof.

Those cases which fall under the foregoing guidelines will hereafter bear a dual character in addition to Bombing Matters or Bombing Matters - Threats, nam the appropriate designation for the type of apparent instigator and/or victim in order to accomplish routing to the appropriate unit and section within DID such as Internal Security - R, Racial Matters - Klan, or Internal Security - Cuba. The foregoing guidelines have been incorporated in an appropriate SAC Letter together with instructions concerning use of dual character which is attached for approval.

The supervision of a particular case will remain the responsibility of the Division originally assuming it even though subsequent developments bring it within the purview of the type normally handled by the other Division, unless in the mutual judgment of the respective Assistant Directors, Bureau interests are better served by transferring the case.

In making the proposed transfer of the limited group of cases discussed herein, no problem appears to be presented insofar as liaison with appropriate Divis of the Department is concerned. The Criminal Division has responsibility for Antir Laws. DID now regularly disseminates intelligence material to that Division and wor closely with it on certain specific violations, such as the current sedition case agains Stokely Carmichael as well as previous requests to follow activities of H. Rap Brow. The Internal Security Division of the Department has responsibility over the foreig nationalist groups as well as the Klan and black nationalist organizations and has als been charged with the development of criminal violations in the recent bombings by th Cuban Power group. It is this Division headed by Mr. Yeagley with which DID consis deals on all subversive and espionage matters. The Civil Rights Division of the Dep ment usually has jurisdiction over other bombing cases arising from white and blac hate groups, but again DID has regular liaison with that Division on intelligence ma affecting these groups and has engaged in specific investigations to observe and photo-graph demonstrations at the request of the Civil Rights Division.

EFFECTIVE DATE OF TRANSITION AND SPECIFIC PENDING CASES

To achieve an orderly transition and to permit coordination of policy, instructions, etc., among the supervisors at the working level prior to the effective date of transfer it is proposed that such effective date be applicable to all matters arising after the close of business 9/16/68. From review by Inspection Staff of the current pending cases now within GID which would under the new guidelines hereafter fall within the supervisory responsibility of DID, it appears that none of these pending cases should be physically transferred for remaining supervision to conclusion except for one group of eleven cases. This group constitutes relatively recen cases arising from the series of bombings and attempted bombings in Florida, New York, Chicago, Newark and Los Angeles directed at diplomatic establishm and other offices of foreign governments who maintain relations with Cuba. Credi for many of the bombings has been claimed by "Cuban Power," a similar term to Black Power and several militant anti-Castro refugee organizations and individual are suspects in these bombings. There has been extremely close coordination between GID and DID in these specific cases and DID is thoroughly conversant with the details of the individual investigations. Because of this and also in view of the likelihood of additional such bombings arising in the future by the same group or groups it appears feasible and practicable to transfer the eleven pending cases now to DID as well as any new ones by the same group arising in the days ahead. These eleven cases are Bureau files 174-688, 174-689, 174-749, 174-759, 174-760, 174-761, 174-762, 174-767, plus three new cases which have not been assigned Bureau file numbers, namely bombing of Mexican Airlines Office, Miami, 8/17/68; Bombing of West Side Liberal Club, New York, 8/19/68, and Bombing of Air France Airlines, Los Angeles, California, 7/19/68.

WORK LOAD AND PERSONNEL

The Bombing - Civil Rights Act of 1964 Unit of Civil Rights Section, GID, is composed of 6 Agent supervisors including Unit Chief and in addition to general bombing matters (those not falling under above guidelines) has supervisory responsibility over the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Federal Train Wreck Statute, a Discrimination in Housing (Civil Rights Act of 1968). The latter violation which was established in the same Public Law as the Antiriot Laws has had only very recent experience and appears may well generate a substantial number of cases in the future. However, from analysis of total work load of the unit as well as of the entire Civil Rights Section, both from a standpoint of ratios of individual cases supervised for FY 1968 and percentage of manpower time expended, it appears that the transfer of supervisory responsibility for those cases as outlined in this memorandum will constitute the approximate full time of one Agent supervisor and accordingly it is being recommended that GID Agent complement be reduced by one.

Within DID the new Antiriot Laws and the majority of the bombing matter cases which will be transferred will increase supervisory responsibility in the Racial Intelligence Section. Other bombing matter cases will be spread among various units such as Special Investigations Unit of Internal Security Section, Cuban Special Cases Unit of Latin American Section, etc., and based upon past experience will not be of such volume as to require additional Agent supervisory personnel in those other individual units. Accordingly, it appears appropriate at this time to authorize increase of complement of DID by one Agent supervisor.

MR. TOLSON:

RE: SUGGESTED TRANSFER OF RESPONSIBILITY FOR SUPERVISION OF CASES INVOLVING RIOT LAWS AND CERTAIN BOMBING MATTERS FROM GENERAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION TO THE DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

I have for some time felt that a lack of clear cut responsibility existed in the handling of captioned matters.

To be brief, it would seem logical that the enforcement of anti-riot legislation would obviously belong to the same Division that is supervising the investigations and development of informants and intelligence regarding the Ku Klux Klan, hate groups and racial organizations. The question arises as to whether or not the transfer of certain bombing matter investigations should also be made to the Domestic Intelligence Division. Quite naturally, the General Investigative Division, because of the supervision of certain type cases in this category, should retain overall supervision in this field. However, consideration should be given to the Domestic Intelligence Division handling that category of cases wherein that Division's development of informants and intelligence would greatly aid in the continuance of supervision of this type case.

In view of the "gray area" involved in such supervision, I asked Messrs. Rosen and Sullivan to study this matter carefully so that appropriate recommendations could be made to you and the Director regarding a shift of responsibility. The findings of Rosen and Sullivan will be found attached to this memorandum. I am, however, not yet satisfied that responsibility is sharply and definitely fixed.

I would like to recommend that the Inspection Division make a survey of this entire matter and then present recommendations which will definitely tie down this matter once and for all. This survey should be expedited in view of the new legislation passed by Congress for which the FBI will obviously have heavy responsibilities in the future.

ADDENDUM
INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER:
(ESM:wmj 8/23/71)

For the information of General Investigative Division, by separate write-up Domestic Intelligence Division (DID) was advised that Assistant to the Director Sullivan has suggested that DID be divided into two separate Divisions. In order that suggestion could be analyzed during current inspection, DID was requested to furnish certain observations regarding suggestion. Among these, Division was asked "In the event you feel work now being handled by another Division should be realigned in the event above suggestion adopted, so indicate under appropriate new Division."

DID responded, "It will be noted that supervision of antiriot and bombing cases currently in General Investigative Division has been included in table of organization of proposed Domestic Intelligence Division and specifically assigned to the Extremist Intelligence Section. Four Agents and two clerks are now assigned to this Unit in the General Investigative Division and should, of course, be transferred to the new Division.

"This is the most logical move and will afford tighter and more effective supervision of antiriot and bombing violations in view of fact that extremists and terrorists mostly involved are being actively investigated by Domestic Intelligence Division (DID). Accordingly, in addition to avoiding duplicative supervisory action, it follows that DID is better prepared to handle these criminal investigations and final prosecutive actions."

A separate white write-up captioned "Anti-Riot Laws and Bombing Matters" was prepared and DID asked specifically to comment regarding these matters. This addendum is part of that write-up.

You are requested to furnish your views of Mr. Sullivan's suggestion both as to the present structure of DID and as to the handling in the event DID is split. For your information, DID has proposed ARL and Bombing Matters be handled in the Extremist Intelligence Section.

Comments of Assistant Director Rosen requested. It would be appreicated if you would expedite this request.

ADDENDUM
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR ROSEN:
(AR:ige)

The following comments are equally applicable whether the Domestic Intelligence Division remains intact or is reorganized into two divisions.

Transferring these cases to the Domestic Intelligence Division (DID) would eliminate much duplication of handling cases and would result in increased efficiency; however, this would require transferring to DID all bombing and antiriot cases as distinguished from transferring only those cases known to involve "extremists and political terrorists." As a practical matter substantially all antiriot laws investigations involve extremists and political terrorists. With regard to bombings, substantially all investigations deal at the outset with unknown subjects and it would be most impractical to attempt to delineate between bombings which do or do not involve terrorists. Since the act of bombing is in itself an act of terror it is logical to assume at the outset that terrorists are involved and the types of bombings delegated to the FBI by the Department's guidelines are limited to those targets most likely to be selected by political terrorists. (These targets pertain to Government property or functions, Federally funded projects, diplomatic establishments, colleges and universities, and those probably perpetrated by terrorists.)

COMPUTATION OF CASE AND WORK LOAD IN THE DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

5-A-1 c

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: I have been advised that a new system of computing case and work load has been implemented within your Division. Describe and state reason for implementation.

It would appear that utilization of this system will result in a decrease in case load figures but not necessarily in the work load picture. You are requested to advise by Section and Unit basis the number of cases it is anticipated that the case load will decline in each instance. Use a "before" and "after" approach. Case load figures 7/31/71 will be satisfactory for use as known base (before). Be as specific as possible.

ADDENDUM: 5-A-1c

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: In February, 1971, I issued (MSR:amt) instructions that each Section Chief submit monthly case load figures for his Section to the Branch Chiefs to be furnished to me with the Branch Chief's analysis as a basis for establishing a logical and current method of periodically assessing work loads and manpower needs within the Division. Inasmuch as it was intended these figures would serve as a guide for possible manpower changes to meet fluctuating and ever-changing problems, it was essential that figures presented be accurate and equally essential that like matters be tabulated uniformly.

On August 6, 1971, I instructed that a study be made to insure consistency not only in the counting of the cases but in the presentation of the monthly reports. As a result of this study, guidelines were firmly established concerning case counts within the various Sections. Changes from prior figures principally relate to cases involving (1) security informants (2) Security Index cases (3) certain organizations and other matters requiring only periodic reports.

Under the standardized procedures for case counts within the Division, informant cases, whether relating to security informants or PSIs, once initial approval by the Bureau for designation has been granted and where active day-to-day supervision is not necessary, are no longer retained in a pending status but are closed and placed on an administrative tickler to be reopened at the appropriate time to follow for the periodic justification letters required. Cases involving Security Index subjects as well as certain organizations and other matters requiring only the submission of periodic reports at no less than six month intervals, are now opened on a uniform basis 15 days after the due date of the periodic report in order that appropriate followup may be made to insure submission of report.

A format was devised for the Section Chiefs to submit the monthly data required and to account for each Agent in the Section and his current assignments as well as total and average case load figures by Unit and by Section.

Pursuant to your request, there follows a tabulation of the case load by Unit and by Section as of 7/31/71 and as of 8/20/71. Total case load for the Division decreased from 29,565 to 25,417--a decrease of 4,148 cases. Some small part of this decrease can be attributed to normal month by month fluctuation in case load; most of it is attributable to the changed procedures concerning case count as will be readily evident by the significant decreases in case loads in those Units handling principally informant cases, Klan cases, and organizational-type cases. This reduction in case load resulting from the changed case count procedures, of course, in no way decreases the work load on the individual desks. It is believed the current procedures for counting cases is more accurate and equitable and places the case load figures in perspective insofar as these figures are a factor in judging overall work load.

This in brief constitutes the basis for implementing the new system of computing case and work load in the Division. In the overall, it is directly related to our manpower problems and I have included a more detailed write-up bearing on this new system in its relationship to the Division's overall capacity and capability to fulfill its responsibilities in the "Adequacy of Personnel" write-up (6-E) which also bears on the matter.

POTENTIAL DOUBLE AGENT PROGRAM 5-A-1-d
ESPIONAGE SECTION
DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: "Double Agent" (DA) is a commonly and frequently used term in the field of espionage and counterintelligence. In the Bureau's activities in these fields, DAs are a distinctive group of Security Informants (SIs) utilized against foreign intelligence operations in the United States. "Potential Double Agent" (PDA) is a unique term used by DID to identify an individual under development as a DA; one who is in contact with a foreign intelligence officer but who has not yet been solicited by his foreign contact to perform clandestinely or covertly for the benefit of the foreign intelligence group.

During this inspection a representative number of files were reviewed to determine the extent of supervision afforded PDAs. A similar review was conducted last inspection. It is realized, however, that a comparison is not possible in view of recent DID instructions regarding the administrative handling of all SI and PSI files.

Subsequent to last inspection DID established procedure whereby those SI cases requiring day-to-day supervision or PSIs still under investigation should remain in active status; informant-type cases requiring only periodic review are closed and placed on administrative tickler, to be made pending 15 days after the six-month justification letter is due. DA and PDA files are included in these categories.

During the last inspection 237 files were reviewed. Included in that group were PSIs and DESECOs, and not limited to PDAs. All of the files were then in a pending status. During this inspection there were 65 files on PDAs in a pending status and 212 PDA files in a closed status. These were strictly PDA files and did not include other PSIs or DESECOs. It has been determined that at any given time there will probably be approximately 70 such cases in a pending status, if the number of such investigations in the field remains constant.

Of the 65 pending files, 58, or 89%, were reviewed. Of these, 22, or 38% contained specific instructions, directions or other guidance to the field since last inspection. At the time of last inspection of 237 files reviewed, less than 10, or 4%, contained such outgoing communications.

Also during this inspection 62 closed files on PDAs were reviewed at random. Of these, 12 or 19%, contained outgoing communications of the type described above since last inspection. It was observed that since last inspection a majority of the closed files contained only the six-month justification letter and were closed in accordance with Division instructions described above.

Due to current Division instructions, only those PDAs requiring day-to-day supervision or those on whom six-month justifications are due are considered pending at any given time. Hence, it is logical that a larger percentage of the closed PDA files will contain only the justification letters and no outgoing correspondence since last inspection.

It is well recognized that the field of DAs is a highly specialized one. Its success, both at the Seat of Government and in the field, requires skillful handling, patience, finesse and careful aggressiveness. In reviewing the PDA files, it was observed that many excellent candidates, with varying backgrounds, have reached various stages of development with excellent potential for use as actual DAs. Specifically, these cases are:

105-141001
105-201286
105-207600
105-26896
134-11898
134-15414
134-18458
134-19684
134-19961

The quality of these PDAs would, in itself, suggest substantial potential and, in turn, need for greater supervision. The above-listed cases should be kept in a pending status, carefully reviewed, with guidance and instructions furnished to the field. The field should be instructed to assume a more aggressive position in these cases and followed closely to insure proper attention is given to development of these persons as PDAs.

Review of PDA files shows evidence of closer supervision since last inspection. The percentage of files, including instructions and guidance to the field, rose from 4% to 38%. However, to realize greater accomplishments in this area of responsibility and to use our PDAs to the fullest extent, there is still need for improvement in supervision of these cases.

Comments of Section Chief W. A. Branigan, Inspector D. E. Moore, and Assistant Director Brennan requested.

Section Chief William A. Branigan
(CGS:EWL:pdr 8/30/71)

The comments of the Inspector regarding the marked improvement in supervision of our work is most gratifying. As was noted during the last inspection, evidence of supervision appearing in the PDA informant file is not always a completely accurate gauge of the supervisory attention being given each case. The informant file is designed, by provisions of the Manual of Instructions, to be a repository for information regarding the background and administrative handling of the source. Information reflecting operational activities and instructions more often appears in the active investigative file of the Soviet-bloc principal with whom the PDA is in contact.

In view of this significant factor, it is felt that the marked increase in supervision (from 4% to 38%) detected through review of informant files alone, is a most favorable trend and one which every effort will be made to sustain.

Twelve specific cases have been cited as quality PDAs which, by their very nature, suggested a need for greater supervision due to the substantial potential of each. The Inspector has instructed that these cases be kept in a pending status, carefully reviewed, with guidance and instructions furnished to the field to assume a more aggressive position in these cases. These instructions are appreciated and will be followed. As the Inspector has noted, the development of double agents is a highly specialized field requiring special faculties, not the least of which is careful aggressiveness. As these comments recognize, aggressiveness in the development of a double agent is inhibited by the practical necessity to restrict our manipulation of the sources to actions which appear naturally responsive to the initiatives displayed and opportunities offered by the Soviet-bloc representative with whom the source is in contact. Particularly is this true during the development phase before the source has been accepted as bona fide by his principal. Any unnatural or gratuitous action to hasten or strengthen the relationship is viewed with utmost skepticism and could result in compromise of our interest and rejection of the source. This is not to say we must eschew any initiatives; but that any such options must be pursued only after careful consideration of all the complex and variable factors peculiar to each individual case.

Section Chief William A. Branigan
(CGS:EWL:pdr 8/30/71)

Within this perspective the 12 cases referred by the Inspector will be kept open for intensive review to insure that all possible action not already taken to enhance and exploit the potential of each source has been considered and, where appropriate, additional instructions issued to the field.

It is noted that 10 of the 12 PDA cases referred to were in a closed status in accordance with recent DID instructions regarding the administrative handling of all SI and PSI files. Briefly under these procedures such cases are placed in a closed status and are reopened only at such time as a justification letter is due. These criteria will continue to be applied to PDA cases with exceptions, on a selective basis, in those situations which fall within the category defined by the Inspector.

Inspector D. E. Moore
(DEM:bsf 8/31/71)

The continual need for quality double agents is certainly recognized in our counterintelligence efforts against Soviet bloc intelligence and the cases referred to by the Inspector as excellent candidates will be given careful and aggressive handling.

Assistant Director C. D. Brennan
(DEM:bsf 8/31/71)

The comments of the Inspector have been noted and his instructions will be closely followed.

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL 6-E

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: 6 Attached find the Section
(CDB:amk) 8/30/71 write-ups concerning each category of information requested by the Inspector relative to adequacy of personnel. These comments are current as of August 17, 1971.

The personnel assigned to the Division Front Office consist of one Assistant Director, two Inspectors, two Special Agent Supervisors, five stenographic employees and twenty clerical employees. This complement includes the personnel directly assigned to the Front Office, those in the Division teletype room and Mail Room and Messenger Service, and the Security Patrol force in addition to five Agents.

The overall authorized personnel complement of the Division at the beginning of Inspection was 120 Special Agents and 199 clerks, compared to an authorized complement of 116 Special Agents and 190 clerks at the time of the last Inspection.

As of August 17, 1971, we had 119 Special Agents assigned to the Domestic Intelligence Division (DID). This includes 2 Special Agents who are assigned on a temporary loan basis to the Intelligence Evaluation Committee in the Department of Justice (IEC). Since August 17, 1971, SA Dean N. Lloyd reported to the Research Section as a replacement for SA Bernard A. Wells who retired on 7/30/71. We are awaiting the replacement for SA Victor R. Schaefer who was transferred to Salt Lake City on 7/23/71 as Assistant Special Agent in Charge of that office. SA George M. Quinn has been designated as SA Schaefer's replacement but has not as yet reported to his assignment. With the reporting of SA Quinn, our assigned complement will be 121 in view of the fact that SA Garnett T. Tunstall (on loan to IEC from Extremist Intelligence Section) has been replaced and we include SA Tunstall in our total assigned complement.

As of August 17, 1971, we had 204 clerical employees assigned to DID. This is because recent replacements have reported to replace employees under transfer or resignation who have not left as yet. Since August 17, 1971, we had two additional clerks, GS-4, report to the Division. However, we have had two resignations submitted which will absorb them. We have one Section with an additional employee assigned which is dependent entirely upon the approval of a new position involving no increase in grade or salary.

This Division consists of six Sections. The attached write-ups of the Section Chiefs disclose adequate authorized Agent complement with exception of R. D. Cotter, Research; and W. R. Wannall, Nationalities Intelligence Sections. Authorized is underscored since Agent personnel are on loan to the Nationalities Intelligence Section because of the McLek Case as follows: Espionage (1), Extremist Intelligence (2), Internal Security (2), Research (1), and New Left (1).

Concerning comment in write-up of R. D. Cotter, Research, Item 6 refers to assignment of Cotter on a temporary basis to Department and need for complete staffing of that Front Office. Originally Cotter's assignment to the Department was not considered to be full time in that he was to be in the same building, readily available for consultation, and capable of handling special problems which might arise. However, the situation is not desirable for a long term arrangement and the term of that assignment is not known. Recognizing this, the adjustment of work assignments detailed in my memorandum to Mr. Sullivan of 7/29/71 proposed elimination of one Section, making Section Chief Arbor Gray available to take over the Research Section. This would eliminate that problem with no additional personnel required. That proposal also makes No. 1 Man Callahan of Internal Security Section available for case assignment.

Concerning write-up of Section Chief W. R. Wannall, several points must be considered. Wannall's suggested build-up of the Chinese Unit to five men from present complement of three at this time to "handle the current work in the Unit and expand into areas which are considered necessary . . ." is reflective of a provincial outlook and a limited concept of the relative importance of proposed work in his area of responsibility in relation to the overall limitation of Bureau manpower and resources. Obviously some differentiation must be made to establish priorities. We must first cope with the immediate problems at hand before assigning manpower to projected problems.

Concerning Wannall's reference to needing a man for the Foreign Liaison Desk, my observations contained in my memorandum to Mr.Sullivan dated 8/16/71, which is attached to Wannall's write-up, still apply. I would add to that an observation that much of the material received from our Legats is actually handled on the related substantive intelligence desks responsible for the respective countries and not by the Foreign Liaison Desk. With the current special cases requiring extensive manpower commitments, I believe that desk can continue as is until the manpower situation is alleviated somewhat.

As to Wannall's comments concerning manpower on the Ellsberg case, under write-up captioned "Ellsberg Case," 4A3, the personnel assigned to Ellsberg is certainly adequate and he does not at this point request additional personnel for that case.

There are two interrelated but separate problems to be dealt with here. The first, and broadest, is divisionwide adequacy of personnel and the Director has repeatedly stated the concept that major case specials must be handled with existing Division personnel. I agree with this wholeheartedly and have attempted to comply with that concept.

Also related here is the situation which uniquely affects the Domestic Intelligence Division in that our basic area of responsibility has been subjected to shifting patterns of work. Essentially, the rise of the black extremist was largely met with reduction in other work areas. The newer expanding threat of New Left terrorist activities is similarly being met by reduction of personnel committed to other areas of work of less urgent priorities.

Obviously, there are practical limits to the elasticity of manpower and our overall increase in caseload is indicative of considerable strain on our manpower capabilities. Facts concerning this increase are contained under "Pending Work and Delinquency," 4-D-1.

I believe, however, we can adequately cope with our responsibilities with existing personnel. In order to accomplish this, considerable study and review of existing administrative practices have been made at my direction since taking over this Division 8/1/70. In order to put available personnel where highest priorities existed, a major reorganization was effected 12/70 and our last inspection approved that action. The Director's letter dated 2/12/71 advising me of the Inspection Staff findings included the comment, "Continue to pay careful attention to imbalances in work load throughout the Division and take necessary action to correct these situations, as you did recently in your reorganization."

With this in mind, and drawing on facts developed during the reorganization and subsequent inspection, I directed a memorandum to Branch Chiefs J. A. Sizoo and D. E. Moore dated 2/19/71 pointing to (1) the need for case count to reflect active matters, (2) their responsibility to know what is going on in their respective Branches and (3) specifically instructing them to submit a monthly analysis of the work load of their Branches.

The need for uniformity in case count submitted by Sections was stressed to them, as was the need to establish a logical and current basis for a regular and periodic assessment of work loads and manpower needs within the Division.

Because of (1) a continued shift in manpower needs, and (2) a growing imbalance in caseloads between Sections and manpower demands of special cases, by memorandum to all Branch and Section Chiefs, I instructed Section Chiefs G. C. Moore and R. L. Shackelford to conduct a thorough survey of the Division and make suitable recommendations for manpower adjustments to cope with current needs of the Division. My memorandum to Mr. Sullivan dated 7/29/71 detailed their findings and recommended they be approved.

Addendum of Inspection Division 7/30/71 approved this except for assignment of Special Coordination Unit to Research Section, recommending it be retained in Nationalities Intelligence Section. Mr. Felt's memorandum to Mr. Tolson dated 8/4/71 recommended proposed adjustment of work assignments in Domestic Intelligence Division be deferred pending his study and Director noted, "OK. Expedite." We are awaiting a decision.

Based on figures developed during the survey of G. C. Moore and R. L. Shackelford, it was obvious my previous instructions to the Branch Chiefs had not been effectively carried out, because case count figures still were not as meaningful or consistent between Sections as they should have been. To correct this situation and to establish what I intended in my original memorandum to the Branch Chiefs on this subject, I instructed two Supervisors, with Inspection Staff experience, to do a complete survey of case counting procedures and prepare tight recommendations to achieve the objectives previously sought.

This was done, and after discussion of their findings with Branch and Section Chiefs, these new procedures were adopted beginning 8/13/71. The results of this procedural change is detailed in "Pending Work and Delinquency," 4-D-1, and I believe validates the recommended work adjustments contained in my memorandum to Mr. Sullivan dated 7/29/71.

It must be strongly pointed out here this procedural change does not bear on work load, but rather deals solely with tabulation of case count into a more accurate gauge of pending work and where the work is by desk, Unit, and Section. The work remains the same.

The proposed work adjustments contained in my memorandum of 7/29/71 essentially took manpower from work presently in the Internal Security Section (Klan and White Hate cases and Informant matters) and made them available to other more heavily loaded work areas. The Front Office staff of Internal Security Section will be available for other assignment as well. It also called for Nationalities Intelligence to absorb one of the five men on Ellsberg from that Section's complement because of relatively low caseload.

Details set forth in "Pending Work and Delinquency," 4-D-1, disclose caseload decreased in Nationalities Intelligence and Internal Security Sections by 19% and 28% respectively, which is proportionately high compared to other Sections.

Espionage Section was proposed to receive a one-half man's time to compensate for the Ironclad case. This is consistent with that Section's 13% decrease in case count under the new procedure.

That write-up also discloses a case count under the new procedure of 275 cases per Agent for the Nationalities Intelligence Section compared as follows: Espionage - 303; Extremist Intelligence - 303; New Left - 334; Internal Security - 401. These figures are based on Supervisors assigned to case desks and do not include men on specials in any Section.

I do not believe the problems faced by Nationalities Intelligence Section far outweigh those of other Sections to justify that low figure and, therefore, believe my original recommendation that Nationalities Intelligence absorb one man from existing complement was justified. W. R. Wannall's comments in write-up captioned "Ellsberg Case," 4-A-3, relative to manpower presently utilized on this case validate this further as he has now utilized manpower in his Section on this case. Obviously, tangential issues will arise from time-to-time in an investigation of this type and can and should be handled on an emergency basis within the Section handling the special. This has been the traditional practice and should be followed.

The second problem is essentially intra-divisional in nature and deals with a Division Head's responsibility and authority to effectively utilize resources available to him to cope with the area of responsibility levied upon him. As detailed in Wannall's write-up captioned, Ellsberg Case," 4-A-3, from the beginning of this case I made manpower available for the Ellsberg case as requested by him. As this investigation progressed, however, Wannall continued to levy demands for manpower which I believed unwarranted in view of (1) his failure to effectively adjust and use his existing manpower at a time when he had a proportionately low case load and (2) his granting extensive leave to personnel in his Section while continuing to levy manpower demands.

Wannall now claims to have nine men assigned to the Ellsberg case. I invite comparison of the handling of the Ellsberg Case to Eastcon. Eastcon at no time has had over 5 men assigned full time to it, even though the case is of the very highest priority and of a magnitude and complexity seldom matched in Bureau investigations. In addition to the basic and complex conspiracy itself, the case incorporates six separate substantive investigations (draft board entries) which had to be brought up to trial standard for prosecution of Eastcon. There are at least 85 volumes to the Eastcon file alone at this time. Eastcon was absorbed within the responsible Section until it was firmly established that Section's case load could not continue to absorb the impact of Eastcon. No requests for additional manpower were refused by me on Eastcon, and those requests made were fully supported by facts, justified and granted.

In my memorandum to Mr. Sullivan dated 8/12/71, captioned "Adequacy of Personnel, Leak Cases, Domestic Intelligence Division (DID)," I candidly stated my position and evaluation of Wannall's demands for manpower (copy attached). Attention is invited to page 2, paragraph 4, concerning the 5 highly qualified and experienced men available to Wannall, none of whom were being utilized by him on the Ellsberg case. Attention is also invited to page 2, paragraph 5, which details Wannall's claim to Mr. Felt of "enormous" problems and need for still 2 more men. Note that part of that "enormous" problem was resolved in one week with one interview. Concerning the first reference your attention is directed to my memorandum to Mr. Sullivan dated 8/16/71 captioned "Adequacy of Personnel, Domestic Intelligence Division (DID)," (copy attached) which attaches a memorandum from Wannall to me requesting an additional Supervisor for the Special Coordination Unit. Concerning the second reference above, and the tenor of the entire memorandum, your attention is invited to Wannall's write-up in this report captioned "Ellsberg Case," 4-A-3, page 10, paragraph 1, wherein he states 9 men are now assigned to that case.

These two references and Wannall's responses to them clearly draw the issues: (1) Whether he used good judgment and considered the Bureau and Division overall responsibilities in balance with his own desires for manpower in making his requests; (2) When weaknesses in his position were pointed out whether he attempted to cover them by making even more demands for manpower hoping this would somehow give them credence and (3) Whether he or the Division Head should judge the Division's resources and capabilities and determine their allocation and priority of need consistent with the Bureau's overall capabilities.

In summary, the work load of the Domestic Intelligence Division as exemplified by case loads set forth under "Pending Work and Delinquency," 4-D-1, are very high. Being mindful of the practical limits of Bureau resources, I believe the currently proposed adjustment of work assignments detailed in my above referred to memorandum of 7/29/71 will allow the Domestic Intelligence Division to function effectively with existing manpower. The new method of tabulating case count affords me a better administrative device to obtain maximum utilization of existing manpower and periodic adjustments within the Division will no doubt be warranted and made.

The observations of the Inspection Staff as to the validity of manpower committed to the Ellsberg case, as well as overall manpower needs of the Domestic Intelligence Division, are welcomed.

LEAK CASES
DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION (DID)

Rememo 8/4/71 from Mr. Felt to Mr. Tolson captioned as above, Mr. Felt recommended and the Director approved that the number of Agents handling leak cases in DID be increased immediately from 5 to 7 using DID manpower. Mr. Felt also recommended that the proposed adjustment of manpower in DID be deferred pending his study. The Director agreed and noted "Expedite." The following is offered for consideration:

This involves two problems:

(1) The proposed manpower adjustments recommended in memorandum from C. D. Brennan to W. C. Sullivan on 7/29/71. The Inspection Division concurred with the proposed changes in that memorandum except for moving the Special Coordination Unit which coordinates Legal Attache matters out of the Nationalities Intelligence Section. The Director agreed, tentative to final approval of the organizational charts. The charts were submitted by memorandum C. D. Brennan to Sullivan 8/3/71 which led to Mr. Felt's memorandum of 8/4/71 recommending a further study.

(2) The second problem involves manpower needs for the Ellsberg and other leak cases which have arisen since 6/15/71. These are handled in the Nationalities Intelligence Section under Section Chief W. R. Wannall.

When the Attorney General requested we investigate the Ellsberg case on 6/25/71 I advised Wannall this was a matter of the highest priority and instructed him to use sufficient manpower to handle it. He advised me after his initial assessment that he would need the assistance of 3 additional supervisors. These were immediately temporarily reassigned to him from other sections. He subsequently said the problem was expanding and he would need 2 additional supervisors. These were also promptly temporarily reassigned to him from other sections.

This placed a heavy overall burden on all sections and led to my recommendations in my memorandum of 7/29/71 for manpower changes within DID to insure that manpower was being used on priority items.

Mr. Felt's memorandum 8/4/71 indicates he discussed the manpower problem on the leak cases with Wannall who said his problems had now become so great he would need 2 more men for a total of 7.

In line with Mr. Felt's stated intention to initiate an overall study of the matter, I had Mr. Wannall submit to me an overall analysis of his manpower and work load as it relates to the leak cases in his section. Set forth are the case load figures for Mr. Wannall's section from March 1 - August 1, 1971:

March 1 - 324
April 1 - 323
May 1 - 313
June 1 - 291
July 1 - 292
August 1 - 294

When the Ellsberg case first broke, Wannall assured me he was using his existing manpower to the fullest extent possible and needed temporarily assistance from other sections to carry on the other heavy burdens of his section, but the case load figures now available for the six-week period from 6/15/71 to 8/1/71 show that all Wannall did was put his own men on the special (5 men) and borrow manpower (5 men) from other sections to keep his other problems in hand at the sacrifice of other sections with equally or even more burdensome problems.

This is shown by the fact that for June and July the case load average in Wannall's section while handling the Ellsberg case was 292 and 294 respectively as contrasted to a Division case load average for all sections during the same period of 339 and 335. This does not even take into consideration that he has 5 highly experienced and qualified supervisors in the Special Coordination Unit whom he does not include in his case load count. He could have drawn on at least one of these men for special assignment in an emergency but did not.

Actually, it is now clear that Wannall responded in the initial stage of his problem with a panicky, premature request for additional manpower as he subsequently did through his observation to Mr. Felt that he needed still 2 more men. In effect, Wannall put DID in the untenable position of giving Mr. Felt an off-the-cuff assessmentof what he considered to be an "enormous" problem and a need for still 2 more men unsupported by facts and oblivious to the problems of the Division as a whole. As a matter of fact, one of the leak cases which caused Wannall great alarm was referred to us by the Department on 8/2/71. By letter dated 8/9/71 Wannall advised the Department that we had conducted one interview which showed that prosecution could not be entertained and accordingly would conduct no further investigation in the absence of specific instructions. Therefore, one part of Wannall's "enormous" problem was resolved in one week with one interview and one letter to the Department.

Of equal concern to me is Wannall's handling of leave requests during the period of 6/15/71 to 8/5/71. When confronted with the Ellsberg case, he had discussed leave with me and had suggested that if it was necessary for him to cancel leave requests in his section he felt leave should be cancelled throughout the entire Division. I told him it would be ridiculous to cancel leave Division-wide because one section had a problem. I advised him leave throughout the Division would be approved on the basis of sound judgment in relation to overall Division work load and in accordance with the Director's instructions concerning individuals involved on major cases.

I have ascertained that since 6/15/71 Wannall has approved leave for 12 supervisors in his section totaling 763 hours. This is an average of nearly 8 days per man for each of those 12. He approved these extensive leave requests during the same period that he advised his problems were so "enormous" that he needed 7 additional men.

OBSERVATIONS:

Historically, the Bureau has learned to live with specials of various kinds. I agree with the concept that such specials are a test of the responsible official's ability to handle them within the framework of the Bureau's overall responsibilities and capabilities. In like manner, I expect no less from supervisory personnel under me and will not condone unwarranted attempts to grab manpower within the Division regardless of whether the attempts are based on an inability to think clearly, an incapacity to adjust to a stress situation, or oversight resulting from a provincial attitude and outlook.

DID has absorbed into its periphery of responsibilities many new problem areas involving racial and new left extremists in recent years. These problems have taxed our ingenuity and resulted in across-the-board heavy work load increases brought about by the need to flexibly realign manpower to meet new challenges. When other priorities of the Bureau have precluded additional manpower being added to DID, I have attempted to take the positive approach of making internal adjustments to fulfill our responsibilities with available resources.

In this vain, there is attached a copy of a memorandum I prepared for all Branch and Section Chiefs of DID dated 7/23/71 which resulted in my memorandum to Mr. Sullivan of 7/29/71 recommending DID manpower adjustments. I feel it will serve to show why the Inspection Division with a minor exception approved our proposed manpower adjustments. Perhaps it will serve also to facilitate the study Mr. Felt indicated he was initiating. I hope it will resolve any doubts the Director or others may have about what we are trying to do with our manpower resources in DID and why we are trying to do it.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

(1) Pending the Director's final approval of the proposed manpower adjustments within DID, the 5 men temporarily assigned to the Ellsberg case remain as assigned.

(2) Any additional personnel to be assigned to the Ellsberg or other leak cases at this time should come from within the Nationalities Intelligence Section in view of the relatively lower case load in that section.

(3) That Inspector D. E. Moore personally assume overall direction of the Ellsberg and leak cases to insure Wannall's proper utilization of manpower in the direction of our objectives. This should include daily conferences with Wannall and his men on the Ellsberg and leak cases and a weekly progress report to me from Inspector Moore.

No. Since it has been stated (irresponsibly) that if Brennan was taken off Ellsberg case it would be lost Brennan is to remain until case is concluded. H

(4) That Mr. Felt as instructed by the Director expedite his study of recommended DID manpower adjustments so that desirable changes can be effected without further delay to enable us to put our manpower on our most important problems.

Mr. W. C. Sullivan August 16, 1971

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL
DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION (DID)

Re attached memorandum Wannall to Brennan 8/12/71 requesting one additional supervisor be approved from outside DID for the Foreign Liaison Desk (FLD) because of a heavy increase in work volume.

I agree expansion of our Legat offices has produced work increase which would justify additional supervisor on FLD. However, in regard to Wannall's recommendation concurred in by the Branch Chief, Inspector D. E. Moore, that it should come from outside DID, I am mindful of the Inspection Division's survey of work in DID during week of 7/19/71 following request for additional supervisor in Espionage Section. The Inspector concluded that the present supervisory capabilities of DID are adequate to handle existing work.

The Inspection Division's analysis of work in DID as of 7/1/71 compared with last inspection in January, 1971, revealed a stability of overall responsibilities from a case load standpoint shown by the fact average case load per supervisor in January was 322 and in July 330. Wannall's average case load in January per supervisor was 278 and in July 294--an average rise of only 8 cases in the Division and of only 16 cases in Wannall's section in six months.

Ordinarily, I would point out to both Inspector Moore and Wannall these factors mitigate against requesting additional supervisors from outside DID. Inspector Moore had access to these facts and should have explained to Wannall the need to follow traditional patterns in requesting an additional man, i. e., adjusting within the Division's overall manpower and work load framework of capabilities and responsibilities. The obvious answer is for Wannall to reassign a man from within his section to the FLD. This would (1) alleviate the work load there and, (2) bring his case load closer to the Division's supervisory average per man. At the end of 90 days he could then reassess his situation and consider any action the facts then warrant.

However, the significance placed on our recent Legat expansion may be an overriding factor to the Inspection Division or Mr. Felt who may feel the facts presented by Wannall are such to outweigh all other considerations. I feel it would be well for Mr. Felt to consider this request in conjunction with the manpower adjustment survey he is to initiate and I will be guided accordingly.

I have initiated some new guidelines for determining Division manpower assignments and case loads. I believe these will provide a still better basis for DID to insure its manpower is being most effectively used on priority matters. Mr. Felt may desire to use these guidelines immediately as a measure for his study.

RECOMMENDATION:

That Mr. Felt consider the request of Wannall for a supervisor from outside DID in conjuction with his study.

Any additional personnel for Wannall's Section must come from within the DID.

SPECIFIC COMMENTS

2. None

3. None

4. None

5. During the period since the last inspection manpower savings have been effected in that the following Supervisors for the periods indicated have been assigned elsewhere in the Division. Supervisor James P. Benedict has been assigned elsewhere in the Division for the entire period since the last inspection except for approximately 12 days that he was working in the Internal Security Section. Most of this period he was on temporary assignment in the New Left Section on the Special concerning the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives case. More recently he has been on temporary assignment to the Nationalities Intelligence Section on the McLek Special. Since 8/13/71 Supervisor Tony J. Seabaugh has also been on temporary assignment in the Nationalities Intelligence Section on the McLek Special.

6. When Special Agent supervisory personnel currently assigned, temporarily on loan to other Sections, are returned, we will have adequate personnel to handle existing case load. There is, however, an area of pending work which could greatly increase the supervisory work load and require expeditious file reviews, analysis of cases, availability of witnesses, reviews of informant reports and preparation of correspondence. Funds were recently appropriated by Congress for the implementation of Executive Order 11605 which broadened the powers of the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) to enable the Board to hold hearings and designate violence-prone extremist organizations as subversive. The Department has indicated that it intends to initiate proceedings before the SACB as soon as possible and there are a number of organizations being handled in the Internal Security Section, such as the Revolutionary Union and Progressive Labor Party, which are likely to be selected for presentation. Based on past experience, the preparation of a case for presentation to the SACB requires the services of one Supervisor on a full-time basis. Thus, it is anticipated that the Department's action pursuant to Executive Order 11605 will substantially increase the work load of the Internal Security Section.

7. In evaluating adequacy of both Special Agent and clerical personnel the following criteria were used:

case load
mail count
name checks
complexity of cases and supervision involved deadline matters
special assignments
experienced supervisors

Administrative duties assigned Supervisors in Charge (reviewing mail, conferring with employees, organizing Unit) limit to some extent the volume of case assignments handled.

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL 6-E

SECTION CHIEF R. D. COTTER: As of close of business 8/17/71, the complement of this Section was as follows: Special Agents 12, secretaries 6, and clerks 13, for a total of 31. This is broken down by unit as follows:

Section Front Office - 2 Special Agents, 1 Secretary (Stenography), 1 Secretary (Typing), 1 Clerk (Typing - GS-5). One Special Agent on permanent detached assignment to Department of Justice.

Central Research Unit - 5 Special Agents, 1 Secretary, 3 Supervisory Clerks (technical publications writers), 1 Clerk (publications coordinator), 1 Clerk (omnibus).

Civil Disorder Reporting Unit - 2 Special Agents, 1 Secretary, 1 Clerk (omnibus).

Current Intelligence Reporting Unit - 2 Special Agents, 1 Secretary, 1 Supervisory Clerk (technical publications writer), 1 Clerk (omnibus).

Special Records Unit - 1 Special Agent, 1 Secretary, 4 Clerks.

The following responses are numbered to correspond with Inspector's specific questions:

1. Position of Section Chief is technically vacant, with no authority to fill. Section Chief R. D. Cotter, with approval of the Director, has been on permanent detached assignment with the Department of Justice since 6/1/71. Number One Man T. J. Smith has acted in capacity of Section Chief.

One Special Agent position in Current Intelligence Reporting Unit has been vacant since retirement of SA B. A. Wells, effective 7/30/71. Authority granted to fill position and SA D. N. Lloyd will report 8/18/71 as SA Wells' replacement.

2. SA Dean N. Lloyd is under transfer to the Division from the San Antonio Office. Transfer letter was dated 6/30/71. He has arrived in Washington and will report for assignment 8/18/71.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kelset Elliott, Clerk GS-4, assigned to Current Intelligence Reporting Unit, resigned effective 8/24/71. Letter acknowledging resignation was dated 8/3/71.

Miss Joyce Webb, Secretary, GS-5, assigned to Current Intelligence Reporting Unit, resigned effective 8/20/71. Letter acknowledging resignation was dated 7/28/71.

3. There is one GS-4 Clerk surplus to the Section complement. This is located in the Current Intelligence Reporting Unit and is due to fact that replacement for Mrs. Elliott (above) received prior to effective date of resignation, 8/24/71.

4. Current clerical personnel complement is considered adequate but not excessive to the needs of the Section.

5. There have been no manpower savings effected through streamlining procedures since date of last inspection. One Special Agent who had been on loan to Internal Security Section was transferred permanently to that Section effective 5/24/71, with no replacement to be provided. Overall Section complement was thereby reduced by one Special Agent and the work load occasioned by this reduction was absorbed by existing Agent complement with assistance from Supervisory Clerks (Technical Publications Writers).

6. Due to nature of permanent assignment of Section Chief R. D. Cotter to the Department of Justice, full burden and responsibility for running the Section and handling Section Front Office functions has fallen on the Number One Man, T. J. Smith. A replacement for Mr. Cotter is very definitely deemed necessary so that an acting Number One Man can be designated to relieve SA Smith in the Section Front Office. In the interest of continuity of responsibility and authority it is felt that designation of an acting Number One Man is a must. A replacement was approved by the Director for the other Agent named along with Mr. Cotter for detached permanent assignment to the Department. Personnel of the Section cannot be considered adequate so long as there is only one Special Agent handling Front Office responsibilities of the Section.

7. Criteria used in assessing personnel adequacy in this Section includes a number of diverse factors. As pointed out in prior inspections, case load figures are not applicable, neither are there any other simple qualitative measurements of the Section's work. Research Section is essentially the service arm of the Division and handles a wide variety of assignments involving research, study and analysis. Of primary importance is production of a variety of documents aimed at providing the White House, Attorney General, other high level Government officials and Bureau officials current intelligence information relating to the broad spectrum of the Division's work. In addition to the writing of highly condensed intelligence summaries, digests, and analyses in pamphlet form for high level dissemination, the Section provides a daily teletype summary of racial disorders and developments and of antiwar, campus disorders and other disturbances growing out of various protest activity. The Section also handles all matters which involve the Division as a whole, where the matter crosses section lines. Director's specials involving such matters as wire taps, nonspecific topical subjects such as guidelines for internal security investigations, and similar matters are handled and/or coordinated in the Section.

The adequacy of personnel of the Section depends on the demands leveled by the White House or by Bureau officials for the specialized studies and other material which the Section is geared to produce on short notice. Demands for intelligence data were extremely heavy from the White House prior to and during the election campaign last year. It can reasonably be expected that even greater demands will be placed on the Bureau during the months ahead, and such demands will invariably involve the elements of extremism, terrorism, racial and new left agitation and other internal security problems. It is to be noted that this Section actually wrote one speech for Vice President Agnew and provided the material for inclusion in several others. We also provided Mr. Agnew with a special brief which was kept updated, for use in appearing before various groups.

SECTION CHIEF R. L. SHACKELFORD: There is set forth below a tabulation of the actual and authorized personnel in the New Left Section as of close of business, August 17, 1971.

	6 Clerks	7 Clerks
Front Office	2 Agents	2 Agents
	2 Clerks	2 Clerks
Total	26 Agents	26 Agents
	27 Clerks	28 Clerks

1. There are no vacant positions in the New Left Section.

2. There are no transfers pending in or out of the Section, nor are there any letters of resignation in the Section pending as of August 17, 1971.

3. As of August 17, 1971, this Section is one secretary over the authorized complement. This secretary is temporarily assigned to the GS-6 secretary position in the Section Front Office, which was vacated by the reassignment of the incumbent to a proposed GS-6 clerical position in the Subversive Individuals - New Left Unit. Upon approval of the proposed clerical position, the extra secretary will be utilized to fill the GS-6 secretary vacancy in the Front Office.

Adequacy of Personnel

4. At time of last inspection, this Section had a complement of 24 clerical personnel as compared to present assigned complement of 28 clerical personnel. This increase was occasioned by the transfer of the Protest and Trotskyist Groups Unit with accompanying personnel from Internal Security Section to the New Left Section.

Congress recently appropriated funds for implementation of Executive Order 11605 which broadened power of Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB) to designate violence prone extremist organizations as subversive. The Department has indicated it intends to initiate these proceedings as soon as possible (See R. L. Shackelford memorandum to Mr. C. D. Brennan, August 16, 1971, captioned "Executive Order 11605"). This Section handles a number of organizations which will undoubtedly be selected by the Department for presentation before the SACB. Based on past experience, the preparation of cases for presentation to the SACB creates a considerable increase in work of a clerical nature. If the Department's intention in this regard is implemented, it will be necessary to obtain an additional clerk in the future, however, we are not requesting any additional clerical personnel at this time.

5. The New Left Section, as of January, 1971, had an authorized complement of 22 Agents and 23 clerks. Current assigned complement is 26 Agents and 28 clerks. This increase in complement, as noted above, was occasioned by the transfer of the Protest and Trotskyist Groups Unit from the Internal Security Section to the New Left Section.

6. The caseload being handled by the New Left Section (average 371 cases per Agent as of August 1, 1971) is considered excessive. We are, at the present time, making a conscientious effort to reduce this caseload to desirable level by weeding out and closing cases which do not require additional investigation. If, in spite of our efforts, the upward trend continues, it may be necessary to request additional Agent personnel to handle the excessive caseload in this Section.

As noted in number 4 above, it is anticipated that as a result of recent Congressional action, the Department intends to soon present violence prone extremist organizations before the SACB for designation as subversive. Such presentations will, of necessity, include several organizations currently handled by this Section. Based on past experience, the preparation of a case for presentation before the SACB requires the services of one supervisor on a full-time basis. No request is being made at this time for additional Agent personnel. However, based on the above, it appears that a request for one additional Agent will be necessary when the above proceedings are instituted.

7. Adequacy of personnel in the New Left Section is constantly evaluated on basis of caseload and type of cases handled by each Unit, review of delinquency reports, number of requests received from Department and other agencies, and review of the overall objectives of the Section. When it is noted, because of special circumstances, that an excessive amount of work is temporarily assigned to one Unit, personnel from other Units are utilized to alleviate the situation.

ESPIONAGE SECTION

(1) The authorized personnel of the Espionage Section as of the close of business August 17, 1971, is as follows:

Front Office	2	0	2	0
Soviet Unit - Washington	3	2	1	1
Soviet Unit - New York	4*	3	1	1

Clerk, GS-7, A. Iris Kirby, performing work in lieu of Special Agent.

(2) By letter dated July 28, 1971, Special Agent George M. Quinn was ordered for assignment to the Domestic Intelligence Division.

By letter dated August 17, 1971, Dale P. Ramacciato submitted his resignation to be effective at close of business

271

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL

August 20, 1971. Letter acknowledging resignation has not been received.

(3) As of August 17, 1971, there was a shortage of one Special Agent in the Soviet Unit - New York. As of August 17, 1971, there was no overage of authorized personnel in the Espionage Section.

(4) Clerical personnel is considered adequate but not excessive at the present time.

(5) Since the last inspection the Special Agent complement of the Espionage Section has been reduced by two. At the time of the last inspection the Espionage Section had a total case load of 5,089 cases, of which 141 were handled by clerical personnel in lieu of Agent personnel. There was, therefore, an average of 275 pending investigations per Agent Supervisor. As of July 31, 1971, the Espionage Section had a total of 5,575 cases, of which 270 were handled by clerical personnel. This provided an average of 331 pending investigations for each Agent Supervisor.

(6) By memorandum June 4, 1971, a request was made to increase the Special Agent complement by one Special Agent. This was predicated on an increase in the volume and complexity of investigations handled. The request was denied. By memorandum July 14, 1971, I asked to increase the Special Agent complement by one in order that the Ironclad case could be assigned the full-time job of one Special Agent. Ironclad is a unique source of the Bureau and it is important that information from this source is given the analysis and consideration that it deserves. This request was denied, and the Special Agent complement of the Espionage Section was fixed at 18. In light of President Nixon's recent request to cut back, no request for additional Special Agent personnel is being made and the present complement is considered adequate.

(7) Criteria utilized in determining the adequacy of personnel includes the volume of cases supervised, the complexity of the cases, and the importance of the investigation.

In the Soviet Units - Washington and New York, we are currently handling 2,190 cases among an authorized complement of seven Special Agents. The greatest majority of our double agent cases are assigned in these Units and these are among the most complex investigations. The operation of a double agent requires minute supervision to insure that the objectives of the investigation are achieved. The Soviet Unit - Washington also supervises two illegal agent cases, and the Soviet Unit - New York has the overall supervision of the Ironclad source.

The Satellite Unit, which supervises the investigations in the Polish, Romanian, Czechoslovakian, and Yugoslav nationality fields, has a total of 1,408 investigations, including the informants and double agents that are being directed against the Soviet-bloc establishments and personnel. There is, therefore, an average of 352 investigations in this Unit.

The Coordination Unit is currently handling 1,226 investigations, of which 178 are assigned to a Clerk in lieu of an Agent. Considering that this Unit has the responsibility for a number of special subjects and special operations, including the adaptation of our records to automatic data processing equipment, the case load is considered very high.

In our Special Cases Unit there are currently 751 investigations, of which 92 are handled by a Clerk in lieu of an Agent. These investigations are divided among two Special Agents. The figure of 751 compares favorably with the total of 768 at the time of the last inspection, which number was divided among three Special Agents.

(1) There are no clerical or supervisory vacancies in the Section.

(2) No one is under transfer into or out of the Section.

(3) There is no shortage or overage of authorized personnel.

(4) The clerical personnel assigned to the Section is considered adequate at this time.

(5) The streamlining of our operations wherever possible to effect manpower savings is under continual evaluation. Examples of streamlining measures taken since the last inspection include: (1) Abolishment of the Agitator Index on 4/21/71 as an analysis revealed that it was no longer the necessary administrative tool that it once was; (2) After consultation with the Department, discontinued submission of monthly evidentiary reports concerning the Black Panther Party on May 14, 1971. At the time this program was discontinued, 23 field offices were submitting monthly evidentiary reports averaging 37 pages in length; (3) Limited the scope of investigations of black student groups on college campuses to those groups which have engaged in violence and/or lawless activities or are moving toward violence or lawlessness by letter to all offices 7/26/71; (4) Assigned additional duties to clerical personnel in effort to reduce the workload of Special Agent Supervisors. Specifically, a clerk is now handling the Black Extremist Bureau Fugitive List, correlates the receipt and review of publications and newspapers dealing with the black nationalist movement, reviews and forwards to appropriate field offices information received from the military on black extremist in the Armed Forces, and handles certain correspondence with the National Security Agency concerning matters of mutual interest.

In addition, we continue to utilize our teletype dissemination facilities to the maximum extent possible

(6) The Special Agent complement is 22 including the Section Chief and Number One Man, an increase of one since the last inspection. The Division was reorganized December 17, 1970, on the basis of approximate case load per Supervisor of 279. This figure was based on the October 1, 1970, case load figures. As of January 1, 1971, the case load stood at 349 per Supervisor and a request for two additional Special Agent Supervisors was approved. The opening of cases on Black Student Union-type organizations and leaders thereof on college campuses across the Nation in December, 1970, showed up in our case load figures during the early months of 1971. These cases have been handled and closed by the end of the 1970-1971 school year. As of August 1, 1971, the case load stood at 5,428 or an average of 271 per Supervisor assigned. These cases represent hard-core extremist individuals and organizations and require extensive supervision.

Additional factors dealing with the adequacy of personnel is a special that was received in the Section on May 29, 1971, involving the killing of two police officers in New York City on May 21, 1971, which the President instructed the FBI to investigate and solve. The supervision of this investigation occupies the full time of one Supervisor. In addition, one Supervisor was placed on loan to the Nationalities Intelligence Section on July 19, 1971, and a second Supervisor was placed on loan to that Section on August 13, 1971.

With the return of these two Supervisors to the Section, I consider the supervisory personnel as adequate.

There are several factors that would indicate that our work in the black extremist field will increase in the immediate future. With the reopening of school in the immediate future, we can foresee an influx of cases involving extremist Black Student UNion-type groups and leaders thereof.

Executive Order 11605 signed by the President on July 2, 1971, expanded the activities of the Subversive Activities Control Board (SACB). The Department has advised that a Section has been formed within the Internal Security Division of the Department to file petitions before the SACB pursuant to Executive Order 11605 and that the Department is interested in proceeding as quickly as possible against such parties as the Black Panther Party and the Ku Klux Klan among others. Such proceedings will materially increase the workload of the Section.

Under the proposed reorganization of the Division which is under consideration at this time, this Section, if such reorganization is approved, will handle all Klan and white-hate organizations, individuals and informants with the present supervisory complement. In this connection, the informant cases are adoptable to full assimilation into our present extremist informant setup and a great deal of the work in connection with the handling of these informants will be assigned the responsibility of two grade 6 clerical employees in the Black Nationalist - South and Racial Informant Unit. In order to absorb the Klan and white-hate organizations and individuals, they will be assigned in accordance with the geographic breakdown we are presently using within the four Units in the Section.

Black extremist activity in this country is developing more and more in international aspects. Residents of other countries including U. S. citizens and noncitizens are involved in clandestine and overt operational activity among racial extremists. We have targeted Central Intelligence Agency as well as our Legal Attaches abroad for the development of data regarding foreign influence in the black extremist movement. We have levied requirements and are expanding on such requirements on the National Security Agency which has vast capabilities in developing the type of information needed.

(7) In evaluating personnel adequacy, we take into consideration not only the case load which is compiled on a monthly basis but also results of periodic mail counts taken on a quarterly basis. Many of our cases on key figures in the black extremist movement such as Huey P. Newton, Eldridge Cleaver, James Forman, LeRoi Jones, and others require a considerable amount of supervisory attention.

Analysis of current developments in the racial field, preparation of special studies, requests from other Government agencies, and so forth all require considerable supervisory time and are taken into consideration in evaluating the adequacy of supervisory personnel.

Nationality Unit consists of four Special Agents, one Secretary (Stenography), one Clerk (GS-6) and three Clerks (GS-4).

Special Coordination Unit consists of five Special Agents, three Secretaries (Stenography), one Clerk (GS-7), four Clerks (GS-5), and three Clerks (GS-4).

Chinese Unit consists of three Special Agents, one Secretary (Stenography), and three Clerks (GS-4).

Middle and South American Unit consists of three Special Agents, one Secretary (Stenography), and three Clerks (GS-4).

Division Stenographic Pool consists of one Stenographic Supervisor (Clerk), one Assistant Supervisor (Stenographic), one Clerk-Stenographer (GS-5), and 25 Clerk-Stenographers (GS-4).

While the foregoing represents the organizational structure of the Section as authorized, the actual structure has been affected by the McLek and related specials since 6/15/71. There are seven Agents assigned on a temporary, and in part rotating, basis to this Section from other sections within the Division. These men, together with the 20 Agents regularly assigned to the Section, are assigned as follows:

Section Front Office - two (no change).

Cuban Unit - three (two regular, one on temporary rotating assignment--David A. Brumble of Extremist Intelligence Section reported 8/13/71).

Nationality Unit - three (one regular and two on temporary assignment--James H. Kavanagh of New Left Section reported 7/19/71, and John L. Adams of Extremist Intelligence Section reported 8/9/71). This is one less than normal unit Agent complement.

Special Coordination Unit - five (no change).

Chinese Unit - two (regular). This is one less than normal unit Agent complement.

Middle and South American Unit - three (two regular and one on temporary rotating assignment--Wilfred R. Schlarman of Espionage Section reported 8/16/71).

McLek and Related Specials - nine (as follows):

Eugene R. Harrell (of this Section)
James R. Wagoner (of this Section)
Jesse R. Hagy (of this Section)
Herbert J. Morgan (of this Section)
Lionel E. Belanger (of this Section)

280

William W. Hamilton (of this Section)
Joseph M. Sizoo (of Research Section)
Tony J. Seabaugh (of Internal Security Section)
James P. Benedict (of Internal Security Section)

Harrell, Wagoner and Hamilton are regularly assigned to the Nationality Unit, Morgan to the Middle and South American Unit, Belanger to the Cuban Unit and Hagy to the Chinese Unit.

(1) All positions were occupied as of close of business 8/17/71, although one transfer out was pending and one resignation was pending.

(2) By letter dated 8/16/71 Linda Marie Blum, Clerk-Stenographer, GS-4, was transferred to Phoenix Office. Carol A. Maslow has resigned effective close of business 8/27/71. Letter acknowledging this was dated 8/2/71.

(3) Kendall Wayne Shull, Clerk, GS-4, was assigned to Section 7/22/71 for training purposes pending clerical opening within Division to which he would be permanently assigned.

(4) The additional work involved in the handling of McLek and related specials has to date required the assignment of nine Agents. There has been additional clerical work involved which to date has been handled by clerks regularly assigned to the Nationality Unit plus the clerical assistance rendered by Kendall Wayne Shull from 7/22/71 to 8/17/71 and by Wayne T. Smith who, for training purposes, was assigned to this Section from 7/7 to 8/3/71. If reorganization results in setting up a special unit to handle McLek and related matters, we would require a GS-5 Secretary (Stenography) for the Unit Chief and a minimum of three clerical employees, one to handle lead cards, one to handle dissemination and the third to handle indices searches, file requests and related matters. We would endeavor to fill two of the three clerical positions from clerical complement presently in the Section by diverting one clerk from the present Nationality Unit and one clerk from the Middle and South American Unit. We would request that the clerical position which has existed since 7/7/71 for training purposes be made permanent by an increase in the clerical complement. This would result in adding to the over-all Section complement one Secretary (Stenography), GS-5, and one Clerk, GS-4.

(5) The principal manpower savings effected since last inspection was brought about through a voluntary reduction of over-all case load within the Section to preclude the necessity for requesting an additional Agent for assignment to the 13 operational desks within the Section (those existing in all units except the Front Office, the Special Coordination Unit, and the Division Stenographic Pool Unit). The case load reduction was effected by streamlining procedures regarding the handling of cases relating to deserting Chinese seamen (a reduction of approximately 160 cases) and restricting the opening of investigations of the Jewish Defense League to high-level national leaders (which resulted in a reduction of approximately 70 cases). Memoranda captioned "Case Load Reduction, Nationalities Intelligence Section," dated 4/15 and 5/5/71 attached.

(6) Our regular Agent complement is 20 and we have seven men on loan from other sections. Of these 27 men, nine are presently assigned to McLek and related specials, six from the regular Agent complement from this Section and three of the loan Agents. The assignment of the manpower from this Section has resulted in the temporary reduction of the complements of the Nationality Unit and the Chinese Unit by one Agent each. While it is felt we can continue running these two units on a temporary basis in the immediate future with one less man assigned to each, we will not be able to expand efforts in the Chinese communist field which, at this time, is considered critical. To do this, the Chinese Unit should be built to an Agent complement of five. This would permit us to handle the current work in the unit and expand into areas which are considered necessary at this time and which are outlined in detail in the attached write-up dated 8/18/71 and captioned "Chinese Matters."

By memorandum dated 8/12/71 one additional Agent Supervisor was requested for assignment to the Foreign Liaison Desk. A copy of this memorandum is attached, together with a copy of a cover memorandum dated 8/16/71 from Assistant Director Brennan to Mr. Sullivan captioned "Adequacy of Personnel, Domestic Intelligence Division (DID)."

(7) Criteria utilized in evaluating personnel adequacy include continuing analysis of Agent and clerical work load, case load, mail counts, complexity of cases, relative importance of matters to national security and intelligence requirements, personnel capabilities, and past experience in shifts of emphasis of work from one area to another.

CASE LOAD REDUCTION
NATIONALITIES INTELLIGENCE SECTION

We intend to reduce our current case load from 4197 to 3739, a reduction of 458 active cases and a reduction in the average case load for the 13 Agents handling case supervision from 322 to 287.

This reduction is in part contingent upon re-establishing the moratorium on SI cases and would be effected as follows:

Middle and South American Unit - By re-establishing the moratorium on SI cases, 30 pending cases would be closed. This Unit has a current case load of 976 active cases and reduction will result in a net case load of 946.

Chinese Unit - The recently approved streamlining procedures will result in approximately 30 days' time in the closing of 160 cases on deserting seamen. This Unit has 1028 current active cases and with reduction will have a net of 868 active cases.

Nationality Unit - We intend to restrict the investigation of the Jewish Defense League to the high-level national leaders which will result in reduction of 143 active cases. Unit has current case load of 917 active cases and with reduction referred to above will have an active case load of 774.

Cuban Unit - Upon re-establishment of moratorium on SI cases the case load in this Unit would be reduced by 125 pending active investigations. The current case load of 1276 will be reduced to 1151.

In addition, re-establishment of the moratorium will result in eliminating approximately 600 SI cases which are presently carried in an inactive status.

The reduction in the Chinese Unit will be accomplished within a 30-day period. The reduction of SI cases upon re-establishment of the moratorium and the remaining reduction will be effected upon your concurrence.

CASE LOAD REDUCTIONS

NATIONALITIES INTELLIGENCE SECTION

Pursuant to your request for observations concerning our comments in attached 4-15-71 informal memorandum, following is submitted:

We concur in the re-establishment of the moratorium on SI cases which will result in some 150 pending active investigations being discontinued.

We have previously noted that instructions have been outstanding for some time which will result in streamlining procedures in handling cases on deserting Chinese seamen. During April, (34) such cases have been closed, and it is anticipated during the month of May about (125) more such cases will be discontinued in the normal course of events.

The step which we have discussed in much detail relates to changing criteria for opening cases on individuals connected with the Jewish Defense League (JDL). The violent nature of many such individuals was the basis for our instructing several months ago that each member who has actively participated in and supported the demonstrations, acts of violence, etc. of the group be made subject of an individual investigation. This amounted to about 80 individual cases on some 8000 alleged members of the JDL at that time. The membership has increased tremendously during the interim and if we continue under this criteria, we estimate within the next year anywhere from 600 to 1000 additional cases would have to be opened.

Despite the fact we feel we will be taking a risk in not pinpointing someone who later turns out to be violence-prone activist, we suggest that at this time we revert to opening cases on (1) each JDL organization or subsidiary organization; (2) individuals serving in a leadership capacity of such organizations; and (3) other persons connected with the JDL who by past actions have shown propensity for violence or connection with activities involving violence or terrorism. This will result in our dropping from (70-80) cases in the immediate future.

CHINESE MATTERS

On the security and intelligence scene, Communist China has emerged as one of the most important countries handled in this Section. This fact was dramatically emphasized by President Nixon's July 15, 1971, announcement that he will visit Red China before May, 1972. Available information, including an announcement by Secretary of State Rogers, indicates that Red China's entry into the United Nations is imminent and will probably be an accomplished fact within the next 14 months. For the purpose of securing more and better intelligence on Red China and Red Chinese sympathizers; to develop more sources who can provide needed information; and to have a reservoir of sources we may utilize in intelligence operations against the Chinese communists (Chicoms), it is felt the following investigative areas should be activated and/or expanded:

1. Chinese Universities and Graduate Schools Index - The above Index consists of cards on more than 600 individuals who have been interviewed under our Chinese Alien Program and who have attended institutions of higher learning in Red China. It is felt that these individuals, because of their educational background, would be the types we should approach in order to determine their potential for use in operations against the Chicoms. This would require opening cases on each individual, reviewing Bureau file in each case, and thereafter setting out leads and instructions to the field in order to initiate the type of inquiry felt necessary in each case. The objective of this effort would be to identify those individuals whose activities we can direct against either the existing Chicom establishment in Canada or against Chicom establishments which are expected to be opened in this country in the near future.

2. Implementation of a program in which we would select four or more Special Agents for indoctrination and training, looking toward their utilization in an undercover capacity against the existing Chicom official establishment in Canada or against any Chicom establishment which may be located in the United States in the future.

3. Implementation of an effort in selected offices whereby individuals, present sources included, could be developed for the purpose of establishing a walk-in program directed against the Chicom Embassy in Ottawa. Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) representatives advised, during a July, 1971, conference, they would cooperate fully in an effort of this type.

4. Consideration should be given to renewing the Chiclet and Chiprop Programs, both of which were discontinued in 1965. These programs provided us with a secure means to obtain communications between the United States and Red China and, from these communications, we secured valuable intelligence and background information on both ethnic Chinese and Caucasians of security interest to us.

5. In connection with travel of U. S. citizens to Red China, it should be noted that all prior restrictions on such travel imposed by the U. S. Government have been lifted. The result of this action is that U. S. citizens who desire to travel to Red China no longer need to accomplish such travel clandestinely. The door is now open, and we may expect, in the near future, a substantial increase in such travel by U. S. citizens. It is felt we should fully identify each U. S. citizen traveling to Red China and in selected cases should conduct appropriate interviews, since our experience in the security field historically indicates that U. S. visitors to communist countries are frequently approached by the intelligence services of those countries for recruitment. This problem may be further magnified if and when permanent resident aliens are authorized to travel from the U. S. to Red China. Such a proposal is now under consideration by the Attorney General and the Department of State and favorable consideration could result in travel to Red China of many thousands of ethnic Chinese who have permanent resident status in the U. S. and who would desire to travel to Red China to visit families living there. In these cases, a clear hostage situation exists and such situations are often exploited by hostile intelligence services.

6. Immigration laws relating to Chinese aliens entering the U. S. have been broadened substantially and in early 1971, the Conditional Entry Program was begun. This program permits entry into the U. S. of up to 250 Chinese aliens per month, who were heretofore ineligible under our immigration laws. These aliens, in most cases, have families residing on the China mainland, thereby creating a hostage situation which could be used as a lever by the Chicoms to gain cooperation.

It is felt desirable at this time to revamp our instructions regarding reinterviews of Chinese aliens in cases where a hostage situation exists. At the present time, our policy is to reinterview a Chinese alien two years after the initial interview. It is felt that these instructions should be modified to require that a second interview of a Chinese alien having members of his immediate family in Red China should occur one year after the initial interview.

7. We should expand our present source development program at the United Nations, looking toward development of individuals connected with the United Nations who would be willing, under Bureau direction, to initiate contact with Chicom official representatives in Canada. Based on information provided by RCMP, contacts of this type, even if no recruitment by the Chicoms is obvious, would serve to form a reservoir of individuals the Chicoms might well contact and/or operate upon their entry into the United Nations.

8. Our Chinese Scientists Program now involves five field offices, each of which is doing background inquiries on ten ethnic Chinese scientists who have security clearances. The purpose of this program is to select appropriate individuals from the above group of 50 to target against the Chicoms. We have a list of over 3500 ethnic Chinese who fit the criteria we are now using regarding the 50 individuals now under investigation. It is felt that continued development of good sources to direct against the Chicoms warrants expansion of this program, looking toward possible contact with almost all of the 3500 scientists on the above lists. The individuals on this list, being ethnic Chinese and being employed in the scientific and technical fields, would be most attractive to the Chicoms for intelligence purposes.

9. National Security Agency representatives are of the opinion that the possibility exists that Chinese Intelligence Service is beaming broadcasts to agents in the United States or in border countries (Canada or Mexico). Our San Diego Office recently monitored broadcasts felt by National Security Agency to have come from China, and the clarity of the signal on our West Coast was excellent. While this does not prove that an illegal Chicom operation exists on our West Coast, it is an indication that we should undertake action designed to uncover such a possibility. In the absence of more specific data, we should consider at this time checking warranty cards submitted by purchasers of certain radio equipment, primarily radio receivers, which are capable of tuning in on broadcasts such as those mentioned above. This would involve identification of the equipment, its manufacturer, and subsequent instructions to appropriate field offices to check warranty cards on a regular basis for the purpose of determining names of ethnic Chinese who have submitted such cards. Subsequent inquiry should include developing background on the purchaser and, in cases where Bureau interests may be served, perhaps conducting interviews.

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL
DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION (DID)

Re attached memorandum Wannall to Brennan 8/12/71 requesting one additional supervisor be approved from outside DID for the Foreign Liaison Desk (FLD) because of a heavy increase in work volume.

I agree expansion of our Legat offices has produced work increase which would justify additional supervisor on FLD. However, in regard to Wannall's recommendation concurred in by the Branch Chief, Inspector D. E. Moore, that it should come from outside DID, I am mindful of the Inspection Division's survey of work in DID during week of 7/19/71 following request for additional supervisor in Espionage Section. The Inspector concluded that the present supervisory capabilities of DID are adequate to handle existing work.

The Inspection Division's analysis of work in DID as of 7/1/71 compared with last inspection in January, 1971, revealed a stability of overall responsibilities from a case load standpoint shown by the fact average case load per supervisor in January was 325 and in July 330. Wannall's average case load in January per supervisor was 278 and in July 294—an average rise of only 5 cases in the Division and of only 16 cases in Wannall's section in six months. (206 cases)

Ordinarily, I would point out to both Inspector Moore and Wannall these factors mitigate against requesting additional supervisors from outside DID. Inspector Moore had access to these facts and should have explained to Wannall the need to follow traditional patterns in requesting an additional man, i.e., adjusting within the Division's overall manpower and work load framework of capabilities and responsibilities. The obvious answer is for Wannall to reassign a man from within his section to the FLD. This would (1) alleviate the work load there and, (2) bring his case load closer to the Division's supervisory average per man. At the end of 90 days he could then reassess his situation and consider any action the facts then warrant.

However, the significance placed on our recent Legat expansion may be an overriding factor to the Inspection Division or Mr. Felt who may feel the facts presented by Wannall are such to outweigh all other considerations. I feel it would be well for Mr. Felt to consider this request in conjunction with the manpower adjustment survey he is to initiate and I will be guided accordingly.

I have initiated some new guidelines for determining Division manpower assignments and case loads. I believe these will provide a still better basis for DID to insure its manpower is being most effectively used on priority matters. Mr. Felt may desire to use these guidelines immediately as a measure for his study.

RECOMMENDATION:

That Mr. Felt consider the request of Wannall for a supervisor from outside DID in conjunction with his study.

FOREIGN LIAISON DESK (FLD)
NATIONALITIES INTELLIGENCE SECTION
DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION (DID)
REQUEST FOR ADDITIONAL PERSONNEL

Fully mindful of the urgent matters requiring additional personnel in the DID (East Coast Conspiracy) and particularly the Nationalities Intelligence Section (Ellsberg and other leak cases), we must ask for help in the supervision of our foreign offices. While our Legat operations are not in the public eye, they do constitute an important area of our work which must not be overlooked in view of the evaluation being placed upon them by the White House.

In January, 1971, during the inspection of this Division, we pointed out that the expansion of our foreign liaison offices from 11 to 17 had come at a time when the two FLD Supervisors had been barely able to keep up with the flow of paper let alone actually examine and analyze it in order to afford constructive supervision to the foreign offices. We noted the heavy demands made on the time of these two Supervisors in welcoming and supervising the visits to the Bureau of the many foreign dignitaries who are valuable and cooperative contacts of our Legats and the 62% increase over the past ten years in the Foreign Police Cooperation cases being handled. We pointed out that the Supervisors should be preparing memoranda to keep the Director fully apprised of the work being done by our Agents abroad but just did not have time to do this. As a result of the inspection, memorandum 2/1/71 from Mr. Felt to Mr. Tolson secured approval for addition of one man for assignment to the FLD. He reported 2/22/71. Contemporaneously, it became necessary to assign one Agent Supervisor on a rotating basis to the New Left Section on a temporary basis to assist in the East Coast Conspiracy case. An Agent from the FLD was selected for this temporary assignment, effective 4/26/71, which assignment was made permanent when all temporary assignments were converted to permanent assignments, effective 5/21/71. In effect, therefore, the additional man was available on the FLD only during the two months from 2/22 to 4/26/71.

In the meantime, between December, 1970, when the new foreign offices were opened and July, 1971, the latest month for which figures are available, there has been a nearly 60% increase in the amount of paper being produced by our foreign offices and requiring review on the FLD. We are most reluctant to ask for help at a time when the Bureau's resources are strained on so many fronts but we would be derelict in our duty if we did not point out that the situation which the Inspectors in January felt justified additional assistance has since become even worse. What we badly need is a man with a background of experience abroad plus a language ability who would be able to take hold immediately without extensive training. As an example, we can think of Special Agent John Morris, now in the domestic field, who was forced to ask to be returned to the U. S. due to his wife's condition following the death of their first-born child. There are undoubtedly others of equal capability and potential.

Many foreign officials who visit Washington do not speak English or are not fluent in it. We now have a Supervisor fluent in Spanish and the addition of a French or German capability would greatly reduce our need for interpreters from the Washington Field Office and elsewhere in the Bureau. The Division presently has one Supervisor with French and none with German. There are others with such languages as Spanish, Japanese, Chinese, Polish, and the like. If no one with experience in foreign liaison can be made available, one of these language trained men could be used provided a replacement from outside the Division is furnished. There is no way in which help can be provided within the Division without a replacement. We have eliminated and streamlined programs and we are now assigning Supervisors on a rotation basis to assist on the leak cases, leaving their permanent assignments sometimes for weeks at a time.

RECOMMENDATION:

That an additional Supervisor be approved for assignment to the FLD, to come from outside the Division, increasing the Division Agent complement by one.

REQUEST FOR ADDITIONAL PERSONNEL

ADDENDUM: BY D. E. MOORE DEM:aeb 8/14/71

Pursuant to your request, this is to advise that there are two supervisors in the Domestic Intelligence Division with Legal Attache experience, Robert A. Bermingham, who is now assigned to the FLD, and Jessie R. Nagy. Nagy was assigned to this desk but is now assigned to the Ellsberg Special. Both Bermingham and Nagy speak Spanish.

There are 20 other supervisors in the division with language ability. None speak German and only one, John M. Ouellette, speaks French. The language ability of the others are in Russian, Japanese, Italian, Romanian, Polish, Bulgarian, Albanian, Portuguese, Hungarian, Yiddish and Chinese.

ADDENDUM
INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER:
(ESM:wmj 9/3/71)

During the course of instant inspection an in-depth survey was made relative to the adequacy of personnel, both Agent and clerical, within the DID. The primary purpose of this survey was to determine the best possible allocation of manpower bearing in mind the desirability to reallocate manpower to top priority assignments.

ADEQUACY OF AGENT PERSONNEL

Set forth below is a chart graphically illustrating where it is felt reductions can be made in Agent complement:

Internal Security and Research Branch

- Internal Security Section
  - Subversive Individuals Unit - 1
  - Security Informant Unit - 2
  - Klan and White Hate Groups Unit - 2

- Research Section - 1

- New Left Section
  - Subversive Individuals Unit - 1

Espionage and Racial Intelligence Branch

- Extremist Intelligence Section - 2

- Nationalities Intelligence Section
  - Middle and South American Unit - 1
  - Nationality Unit - 1

TOTAL ---- 11

Comments and observations justifying the above-mentioned reductions in force can be found below under the individual Section and Unit captions.

294

Subversive Individuals Unit

This Unit has an Agent complement of 5. At the time of the last inspection it was a 3-man Unit; however, one was assigned on a special in another Unit, leaving actually two Agents to handle approximately 1300 cases, or 650 per man. Since the last inspection the case load has increased to approximately 2600. Consequently, it would appear that 4 men averaging 650 cases per man could handle the work of this Unit. This position is further strengthened as it can be anticipated that the case load will decrease since the deadline of lifting the moratorium expired 6/30/71 and the bulk of investigations have been brought up to date or will be brought up to date in the near future. By memorandum dated 8/26/71 it was recommended that SA John N. Ouellette be returned to the Internal Security Section due to the slackening of activity in the EASTCON case. Ouellette was formerly assigned to this Unit and the reduction could be accomplished by reassignment of him (or another Agent) to more pressing duties elsewhere.

Security Informant Unit

This Unit presently has 4 supervisors assigned; however, one has been on temporary assignment outside the Unit since June , 1971. The case load as of 8/71 for this Unit was 869 and would result in about 217 cases per Agent in a 4-man Unit, and 290 cases per Agent in a 3-man Unit. Further, you have indicated one of the factors affecting the productivity of the Unit is the necessity of obtaining authority by memorandum for the utilization of students and/or teachers as security informants. It was determined that 122 memos have been prepared since the last inspection requesting such approval. This is approximate 1 memo per workday, which does not appear to be an excessive work load. Since this Unit was formed it has functioned with 3 Special Agent Supervisors. This does not appear to have effected the efficiency of the operation and in view of the work and case load it is felt that the Unit could function quite satisfactorily with 2 Special Agent Supervisors.

Klan and White Hate Groups Unit

Under the reorganization of DID proposed by Assistant Director Brennan in his memorandum of 8/3/71 it was indicated this Unit's cases could be absorbed by the Extremist Intelligence Section. This would free two Special Agents for other assignment. It is felt this could be accomplished even if the proposed reorganization does not become an actuality.

RESEARCH SECTION

It is noted under the proposed reorganization of 8/3/71 a supervisor from this Section would be reallocated to another. It is felt this could be accomplished regardless of the reorganization. It is noted in this regard that this Section is presently operating efficiently with an Agent supervisor assigned to the Ellsberg case. Addressing ourselves to the lack of a Section Chief, it is felt your recommendations regarding filling Mr. Cotter's vacated position should be handled by separate memorandum. The replacement request for SA Marion S. Ramey's transferral to another Division is being handled separately.

Subversive Individuals Unit

This Unit has an authorized complement of 6 Agents but is presently adequately handling the work with 5, one being assigned full time to a special. Even though the case load is high, approximately 2500, leaving 500 cases per man, many of the matters are quite routine and can be handled with bare minimum of supervision. Because of this, Agents assigned to this Unit are able to handle a large number of cases and it is felt that the Agent presently assigned to the special should not be returned.

ESPIONAGE AND RACIAL BRANCH

Extremist Intelligence Section

During the last inspection you requested two more supervisors due to the fact that your case load had increased to a total of 6642, breaking down to 349 cases per supervisor. Your request was authorized. During May, 1971, one supervisor was permanently transferred from your Section leaving you a complement of 20 supervisors plus Section Chief and Number One Man (total 22). No replacement has been requested for this supervisor. Since 7/19/71 you have had one man on loan to the Nationalities Intelligence Section on a rotating basis and as of 8/9/71 a second man on loan. There has been a definite decrease in your case load since the last inspection. However, a slight increase would be anticipated due to the absorbing of the Klan and White Hate Groups matters. For the last 6 weeks you have been without the services of 1 supervisor on a rotating basis and for the last 3 weeks a second one. However, the Unit has still operated efficiently. As there is an imbalance as to cases and the number of men assigned it is felt that 2 supervisors could be transferred out of the Section leaving 20 (including Section Chief and Number One Man) to handle the necessary assignments (including Klan and White Hate).

Nationalities Intelligence Section

Middle and South American Unit

As of the close of business 8/20/71 the 3-man Cuban Unit had a case load of 776 and the Middle and South American Unit, also consisting of 3 men, had 598 cases. These two Units, the work of which is closely related and frequently overlaps, had a total case load of 1374 for 6 men for an average case load of 229. If the total case load of these two Units were handled by 5 men the average load would be 275, which appears more equitable in view of the overall commitments and work load of the Division. In view of the above, it is felt that the personnel of the Middle and South American Unit could be cut by one man. With 5 incumbents and with the inter-relation and natural overlapping of these two Units future fluctuation in the work load could be equitably handled between the two Units.

Nationality Unit

Under normal conditions it is believed that this 4-man Unit could be operated by 3 Supervisors. At present, there are 3 supervisors assigned this Unit's cases (exclusive of special) and the case load as of 8/20/71 was 632 cases which represents 158 cases per Agent for a 4-man Unit, or 211 per Agent for a 3-man Unit. Consequently it is felt that 3 supervisors could adequately handle the work of this Unit.

As can be seen, a pool of 11 men has been created. Treating those assigned on special to the Ellsberg case (9) as a separate entity, 2 men are available for general assignment. One man could be assigned to the Chinese Unit of the Nationalities Intelligence Section and the one supervisor from the Foreign Influence and Pro-CHICOM Unit of the Internal Security Section along with his cases (492). (Note this Agent is not included in the 11.) What is left of the Foreign Influence Unit could be consolidated with that of the CPUSA Unit. The other supervisor from the pool of 11 could be assigned to the Special Coordination Unit of the Nationalities Intelligence Section.

This realignment would result in a considerable decline in personnel within the Internal Security Section. However, a balancing of work load could be accomplished through reassignment of the three-man Protest and Trotskyist Groups Unit from the New Left Section to the Internal Security Section where it was in the recent past. Further, as you are aware, a proposal is presently being considered to reassign Antiriot Laws plus Explosives and Incendiary Devices cases from the General Investigative Division to the Domestic Intelligence Division. While it is realized that logically these should be placed in the New Left or Extremist Intelligence Section, to balance work load, they could be considered for assignment to the Internal Security Section if proposal is approved. The Research and New Left Sections would each be decreased by one Special Agent Supervisor, the Extremist Intelligence Section by two. The Nationalities Intelligence Section, excluding the Front Office, would be increased by one Special Agent Supervisor.

OBSERVATIONS:

Considerable time has been devoted to this phase of the inspection to assess as accurately as possible manpower requirements of the various Units and Sections. In addition to ticklers and file reviews your outgoing mail was reviewed for one work week.

During the course of this mail survey covering a five-day work period, 715 pieces of mail or 143 pieces 1 day were generated and reviewed. Of this number, 268 pieces or 37% were directed to the Front Office for review and 497 pieces or 63% went directly to the field or other agencies without Front Office review. This indicates an average of 6 pieces of outgoing mail per Agent are being prepared per work week. 55.6% of the total pieces of mail were of a routine nature, setting forth a minimum degree of supervision and direction. 36.1% contained a moderate degree of supervision and 8.3% contained a considerable degree of supervisory instruction or direction.

Of the average of six pieces of mail per Agent 3.3 pieces were of a routine nature requiring minimal supervision ; 2.2 pieces moderate supervision and .5 pieces (1/2 letter, etc.) considerable supervisory instruction or direction per week.

Examples of minimum supervisory content would be communications permitting routine interview or informant payment (stamp). An example of moderate supervisory content would be a letter to the Attorney General with cover memo bringing AG up to date in a particular case. As example of supervisory content of considerable degree would be instructions to interview key witnesses on top priority cases setting out pertinent points to cover in the interview or would furnish supervisory direction of a substantive investigation.

It is realized the above survey reveals only a small part of the Division's production; however, it gives some insight into the amount of actual supervision and direction being afforded the field as an overall consideration. It is not felt or implied that a "letter writing" program for the sake of writing letters be instituted as obviously this does not relate to supervision. It may indicate, however, among other things, the amount of intensity of positive supervision being afforded, as an over view and is being furnished for your information as well as for mine.

The above analysis (manpower) reveals in your Division a need for 9 men on the McLek case, 2 for Chinese matters and one for Special Coordination Unit. On a priority basis, inspection surveys reveal the manpower is available as indicated. It is felt your Chinese program must "get going now" in view of impending developments.

In addition, our proposals will allow you to assign men permanently to McLek and make other necessary shifts in manpower to get away from the temporary assignment basis you now have and which is disruptive to all Sections involved. It is also acknowledged some of the realignment indicated has been proposed by your Division in studies made by you prior to this inspection.

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL
CLERICAL

An analysis was also made of adequacy of clerical personnel within your Division and after careful study it was determined that a reduction of 11 clerical personnel is possible. This reduction could be made through attrition. The reductions possible are graphically set forth in the chart below:

Internal Security and Research Branch

Internal Security Section
- Klan and White Hate Groups - 3

New Left Section
- Special Investigations - East - 1
- Special Investigations - West - 1
- Subversive Individuals - New Left - 1

Espionage and Racial Intelligence Branch

Espionage Section
- Special Cases - 1
- Officials - New York - 1
- Officials - WFO - 1
- Satellite - 1

Nationalities Intelligence Section
- Middle and South American - 1

Our findings in most instances are based on a thorough review of the work of the individual units plus case load allocations. The justification for the above-mentioned reductions is set forth below under the individual Unit and Section designation:

INTERNAL SECURITY AND RESEARCH BRANCH

Internal Security Section

Klan and White Hate Groups

Pursuant to the above proposal that this Unit be absorbed by the Extremist Intelligence Section the two clerks and one secretary can be considered excess inasmuch as the work presently being performed by these persons can adequately be performed by the clerical personnel in the new Section.

Special Investigations Unit - East

The surplus clerk presently working in this Unit is not needed inasmuch as the four clerks permanently assigned to this Unit were adequately handling the work before he reported.

Special Investigations Unit - West

It is felt three clerks could handle the work in this Unit inasmuch as three clerks in Special Investigations Unit - East handle a comparative work load. The East Unit has four clerks; however, one clerk handles Sabotage cases and the West Unit does not handle these matters.

Subversive Individuals - New Left Unit

Although the case load in this Unit is high the work is routine and can be handled quickly. The Special Clerk (GS-6 Reviewer) handles much of the reviewing of communications thus saving clerical time. This Unit is operating with one less Agent who is on loan to the McLek case. Due to a comparison of the clerical work load of the Subversive Individuals Unit in the Internal Security Section it is felt this Unit could operate with one less clerk.

ESPIONAGE AND RACIAL INTELLIGENCE BRANCH

Espionage Section

Special Cases Unit

It is felt based upon the case load of this Unit being handled by clerks, that with the assistance of the stenographer, this Unit could adequately operate and function with one less clerical employee.

Officials - New York Unit

It is felt the clerk-stenographer assigned to this Unit could handle the IRONCLAD indices in addition to taking dictation from supervisors. This would leave the Unit with 2 stenographers for 3 supervisors and thereby release the clerk who is presently handling the IRONCLAD indices.

Officials - WFO Unit

Based on the case load of this Unit, it is felt the clerk-stenographer presently assigned could assist in clerical work, thereby releasing one of the clerks presently assigned to this Unit.

Satellite Unit

This Unit presently has three regular clerks and two Special Clerks. It is felt that one of the Special Clerks could assist in the regular clerical duties, thereby releasing one clerk from this Unit.

Nationalities Intelligence Section

Middle and South American Unit

Based on the case load of this Unit it is recommended that one clerk be released inasmuch as there does not appear to be sufficient work for three clerks.

Comments of Assistant Director regarding Agent and clerical adequacy requested.

ADDENDUM
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN:
(CDB:djr 9/8/71)

I have thoroughly studied the Inspector's comments regarding adequacy of personnel, both Agent and clerical, and have the following observations to make:

I certainly recognize full well the need for reorganizing and reallocating personnel to provide manpower assistance to the Nationalities Intelligence Section which is handling the McLek case. In fact, the proposed reorganization of the Division as set forth in my memorandum of August 3, 1971, was based on the priority needs which arose from the McLek case and which continue to be critical. As set forth in that memorandum, manpower was to permanently be assigned to the Nationalities Intelligence Section in order to avoid disruption caused by handling this important case with temporary assignments.

In meeting the priority responsibilities in the McLek case as well as in other critical areas, I am also mindful that we do not have a surplus of manpower but are undoubtedly faced with the supervision of more complex cases in the security field with fewer Agents than at any other time in the Bureau's history. Crises brought about by terroristic acts of black extremists, Weathermen, antiwar activists, and other extremists are increasing in intensity and from all indications will continue to place heavy demands upon the Bureau. Likewise, the potential of Chinese Communist espionage activity in this country is readily apparent and the increased activity of Soviet Agents is a fact. These facts, coupled with special case commitments, have stretched available manpower to the limit of elasticity.

In making such manpower shifts, we must recognize that there will be a weakening of the supervision of the area from which the personnel are transferred and we must be prepared to accept this, at least on a temporary basis, because in the long run such weakening could be most harmful as well as embarrassing.

For example, the Inspector has indicated that two supervisors could be transferred out of the Extremist Intelligence Section and, in addition, that Section should absorb all Klan and white hate cases (now being handled by two men in another Section). Actually, this means absorption of the work of four men by the remaining men in the Section (18). Put another way, the work load has been increased by almost 25 per cent.

As will be noted in the table set out hereinafter, case loads are excessive in very sensitive areas of the Bureau's responsibilities, e.g., Soviet espionage and black and New Left extremists who are daily escalating their revolutionary activity in our streets.

The utilization of manpower on specials, such as the current nine men on McLek, will receive extremely close scrutiny and will be reallocated to these other pressing work areas as soon as possible as I do not believe the current case loads allow adequate supervision for any extended period of time.

No one realizes the potential threat which the Red Chinese pose to the security of this country better than I. We must recognize, however, that there has been considerable planning on the Bureau's part dating back to the 1950s when we had first indications that the United States might recognize Red China. But the fact is that we have more important priorities at this particular time evidenced by bombings, assassinations, arsons and other terroristic acts daily occurring by extremist elements within our investigative responsibilities. We are faced right now with a very serious internal security threat which demands immediate attention. This does not minimize the Red Chinese threat at all but we must recognize it is still a "potential" and until diplomatic channels are opened and active espionage activity begins again we must put "first things first." I believe affording one man to that work area is the limit of our available resources at this time.

With respect to the clerical reduction of 11 clerks, which is to occur by attrition, I feel that a reduction of this magnitude will definitely result in a hardship on the work of the Division. I have repeatedly stressed that wherever possible Agents should be relieved of as many duties as possible by competent clerical personnel, thus resulting in considerable savings of Agent manpower throughout the Division. A reduction of the number of clerks, as recommended by the Inspector, certainly will hamper our past streamlining efforts.

Set forth below, by Branch, are more specific observations with respect to the Inspector's comments and recommendations; however, in summary, I desire to point out that we cannot reassign manpower of the quantity involved for an extended period of time and eliminate entirely by attrition 11 clerks without such action having a deleterious effect in certain areas of our operations. I am strongly opposed to such lessening of our coverage in these areas but if such recommendations are approved and ordered, I will do my best to see that our responsibilities are fulfilled to the maximum degree possible under the circumstances.

The following comments are made concerning reallocation of Agent personnel to top priorities regarding the Internal Security and Research Branch. The Inspector recommends seven supervisors be reallocated from this Branch to other work areas. Based on day-to-day experience in these work areas and having available end of August case count figures, the following alternatives are recommended to make seven supervisors available.

Research Section: The present supervisor assigned to the Ellsberg case is a talented writer experienced in complicated research projects and preparation of research papers. He is utilized full time on the Ellsberg case in this capacity and on his own time continues to handle some speeches and research matters. Research Section will make a second supervisor available for the Ellsberg case and the original supervisor will return to Research Section as soon as his project is completed on Ellsberg. This is predicated on the assumption a replacement will be provided this Section for SA Ramey who was transferred to another Division.

Internal Security Section: Will make four supervisors available instead of five as recommended by the Inspector.

This is predicated on experience and present case load regarding the Subversive Individuals Unit primarily and also the Security Informant Unit. August 31, 1971, case count for the Subversive Individuals Unit is 2,663 cases, in addition, 523 cases were opened and 496 cases were closed during August in this Unit. This would be an average case load of 666 cases per Agent, not including the opening and closing mail flow.

The Security Informant Unit would be handling 904 cases, averaging 452 cases when reduced to two supervisors. Under the new case count system, these informant cases are largely cases with mail in hand requiring attention and close supervision because of funds being involved as well as the general sensitivity of these cases. In the event of sick or annual leave, one man could not possibly keep mail current and work loads in other units would, as a practical matter, preclude use of other personnel to carry out the work. The supervisor retained would reduce the case load in the Subversive Individuals Unit to a more reasonable and practical 533 case load average and also allow for a limited degree of flexibility in the informant matters from time to time as necessary. This provides the seven men from this Branch. (This includes one man from the New Left Section, as indicated.)

New Left Section: Will make one man available as recommended.

Regarding reallocation of Agent personnel to top priorities regarding the Espionage Branch, the following comments are made:

Extremist Intelligence Section will make two supervisors available and absorb the 559 Klan and White Hate cases with no Agent personnel. It must be borne in mind this, in effect, constitutes a net reduction of four supervisors to black extremist matters at a time when these activities are on a definite upswing. This can be lived with on a short term emergency basis and as manpower becomes available from the inevitable winddown of McLek, appropriate recommendations will be considered within the Division as to reallocation of that manpower with this in mind consistent with overall Division needs at that time.

Nationalities Intelligence Section will make two men available as recommended. With regard to the two Units being reduced, it is pointed out that the Middle and South American Unit is responsible for matters relating to 32 countries. There are five Legal Attache (Legat) Offices located in countries handled by the Unit and each of these offices, except Mexico, covers more than one country. The Nationality Unit is responsible for matters relating to 101 countries. Eleven Legat Offices are locatedin the area of responsibility of this Unit and most of these Legat Offices cover more than one country.

There is a high volume of material which is received daily in these Units consisting of intelligence information from other agencies and news media material. All of this material must be reviewed in order that the supervisors will be in position not only to handle inquiries from any source relating to matters of Bureau responsibility in the nationalities intelligence field but also to process the high level intelligence (HILEV) items which are received from Legats. The latter is a very heavy responsibility since we recognize that if one high-level item goes to the President and he acts on it, and it proves to be incorrect, not only the Bureau but the White House itself might encounter serious problems. During month of August, of 106 HILEV items received from Legats, 51 were processed by the Nationality Unit and 34 by the Middle and South American Unit. Each of the two units disseminated 30 HILEV items. Dissemination of each HILEV item consumes approximately one hour of a supervisor's time.

With regard to the Nationality Unit, which has the lowest average case load per supervisor, other matters handled in the Unit not reflected by caseload are: providing for installation and maintenance of continued coverage in sensitive areas essential to the fulfillment of requests of the National Security Agency (Telex Coverage, 64 at present); establishing and maintaining highly sensitive coverage also for National Security Agency relating to electronic penetration of communications equipment; supervising and coordinating on a recurring basis coverage relating to the various United Nations General Assembly sessions (which includes close working relationship with Secret Service); maintenance of all Bureau liaison with National Security Agency.

It must be borne in mind the reduction of four case supervisors from the Espionage and Extremist Intelligence Branch and seven case supervisors from the Internal Security and Research Branch are accepted to meet an emergency situation (McLek case) but these reductions are not considered consistent with adequate supervision nor offer necessary flexibility within Sections to meet emergencies and specials as they arise when viewed in terms of an extended period of time. It is expected the McLek case, as with all specials, will ultimately wind down. At that time and as personnel are available for reallocation, appropriate recommendations will be made and considered within the Division as to their commitment based on work loads at the time consistent with the overall needs of the Division.

Supervisory Case Load Averages

The following chart graphically displays caseloads per Section (excluding men on special or non-case assignment) as of August 31, 1971, and with the proposed shift of manpower contained herein which closely adheres to the Inspector's recommendations.

			Add or Delete
	Present	Proposed	SAs	Cases
Nationalities Intelligence	286	315	-1	0
Extremist Intelligence	298	331	0	+559
Espionage	334	312	+1	0
Internal Security	444	477	-2	-559
New Left	333	333	0	0
Research	-	-	-2	0
Division	335	341	-1

It must be borne in mind the "Add or Delete" column pertains only to supervisors now included in case count computations as being assigned to regular case load duties and does not portray total movement as recommended. Some of those included in the recommendations are already on special assignment (McLek, etc.). For example, Extremist Intelligence and New Left Sections will merely make permanent the personnel on loan to McLek and, therefore, are listed as zero. Espionage will get a man back and is listed as +1.

Nationalities Intelligence Section is giving up two men from present assignment, one to the Chinese Unit and one to Special Coordination Unit. The latter is a non-case assignment and deletes one man from computation of average case load in the Section which brings that Section more in line with the present Division average of 335 cases per case supervisor under the new rules for case count. This also results in one less supervisor committed to case supervision and alters the Division average per case supervisor to 341 cases.

It is recognized the Internal Security Section has a high average case load per Agent, however, that Section has less organization cases and proportionately more individual matters requiring less supervisory attention than other Sections. This will be followed closely and depending on approval of transferring EID and ARL cases to this Division and/or resolution of Eastcon and appropriate recommendation will be made to adjust a block of work internally within the Division to create a better balance there.

As to the Espionage and Extremist Intelligence Branch clerical reduction recommendations, the following comments are made.

Nationalities Intelligence will reduce one clerk as recommended.

In the Espionage Section there are 16 substantive desk supervisors with 13 clerks actually performing the work for these supervisors, a ratio of .81 per supervisor. To reduce this number by four would result in the ratio .56 or roughly 1/2 clerk per supervisor.

The Clerk-Stenographer position provides the incumbent to perform clerical work only 20 per cent of her time. The use of a Clerk-Stenographer in the Special Cases, Officials - New York, and Officials - Washington Field Units thus would not absorb the extra work placed on the remaining clerks in these Units and such is not considered feasible. The use of a Special Clerk now handling cases in lieu of a Special Agent supervisor in the Satellite Unit to handle clerical functions for a Supervisor would defeat the purpose of establishing this position and would place an unfair burden of responsibility on that Special Clerk who should be free to concentrate on the supervision of her own cases.

In summary, it is felt that the present clerical assignment is the minimum number necessary to handle the voluminous work associated with 5,575 cases currently assigned to this Section.

The Racial Intelligence Section can absorb the case load of 559 cases but will need a minimum of one clerk to accompany these cases. This Section was not recommended by the Inspector to reduce clerical complement and it is not felt practical to absorb 559 cases and no clerical personnel. This is particularly true when it is considered no Agent personnel are being received with these cases.

I believe the above reductions, totalling three, are in good faith with the Inspection Staff's and my own desire to obtain maximum utilization of personnel and continue an efficient and practical operation. Further reduction would merely result in Agents performing clerical functions, and with the continued escalation in case loads and current special cases being handled, I do not believe further reductions can be made within the bounds of good personnel management and best utilization of clerical vs. Agent manpower.

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL
CLERICAL

The following comments are made concerning reduction of clerical personnel in the Internal Security and Research Branch.

Internal Security Section: In the past, it has been necessary on a frequent basis to afford considerable clerical assistance from the Klan and White Hate Groups Unit to the Subversive Individuals Unit because of the extremely heavy clerical duties involved in the escalating case loads carried in this Unit, coupled with 523 cases opened and 496 cases closed during the past month, for example. It is necessary and warranted to retain two of the three clerical personnel in the disbanded Klan and White Hate Groups Unit for utilization in the Subversive Individuals Unit. If this is not done, it will result in an impractical clerical work load, with nowhere to draw upon clerical help and result in supervisors being additionally burdened with clerical functions, which they can ill afford to handle. This would also be consistent and in line with the assignment of Agent personnel in this Unit detailed previously and allow one clerk per Agent, which is adequate but not excessive for the type of work involved.

New Left Section: It is believed the Special Investigations - East and Special Investigations - West Units can function with one less clerk each as recommended by the Inspector. It is not believed good management, however, to reduce a clerk in the Subversive Individuals - New Left Unit. With one supervisor reduced, the clerical work remains the same and retention of the clerk would allow one clerk per Agent, which is adequate but not excessive for the type of work involved. With the very heavy case loads in this Unit, coupled with 768 cases opened and 776 cases closed within the past month, for example, clerks are extremely busy. Reduction in clerical staff merely means Agents will have to perform clerical functions which is uneconomical and hardly practical with the work loads involved.

Bearing in mind Agent manpower reductions in the Internal Security and Research Branch, it is believed the Branch can operate with efficiency and in good faith with the Inspection Staff and Divisions desire to use manpower to its fullest and make the above three clerical reductions.

ADDENDUM
INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER:
(ESM:bhg, 9/9/71)

Your comments and proposals with respect to the reallocation of Agent personnel within the Division appear logical and are acceptable. However, exception must be made with respect to clerical employees.

You state it is necessary and warranted to retain 2 of the 3 clerical personnel in the disbanded Klan and White Hate Groups Unit for utilization in the Subversive Individuals Unit of the Internal Security Section. Based upon figures available the case load within the Subversive Individuals Unit approximates 2700 cases handled at present by three clerical employees giving an average case load per clerk of approximately 900 cases. Retaining one of the Klan clerks would result in an average case load per clerk of 675 cases which is not felt unreasonable or intolerable a burden. Further, it is not felt that less than 1 clerk per Agent is too great a load for the Unit.

Turning now to the Espionage Section based on our survey it was felt that 4 clerical positions could be voided through attrition, based primarily on greater utilization of clerk-stenographers on clerical duties. You state that, the clerk-stenographer position provides the incumbent to perform clerical work only 20% of her time. At present there are 10 secretaries and clerk-stenographers available for transcription of communications. A survey of communications conducted during this inspection revealed that the Espionage Section dispatched 121 pieces of correspondence during a 5-day period, which results in approximately 12 communications per secretary or slightly over 2 communications per day per employee. This does not indicate a great work load on the secretarial force and consequently it is felt that clerk-stenographers could be freed for clerical functions where necessary. In view of this it is felt that at least two clerical positions could be dissolved through attrition within this section.

With respect to the Extremist Intelligence Section, you indicate that the case load of 559 cases can be absorbed but a minimum of one clerk will be needed to handle these cases. Based upon case load figures available should this clerk not be made available the average case load per clerk within the Black Nationalist - East Unit would increase from approximately 470 to 660 cases. Black Nationalist - Central from approximately 715 to 940. Black Nationalist - South from approximately 780 to 1000, and the Black Nationalist - West from approximately 210 to 350 cases per clerk. Particular note should be made of the average case load per clerk increase within the Black Nationalist - West Unit should the cases be absorbed there with no added clerical employees. In view of the above it is felt that the Racial Intelligence Section can absorb the additional cases without an added clerk.

Based on the above it can be seen that at least 7 clerical positions could be dissolved without an unreasonable burden being placed on the remaining.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDA

MEMORANDA

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM

RE: PAYMENTS TO SECURITY INFORMANTS
AND CONFIDENTIAL SOURCES

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: Present regulations allow for payments up to $400 with SAC authority on a COD basis to individuals being developed as informants on security matters. (Manual of Instructions, Section 107, page 14.) Once the individual is paid $400 and it appears he will furnish information on a regular basis, recommendation could be made to Bureau to pay him on "regular basis." Such authorization is through usage of FD-401. After the initial payments are approved, every 6 months an FD-401 is submitted requesting continuance, and, if approved, is stamped "approved" at the Bureau and returned. (Manual of Instructions, Section 107, page 15.)

In view of current Government-wide economy move and the Bureau's own economy program, it is imperative that the field exercise great care and scrutiny in payments to informants to assure that payments on a "regular basis" are fully justified and are not serving as an administrative crutch and expedient in lieu of payments under SAC authority.

A survey has been made of 80 files of informants who are presently being paid on a regular basis with respect to the date the informant was approved as a PSI, the date approval was given to pay him on a regular basis, and the amount paid the source under SAC authority before Bureau authority was sought to pay him on a regular basis.

In the following 34 informant files authority was granted to pay the source on a regular basis before the field used the full amount that could have been paid under SAC authority, representing 42.5% of the total cases reviewed:

These 36 cases (17 + 19) represent 45% of those files reviewed and indicate the field's undesirable practice of asking approval to pay sources on a regular basis upon obtaining approval to develop the source as a PSI. It does not appear that contacts with these individuals are over a sufficient period of time to conclude the source is furnishing data on a regular basis to justify paying him on a regular basis.

A representative number of informant files were checked where the full amount under SAC authority was not utilized and it was determined payments were over a 3.3 month period, for an average monthly payment of $73.00 for each source. Subsequent to receiving approval to pay the source on a regular basis each source received an average of $152 over the next 6-month period. It is concluded that if payments had continued for a longer period under SAC authority before paying on a regular basis, an average of approximately $80 less per month would have been expended in each case. On an annual basis this would be $960. Estimating that as few as 33% of the present number of Security Informants including New Left, Old Left (CPUSA), Extremists, Klan and other White Hate Groups have been developed in the past two years of the 1507 total number of Security Informants presently being paid on a regular basis, this could be projected into $240,000 less having been spent each year on these sources.

Consequently, it appears every effort should be expended to insure that payments to informants on a regular basis should be initiated only after the source has furnished data on a continuing basis for at least 6 months and after he has been paid the full amount under SAC authority on a COD basis for value received. There should be no objection to the field's obtaining Bureau authority to pay source up to another $400 SAC authority before paying on a regular basis. Certainly, the request to approve an individual as a PSI should not be coupled in the same communication with a request to pay that individual on a regular basis. (Of course, in exceptional and unusual cases facts could warrant conclusion that some sources could be paid on a regular basis in a shorter period of time.) This will also help to preclude informant's obvious conclusion that he is being paid on a salary basis because of the similar amounts paid to him each month.

In addition, all communications approving the initial payments on a regular basis to security informants should be routed through Mr. Tolson's Office for review and approval.

It is felt a wider usage of payments under SAC authority to security informants, will in the long run, serve to substantially reduce total payments to them and further implement efforts to curtail costs in accordance with the Director's and President's recent directives on economy.

Assistant Director C. D. Brennan:
(JAS:ebc 9/8/71)

Security and extremist informants are essential to the Bureau's investigative responsibilities. They operate largely in controversial areas of old line and new left revolutionary organizations and individuals as well as in the volatile fields of black and white extremism and racial dissension. They are fraught with controversy and potential for embarrassment to the Bureau. Extended experience has taught us the absolute necessity for tight, effective, centralized control of these informants by SOG.

Fundamentally, whether an informant is paid under SAC authority or on a regular basis by SOG the same standards of justification are to be applied. The distinguishing element is the flexibility of on-the-scene, spot payment authority available to the SAC on a daily basis without the formality of time-consuming correspondence with Bureau headquarters. Money is paid in both situations on a c.o.d basis and full value must be received before payments are made. Initial payments to a developing informant under SAC authority, usually made on an expedient emergency basis, are not reviewed and evaluated at the SOG. The judgment of the SAC prevails. Generally the Bureau approves payments on a regular basis only when emergency and exceptional local conditions no longer prevail, when the informant is active, productive and gives promise of continuing to be so.

Should the currently authorized initial SAC-authorized $400 be expended rapidly--as is frequently the case--there is no objection to the field's obtaining Bureau authority to pay a second $400 to an informant under SAC authority. This does require justification through submission of full facts in the matter for SOG judgment, similar to the justification required each six months for informants paid on a regular basis.

Authorization for SAC authority to permit such payments up to six months before the field requests regular payments from the Bureau as suggested by the Inspector, could dilute both the central and consistent control of payments at the Bureau and could cause an increase in paper work required to implement the procedure. SAC authority currently has no fixed time limit for expenditures and in many cases this authorization could be expended before the termination of a six-month development period thus requiring additional paper work in the field and resultant supervisory work at the Bureau.

It is extremely difficult to draw meaningful conclusions concerning any savings between payments under SAC authority and costs accrued under delayed SOG approval of payments on a regular basis. The informant while operating under SAC authority is in a developmental stage. It can be expected that at any given point in his development whether he continues on SAC authority or is approved for regular payments, expenditures to him will increase. It is the natural and practical order of informant development.

The sooner a developing security or extremist informant can be brought under SOG control the more effective and consistent becomes his supervision. The SAC remains accountable, of course, for the informant's handling, the validity of his expenditures, and the worth of his information. Additional supervision, based on broad field needs and applied with consistency to the over-all policies of the Bureau, necessarily is furnished by SOG supervisors and officials. This amounts to far more effective field-wide supervision of these sensitive matters.

Strict economy continues to be the rule in Bureau supervision of security and extremist informants. During the period 4/1/70 through 6/70 for example as a result of reviewing regular payments to informants $4392 was saved. During the period 1/1/71 through 3/1/71 $5156 was saved. More recently on 8/20/71 a letter to all offices instructed them to cut back five per cent in their total payments to security and extremist informants--a projected saving of $129,000.

It is respectfully submitted that, in view of the over-all sensitivity of security and extremist informants, current procedures allowing for initial payments under SAC authority with a shift to Bureau approval of payments on a regular basis as the informant progresses and develops productivity, provide the most effective and consistent field-wide supervision for the over-all needs of the Bureau.

While there is no objection to the Inspector's suggestion that all communications approving initial payments on a regular basis to these informants be routed through Mr. Tolson's office for review and approval it must be pointed out, of course, that this creates a substantial increase in the preparation and review of related correspondence, not previously required. In view of this forseeable increase in work load, it is respectfully suggested that we continue to handle initial payment correspondence under existing regulations.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM
SURVEY CONCERNING COMPUTERIZATION OF SECURITY INFORMANT INDICES

EM

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: During this inspection, it was noted that the Security Informant Index is under the supervision of the Security Informant Unit, Internal Security Section. This Index contains certain data concerning security and potential security informants but does not include the extremist, probationary extremist, or extremist-ghetto informants. It must be maintained on a timely basis. As of 8/24/71, the Index had approximately 2026 informants. This Index is maintained by 2 GS-5 clerks, one GS-3 clerk, and 30% of the time of a GS-4 stenographer on a full time basis. This means that 3 1/3 employees are utilized to maintain this Index at an annual cost of approximately $20,000.

SAC Letter 71 21 (C) dated 5/18/71 instructs the field to give a symbol number designation to all individuals being developed as any type of a Bureau source of information. This required the field to submit secure teletypes to the Bureau concerning every source under development and has resulted in a backlog of work in the Index of approximately 45 to 60 days. In each instance, the clerical staff is required to pull and alter 2 cards (FD 348) on each existing source or make 2 cards on any new sources. Subsequent communications add or delete from the original information which requires the cards to be again pulled and appropriate changes recorded.

It would appear that this Index would benefit from being computerized which would result in a savings of clerical time and personnel. In addition to the informants now handled by the Index, other informant indexes could probably be computerized with a similar savings.

At the time of the last inspection, the Inspector suggested that record keeping operations throughout the Division should be considered for computerizing where feasible. It is suggested that immediate steps be taken through surveys and conferences to determine if it is plausible and/or practical to computerize and expand informant indexes similar to that already done to the Security and Agitator Indexes. Consideration should be given to the initial and continuing costs and redesigning the source information card (FD 348). The security of this information must be considered as data concerning informant matters is highly sensitive.

Comments of Unit Chief Grigalus; Section Chiefs Gray, Shackelford, G. C. Moore, Branigan, and Wannall; and Assistant Director Brennan are requested.

UNIT CHIEF GRIGALUS AND SECTION CHIEFS GRAY, SHACKELFORD, G. C. MOORE, BRANIGAN AND WANNALL: The Security Informant Index contains certain data concerning present and former informants and sources. This data basically consists of the identity of the informant with limited background information. The primary reason for such an index is to have a central repository containing the number and identities of informants. This information is readily accessible. Informal discussions have been held in the past concerning feasibility of computerizing the Security Informant Index as well as the Extremist Informant Index. During course of these discussions, there were two prime considerations; namely, the ready accessibility of information on the indexes as well as the saving of manpower and cost to the Bureau. Previous discussions did not result in a positive recommendation to computerizing the above indexes. It is noted that the present indexes are serving the Bureau's purpose. In order to insure that all avenues of savings are considered, the Inspector's suggestion will be carried out. Surveys and conferences with our expert personnel in the automatic data processing field will be conducted to determine if such an operation is feasible, practical and economical, keeping in mind the accessibility of the information and the security of informants. It is proposed, therefore, that this suggestion be immediately acted upon.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: I agree that it would be desirable to carry out this suggestion.
(JAS:cb - 9/7/71)

I will follow this matter closely to determine if such an operation is feasible.

SUPERVISION AND CONTROL OF SECURITY INFORMANT DEVELOPMENT AND COVERAGE BY INTERNAL SECURITY AND NEW LEFT SECTIONS

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: At the time of the last inspection a suggestion was submitted (pages 227 - 233) pointing out advantages in implementation of a program in this area of operation which would make our approach to both above types of informants and Extremist (Racial) informants uniform. You agreed to implement for one year; however, your subsequent efforts to initiate the program were lost in a "security of transmitting problem."

Your Extremist Intelligence Section solved the same problem by having the field send their informant reports to the Bureau by secure teletype and it is understood that method of handling is satisfactory. The overall Extremist Informant Program also appears productive.

It is recommended that you again favorably consider the prior suggestion and tailor implementation after its counterpart in the Extremist Section. Administration of such a program should be more efficiently handled now since you have reinstituted handling of these informants by a Security Informant Unit.

Comments of Assistant Director Brennan requested.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: This suggestion will be favorably considered. A careful analysis will be conducted to tailor the suggestion to the needs of the Sections affected, keeping uniformity in mind. This matter will be closely followed by me.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM

UTILIZATION OF INSERTS IN REPORTING INVESTIGATIVE RESULTS IN CRIMINAL CASES BY LEGAL ATTACHES

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: The Foreign Operations Policy Manual, Section 10, page 1, provides that Legal Attaches should submit investigative results by cover letter or cover page, on FD-263, letterhead memorandum, or informant evaluation memorandum. The Manual of Rules and Regulations, Part II, Section 4, page 21, provides that when reporting information in criminal and civil type cases received from the Bureau's Legal Attache, the information should be attributed to a confidential source abroad. In reports the source would be identified on the administrative page.

During the course of the recent inspection of our Legal Attache Offices, it was noted that generally Legal Attaches would furnish investigative results in criminal cases by airtel or letter where more expeditious means of communications was not necessary. In some instances, these communications would be rather lengthy. Upon receipt of these communications by the respective field office and if preparation of a report was desired, the information from the Legal Attache would have to be retyped, attributed to a confidential source abroad, and the identity of the source set out on the administrative page of the report. This rather burdensome task could be dispensed with if the Legal Attache would prepare an insert setting forth information and attributing it to a confidential source abroad. The insert would be transmitted by airtel or letter with the identity of the source set out.

The above is being brought to your attention for appropriate comment and if felt beneficial, the Foreign Operations Policy Manual should be amended to include inserts as the fourth means of reporting investigative results by the Legal Attaches.

UTILIZATION OF INSERTS IN REPORTING INVESTIGATIVE RESULTS IN CRIMINAL CASES BY LEGAL ATTACHES

SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL
Nationalities Intelligence Section
GAD:hc 8/20/71

The procedure proposed by the Inspector could be utilized by our foreign offices in those cases where they recognize that an investigative report must be prepared and where the information developed abroad is suitable for inclusion in such a report. We do not believe, however, that across-the-board instructions should be issued requiring this procedure in all instances, nor do we believe that such a requirement was visualized by the Inspector inasmuch as he suggests amendment of the Foreign Operations Policy Manual to include inserts as one of four means of reporting investigative results by the Legal Attaches. In fact, Legal Attaches now prepare FD-302s in certain cases when specifically requested by the field. These are, of course, restricted to cases in which testimony or evidence from abroad is anticipated.

The minimal clerical staff abroad is insufficient to prepare inserts or FD-302s in more than a relatively few cases. The high volume handled by most of our Legal Attaches requires them to use every possible streamlining device to reduce the clerical burden. In Ottawa, for example, our Legal Attache utilizes a specially printed RCMP routing slip to forward RCMP prepared letterhead memoranda. Any requirement that Ottawa prepare inserts or FD-302s in any volume would be impractical. We propose, therefore, to amend the Foreign Operations Policy Manual to include inserts as a fourth means of reporting without levying a requirement that it be utilized on a wholesale basis.

BLACK NATIONALIST PHOTOGRAPH ALBUM

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: The Black Nationalist Photograph Album (BNPA) was approved and established in 1968 and at this time contains the photograph and biographical data of 472 black extremists who travel extensively in this country and abroad. Each field office plus Legal Attaches, Ottawa and Mexico City, maintain this Album to assist in coverage of movement of black extremist individuals in the United States, Canada, and Mexico. The Album appears to be an excellent investigative aid by making immediately available photograph and background data on individuals traveling from one Division to another or out of the country whose activities must be followed.

A review of files discloses at least 10 individuals who are included in the BNPA traveled to Paris in the recent past. It is noted a favorite route of Black Panthers traveling to Algeria is through Paris. In view of the increased activity on the part of the Cleaver Faction of the Black Panther Party, it can be assumed that travel of individuals affiliated with the Cleaver Faction to and from Cleaver's headquarters in Algeria will continue or increase. In view of these travels, the Legal Attache, Paris, could utilize the BNPA to facilitate expedite coverage of these extremists while in France.

A review of the BNPA itself reveals that some of the photographs attached to the FD-432 in this file do not have the names of the individuals photographed on the back of the photograph. These photographs should have the individual's name on the back in the event the photographs become detached from the FD-432.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1. That Legat, Paris, be provided with a copy of the BNPA.

2. If a further pattern of travel develops into an area covered by another Legal Attache, consideration should then be given to making available a copy of the BNPA to that Legal Attache.

RE: YOUNG SOCIALIST ALLIANCE
INTERNAL SECURITY - COMMUNIST (TROTSKYIST)

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: From a review of the matters being handled by the New Left Section, it is evident that the Young Socialist Alliance (YSA), the youth group of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP), is the fastest growing subversive youth group in this country. In August, 1970, membership was estimated to be 1100. During the SWP convention which was held in August, 1971, it was determined that YSA membership had grown to 1500 members.

It is noted YSA played an important role in the activities of the National Peace Action Coalition during the April - May, 1971, antiwar demonstrations in Washington, D. C.

YSA has numerous chapters throughout the United States, primarily on campuses. In addition, the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC) has chapters on many campuses. The SMC is nothing more than a front group for the YSA and is dominated and controlled by YSA.

YSA claims it had recruited 450 new members into its ranks during the Spring of 1971.

Its leaders have called for aggressive YSA recruiting among colleges this fall and have set a goal of at least doubling their present membership.

YSA leaders have called for student strikes on campuses this fall in order to close them down and attempt to organize them for antiwar work.

The SWP is attempting to place its candidates on ballots in 32 states and YSA is being called on to assist in a vigorous election campaign. SWP and YSA plan to use this campaign as a means of recruiting new members to their ranks. It is noted YSA is planning to hold its national convention in Houston, Texas, late this fall.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION

In view of the above and because of existing criteria which was approved by the Department that membership in YSA is sufficient to place an individual on the Security Index, the New Left Section should consider issuing instructions to the field that sufficient effort be expended on their investigations of YSA activities to insure that all YSA members are identified and investigated for possible inclusion in the Security Index.

Comments of Section Chief Shackelford and Assistant Director Brennan requested.

SECTION CHIEF R. L. SHACKELFORD I fully concur with the Inspector's observations concerning this matter. We are carefully analyzing the informant reports which are now being received concerning the results of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) National Convention and Young Socialist Alliance (YSA) Educational Conference which was held 8/8-15/71. Considerable valuable information has been developed concerning YSA's future plans and activities, including its plans for an intensive recruiting campaign this fall. In addition, YSA is continuing to play an extremely important role in the activities of the National Peace Action Coalition (NPAC) and continues to dominate and control the nation-wide activities of the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC).

With appropriate approval, we will furnish all field offices with the latest known plans and activities of YSA and will instruct them to vigorously pursue their investigations of the YSA and to insure all YSA members are identified and, thereafter, to submit appropriate recommendations for placing their names in the Security Index pursuant to existing Bureau instructions.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN I concur. With appropriate approval, the field will be issued specific instructions.

RE: AUTOMATION OF INTELLIGENCE DATA

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: The Espionage Section in close cooperation with the Voucher-Statistical Section - Administrative Division, has designed and implemented an automated system known as the Soviet Information Collation System. It is essentially a repository of pertinent data on Soviet officials assigned to the U. S. Through the fast and easy manipulation of this data by the computer, outputs arranged by important elements of information can be readily and reliably obtained for Bureau use or dissemination to outside agencies. The Espionage Section attests to the fact it has "streamlined our operations, promoted uniformity and assured the highest level of accuracy. At the same time, it has resulted in a substantial savings in time, money and manpower, both in the field and at SOG."

It would seem reasonable a similar repository of information could be collected regarding New Left and Extremist individuals. This would parallel the SICS operation.

Various reports could be selected from this data such as an alphabetical listing of Key Activist, New Left, and Extremist individuals. Other alternatives would include listings by phone number according to geographical areas, listings by addresses according to geographical areas, or listings by demonstrations in which certain individuals have participated. Summary reports or listings, if required for dissemination to the field offices or other interested agencies, could be efficiently prepared under such a system. There are numerous other alternatives that come to mind; however, any consideration for such a program must clearly take into account the need and benefit for such automation.

ha SECTION CHIEFS MOORE and SHACKELFORD: As indicated elsewhere under Automatic Data Processing (ADP), 5-Q, automatic data banks are utilized extensively by the Extremist Intelligence and New Left Sections in connection with the Computerized Telephone Number File (CTNF). CTNF lists telephone numbers known to be utilized by black, New Left and other ethnic extremist groups and individuals. Telephone numbers included in CTNF are listed according to geographic areas. In addition, a special project utilizing ADP is being operated in connection with the EASTCON case. In this EASTCON project, ADP analyses of telephone calls between EASTCON subjects are made and also new subjects are identified through ADP analyses of EASTCON toll calls.

At present, over 12,700 individuals making up the Security Index (SI) have been incorporated into the Bureau's computerized data bank and this data is available to all offices through ADP. In connection with this ADP, SI project, identifying data concerning each subject, as well as his residence and business addresses, are included therein along with other pertinent items such as his organizational affiliation. Over 20 separate print-outs are prepared monthly for administrative and investigative use of the Domestic Intelligence Division and the field.

The facilities of NCIC have also been utilized to aid our investigations of New Left and extremist individuals. "Stop Index" programs for Bureau use only at NCIC have been devised which furnish notice of any police inquiry concerning missing Venceremos Brigade subjects and all Priority I, SI subjects who are extremists, unless they are already included in the NCIC Wanted Persons File.

As indicated, much effort has been made to avail ourselves of opportunities provided by ADP. The Inspector's suggestion that further effort be made to expand our use of ADP facilities, taking into consideration the need and benefit for such automation, appears to have merit; this will be studied and appropriate recommendations made as to its adaptability.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM

PREPARATION OF INTERVIEW REPORTS (FD-302) IN SECURITY TYPE INVESTIGATIONS

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: From a review of the FBI Handbook, Manual of Rules and Regulations, and Manual of Instructions provisions in regard to security type investigations, more particularly espionage matters, Registration Act, security investigations, internal security - nationalistic tendencies matters, security informants, and racial matters, it was noted that no mention is made that information which may be the subject of later testimony in judicial or administrative type hearings must be made a matter of record on an interview report (FD-302).

In this connection the Manual of Rules and Regulations, Part II, Section 4, page 4a, makes reference to the preparation of interview reports in security type cases. Due to the discovery procedures existent in our judicial system, the preparation of these interview reports is most necessary particularly when dealing with information of a testimonial nature received from security informants. It is felt that quite possibly the seeming reluctance on the part of investigative agents handling security matters to prepare FD-302's may be due to the lack of mention of this in the Manual and Handbook provisions dealing with security investigations.

In view of the above, it is suggested that those provisions of the Manual and Handbook having to do with security type investigations be thoroughly reviewed and amended where necessary to set forth the fact that when information is received from security subjects, security informants, or other individuals which may become the subject of later testimony, an FD-302 should be prepared.

Comments of Assistant Director Brennan are requested.

334

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN, The following are my comments requested in Inspector's Suggestion Memorandum entitled "Preparation of Interview Reports (FD-302) in Security Type Investigations:"

Inspector notes at outset that from a review of the FBI Handbook, Manual of Rules and Regulations and Manual of Instructions in regard to the various types of security investigations, no mention is made that information which may be the subject of later testimony in judicial or administrative type hearings must be made a matter of record on an interview report (FD-302). Inspector does recognize that the Manual of Rules and Regulations, Part II, Section 4, page 4a, makes reference to the preparation of interview reports in security type cases.

In Section 4, Part II of the Manual of Rules and Regulations, which Section pertains to Communications, there is a subheading entitled "Reporting Information That May Become Testimony," which is covered on pages 4 and 4a. It is specifically stated on page 4, paragraphs 2b and c, that FD-302s should be used when information is obtained which may be the subject of testimony. At the very top of page 4a, a specific reference is made to security-type cases and the use of an FD-302 in these cases. The requirement for using an FD-302 is further reiterated in paragraph 6 on page 4a.

Part I of the Handbook has a section commencing on page 36, item 48, entitled "Reporting Information That May Become Testimony." This is the counterpart to the Manual of Rules and Regulations provisions cited immediately above. The requirement for the use of an FD-302 is enunciated in item number 48.

Of particular significance is the fact that both the Manual of Rules and Regulations and the Handbook provide in their respective Indices for the requirements discussed above. In the Manual, the material is indexed under "Reporting information that may become testimony" as well as under "Testimony--reporting information that may become." The Handbook index has the same two references. It is therefore obvious that the requirements for the use of an FD-302 are logically and easily retrievable by reference to either or both the Manual and Handbook.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
8/24/71
SFP:rrd

335

A cursory spot check of some criminal violations in the Manual of Instructions notes that there is no specific mention made for some violations and it is quite likely that the specific requirement for use of an FD-302 is not spelled out for each of the many, many criminal violations covered in the various sections of the Manual of Instructions. The requirement is covered in the Manual of Rules and Regulations and the Handbook as are many other requirements which pertain to the Bureau's work generally. A primary function of the Manual of Rules and Regulations is to have in one place general requirements that are applicable across the board in our work. The Section relating to Communications referred to above is a good example.

It was observed by the Inspector that "quite possibly the seeming reluctance on the part of investigative agents handling security matters to prepare FD-302's may be due to the lack of mention of this in the Manual and Handbook provisions dealing with security investigations." It is respectfully observed that we have not noted any "seeming reluctance" on the part of investigative Agents handling work in the security field. We have found that the requirements for the use of an FD-302 are being generally complied with and when any shortcomings might be noted they are dealt with on an individual case basis. In short, we have had no problems in this area of our operations. It may be that the Inspector's observations are based on noting rather few FD-302s in security reports as compared with reports in the criminal field. If this be the case, it is observed that by and large our obtaining of information in the security field is of an intelligence nature with prosecutable situations being generally the exception. In other words, situations where information might become testimony are rather limited.

A further aspect of the Inspector's Suggestion Memorandum relates to the preparation of FD-302s when obtaining information from security informants. In this respect it is observed that a great many of our security informants prepare written reports which are firsthand accounts and thus preferable to FD-302s which are secondhand accounts. Thus, the informants' reports are even more valuable than FD-302s and are available for the same purpose as are the FD-302s. When an informant furnishes information orally which is not backed up by a written report from the informant and the information may become a matter of testimony, the Agent is under the same requirement to execute an FD-302. We have not observed any failings to speak of in this regard.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
8/24/71
SFP:rrd

In conclusion, it is my studied judgement that there is no necessity for augmenting the requirement concerning FD-302s in the various Manuals presently being utilized in the FBI.

ADDENDUM
INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER:
(J. F. Hanlon:wmj 8/27/71)

The primary intent of this suggestion was to point up a possible problem developing as a result of the increased number of criminal violations being encountered by Special Agents handling security work. An excellent illustration of this can be found in case captioned "Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice; IS-Miscellaneous," Bufile 100-459771. In WFO report of SA James F. Whalen dated 5/7/71, serial 423, page 5, is found a narrative of events at a demonstration on November 21, 1970, at New York. This information was not placed on an FD-302 and became an issue at a preliminary hearing. As the contents of this report were not on FD-302s it was necessary to excise pertinent portions of the report and considerable issue of this was made at the preliminary hearing. A further indication of this most necessary indoctrination of security Agents in the use of FD-302s can be found in the EASTCON case. Your attention is invited to an airtel under that caption dated 8/25/71 calling for an in-depth interview of a key witness. In this airtel the supervisor felt it necessary to instruct that the results of this interview be placed on an FD-302.

In light of the above, it is felt you should take whatever action deemed necessary to bring to the attention of Special Agents working security matters the necessity of placing information which could be testimony on FD-302s. It is felt the matter should definitely be highlighted and then followed in the individual cases.

Comments of Assistant Director Brennan are requested.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: Domestic Intelligence Division is appreciative of the observations and suggestions set forth in the Inspector's Addendum. Accordingly, I am instructing all Section Chiefs to stress this matter with all supervisory personnel in the Division. Further, all of our supervisors who regularly lecture to In Service classes and New Agents classes will stress this matter. We will of course follow the field in the individual cases where it is obvious or even appears that the required action is not being taken in the preparation of necessary FD-302s.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM

BLACK EXTREMIST ACTIVITIES IN PENAL INSTITUTIONS
EXTREMIST MATTERS

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: By airtel to all continental offices 8/26/71 under the above-mentioned caption, all offices were requested to determine the extent of activity and/or influence attributable to black extremists within penal institutions. This was undoubtedly a result of the attempted prison break at San Quentin Prison in California in which black extremist George Lester Jackson was killed. Reports have indicated that Jackson had hidden a gun in his afro haircut. Further, press releases indicate that when the maximum security cell block was searched an afro hair-style wig was found.

Due to the numerous arrests made by our Agents, it is felt that the field should be alerted to the secreting of weapons in this manner.

Comments of Assistant Director Brennan requested.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN
DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

I concur with the suggestion of the Inspector. The Extremist Intelligence Section is preparing an airtel to all offices alerting them to the possibility of secreting weapons as noted above.

RETAIN COPY

Recommend entire document be classified "Secret," XGDS 1, 2, 3.

Portions recommended for excision from attached have been underlined in red or bracketed in red in left margin.

Generally, criteria for excision were:

1. Information which could identify sources or sensitive techniques
2. Names of individuals or organizations whose privacy requires protection
3. Information which would reveal our overall success or lack of success in a given investigative area
4. Information from "Third Agencies" or friendly foreign agencies
5. Identities of Bureau personnel below the Section Chief level

The adequacy of Personnel Sections, in general, disclose the extent of our commitment in specific areas of counterintelligence activity. We have given the Committee Administrative Division figures regarding total manpower involved in security investigations but, to my knowledge, we have not given them a breakdown as to where these personnel are assigned. A policy decision is necessary as to whether we want to pinpoint, through release of "Adequacy of Personnel" sections of these inspection reports, precisely how much or how little manpower we have on specific types of investigations.

~~It is questionable whether the information regarding criminal cases in the San Francisco report is germane to the Committee's inquiry. It would not seem improper to me to delete all references to criminal matters and merely substitute a page saying that "pages ___ to ___ relate to criminal investigations."~~

EAST COAST CONSPIRACY

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR
C. D. BRENNAN

The East Coast Conspiracy is a loosely knit movement composed primarily of Catholic priests and nuns, teachers, students and former students and others who have manifested opposition to the Vietnam war by acts of violence against Government agencies and private corporations identified as defense contractors. The main thrust of their efforts has been vandalism of draft boards.

The Philadelphia Office developed an informant in Lewisburg Penitentiary who was a confidant of Philip Berrigan, a Catholic priest serving time for destruction of Selective Service records. Investigation by prison authorities determined this informant had been transmitting messages in and out of prison in a clandestine manner between Berrigan and Sister Elizabeth McAlister, a nun associated with the Religious Order of the Sacred Heart of Mary, Tarrytown, New York. In addition to transmitting letters to and from Berrigan, the informant met on several occasions with followers of Berrigan such as Neil McLaughlin and Joseph Wenderoth, unassigned Catholic priests in Baltimore, Maryland. Through these individuals he met others associated with the movement.

Information contained in the letters and obtained as a result of personal contacts of the informant produced information showing this group intended to call attention to their anti-Vietnam war position by blowing up the underground heating and electrical systems servicing Government buildings in Washington, D. C., and to kidnap a high Government official. Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, Assistant to the President for National Security Affairs, was mentioned as a possible victim. The proposed target date for these actions was February 22, 1971.

Following the arrest on September 6, 1970, of several individuals associated with this movement for the destruction of draft board records in Rochester, New York, which action included extensive vandalism to the office of the U.S. Attorney as well as our Rochester Resident Agency, the informant learned that the leading activists in the movement intended to expand their activities to include attacks against FBI offices. Informant also learned from McAlister that the group intended to undertake some sabotage-type action at Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, New Jersey, on an undisclosed date.

East Coast Conspiracy

Because of the basic responsibility of this Division for investigations involving subversive antiwar groups, overall responsibility for this investigation was assumed by memorandum dated September 10, 1970. This, of course, did not include individual Selective Service violations existing in various stages of prosecution or subsequent substantive violations in which affiliates of this group were suspected of being involved.

This investigation has been specifically targeted to two areas of prosecutive potential. First, to develop sufficient evidence to prosecute leadership of this broad conspiracy to impede the Government's functioning and conduct of the Vietnam war. In this vein, a comprehensive review of pertinent material discloses 16 related incidents from October 27, 1967, at Baltimore, Maryland, to Rochester, New York, on September 6, 1970. Of 97 individuals involved in 16 incidents during this period, 25 persons have been established as being involved in three or more of these incidents. This particular phase of the investigation is most detailed and complex; however, in terms of far-reaching damage to the movement, it is most significant. For example, we have set up an extensive Automatic Data Processing (ADP) project which resulted in a print-out showing over 300 telephone calls of interest between telephone numbers utilized by these conspirators and which corroborate information from the informant regarding calls he received from principal conspirators.

Second, we are developing sufficient evidence to prosecute the perpetrators of the plots to kidnap Presidential advisor Henry A. Kissinger and to blow up the tunnels which contain steam and electrical conduits between Government buildings in Washington, D.C.

Because of publicity given the plots to kidnap Kissinger and to blow up the tunnels in Washington, D. C., it is imperative this phase of the investigation be vigorously pressed toward prosecutive action. Consistent with this objective the Federal Grand Jury has been hearing evidence in this matter since December 18, 1970, and according to Departmental attorney Guy L. Goodwin will return indictments concerning the above-mentioned plots on January 12, 1971. Goodwin states the Federal grand jury will continue to hear evidence regarding other facets of this complex matter and probably will return additional indictments at a later date. According to Goodwin, the Grand Jury will return indictments against six conspirators named below and seven individuals, including Daniel Berrigan, will be named as unindicted co-conspirators at this time. Those to be indicted are Philip Berrigan, Elizabeth McAlister, Joseph Wenderoth, Neil McLaughlin, Eqbal Ahmad, and Anthony Scoblick.

Philip Berrigan:

Laboratory examination determined he authored letters regarding plots to kidnap a high Government official and to blow up tunnel system which were clandestinely transmitted out of Lewisburg Penitentiary.

Elizabeth McAlister:

Laboratory determined she wrote letters to Philip Berrigan regarding above plots. Investigation, including ADP project, has also established her contacts with other conspirators. Considered a leading activist in the movement.

Joseph Reese Wenderoth:

Leading activist of the movement and reported coordinator of plot to blow up tunnel system, with responsibility for recruiting necessary personnel. Met and discussed plan with informant. Automobile registered to Wenderoth and Neil McLaughlin observed at farm in Northern Maryland reported by informant as training site used by conspirators.

Neil Raymond McLaughlin:

Leading activist in the movement involved with bombing plot. Met with informant to discuss plot.

East Coast Conspiracy

Eqbal Ahmad:

Ahmad is Pakistani citizen and permanent resident alien. He is a principal figure in the kidnaping plot. ADP project has linked him with Wenderoth and McLaughlin.

Anthony Scoblick:

Involved in the bombing plot. He has met with informant and discussed plot and ADP project produced calls between informant and Scoblick's telephone.

ADDENDUM

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: This case was formally received by the 1/18/71 Domestic Intelligence Division on JAA/EFF:maz 9/10/70 and responsibility for same assumed by memorandum of R. L. Shackelford to C. D. Brennan dated 9/10/70. It is presently supervised by Supervisor James F. McGuire and overall supervision afforded by Unit Supervisor Fred B. Griffith.

It is acknowledged that it was necessary to issue instructions to the field cautioning them about conducting extensive background investigations on members close to this conspiracy prior to the presentation of facts of this case to the Grand Jury to preclude the possibility of compromising an informant. However, the following suggested investigative action is being set forth for your consideration inasmuch as it is of paramount importance that you continue to press this matter vigorously. These suggestions are not to be considered as all inclusive, but are being set forth for your consideration and appropriate action:

1. You should insure that the field aggressively intensifies its investigation of this conspiracy including detailed comprehensive background investigations on all subjects both directly and indirectly associated with the ECCSL. It should be emphasized, however, that utmost discretion and good judgment should be exercised in the conduct of investigations of the principal conspirators so that unfounded charges of harrassment cannot be leveled against the Bureau.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/18/71
JAA/EFF:maz

During the conduct of these background investigations the field should be particularly alert to every potential opportunity for developing member informants in not only the ECCSL but also in other sympathetic and splinter groups which develop or spin off from the vortex of this group.

It is noted that you have pointed out elsewhere in this report that 97 individuals have been involved in 16 separate and distinct organized incidents and attacks on Government agencies and private corporations. Twenty-five persons were involved in three or more such incidents.

2. The field should be appropriately instructed to keep the Bureau fully advised of all demonstrations, vigils, harrassment tactics, etc., conducted by sympathetic groups and followers of the ECCSL. Such vigils and demonstrations should be afforded sufficient appropriate coverage to develop identities and background of leading activists and sponsors of such sympathetic activities.

During these background investigations, particular emphasis should be placed on developing sources of funds and financing of the principal conspirators. A review of this file noted that the subjects appear to travel frequently, make numerous long-distance phone calls, rent cars, etc., yet outwardly, appear to have limited sources of income.

3. The field should be alerted to the distinct possibility that other groups similar to the ECCSL are formed as a result of the indictments returned in this matter. Field offices should also be alerted to other retaliatory actions by sympathetic groups attempting to capitalize on the "persecution" theory thereby exploiting the recent indictments as a sympathetic rallying point for more conspiratorial activities.

Assistant Director note.

INTERNAL SECURITY SECTION

4-E

SECTION CHIEF - ARBOR W. GRAY

Attached are memoranda setting out the noteworthy accomplishments of the Internal Security Section since the last inspection.

This Section is responsible for the supervision of investigations of the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), its fronts; pro-Chinese communist groups; Trotskyist groups; Klan and white hate groups; protest groups; international organizations affiliated with the world communist movement, the world Trotskyist movement and international New Left movement, individuals affiliated with these organizations and movements, as well as sedition cases. Our purpose is to gather evidence to support prosecutions of these subversive organizations and individuals under various statutes relating to the internal security of the nation. This Section also supervises development of security informants in basic revolutionary organizations and, where appropriate, directs counterintelligence operations against subversive groups and individuals in cases under our supervision.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS
COMMUNIST PARTY, USA, UNIT

The major accomplishment of this Unit evolves from the case entitled, "Solo, IS - C." Due to the sensitive nature of this case, it will be orally discussed with the Inspector.

In essence, this case involves sources developing intelligence information of the highest quality concerning the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), the Soviet Union and its satellites, and the world communist movement. Since its inception, 37 successful missions to communist countries have been completed. Information developed by this operation from high-level contacts in the world communist movement is continually disseminated to the highest levels of our Government and, in many instances, is information not available from another source. Examples include the following: the current struggle among the leadership of the Soviet Union as of Spring, 1970, and early Winter, 1970, particularly in view of the struggle for power during the upcoming 24th Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (CPSU); a message sent the Government of North Vietnam by the CPUSA, giving suggestions on how North Vietnam could aid antiwar protest groups in the United States; the Soviet reaction to the treaty signed by West Germany with the Soviets, along with secret portions of this treaty which have not yet been made public; the initiation of a worldwide propaganda campaign by the Soviets to counteract and weaken the United States position in the Strategic Arms Limitation talks; and details on the reorganization which is supposedto take place within the CPSU and the Soviet Government after the 24th Congress of the CPSU to be held in March, 1971.

All of this information was furnished the White House and other interested officials of our Government, usually by teletype. Central Intelligence Agency has expressed great interest in information developed by this operation and on July 24, 1970, requested permission to include pertinent data developed by our operation in a "Top Secret/No Foreign/Controlled Dissemination" classified document for senior U. S. Intelligence Board officials.

DID Inspection

The two principal informants in this operation have received the "Order of Lenin," with the title "Hero of Soviet Labor" from the Soviets. This is the highest award given civilians by the Soviet Union and was given our sources for their "invaluable contribution to the international communist movement."

Continued high-level penetration of the CPUSA represents a sustained major accomplishment. At the time of the last inspection, we had 11 informants who were officially members of the CPUSA National Committee. At the present time, this overall number remains the same, but we have exchanged two informants to give us a better geographical breakdown. In addition, we have another informant who is an ex officio member of the National Committee because of the sensitive nature of his Party assignments. This latter source is also a member of the Political Committee which, in effect, runs the Party. This top-level coverage is responsible for furnishing information regarding policy-making matters on a day-to-day basis as they occur.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS
PROTEST AND TROTSKYIST GROUPS UNIT

This unit was formerly known as the Protest Groups and International New Left Unit. As of December 16, 1970, a separate International New Left Unit was organized which took over investigations pertaining to this particular work. Since the last inspection, the intensified investigation of cases has continued to produce positive results.

Selective supervision has enabled us to have advance knowledge of New Left leaders, conferences, and demonstrations. Through this advance knowledge, we have been able to furnish the White House and other interested Government agencies information on a daily basis regarding pertinent activities of individuals and groups of interest to us. We have disseminated voluminous letterhead memoranda, reports, and teletypes concerning plans of leaders of these groups which were most timely, particularly where violence was a possibility. On the basis of material furnished by this unit, two Current Intelligence Analysis (CINAL) were published pertaining to the Student Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (SMC) and the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam (NMC).

These investigations furnished complete coverage of the major antiwar demonstrations in May and October, 1970, as well as sectional and national meetings at which plans for these demonstrations were formulated. This coverage afforded detailed knowledge of the major shift in the antiwar movement, and the view of its leadership pertaining to the degree and amount of militant tactics to be employed. We were able to follow closely the emergence of the National Coalition Against War, Racism, and Repression (NCAWRR) out of the once powerful NMC and the attempts of the Trotskyist groups to exercise greater influence within the antiwar movement through the formation of the National Peace Action Council (NPAC). The NCAWRR has proposed a national action for May, 1971, whereby efforts will be made to close down Washington, D. C., by the use of militant tactics. The NPAC plans national demonstrations in April, 1971, which may very well undermine the impact of the NCAWRR action.

A prime responsibility of the Bureau and the intelligence community is to develop intelligence relating to efforts of foreign governments, organizations, and individuals to influence, direct, or dominate the New Left movement in the U.S. In this regard, over the years, there have been a number of international-type conferences often sponsored by international front-type groups frequently under the direction or control of the Soviet Union.

Late last summer this Bureau received information that the Stockholm Conference on Vietnam (SCV), an organization established in 1967 which is controlled by the Soviet dominated World Council for Peace, intended to hold a World Conference on Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia in Stockholm, Sweden, 11/28-30/70. As the SCV, since its inception, has been a major sounding board for anti-U.S. propaganda, particularly that of the North Vietnamese, we dispatched WF 1777-S to attend the World Conference. The informant's attendance proved of exceptional value. She not only attended preparatory meetings and post-conference meetings, but also participated in all sessions of the World Conference, identifying the entire American delegation, other international organizations involved, and foreign delegations including those representing the Cambodian Government in exile, the Provisional Revolutionary (communist) Government of South Vietnam, the North Vietnamese, and communists from Laos. Informant was able to develop the activity of the American delegation which was led by David Dellinger, a notorious New Left militant, and the obviously directed plans of the Conference to discredit the U.S. at the Paris peace talks. Informant also developed the nature of the international propaganda attack to be directed at the U.S., worldwide action planned in support of the communist position in Vietnam, and plans to "expose" the "criminal" position and actions of the U.S. as relate to Vietnam.

Our coverage of this Conference was of value to officials of other Government agencies and undoubtedly assisted in the formulation of positive U.S. policies relative to the U.S. position in Vietnam. The excellent coverage also resulted in our being able to directly pinpoint the foreign influence of the domestic subversive movement and resulted in a number of important investigations.

KLAN AND WHITE HATE GROUP UNIT 4-E

Membership in Klan-type organizations and other white hate groups has experienced a continuous decline for the past four years. The Klan reached a post-World War II membership high of approximately 14,000 in 1966. From that point on, there has been a continuing decline in membership. At the present time, we have 18 Klan organizations made up of 225 Klaverns (units). There are, of course, in addition to the membership, many thousands of sympathizers. Investigation in the white extremist field for organizations other than the Klan is centered around the Minutemen, the National States Rights Party (NSRP), and the National Socialist White People's Party (NSWPP). There are numerous other small groups which likewise fall within this category. This reduction in Klan and other white hate group membership is attributable to the continuous attention given these investigations by the Seat of Government and the field, with specific attention given to hard-hitting investigations, counterintelligence programs directed at them, and penetration of these groups at all levels by our racial informants.

The year 1970 showed a continuing decline in the membership and effectiveness of the various Klan and white hate groups throughout the U.S. As of January, 1970, Klan membership totaled approximately 5,300. Our present figures indicate that Klan membership now totals approximately 4,300. The largest Klan group is the United Klans of America, Inc., Knights of the Ku Klux Klan (UKA) under the direction of Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton. The membership of this group in January, 1970, was approximately 4,100 whereas it now numbers 3,500 members, or approximately 80% of the membership of all Klan organizations. These recent figures represent an approximate decrease in overall Klan membership of 17% and 15% decrease in UKA membership. Membership in white hate organizations other than the Klan which has always been relatively smaller membership-wise has likewise experienced a relatively similar decline.

With the arrest of Robert DePugh, National Coordinator of the Minutemen, in July, 1969, and his subsequent conviction for Federal Firearms Act violation and incarceration, this group has virtually fallen apart and there is practically no organized activity. Membership is approximately 180, but individuals remain violence prone.

The National States Rights Party under the direction of J. B. Stoner is likewise experiencing difficulty in increasing either membership or activity and consequently is planning to move its headquarters from Savannah, Georgia, to Atlanta, Georgia. In the meantime this organization continues to grind out anti-Negro and anti-Jewish propaganda in crude fashion in their publications and speeches. Membership is approximately 150.

The National Socialist White People's Party (NSWPP) (formerly the American Nazi Party) has its headquarters in Arlington, Virginia, which is the center for its activities. There is moderate activity in Los Angeles and Chicago. Recently a serious split in the leadership has occurred as a result of counterintelligence action taken on the part of the Bureau through use of racial informants. Here again membership continues to decline. They appear to be content with publishing a variety of anti-Negro, anti-Jewish publications and preparing their "White Power" telephone messages. Membership is approximately 125.

The above is set forth to show the general accomplishments made by this Unit in the Klan and white hate field during the past year. Some specific examples of accomplishments are hereafter set forth:

In February, 1970, we furnished information to the White House, the Army, Secret Service, Internal Revenue Service, the Internal Security and Civil Rights Divisions of the Department and the Inter-Division Information Unit, which we received from racial informants of our Tampa Division who advised that the United Florida KKK had printed 15,000 protest letters which were being made available to the public for mailing to President Nixon in connection with school desegregation. We also furnished a copy of the actual protest letter for the benefit of the White House and other agencies.

On February 20, 1970, Robert DePugh, National Coordinator of the Minutemen, mentioned above, was sentenced to four years imprisonment following conviction for bond default. It is noted DePugh was previously convicted and released on bond for Federal Firearms Act violation.

In March, 1970, we again advised the White House, the Attorney General, the Army, Secret Service, Internal Revenue Service, the Internal Security and Civil Rights Division of the Department and the Inter-Division Information Unit, of information learned from racial informants of our Mobile Division relative to another letter which was made available to the public by the UKA for mailing to President Nixon as a protest in connection with school desegregation in Alabama. This was similar to the information previously furnished relative to the other letter which was made available to the public by the United Florida KKK. A copy of this letter was also furnished to the White House, the Attorney General, Secret Service, the Internal Security and Civil Rights Divisions of the Department and the Inter-Division Information Unit.

In July, 1970, as a result of our investigation, two individuals associated with a paramilitary right wing group called "The Raiders," Ferri Loyd Hayes and Kenneth Ray McMaster, were arrested by Bureau Agents in connection with the bombing of 36 school busses at Longview, Texas, on July 4, 1970. A Federal court had ordered bussing in connection with school integration. A special Federal Grand Jury at Tyler, Texas, on July 23, 1970, returned a true bill of indictment charging the two individuals on two counts; count one, violation of Title 18, U.S. Code, Section 241 (Civil Rights Act, 1964), and count two, violation of Title 18, U.S. Code, S. 1509 (Obstruction of Court Order). These two individuals had also been found to have placed "flashlight bombs" in two Negro residential areas. Both these individuals were held in lieu of $125,000 bond each; later reduced to $25,000 each. They are still awaiting trial.

In July, 1970, as a result of a counterintelligence technique utilized in connection with the counterintelligence program directed at the Klan, Exalted Cyclops Thomas Stipes, of Mascot Klavern 778, Mascot, Tennessee, was eliminated from this top position and subsequently banished from the UKA. As a result of this counterintelligence action, membership in this Klavern has fallen off appreciably.

On 9-25-70 Robert DePugh was found guilty in U.S. District Court, Albuquerque, New Mexico, under Federal Firearms Act for possession of various destructive devices at the time of his arrest in New Mexico. He received a ten-year sentence on 10-9-70 on these charges. He is presently serving his sentence at the U.S. Penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kansas.

In September, 1970, as a result of counterintelligence action taken, two of our racial informants in the Little Rock Division were instrumental in successfully causing the defeat of a Klansman who was running for Sheriff in Jefferson County, Arkansas. This unsuccessful candidate was Victor Calvert, Exalted Cyclops, Pine Bluff Klavern, Association of Arkansas Klans. During his campaign Calvert attempted to hide his Klan affiliation because he hoped to receive a good percentage of the Negro vote in his area. Our informants had discreetly spread the truth through the Negro community that Calvert was actually an active Klansman. As a result of this action Calvert was overwhelmingly defeated.

In September, 1970, we advised the President, the Vice President and the Attorney General of current information concerning Klan activity in the U.S.; the decline in Klan membership; techniques the Klan was instituting to attempt to increase its income and the fact that a black box, resembling a coffin, was being shipped to the President by a group called "United Parents of Duval County," Florida. This was being sent to the President in connection with a protest against school integration in Jacksonville, Florida. In furnishing this information, we advised that the individual who paid for the shipping was identified as a member of the U.S. Klans, Knights of the KKK, Inc.

In September, 1970, we advised the President, the Vice President and the Attorney General of the fact that Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton of the UKA was going to request an appointment with the Attorney General to discuss the latest interpretations of civil rights laws. We further advised that Shelton was preparing copies of a "night letter" which he was going to make available to the news media in the Washington, D. C., area to publicize the fact he desired an appointment. This information was learned from a top level racial informant of our Birmingham Office who advised that Shelton was making this request allegedly because it, in Shelton's mind, concerned the welfare of people of Alabama in addition to those of other states. Our informant advised that Shelton would point out in his letter that appointments for black leaders had been granted and he was requesting equal opportunity, treatment and courtesy, on behalf of the white people of his community. Our informant also revealed that Shelton did not expect to receive an appointment with the Attorney General but was doing this merely to receive publicity as a result of this action. The appointment never came about.

In November, 1970, as a result of counterintelligence measures taken, we were successful in causing the resignation of W. Melvin Sexton, the Imperial Kligrapp (National Secretary, UKA). This was of particular importance in that he actually ran the UKA during the time Shelton was in prison.

The 1970 National Klonvokation of the UKA was held at the Ramada Inn, Tuscaloosa, Alabama, on November 28-29, 1970. At this Klonvokation, Robert M. Shelton was again elected Imperial Wizard to serve for three years. During a speech he made at the Klonvokation, Shelton stated (and has since reiterated his feelings to high-ranking members of the UKA who are racial informants of this Bureau) that he definitely plans to use a polygraph machine and possibly to utilize sodium pentothal (truth serum) on all Klan officials and members in order to ferret out FBI informants. Shelton, in 1967, also had plans to utilize a polygraph machine and truth serum on Klan members in order to learn the identity of FBI informants. At that time, we used counterintelligence techniques in various forms including a press release in order to discourage Shelton in this regard. It is to be noted that many of our sensitive racial informants are in high-ranking positions within the UKA.

In order to again discourage Shelton in his desires in this regard, it was recommended on 1/5/71 that a press release be provided to reliable news sources through Assistant Director Bishop's office. Our desire is that we will discredit Shelton and frustrate his attempts by exposing his desires to the glare of publicity. The news release pointed out that Shelton is losing control of his subordinates and that Shelton is attempting to maintain control of the Klan by threats against anyone who criticizes him. The news release also pointed out that the Klan, which expresses patriotism and democratic ideals, must resort to gestapo-like tactics to hold its members in line.

The above are highlights of results of Bureau investigations into these matters. Many other disseminations made throughout 1970 have resulted in the curtailment of activity and disenchantment with the Klan and other white hate group organizations.

SECTION CHIEF R. D. COTTER: Accomplishments of Research Section since last inspection follow.

Central Research Unit

This Unit has continued to perform a wide range of research and writing assignments, preparing various documents and special reports, most of which have been disseminated outside the Bureau as well as to our field offices. These have included the following:

An extensive special assignment on New Left research for the Director.

Statement by Director for use before President's Commission on Campus Unrest.

Issues (14) of Current Intelligence Analysis (CINAL), a periodic intelligence letter summarizing significant items of interest in the security field.

Issues (9) of The Extremist Speaks, a monthly compilation which shows the extremist views of right, left, and racially-oriented groups and individuals in the United States.

Monographs (7) setting out in-depth studies of significant factors in the security-intelligence field.

A comprehensive survey concerning the potential for racial violence, four (4) special reports for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), and miscellaneous research assignments for the Division.

In addition, a number of special studies have been prepared in response to requests from the White House. These include:

A "Top Secret" study on domestic intelligence for the Inter-Agency Committee for Intelligence.

An extensive brief, "Special Report, Nationwide Civil Disturbances," at the request of Vice President Agnew (revised periodically).

A study, "'Stop the Bombing' Campaign: A Communist Cause," at request of President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board, concerning foreign influence in the 1964-68 campaign seeking a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

"Top Secret" blind memoranda (3) for a special intelligence evaluation committee on extremist and terrorist groups in the U.S.

A "Secret" paper for the U.S. Intelligence Board analyzing "Racism, Radicalism, and Nationalism in the Caribbean."

This Unit has also collected and prepared material for various articles, speeches, and surveys, and has prepared special memoranda for the information of Bureau officials. Personnel of this Unit have handled lectures on the subjects of communism, the New Left movement, and racial extremism. These have consisted of classified lectures to Bureau's New Agents and In-Service classes, appearances before other intelligence agencies and National Academy classes, and a number of nonclassified lectures before civic, church, and law enforcement groups. Since last inspection, a total of 42 speeches have been handled involving outside groups.

Special Records Unit

Primarily responsible for records keeping, this Unit is also engaged in emergency planning. In addition, beginning in September, 1970, the Unit has prepared the Division's portion of the "Brief For Director's Use In Connection With Attorney General's Staff Conference," Thursdays, at 5 p.m.

Also beginning in September, 1970, this Unit has prepared the "FBI Summary of Extremist Activities," a weekly summary of racial extremist activities, which is disseminated to the White House, top Government officials, the intelligence community, and each field office. The White House has been highly commendatory of this paper, praising the content, format, and style. The Director approved an incentive award for the Agent who prepares the summary.

New Left Reporting Unit

This Unit, which coordinates covering of all New Left, student, and antiwar demonstrations throughout the country, has handled the reporting of the following major disruptions or demonstrations since the last inspection.

National demonstrations 4/14 –15/70 to protest the war and the payment of war taxes.

National Environmental Actions, which was held throughout the U.S. on 4/22/70.

Intensified and widespread student disruptions which occurred throughout the U.S. during the last part of April and during May, 1970.

A March on Washington on 5/9/70 to protest the invasion of Cambodia.

Nationwide demonstrations to protest the military, on 5/16/70.

A Yippies smoke-in at Washington, D. C., on 7/4/70. This also involved attempted disruption by the Yippies of the Honor America Day ceremonies.

The People's Army Jamboree, which was held at Portland, Oregon, 8/28-9/3/70, for the purpose of disrupting the National American Legion Convention.

The March for Victory, which was held at Washington, D. C., on 10/31/70 by Dr. Carl McIntire.

Demonstration against President Nixon, San Jose, California, 10/29/70.

Timely dissemination was made to the White House and the Attorney General, as well as other interested officials and agencies of the Executive Branch, concerning these demonstrations as well as nationwide agitation occurring on a daily basis throughout the country. Frequently, advance information was furnished to such officials and agencies pointing out likely trouble spots and predicting the possibility of violence.

In addition, a timely study concerning disruptive attacks on the courts was prepared and disseminated to high-level officials and interested agencies.

Racial Reporting Unit

This Unit, formerly called the Riot and Racial Disturbance Unit, has continued to coordinate all phases of racial disturbances and violence and other racial developments as well as information bearing on the potential for violence throughout the country. Voluminous material being reported on a daily basis by the field offices is reviewed, coordinated, and disseminated to interested officials and agencies and current teletype summaries are furnished to the White House, Attorney General, and other high-level officials. In the past year more than 5,500 memoranda and teletypes have been disseminated. Statistical data on racial disorders, school disorders, and attacks on police are maintained in this Unit for use in the preparation of special papers.

This Unit also prepares highly useful research studies concerning developments in the racial field. Since the last inspection, these have included special papers on the black action movement at racially harassed University of Michigan; a review of newly formed black extremist groups; numerous papers concerning provocative articles appearing in the Black Panther Party newspaper; a special paper for the Vice President concerning racial disturbances in Mississippi and Georgia; a study on racial disturbances in secondary schools in the 1969-70 school year; and a detailed account of advance information concerning the potential for violence in support of the Black Panther Party in New Haven, Connecticut, prepared for the Departmental Evaluation Committee. A detailed study on the extent of foreign influence in the black extremist movement, similar to that disseminated just after the last inspection, is presently being prepared for early dissemination.

In addition to the above, instructions in the Manual of Instructions and the FBI Handbook concerning the handling of general racial matters were completely revised and streamlined by this Unit since the last inspection.

In 1969 Worker Student Alliance (WSA), Weatherman, and Revolutionary Youth Movement (RYM) factions of SDS split into separate groups. Accomplishments concerning Weatherman are reported elsewhere in this survey. The RYM faction of SDS is now practically defunct. Currently, the largest faction of SDS is WSA faction. WSA is dominated by the pro-Chinese, Marxist-Leninist Progressive Labor Party; and, while not as violent as Weatherman, is avowedly a revolutionary group.

Our efforts to achieve informant coverage in WSA showed results when WSA held its National Convention in Chicago in December, 1970. Approximately 20 Bureau informants attended this convention, and extensive information on activities at the convention was promptly reported and disseminated. Through informants, we have encouraged factionalism in WSA. At the convention, dissident groups led by one of our sources threatened a new split in SDS/WSA which may occur in the near future. Such dissension will reduce the possibility that SDS might once again become a massive student organization as it was before its division in 1969.

Through the Key Activist program, we have focused investigative attention on the leaders of the New Left movement with the aim of prosecuting these leaders under appropriate statutes, Federal or local, wherever possible.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/13/71
HM:maz
4-E

At the present time, we have designated 75 individuals as Key Activists. Of this number, 40 are currently the subject of prosecutive action. This has definitely severely disrupted the entire New Left movement as well as component New Left organizations.

Through the New Left Movement reports prepared quarterly by each field office, we have provided to interested agencies timely and informative documents on the activities of the New Left movement, thus making a substantial contribution to the objective that responsible officials be fully aware of the threat the New Left presents to our democratic society.

By closely following a myriad of New Left publications ranging from those merely pornographic to those clearly revolutionary, we have determined the leadership of these publications; their propensity for violence and subversive activities; sources of funds; and through dissemination have advised interested officials and agencies. Since these publications frequently appear and disappear within a short time, we are alert to the birth of new publications by following various underground news service lists as well as other documents and books which report new publications in this field.

We have recognized that in the past, informant coverage of New Left groups has not been adequate and accordingly have given great emphasis to this aspect of our responsibility. As a result, informant coverage in this area has been dramatically increased. At present, we have 900 informants and sources of all types providing coverage of the New Left. This number includes 178 security informants and 410 potential security informants.

Since the last inspection, New Left informants have provided information which has: led to the indictment of a number of New Left leaders on Federal and local charges; located fugitives including some Weatherman fugitives; provided advance information on numerous New Left demonstrations including plans for violence; and furnished detailed information on the organization, membership, and activities of a broad range of New Left groups.

The assistance of New Left informants has been invaluable, and we are continuing to emphasize the development of additional quality informants in this field.

Through the maintenance of a repository of "hand-out" materials and publications on the New Left for distribution to Government officials and responsible citizens, we have assisted these important individuals to more fully understand the subversive ramifications of the New Left movement.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS UNIT - WEST

Since the Summer of 1969, New Left extremists have become increasingly identified as Marxist-Leninist revolutionaries, and have utilized extreme violence in effort to achieve their purpose. In the period since the last inspection, the prosecution of these revolutionaries has continued to be one of our primary objectives, to the end that individual terrorists are neutralized and their organizations are isolated; leaderless; and finally defunct. We have had significant accomplishments in this regard. On April 2, 1970, 12 leaders of Weatherman (the most violent faction of Students for a Democratic Society) were indicted in Chicago on Federal Antiriot Law (ARL) charges. Other Weatherman leaders were indicted on local charges and became Bureau fugitives. The Weatherman organization has gone underground and has taken extreme measures to avoid apprehension. Nevertheless, five of these Weatherman leaders have been located by the FBI as a result of investigations by Agents on New Left squads in the field and through the efforts of New Left informants.

On July 23, 1970, in Detroit, Michigan, indictments were obtained against 13 Weatherman leaders for violation of Federal bombing and gun control statutes. Five of these individuals have since been arrested or have surrendered.

Other Weatherman leaders remain in fugitive status and intensive efforts to locate them continue. Already these indictments and arrests have had a noticeable effect on the Weatherman organization. Bernardine Dohrn, a Weatherman leader who in May, 1970, had declared a state of war against the U. S. announced in December, 1970, that Weatherman had made a "military error" in tending to consider only "bombings and picking up the gun as revolutionary." Weatherman has learned, Dohrn said, that a group of "outlaws" who are isolated from the youth communities cannot grow to include large numbers of people.

Weatherman and their ilk will doubtless try to organize wider support in the broad youth culture, most of which is not presently committed to violence. By the continuation of energetic efforts to prosecute the instigators of violence, we can increase the isolation of terrorist groups and reduce their influence on youth. This objective is being forcefully pursued wherever possible. In Seattle, a group of seven violence-prone individuals with Weatherman connections were tried in November and December, 1970, on Federal ARL; Conspiracy; and Destruction of Government Property charges. A mistrial in this case was declared December 10, 1970; however, due to the defendants' misconduct in court, all seven were cited for contempt. These Seattle indictments were made possible through New Left informant coverage.

The East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives, led by the notorious Berrigan brothers, has been the subject of intensive investigation since the last inspection. This group, which is masked as a religion-oriented peace group, has actually plotted kidnaping and violence. This matter has been presented to a Federal Grand Jury with the result that six individuals, including Philip Berrigan, were indicted on January 12, 1971. Seven other individuals, including Daniel Berrigan, were named by the Grand Jury as unindicted coconspirators.

Information set forth above referring to New Left extremists and the Weatherman organization also applies to work handled by the Special Investigations Unit - East.

VENCEREMOS BRIGADE

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS UNIT - EAST 4-E

The Venceremos Brigade (VB) came into being June, 1969, as a coalition of representatives from various New Left organizations including Students for a Democratic Society, Trotskyist Youth Socialist Alliance, the militant Black Panther Party and a supporting cast of Old Left organizations including the Communist Party, Progressive Labor Party and Socialist Workers Party.

Three contingents have traveled to Cuba since November, 1969. The first group was composed of 216 young Americans who obtained their own transportation to Cuba in defiance of the State Department ban on travel to that country. These young revolutionaries were returned to Canada at the expense of the Cuban Government which converted a cattle boat into a makeshift troop ship. This boat arrived in St. John, Canada, on February 12, 1970, and immediately loaded 687 sympathetic American youths aboard for its return trip to Cuba. This group, like the first contingent, worked in the sugar cane fields until its return by the same means of transportation on April 28, 1970. In August, 1970, the third contingent of the VB, made up of 407 persons, journeyed to the Isle of Youth where they participated in a Cuban agricultural experiment of planting and fertilizing citrus trees. This group returned to the U. S. mid-October, 1970.

Each group worked approximately $7\frac{1}{2}$ hours a day, $5\frac{1}{2}$ days a week, and in their free time were afforded the opportunity of absorbing communist propaganda offered by the Cubans, North Koreans and North Vietnamese. They were reminded by the Cuban camp director that they were here to show "solidarity with the socialist struggle, to smash the U. S. blockade, and to make a breach in the facade of the U. S. imperialist monster."

Each of the more than 1300 brigade members has been the subject of a security investigation which includes the identification and obtaining of background data as well as a personal interview with each brigade member. These investigations are being made to determine the immediate danger presented by these young revolutionaries and also to ascertain the long-range role they will take in the revolutionary movement in the U. S. Upon completion of the investigation and the interview of each of these individuals, the field must recommend either the inclusion or noninclusion of the subject in the Security Index. In addition the field must continue to report every 90 days for a period of one year on the activities and whereabouts of each brigade member.

Five approved Bureau informants accompanied the second VB, and the third VB also included in its ranks four Bureau approved informants. These sources have materially assisted the Bureau in discharging its intelligence responsibilities. While the security investigations of all brigade members are not completed, more than 100 VB participants have been placed in the Security Index and as we conclude these investigations it is anticipated numerous others will also be listed in this Index.

The fourth contingent of the VB is currently being organized and recruiting emphasis is being placed on "quality individuals" who have open outlooks and socialist backgrounds. This group is tentatively scheduled to depart for Cuba March 1, 1971, and is to be comprised of approximately 300 individuals. Information set forth above referring to the Venceremos Brigade also applies to work handled by the Special Investigations Unit - West.

SABOTAGE

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS - EAST UNIT 4-E

Incidents of Sabotage have been on the rise since the mid-1960's, occasioned primarily by growing opposition throughout the country to the Selective Service System, the Armed Forces, and in particular to the war in Vietnam.

There are under investigation at the present time 7 Sabotage cases with prosecution pending involving 29 subjects who are charged with 43 separate violations including attempted Sabotage, Destruction of Government Property, Anti-Riot Law violation, Civil Rights violations, violation of the National Firearms Act, Interstate Transportation of Stolen Motor Vehicles, and Conspiracy. In connection with one of the above investigations, one subject in October, 1970, was found guilty and sentenced to five years, which sentence is being appealed, and another subject in November, 1970, pleaded guilty and is scheduled to be sentenced sometime in January, 1971.

SECTION CHIEF W. A. BRANIGAN
ESPIONAGE SECTION

1. Persona Non Grata and other Removal Actions

Boris Mikhaylovich Orekhov was a correspondent in New York City for the Soviet newspaper "Pravda" from June, 1968, to July 7, 1970. Based on the results of FBI investigation, on the latter date he was expelled after the Department of State informed the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D. C., on June 24, 1970, that Orekhov had engaged in activities incompatible with his status as a journalist. His departure from the United States was requested. Orekhov departed July 7, 1970, depriving the Soviets of the presence in the U. S. of a very active intelligence officer.

In a similar case, also as a result of our investigations, on November 6, 1970, State informed the Soviets of the expulsion from the U. S. of Leonid Nikolayevich Zhegalov, a Washington, D. C., correspondent for the Soviet news agency "Tass." This action was in direct reciprocity for the expulsion from the USSR of a U. S. correspondent.

In an interesting and successful counterintelligence operation, the Soviets were forced to remove Yevgeniy Y. Yelshin, a KGB officer, from the United Nations Secretariat and send him home. Yelshin had been in contact with sources under our control in the aerospace field. In September, 1970, the "arrest" of one of our sources during a meet with Yelshin was staged. Subsequently, Yelshin was contacted by our Agents concerning his intelligence activities. Although Yelshin had not completed the term of his contract with the UN Secretariat, he returned home with his family, at Soviet expense, on 11/1/70.

In a pending case, our investigation has established violation of U. S. immigration laws by an individual known to be a KGB agent. He has denied affiliation with the Soviets, but has admitted immigration fraud. INS and State have initiated action to have him dismissed from the UN Secretariat and expelled from the U. S.

Information we furnished to the Department of State apparently has prevented the return to the United States of two Polish commercial officials formerly assigned to New York City. We told State how the one, a Polish military intelligence officer, with the assistance of the other had since mid-1969 been very active in trying to purchase electronic equipment of defense significance and ship it to Poland in violation of export licensing requirements. On 3/27/70, State informed the Polish Ambassador to the U. S. that the activities of these two Poles must cease. Both left the country. We have subsequently learned through our sources that one, expected to return to U. S., has been reassigned and will not return. The other has not returned. Thus, the usefulness of two Polish agents in the U. S. was destroyed by our investigations.

2. Double Agents

One measure of our effectiveness in countering the activities of the intelligence personnel among the hundreds of communist bloc representatives in the U. S. is our ability to continue to develop and operate double agents against hostile agents. This is a matter of vital concern and continuous attention in the Espionage Section. Since the last inspection we have continued to improve our position in this regard, as the following chart shows:

It is obvious that despite the sophistication and security-consciousness of the Soviet Intelligence Services, our efforts to direct double agents against them continue to meet with conspicuous success. Examples of the productivity of our double agent operations appear elsewhere herein.

Some declines in the number of double agent operations against the intelligence services of countries other than the USSR handled by this section have occurred since the last inspection. In part, this may be a reflection of a change of emphasis in direction of our efforts, which has resulted in a reduction of the number of supervisors assigned to satellite, Albanian and Yugoslav matters. (In 4/70, nine full-time and one part-time supervisor were handling this work; at present there are four supervisors assigned to this work full time and three part time.) However, reference to the above chart shows that the bulk of the drop in the number of active and potential double agents has been in the Czech field. This is attributable primarily to two factors.

Following the occupation of Czechoslovakia (CSSR) by Soviet bloc armed forces in August, 1968, which resulted in the fall of the liberal Alexander Dubcek regime, the Communist Party of the CSSR began a critical analysis of all party members who had supported Dubcek. This analysis included individuals assigned to diplomatic posts in Washington and New York and resulted in the recall of about two-thirds of such personnel. A number were expelled or suspended from the Party. Of those recalled, several have not yet been replaced. The Chief Czech Intelligence Service (CIS) Resident in Washington was one of the latter. An extremely well placed source has reported that the purge, which began early in 1970, caused great anxiety among all the Czech personnel in Washington and New York and that morale dropped to rock bottom and, as consequence, little intelligence work was carried on during the current year. Naturally, with the CIS agents missing or dormant, our opportunities to target double agents against them diminished. This unsettled political situation, together with the overt defection of a CIS officer in Washington on 6/29/70, resulted in the CIS assuming a defensive posture and maintaining contact only with persons considered by them to be fully trustworthy. Indicative of the quality of our remaining double agents is the fact that CIS has held meets with two of our sources in the immediate past.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/13/71

The above chart, showing numbers of double agents at the time of the last inspection and at present tells only part of the story. It does not show that there is a continual process of review and analysis of double agent matters and close attention to field activity in this regard. We are constantly striving to weed out any "deadwood" and to introduce fresh blood into our counterespionage efforts. Presentation of precise figures on the turnover among double agents during the period since the last inspection is not feasible, because various offices have different reporting dates on which they inform the Bureau of additions and deletions of double agents in the various nationality fields. However, the following available figures clearly indicate desirable turnover. In the Soviet field, from March 1, 1970, to December 1, 1970, we added 41 active and potential double agents; a net increase of 30. In the other countries currently supervised in the Espionage Section, we added 28 active and potential double agents and dropped 17, a net gain of 11. Several of those dropped were used up in counterintelligence actions which terminated their active usefulness, and some left the country.

3. Counterintelligence and Other Significant Operations

In our eyes, counterintelligence activity is activity designed to disrupt and hamper the operations of an opposition intelligence service. Although it may involve harassment at times, it is for the most part much more serious and worthy of our efforts only when it inflicts actual damage on the effectiveness of the enemy. To this end, we employ our own capabilities and, whenever indicated and possible, those of other U. S. and other Government agencies. Following are some examples of this activity since the last inspection.

Upon instruction from us, one of our double agents told his Soviet handler, Vladimir Azaryan, an Amtorg Trading Corporation employee, that the FBI interviewed him and he admitted he had been contacting Azaryan and also his predecessor, Yuri Kitaev, a United Nations Secretariat employee. The double agent blamed Azaryan's ineptness for FBI interest. Azaryan obviously reported the matter to his superiors. Shortly thereafter, both Soviets left the United States, thus disrupting the Soviet Committee for State Security (KGB).

As a result of Bureau counterintelligence action, an Aeroflot official who was a GRU officer was hurriedly removed from the U. S. under Soviet guard by the Soviets. In addition, an Intourist official, a suspected KGB officer, was also recalled from the U. S. because he was also blamed by the Soviets for the security breach involving the aforementioned Aeroflot official. Thus, one counterintelligence operation caused the removal from the U. S. of two Soviet Intelligence Service operatives.

In another operation a Soviet official assigned to Washington, a known KGB officer, was the principal in a Bureau double agent operation. With State Department clearance we confronted him during a meet with the double agent. He rejected our initial invitation to defect but analysis of information subsequently received indicated that he had not reported the approach. Again we contacted him and that time he acknowledged that he had personal problems and agreed to be contacted in the future. He has returned to the USSR on home leave and has agreed to meet with us again when he comes back to the U. S. There are indications that the delay in his return is due to his wife's illness. This operation continues to offer the possibility of his recruitment either here or abroad.

On the basis of information developed through one of our operations, two Argentinians were arrested in October, 1970, in Argentina as illegal Soviet agents. Our information is that they were targeted to ultimately operate in and against the U. S. Our effective handling of this matter stopped them before they even entered this country.

Based on information received from a well placed source, we recently identified a U. S. agent of the Soviets. In initial contact he has indicated a desire to cooperate with us and we plan to use him in a counterintelligence action against his Soviet principal. In another case, we developed sufficient information concerning the intelligence operations of Yuriy P. Vetrov that the U. S. Ambassador to the UN was able to inform his Soviet counterpart concerning Vetrov's activities. Vetrov was not the subject of persona non grata action because State did not want to give the Soviets the opportunity to expel one of our diplomats from Moscow and Vetrov was due to leave the U. S. However, the detailed information in our ambassador's possession must have caused considerable disruption of Soviet intelligence activities in the United Nations when our ambassador disclosed our knowledge of it.

By letter to the Director 6/10/70, the U. S. Air Force expressed its appreciation for the invaluable contribution of Bureau personnel in supporting an OSI counterintelligence operation involving an East German Intelligence Service (EGIS) officer who came to the U. S. to service an Air Force double agent. We had been cooperating with Air Force in this case since 1965.

Information was obtained by one of our double agents against EGIS that EGIS has for some time been interested in penetrating State Department and is particularly interested in a State Department employee with whom our source is acquainted. We have furnished pertinent details to State and in December, 1970, State indicated that it was taking action to defensively brief the employee without pinpointing or jeopardizing our source. Such action should put us one step ahead in any attempt by EGIS or another bloc intelligence service to approach the employee.

On July 1, 1970, the State Department announced that Antonin Nenko, former Second Secretary, Czech Embassy, Washington, had defected and requested political asylum in the U. S. Nenko's action caused the termination of a highly successful and valuable operation we had been conducting against the CIS for some time. Nenko, a major in the Scientific and Technical Department of the CIS, had been working exclusively in the intelligence field since 1956, both in the United States and abroad. Prior to his overt defection, Nenko had been under our control furnishing detailed, highly significant information concerning Czech operations against the U. S. Although his overt defection is public knowledge, his activities as our defector-in-place have not been revealed, but the valuable information he furnished has been made available to interested Government agencies.

In 1969 a Hungarian Intelligence Service (HIS) agent came to the U. S. as an immigrant. He has been under FBI control almost since his arrival. He was sent by HIS with instructions that he would ultimately take over the direction of HIS illegal agents in the United States. He has had several meetings with HIS handlers and the operation involving him includes the use of clandestine communications, meets in third countries, secret message drops and other sophisticated espionage techniques.

Not all of our responsibilities in the Espionage Section involve activity against hostile intelligence services. Among the immigrants from communist countries are many whose hostility to their former communist homelands is such, that given the opportunity, they would take violent action against representatives of their countries of origin. We have effected coverage of these nationality groups designed to permit us to alert responsible outside agencies to threats from such people. One example of our effectiveness in this regard occurred in connection with the visit of Yugoslav President Tito to Belgium in October, 1970. The Belgian Security Service (BSS) requested our cooperation in its efforts to protect Tito. In November, 1970, through Legat, Paris, we received a letter thanking the Bureau for its invaluable assistance in contributing to its successful handling, without serious incident, of the Tito visit. Because of our extensive coverage of anti-Tito Yugoslavs in the U. S., we had been able to furnish considerable information to the Belgians on possible troublemakers and to furnish prompt responses to specific inquiries.

Returning to our more usual counterespionage work, we developed and operated as a defector-in-place from July, 1969, until November, 1970, a Soviet official assigned to a Soviet establishment in New York City. This source, although not affiliated with Soviet intelligence, was able to furnish information of counterintelligence value and to identify members of the Soviet intelligence community. The source left the United States in November, 1970, but subsequently our New York Office received a communication from the source through a special channel. The communication indicated a possibility that the source may be able to cooperate with the U. S. Government in the future. This possibility is, of course, dependent upon the source's future Soviet assignments.

In October, 1970, the Internal Security Division of the Department informed us that the Interdepartmental Committee on Internal Security was concerned with the espionage and intelligence activities of Soviets employed at the United Nations Secretariat (UNSEC). We were requested to prepare a paper concerning such activities. The paper was furnished to the Department and to State during November, 1970. We have now been informed that based on our information U. S. Ambassador Phillips at the United Nations is considering placing certain restrictions in effect concerning the travel of Soviet nationals assigned to UNSEC. Should this take place, our efforts in this matter could definitely lead to more effective and efficient coverage of these Soviet intelligence personnel by the Bureau.

Coverage of a Soviet establishment, Washington, D.C., revealed Soviets had constructed a ten-foot-square opening in the roof, covered by a door on rollers. Monitoring detected a pattern of opening of the roof. Use of sophisticated laboratory technical equipment enabled the National Security Agency (NSA) to determine Soviets were using the opening in the roof in an operation to improve accuracy of guidance system of Soviet Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles targeted against the United States. NSA and the Defense Intelligence Agency have stated that this extremely valuable positive intelligence had not previously been developed any place in the world.

Another counterintelligence operation which has been conducted against the Soviets since 1966 took a novel turn since the last inspection. We had been using this operation to pass disinformation to the Soviets using material provided by the Air Force. In May, 1970, we arranged for a Bureau Agent to meet with a Soviet, in place of the former double agent. This May meeting was the product of prior arrangements engineered to have the new Soviet handler accept our Agent as his predecessor's former contact. The Soviet who appeared at the May meeting had not been previously known to be an intelligence officer. He gave the double agent instructions for future operations and we continued to pass Air Force material. The Joint Chiefs of Staff are interested and involved in supporting this operation. Since we substituted an FBI Agent for the original double agent, we have obtained sophisticated espionage paraphernalia not previously acquired in our other operations against the Soviets and we have received over $5,000 of Soviet funds.

In another sensitive double agent operation, conducted against the Soviets for almost 12 years, we have been passing disinformation supplied by the Joint Chief of Staff to the Soviets. Army analysis of the results of this operation indicates that it has caused the Soviets to commit one and a half billion dollars to an attempt to counteract the purported U. S. military capability described in the material we have passed. As recently as December, 1970, word has been received from the Soviets that they plan to continue this operation and may use an illegal agent to do so. We have also received from the Soviets in this operation over $42,000.

4. Foreign Agents Registration Act (FARA) and Other Prosecutive Action

On April 17, 1970, the Internal Security Division of the Department, based on our investigation, agreed to solicit the registration of Robert Charles Owens III under the FARA, as an agent of the USSR.

On October 21, 1970, the registration of Endre Kertesz under Title 50, U. S. Code, Sections 851-857, in which he described his assignment for the Hungarian Intelligence Service (HIS), was secured by the Department. This was the result of our investigation of Kertesz, a Hungarian immigrant who admitted he had been given an assignment by HIS to gather information concerning missile sites in the U. S.

In our exploitation of a defector from the Yugoslav Intelligence Service (YIS), we obtained information that the Yugoslavs had recruited a French military intelligence employee. Based on our information and follow-up investigation by French authorities, the French official, Eugene Rousseau, was convicted of espionage in April, 1970. In December, 1970, the Supreme Court in Paris, France, upheld his sentence of 15 years.

5. Recoveries

In many of our double agent operations the double agents receive payments from the foreign intelligence service well in excess of our expenses in conducting the operations. As such operations are concluded, we turn over the balance of monies received to the U. S. Treasury. Since the last inspection, we have turned over to the Treasury, as a result of these operations, over $16,000.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

SECTION CHIEF G. C. MOORE
RACIAL INTELLIGENCE SECTION

The key to developing racial information on a regular and current basis is the operation and development of quality informants along with intensified investigation. In this regard we have increased the number of our racial informants since the last Inspection by 1,699 which brings our total number of informants to 7,184. In addition, we are continually intensifying our investigations and in line with our need for closer coverage of key black extremists, we instituted by airtel dated 12-23-70 the Key Black Extremist Program.

Racial informants have been furnishing a steady flow of valuable racial information which information has brought about the apprehension of badly wanted extremist fugitives, the confiscation of explosives and firearms in the possession of extremists, the prevention of violence and the saving of lives. In addition, these informants furnished valuable racial intelligence on a regular basis which intelligence included information concerning foreign influence, the Black Panther Party (BPP) underground as well as discussions by extremists as to South American style kidnapping of government officials and threats to kill the President.

It is significant to note that since the last Inspection racial informants have been responsible for bringing about the arrest of 510 individuals, 342 of which were local arrests and 168 Federal arrests as well as being responsible for the recovery of $330,179.03.

In order to improve our investigations and racial informant coverage in addition to our regular supervision furnished from the Seat of Government we held a two-day conference with racial supervisors from 39 field offices plus two legal attaches. The topics discussed at the conference covered the entire spectrum of the problems inherent in investigating and developing informants in the BPP as well as related extremist matters. These topics included detailed discussion concerning the need for full penetration of extremist groups to obtain information concerning terroristic activities which may be aimed against Government officials. In addition, the conference took note that maximum attention should be given to the extremist activities in Canada in connection with our investigations as well as intensifying our investigations having international ramifications.

The above items, along with other items affecting counterintelligence against extremists, the BPP underground activities and intensified investigations were fully discussed. Concrete suggestions were obtained from this conference and were subjects of individual memoranda which were approved thereby increasing the efficiency of our investigations and informant development.

Some of the above-approved suggestions are as follows:

1. Proposal to identify escape routes utilized by black extremists to flee the United States by utilizing a Bureau racial informant as a decoy.

2. Intensify BPP underground investigations including making available to select field offices copies of the film "The Battle of Algiers," which sets forth guerrilla warfare tactics used successfully by the National Liberation Front and which is now being studied and copied by the BPP.

3. Granting approval for Special Agents in Charge on their own initiative to authorize use of concealed recording devices by a Special Agent or proven source in covering public appearances by black and New Left extremists except where such appearances are at educational institutions.

4. Obtaining approval to reproduce an article by Victor Riesel, noted labor columnist, which article was highly critical of the BPP and set forth a proposal by a union member that unions affiliated with the freight handlers who handle the BPP newspaper shipments refuse to handle these papers.

5. Obtaining approval for a racial and New Left extremist activities In-Service classes.

6. Obtaining approval for the deletion of the Black Extremist Bureau Fugitive List from the Black Nationalist Movement in the United States Racial Calendar and transmitting this to the field by separate letter in order to give greater emphasis to these fugitive investigations.

7. Obtaining approval for revising the Agitator Index by deleting those individuals who are also included on the Security Index.

In addition to the above, there are other suggestions made by the attendees at the conference and approved by the Director which will assist in streamlining the overall investigative and informant development operation as well as making these operations more effective.

Some of the concrete examples of our informant and investigative accomplishments can be seen in the following:

Through our investigations, we have currently identified and closely scrutinized the activities of the 43 branches of the BPP which covers an area of 31 states and the District of Columbia. These investigations reveal that the BPP membership has increased to 1,000 hard-core members which is an increase of 250 in the last six months.

As a result of our investigations and informant penetration along with the cooperation with local authorities, 408 BPP members have been arrested on either Federal or local charges during 1970.

Racial informants in the Los Angeles and Chicago Divisions were successful in penetrating the BPP underground and now will be in a position to furnish information on BPP underground activities.

In connection with underground activities, a Dallas racial informant furnished the information which brought about the arrest of Elmer Gerard Pratt, a Los Angeles BPP leader and an alleged leader in the underground. Pratt's arrest along with the arrest of four other of his associates enabled us to obtain possession of documents apparently relating to the BPP underground and should give us knowledge concerning it and the possible identities of others involved in this underground operation.

In early June, 1970, efforts were made to establish a National Committee to Combat Fascism (NCCF) chapter, which is another name for a BPP chapter in Tampa, Florida. Through aggressive investigation, including thorough interrogation of all known members, the development of a top-level informant and effective use of information provided by this informant, Tampa Office was successful in decimating this group to the point where it is now floundering, nameless and without leadership and there is no indication of support for the BPP in that area.

The Black Afro Militant Movement (BAMM) was organized in the Miami Division in the early part of 1970. The leader of this group was Alfred Dwight Amos Featherston, an articulate black extremist and an admitted communist who has in the past, visited Fidel Castro in Cuba. Through the outstanding informant coverage developed by the Miami Office and the aggressive investigative techniques used, this organization for all intent and purposes, rendered inactive by the latter part of 1970. During 1970, BAMM engaged in an intensive recruiting program in the Miami area directed toward young blacks, formed an action group which participated in a number of fire bombings in the Miami area including one such bombing at the University of Miami. Through informant coverage and other investigative activities, the Miami Division developed an excellent case involving the teaching and demonstrating of explosive devices and in December the Departmental Attorneys presented this matter to a Federal Grand Jury in Miami resulting in Featherston, Charles Reiley and Jerome Trapp being indicted under the new antiriot laws dealing with the teaching and making of incendiary devices. This is the first such case brought under the new statute charging black extremists with this particular violation.

A Detroit racial informant furnished advanced information regarding planned ambush of Detroit police officers which, when furnished to Detroit Police Department, enabled them to take necessary action to prevent injury or death to the officers and resulted in the arrest of eight persons and the seizure of a cache of weapons. Informant also furnished information resulting in the location and confiscation by Bureau Agents of approximately 50 sticks of dynamite available to BPP and likely resulted in saving of lives and preventing possible property damage.

A Chicago racial informant furnished information which identified an individual who is a member of the BPP as the person who raped and shot a middle aged white housewife and then pistol whipped her husband in Chicago on 12-25-70. The same Chicago informant furnished information which resulted in the identification of an individual who was responsible for the murder of a police officer in Carbondale, Illinois.

A Springfield ghetto informant furnished information concerning an individual who was attempting to sell explosives for $2,000. This information enabled local authorities to apprehend the individual and confiscate 100 lbs. of explosives.

A Boston racial informant made a verbatim recording of a speech by a BPP member where he indicated the Panthers should utilize South American style kidnappings in order to effect the release of Panther political prisoners.

A Norfolk racial informant furnished daily information relating to a demonstration at Norfolk State College 5/8-18/70. During this demonstration she reported the Student Government President at the college threatened to kill President Nixon and observed another student burning the American flag. Based on this information, Secret Service is considering prosecution against the Student Government President and local police are prosecuting the student who burned the flag.

A New York informant furnished the identities of black extremists who were scheduled to depart the U.S. for Al Fatah camp in the Middle East for possible guerrilla training.

In discussing the accomplishments of the Racial Intelligence Section, it is felt that comment should be made concerning the contributions regularly being made by the Inspection Division during their analysis of the racial investigations in the various field divisions. In addition to acting upon information furnished to them by this Section, the Inspection Staff through their on-the-spot review of racial intelligence matters in the field are often able to detect weaknesses not apparent at the Seat of Government and offer constructive assistance to the office involved in strengthening their operations.

In reviewing the racial surveys prepared by the Inspection Division, we regularly note concrete guidance being afforded field offices. Examples can be found in recent instructions given during the inspection of the Mobile Office to direct two existing informants to seek membership in the Nation of Islam (NOI). These instructions were implemented and both informants currently report on NOI activities and have membership applications pending.

During a recent Cleveland inspection, the Inspectors gave instructions for the Cleveland Office to develop informants in a leadership position with the Cleveland National Committee to Combat Fascism (NCCF). As a result of these instructions, Cleveland has been successful in developing two informants within this organization both of whom are furnishing valuable information on the structural composition of the organization, staff members and proposed activities. One of these informants is a member of the security cadre of the Cleveland NCCF and as such has furnished valuable information concerning firearms in possession of members of this group.

Racial intelligence gathered through our informants and investigations makes up a major portion of the Bureau's sophisticated document which is disseminated to the White House and other high level Government agencies. This document captioned "FBI Summary of Extremist Activities" furnishes the White House and other agencies with a digest of the racial picture.

The quality of our racial informants can also be judged by the fact that since the last Inspection, 26 Special Agents in various field divisions were recommended for incentive awards for their work in developing informants and 15 racial informants were given bonus awards for valuable information they furnished and services performed.

SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL
NATIONALITIES INTELLIGENCE SECTION

There is attached a summary of significant accomplishments of this Section set forth by individual Units. Specific tangible accomplishments resulting from programs supervised by this Section are outlined in write-ups separately submitted and will not be repeated herein.

Nationality Unit

Israeli and Middle East Investigations

Prior to the beginning of the 25th Session of the United Nations General Assembly, this Unit recognized the vulnerability of the large concentration of foreign diplomats attending the Session to acts of terrorism and demonstrations originating with groups dissenting with the incumbent regimes of the countries represented. We issued appropriate instructions to the field to alert sources and provide information immediately which would indicate a threat to the physical security or well being of these dignitaries who were coming to the United States for the Commemorative Session of the United Nations. Subsequent to this action, the White House similarly recognized the potential danger of embarrassment to the United States as host country for the United Nations if incidents occurred, and called on the Bureau to cooperate fully with United States Secret Service to uncover such incidents and provide full security for the chiefs of state and missions resident in New York City during the commemorative celebration. We established a system of liaison with United States Secret Service command post in New York City, as well as intensifying our liaison with New York City police and United States Mission to the United Nations. A flow of information from our sources was furnished to the interested agencies locally and to the intelligence community at a national level which resulted in laudatory comments by Secret Service liaison personnel who commented favorably on the Bureau's assistance in completing the Presidentially ordered mission of United States Secret Service in providing security for the officials mentioned.

During the same period of the 25th General Assembly of the United Nations, we furnished a continuing flow of information to the United States United Nations Mission regarding the the tense Middle East situation and developments related to peace talks instituted by the United States and carried out by United Nations officials. The data furnished to the United States United Nations Mission resulted in the United States Ambassador to the United Nations, Charles W. Yost, advising the Director by letter dated 11/13/70 of his desire to pay special tribute to Agents of this Bureau who had provided him with swift and accurate reports which he had found helpful and which provided him with privileged insight and perspective into the maneuverings during the 25th Session.

In the Israeli field we have continued to furnish information from our sensitive coverage under a program of dissemination which has been assigned the security designation of "SCOPE." "SCOPE" information is furnished only to select individuals at the White House and to a previously cleared chain of command within agencies of the intelligence community. These data relate to attempts by officials of the Israeli Government to obtain favorable reaction within United States Government circles for Israeli Government support including economic and military assistance. The personalities involved in these dealings have included prominent members of the United States Congress as well as individuals within the executive arm of our Government. Favorable comment has been forthcoming from Dr. Kissinger at the White House, from the Secretary of State and from other dignitaries within the intelligence community who have been privy to this "SCOPE" information relative to its timeliness and value to them in formulating policy decisions within our Government.

Miscellaneous Programs

This Unit has the supervisory responsibility for extremely sensitive operations undertaken in cooperation with the National Security Agency (NSA) designed to enhance our nation's capability to infiltrate the diplomatic communications of foreign governments. Our first significant breakthrough in this area occurred in 1968 and resulted in NSA estimate of $200,000 annually in evaluating the product of our coverage. We have realized continued success in this sensitive area with two additional successes since the last inspection for a total of four nationality areas being totally covered by the Bureau at this time. Dr. Louis W. Tordella, Acting Director, NSA, by letter dated 11/10/70, commented most favorably on the productivity of our program in this area, noting that our coverage provided information of priority concern to the NSA which would be otherwise unobtainable to the United States Government. In view of the extreme sensitivity of this information, it is suggested that either I or my Number One Man be consulted for further details.

In the miscellaneous espionage area a decided accomplishment was attained with close of investigation relating to Vernon Edward Thompson of Santa Barbara, California. In September and October, 1970, high officials of the intelligence and military communities, cabinet members, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and Mr. Herbert J. Klein of the White House Staff and other highly placed United States Government officials began receiving cryptogram messages which, after decryption, disclosed implication of bombings of certain major cities on 11/29/70. Content of the messages revealed that the writer was privy to intelligence information and possibly had knowledge of United States nuclear weapon deployment. The receipt of these messages was the object of extreme concern by the recipients and resulted in our investigation.

Through outstandingly aggressive and imaginative investigation and with a dearth of investigative leads, the Los Angeles Office successfully identified the typewriter on which the messages were being prepared as being located in a library in the Santa Barbara area. Discreet and productive surveillance was conducted, which resulted in identification of Thompson and his neutralization as a point of anxiety and concern on the part of the highest level of officials in the executive branch and in the intelligence community. We are now awaiting a decision as to prosecution after review of the details of this matter by the Criminal Division of the Department.

The President has noted the paucity of positive intelligence information available to him for high-level policy decisions. We have recognized our responsibilities in this area through intensified coverage in the nationality fields supervised by this Unit as illustrated in the increase of establishments being afforded sensitive coverage and through the increase of our live informant coverage targeted against the nations involved. Three of the six new foreign liaison posts established recently by the Bureau involve countries within the area of responsibility of this Unit and information from those liaison posts should add to the production of our foreign intelligence information in response to President Nixon's requirements.

CUBAN UNIT

Our sustained pressure on Cuban Intelligence Service (CuIS) operations in the U.S. resulted in the recall to Cuba of three very experienced CuIS officers in April, 1970. They had been serving as officials of the Cuban Mission to the United Nations (CMUN) and their withdrawal was in line with information provided by a CIA source to the effect that the Cuban Government planned to recall any personnel whom it believed were susceptible to persona non grata action by the U.S. State Department.

Based on FBI information, a leading Puerto Rican terrorist in New York City (Carlos Feliciano Vasquez) was apprehended by the New York City Police Department on May 16, 1970, while in the process of placing a bomb in an Armed Forces recruiting station.

After being confronted by us in early August, 1970, a very attractive and sexually permissive employee of the South African Embassy, Washington, D.C., admitted her deep involvement with the CuIS. She had furnished the Cubans data concerning American and foreign officials with whom she was in social contact. After becoming sexually involved with a State Department protocol officer in March, 1970, she was able to gain entree to diplomatic functions where she met ranking officials and employees of the U.S. and foreign governments. Our investigation indicated she was unable to establish contact with her principal to furnish information concerning the dignitaries she met following her involvement with the protocol officer and she voluntarily returned home to South Africa shortly after our interview of her. Her name is Jennifer Enid Miles.

A San Juan Office source was primarily responsible for developing information leading to the conviction on 8/26/70 of four Socialist Workers Party (PSO) leaders in Puerto Rico. The information developed by our source enabled the Police of Puerto Rico to arrest a total of nine PSO members. The PSO has been active in the wave of bombings taking place in Puerto Rico and the arrests were for violations of the Puerto Rican Explosives Law.

During the Summer of 1970 a counterintelligence program aimed at creating dissension was instituted by our San Juan Office against the activist Puerto Rican Socialist League (LSP). On October 10, 1970, a high-placed Miami security informant reported the LSP was showing signs of grinding to a halt and that it recently experienced a severe split away from its youth group. Our counterintelligence move was directly responsible for the havoc occurring in the LSP.

As a result of disclosures made by Jennifer Enid Miles and other corroborative evidence developed by New York and Washington Field Office, we were able to have State Department declare persona non grata the two highest ranking CuIS officials in the U.S. on October 9, 1970. Counsellor Rogelio Rodriguez Lopez and First Secretary Orlando Prendes Gutierrez of the CMUN were the individuals involved and they made a total of seven against whom similar action has been taken by State Department since February, 1968, based on FBI investigations of CMUN personnel.

On October 10, 1970, Filiberto Ojeda Rios, a known Cuban espionage agent and a Bureau fugitive, was apprehended by FBI agents and the Police of Puerto Rico. Ojeda, leader of the Puerto Rican Armed Revolutionary Independence Movement (MIRA), had been the prime mover behind the wave of violence and terrorist bombings which has occurred for many months in Puerto Rico. Documents found at his hideout definitely confirmed the close collaboration between the Cuban Government and Puerto Rican terrorist groups.

On October 19, 1970, an intensification program was instituted by our Miami Office based on instructions from the Bureau aimed at identifying CuIS agents in the Miami area who are believed to be tipping off Castro concerning infiltration efforts by anti-Castro refugees in the U.S. A coordinator had been made responsible for directing these efforts and progress has been made in eliminating certain suspects as well as developing valuable background regarding other logical suspects.

In December, 1970, an actual member of the clandestine MIRA organization, previously mentioned, was developed as an informant. This is the first informant to be in a position to get inside information regarding the group's plans and we previously had to depend on "fringe" sources to cover this very dangerous terrorist group.

Since our intensification program directed against the CMUN was begun in February, 1970, we have been able to institute some sensitive coverage for a period of six months, have installed equipment which can monitor handie-talkie radios used by CuIS personnel, have learned that CuIS personnel carry arms at all times, and have developed sources in a position to keep us advised as to the activities of such personnel on a 24-hour basis.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

MIDDLE AND SOUTH AMERICAN UNIT

The President and other policy makers have a continuing interest in current political matters affecting Central and South America. We have provided officials in the Executive Branch of the Government on a continuing basis with information concerning the activities of political figures and leftist groups in a number of Latin American nations. Of particular significance was information concerning the activities of Arnulfo Arias Madrid, deposed Panamanian President residing in Miami, Florida, who is planning the overthrow of the current Panamanian Government. In an effort to provide the President and other policy makers with even more such information, we have recently expanded our coverage in the Chilean, Peruvian and Bolivian fields.

The unit continues to be successful in thwarting plans of militant anti-Castro groups which have sought to infiltrate Cuba and to attack ships and property of foreign nations engaged in trade with Cuba. Successful development of key informants who have infiltrated anti-Castro groups under Bureau direction has enabled the Bureau to keep abreast of their activities and often to have advance knowledge of the plans of these groups enabling us to take appropriate action to prevent such activities. An outstanding example of our success in this area was the thwarting of two militant anti-Castro attempts in July, 1970, to infiltrate Cuba and the seizure of boats, arms, ammunition and miscellaneous military equipment valued at $64,500 by U. S. authorities.

THE CHINESE UNIT 4-E

As a result of our close cooperation with RCMP, that agency, in 12/70, provided us with details of one of its double agent operations which clearly depicted intensification of Chinese communist (Chicom) intelligence efforts directed against the United States. We learned that the Chicoms have funded travel of the RCMP source to New York and Washington, D.C., where the source undertook to fulfill intelligence contacts and development of data for the Chicoms. As a result of getting this information, we learned that Chicoms desire to lay the foundation to get "our people" (Chicoms) into the United States under suitable cover, probably when the Chicom Embassy opens in Canada in the very near future. The Director's letter to the Commissioner, RCMP, expressed appreciation for RCMP information.

During August, 1970, three of our Chinese informants made contacts with Chicom intelligence representatives in Hong Kong and Canada, and it is believed they were affirmatively assessed for recruitment. Another source has made several trips to Vancouver, Canada, and San Francisco where he has made strides to penetrate Chicom groups which would be essential bases for future Chicom operations directed against the United States.

In August, 1970, National Security Agency (NSA) advised of increased interceptions of radio transmissions from Red China directed to illegal agents possibly in the United States. Immediate instructions were directed to appropriate field offices and efforts are under way to pinpoint areas of reception with the expectation that illegal agents will be uncovered.

Investigations have developed data indicating possible Chicom intelligence net formed in New York City utilizing Chinese seamen deserters as mail drops and/or couriers.

We identified a Chinese alien residing in New Jersey as an individual who provided an intelligence report to the New China News Agency (NCNA) representative in Canada. The NCNA representative has previously been identified as a Chicom Intelligence Service officer. The alien indicated he had a sub-agent working for him in New York City.

In view of the apparent upsurge in Chicom activity we furnished a detailed memorandum to Dr. Kissinger at the White House and to the Attorney General under date of 9/30/70. Our memorandum outlined the recent activities of Chicom in the intelligence field and pointed out increasing Chicom support for New Left and Black militant revolutionaries in this country.

We furnished information to State, Central Intelligence Agency and Secret Service which led to strengthening of guard and security around CHIANG Ching-Kuo, Deputy Prime Minister of Nationalist China and son of CHIANG Kai-shek, who was in the United States during April, 1970. As a result of this increased security, an attempt by two anti-Chinese nationalist individuals to assassinate CHIANG was thwarted.

Our investigations of the World United Formosans for Independence (WUFI) and Taiwan Independence Movement (TIM) developed information of growing Chicom interest in these groups indicating Chicoms might desire to cooperate with them to bring about the downfall of the Chinese Nationalist Government.

Positive information has been developed regarding the intelligence activities of pro-Chicom individuals assigned to the United Nations Secretariat. Our close coverage determined that the three most active of these individuals recently traveled to Europe, and coverage of their activities has been requested through contacts of Legat, Bern.

We have initiated an effort in four key field offices to develop sources among ethnic Chinese scientists having security clearance and who are logical Chicom targets. We were assisted in this effort by Defense Industrial Security Office.

We brought to attention of the White House and Secretary of State Rogers information regarding an anti-Chinese nationalist individual who had escaped house arrest in Taiwan, fled to Sweden and who later applied for U. S. visa. His presence in the United States could have adversely affected United States-Chinese Nationalist relations. Secretary of State Rogers took personal note of this information in a letter to the Director 10/28/70.

Other investigations indicated intensified Chicom interest in and support of radicals in the United States.

SPECIAL COORDINATION UNIT

During December, 1970, six new foreign offices were established. As a result of personnel moves, 19 Special Agents and 16 clerks were transferred to foreign offices each requiring passport, visa, and Department of State and Embassy notification. The numerous contacts with State and the outgoing letters (two for each person transferred) were handled in this Unit, together with the memoranda and notification to the White House regarding various phases of the operation. A special one-week indoctrination session was arranged and attended by most of the new Special Agent personnel. The Director's instructions that the expansion take place were issued 11-20-70. Each of the new offices was open and operating during December, 1970.

Through liaison with appropriate officials at the White House, the interest of those officials in proposed legislation which would provide increased retirement benefits for FBI personnel has been maintained. The advice of these officials concerning channels to be used in promoting this legislation was secured and has been followed.

Since the last inspection, SA Haynes has expedited and coordinated visits of the Director to the White House on approximately six occasions. This has included meeting the Director, taking him to the meeting site, introducing him to persons present if not known to him, and assuring his return to his car by the most direct route following the meeting.

Through carefully controlled contacts with the Commission on Campus Unrest, it was possible to secure a copy of their report in advance in order to insure that there were no unfavorable comments concerning the FBI. The left-wing staff of this Commission was very active in areas of direct interest to the Bureau, and SA Haynes was able to avoid any conflict and there were no derogatory references to our work made by this group.

Direct personal liaison was established during the period with Washington representatives of two additional countries: The Union of South Africa and Japan. The representative of the Bureau for State Security of the former and of the National Police Agency of the latter are now working directly with representatives of the Unit.

Swiss Police asked Bureau assistance in establishing the location of Yoseph Gargy, w.a., who had secured more than $400,000 in an armed robbery of a jewelry store in Zurich. The loot was recovered in Italy, and investigation under the Foreign Police Cooperation character resulted in the location of Gargy in the United States. We arranged for his arrest by other authorities so that he might be held for extradition.

During the calendar year 1970, Agents on the Foreign Liaison Desk handled 822 foreign visitors. These included not only special tours of Bureau facilities but also, in many instances, special conferences with Bureau officials, including the Director, and other courtesies for these contacts of our Legal Attache personnel.

SECURITY INDEX PROGRAM 4-H
BASIC REVOLUTIONARY ORGANIZATIONS

BACKGROUND AND DATE OF INCEPTION

Studies pertaining to the handling of individuals who in time of an emergency would represent a potential threat to the national security began prior to World War II. The actual program began in June, 1940, and dealt mainly with lists of individuals considered for detention in the event of a threat to the national security.

SCOPE AND DESIRED OBJECTIVES

This program is field-wide in scope. The goal of the Security Index (SI) Program is the identification of individuals who because of their membership and activity and/or association with subversive organizations are dangerous or potentially dangerous to the internal security of the country. The program includes the collection of sufficient information relating to the activities of such individuals to justify their apprehension and detention in the event of a national emergency. Another goal of the SI is to maintain it in a current status in the event immediate implementation is necessary to minimize possibilities of espionage, sabotage and subversion.

POSITIVE RESULTS ACHIEVED SINCE LAST INSPECTION

By way of background, in February, 1969, as a matter of temporary expediency, the Executives Conference approved a moratorium on certain Security Matter - Communist investigations and periodic report writing in Priority II and Priority III Security Index cases; moratorium later extended to January 1, 1971. By memorandum October 29, 1970, from the Executives Conference to Mr. Tolson, approved by the Director, the moratorium was lifted. At the time there were approximately 10,690 individuals on the SI who were of the Priority II and III types. Virtually no investigation had been conducted regarding approximately 7,000 of these individuals since the imposition of the moratorium in February, 1969. Many of these persons had changed residence and/or employment and their whereabouts were unknown. It can thus be seen that the lifting of the moratorium was an aggressive, timely and precise step toward fulfilling our current responsibilities, especially in knowing the whereabouts of these individuals. Implementation was directed by airtel November 3, 1970, to all offices, and in doing so we took a realistic step in permitting the field to stagger the reopening of these cases so that they would be spread out over the period November 3, 1970, to June 30, 1971. This was considered essential in view of our approximation that it would be necessary to reopen approximately 7,000 of the Priority II and III types.

EXTENT AND NATURE OF CURRENT SUPERVISION

Responsibility for administrative handling of the SI rests with the Special Records Unit of the Research Section. Responsibility for individual cases rests with appropriate supervisory personnel. I personally follow this matter closely to insure it is current and that necessary changes are made where desirable. This program receives constant supervision.

JUSTIFICATION FOR CONTINUANCE

This is a major internal security program based upon Title II of the Internal Security Act of 1950 and is to be implemented in the event of a national emergency to minimize acts of espionage, sabotage and subversion.

FREQUENCY OF EVALUATION

The SI Program is constantly being re-evaluated. The most recent justification is contained in memorandum from Charles D. Brennan to W. C. Sullivan dated January 8, 1970, and as of instant date (January 12, 1971) a current rejustification memorandum is in preparation.

SECURITY INFORMANT PROGRAM
BASIC REVOLUTIONARY ORGANIZATIONS

At the time of the last inspection in April, 1970, we had 279 member security informants in the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), while at the present time we have 264 member informants in the CPUSA, a decrease of 15. In addition, there are 31 member informants in the Socialist Workers Party (SWP); the number of SWP informants at last inspection is not known.

On December 16, 1970, a reorganization of Sections within the Division resulted in a realignment of informant handling and record keeping, with the result that only informants in basic revolutionary organizations and related groups are now handled in the Internal Security Section. As of December 16, 1970, there were 578 informants in basic revolutionary organizations and related groups. The number at last inspection is not known.

There has been continuing recognition of the fact that there must be no letdown in maintaining adequate informant coverage in basic revolutionary organizations. In this regard, SAC Letter 70-40 dated August 4, 1970, captioned "Racial and Security Informants," pointed out in-depth quality informants in these fields are more imperative than ever under present conditions in view of the upsurge in violence. SAC Letter 70-48 dated September 15, 1970, captioned "Security and Racial Informants," pointed out that never in our history have we been confronted with as critical a need for informant coverage. This SAC Letter authorized development of informants between the ages of 18 and 21, thus presenting the field with a tremendous opportunity to expand informant coverage not only among violence-prone New Left and radical groups, but also in the basic revolutionary groups as well. There can be no doubt but that these instructions have stimulated development of informants.

Security informant development receives continuous supervision. It is not technically a program justified annually, but rather a fundamental procedure in our investigative operations that requires and receives vigorous day-to-day attention.

COUNTERINTELLIGENCE PROGRAM - DISRUPTION OF WHITE HATE GROUPS 4-H

BACKGROUND, DATE OF INCEPTION AND DESIRED OBJECTIVES

This program was initiated in September, 1964, for the purpose of exposing, disrupting and otherwise neutralizing activities of white extremist organizations, their leaders and adherents. There are currently 17 field offices regularly participating in this program and as specific situations arise other divisions also participate.

POSITIVE RESULTS ACHIEVED

The following are highlights of accomplishments achieved through this program since last inspection: A racial informant of the Birmingham Division has been able to influence Robert Shelton, leader of the largest Klan group, United Klans of America, Inc., (UKA), to be more moderate in his speeches by opposing violence and stressing need for law and order as well as continuing his acts against communism. This has been effective in toning down Klan violence.

Midwest coordinator of National Socialist White People's Party, formerly known as American Nazi Party, was expelled from that organization after publicity furnished under this program disclosed he was of Jewish descent.

Through manipulation of informants, anonymous letters and utilization of friendly press services we were successful in creating a split in the UKA in North Carolina. This split was brought about when a rally of dissident Klansmen in September, 1969, showed their disaffection with the UKA leadership by burning their Klan membership cards. This split was highlighted in front-page news stories in North Carolina newspapers.

During 1970 National Klonvokation, Robert Shelton, who was again elected Imperial Wizard, made a speech indicating his feelings that high ranking members of the UKA may be disloyal and that he definitely plans to use a polygraph machine and possibly utilize sodium pentothal (truth serum) on all Klan officers and members to ferret out FBI informants. As a result, we recently furnished reliable news sources with information in belief that public exposure will deter considerably from any future enactment of these plans. It is too early to determine results of this move at this time.

As a result of counterintelligence action taken through racial informants in the Knoxville Division, we were successful in having the Exalted Cyclops of Mascot Klavern #778, Mascot, Tennessee, Thomas Stipes, eliminated from this top position and were able to have him subsequently banished from the Klan. This was brought about by having our racial informants create dissension within the ranks of this Klavern.

Through the use of two racial informants of our Little Rock Division, we were successful in causing the defeat of a Klansmen who was campaigning to be elected as sheriff of Jefferson County, Arkansas. This individual, Victor Calvert, Exalted Cyclops, Pine Bluff Klavern, Association of Arkansas Klans, in conducting his campaign attempted to hide his Klan affiliations because he hoped to receive a good percentage of the Negro vote in his area. Our informants were successful in discreetly letting out the word of his secret Klan membership.

As a result of counterintelligence action taken, W. Melvin Sexton, Imperial Kligrapp (National Secretary) of the UKA, the largest Klan organization in the country, resigned from his position. Both Sexton and his wife, in addition to being Klan members, were employed in the National Office of the United Klans of America. This is particularly significant in that for many years Sexton had been "number one man" to Imperial Wizard Robert M. Shelton of the UKA and actually ran the UKA while Shelton was in prison following his conviction for Contempt of Congress. This resignation was brought about by our informants planting the seeds of distrust regarding Sexton and exposing the fact that Sexton had a serious drinking problem.

CURRENT SUPERVISION AND JUSTIFICATION FOR CONTINUANCE

The counterintelligence program requires little additional manpower since these extremists are under continuous investigation. All counterintelligence proposals are submitted to the Bureau for approval and positive results achieved from this program, when balanced against the relatively small expenditure of Agent and supervisory time, indicates that its continuance is justified. This program is re-evaluated annually and was last re-evaluated by memorandum G. C. Moore to W. C. Sullivan dated July 20, 1970.

THUMBNAIL SKETCH PROGRAM 4-H

This program was initiated and authorized by SAC Letter 53-72(J) dated October 27, 1953, to insure that the field is using current characterizations of subversive organizations and to provide uniformity in characterizing such organizations. Those characterizations deemed to be of field-wide interest are now to be furnished to the field by letter to all offices on an annual basis rather than by SAC Letter as was formerly the practice, in accordance with approval of suggestion in memorandum J. J. Casper to Mr. Mohr dated December 7, 1970.

The background and value of this program is the same as it was at the time of the write-ups for the 1970 inspection. Upon receipt of the annual letters from the field in June, 1970, 422 separate characterizations were received and reviewed by appropriate supervisory personnel at the Bureau. Those of field-wide interest were furnished to the field by SAC Letter 70-62 dated November 3, 1970. The remaining characterizations were returned to interested field offices following their approval by the Bureau. This program was last reviewed and analyzed and its continuance approved by memorandum R. L. Shackelford to Mr. C. D. Brennan dated October 12, 1970.

New Left Movement

Section Chief: R. L. Shackelford

The following surveys, projects and/or intensification programs are in effect against the New Left movement:

By airtel to SAC, Albany, and all offices, dated 10/23/68, the field was instructed to expand its Key Activist programs and these programs were intensified. Each office was instructed to submit its recommendations on individuals considered as Key Activists. The field was instructed to maintain high-level informant coverage on these individuals. The purpose of this program is to render Key Activists ineffective and thereby drastically reduce their influence in the New Left movement. At the present time there are 75 Key Activists under intensive investigation. A Key Activist Album which contains photographs and biographical data on each Key Activist has been assembled and has been furnished to all offices. The Key Activist Album is maintained in a current status, 40 are subjects of prosecutive action. The Album has proven to be invaluable in following the activities and travels of New Left activists, both for the Seat of Government and for the field.

By airtel dated 3/10/69 to SAC, Albany, and all offices, the field was instructed to submit summary reports every three months on those individuals designated as Key Activists. The field was also instructed to prepare an appropriate communication suitable for dissemination in the event any of these individuals held a speaking engagement and whenever they made a statement indicating a propensity for violence or urging student agitation. The purpose of this program was to develop information in respect to the securing of testimony and evidence concerning violations of statutes within the Bureau's jurisdiction in connection with leaders involved with campus disorders.

By letter to all offices dated 5/5/69, the field was instructed that when it is ascertained that a Key Activist is scheduled to speak oncampus, in addition to the coverage of his appearance, they should determine through established sources the amount received by him and the source of the funds.

The purpose of this is (1) to provide for a centralized reporting of New Left activity in this field; (2) to enable us to keep abreast of funds utilized to finance these inflammatory speeches; (3) to enable us to take advantage of situations which could embarrass the New Left or stifle future activity; (4) to facilitate the necessary evaluation and analysis by the Bureau and other interested agencies. By letter dated 12/23/69 to all field offices, information concerning financial aspects of the New Left were emphasized, and the field was instructed to develop solid information concerning the travelling of Key Activists.

By airtel to SAC, Albany, and all offices dated 10/28/68, a program was instituted to obtain a comprehensive study of the whole New Left movement. Offices were instructed to prepare summary reports on the New Left movement in their territories. The purpose of these reports was to obtain a comprehensive study of the movement in order to assess its potential dangerousness. Following the submission of the original summary reports, offices were instructed to submit such reports on a quarterly basis with an appropriate breakdown of the material in the report. These reports enable the Bureau to maintain recent and comprehensive information concerning various aspects of the New Left movement. These reports are disseminated to interested agencies to enable them to maintain a clear picture of New Left movement.

SAC Letter 70-11 (E) dated 3/3/70 instructed field to discontinue submission of quarterly letter listing identities of New Left movement groups under investigation, coverage afforded each group and programs of each office to develop necessary coverage. This information in order to streamline paper work is now to be set forth in cover pages of New Left quarterly report.

By airtel to all offices dated 12/9/70 instructions were reiterated to the field concerning the preparation and content of New Left movement quarterly reports. The organizations to be included in this report were noted as well as the subheadings to be utilized. A brief analysis of the current status of New Left activity in each Division is to be included in the cover pages of the report as well as the number of individual cases opened and closed concerning SDS members as well as members of pro-communist, militant New Left-type campus organizations who follow SDS advocacy of revolution and violence.

By letter dated 11/5/68, to SAC, Albany, and all offices, under the caption of "New Left Movement, Publications, Internal Security - Miscellaneous," the field was instructed to cover the principal propaganda mills of the New Left which are described as the "underground" newspapers. The field was instructed to conduct a detailed survey of these publications and to submit information concerning these obscene, seditious and inflammatory newspapers. At the present time, there are over 200 such publications being circulated. Cases on various of these newspapers which are deemed important to the New Left movement have been opened.

By airtel dated 3/16/70 to all offices, a survey was instituted to determine the amount of financial support given to New Left groups by tax-exempt charitable foundations, prominent or wealthy individuals, and politically oriented groups. The field was instructed to furnish results of this survey in form suitable for dissemination.

By letter to all Special Agents in Charge, dated 2/13/70, the field was advised that the militant and violence-prone Weatherman faction of the SDS planned to go underground and to direct "strategic sabotage" at military and police installations. The field was instructed to advise appropriate local police agencies of the aims of the Weatherman faction and of the necessity to vigorously investigate the Weatherman group.

By airtel to all field offices dated 3/19/70 the field was advised of the plans of the Weatherman faction of the SDS to form commando-type units to engage in bombing, arson and assassination. The field was instructed to make every effort to locate and identify Weatherman communes and their activists. A list of major Weatherman activists was furnished to the field which instructed intensive investigation to determine their whereabouts and to advise the Bureau and office of origin on a weekly basis. The field was instructed to utilize a caution statement that Weatherman activists should be considered dangerous for their known propensity for violence.

Bureau airtel to select offices handling bulk of Weatherman investigations dated 3/24/70 reiterated instructions in airtel to all offices 3/19/70 and specifically noted that New Left communes were to be located and participants identified to determine if they were violence prone. The offices were instructed to have Special Agents assigned to these investigations to be reminded of their prosecutive potential and to consider establishing a special squad to fully comply with Bureau instructions to intensify these investigations.

Bureau airtel to Chicago 3/24/70 instructed that office to promptly initiate investigations and interview all individuals who were arrested in Chicago during National Action week 10/8-11/69 if such investigations not already undertaken. Over 280 individuals were arrested, most of which were either members of or closely associated with Weatherman group. Chicago airtel to numerous offices 4/9/70 restated Bureau instructions.

SAC Letter 70-18 (C) dated 4/7/70 under caption "New Left and Black Extremist Terrorism - Bombing Matters" set forth instructions to be followed in bombing and attempted bombing matters. In those instances of bombing or arson which appear to have New Left or black extremist connotations or motivation and where no Bureau substantive jurisdiction exists or the Department has advised no investigation is warranted, the Bureau is to be immediately advised setting forth pertinent data regarding involvement of subversive groups or individuals suspected in the incident as well as a recommendation for any additional investigation warranted.

Teletype to all SACs 4/17/70 set forth specific areas of investigations to be covered by field in its investigations against New Left terrorist groups and individuals and also set forth the definition of a commune for purposes of Bureau investigations and instructed field to conduct sufficient investigation of all members of the commune when they are members of a commune falling within Bureau standards for investigation. The field also was instructed to develop that informant coverage necessary of all communes and/or groups so that advance knowledge of any planned violence could be obtained to insure preventive action be initiated and prosecutive action brought to bear where possible.

By airtel to all offices 5/11/70 the field was authorized to interview all Venceremos Brigade (VB) members on SAC authority on completion of investigation except in those instances where the subject is under 21, currently a student, professor, has some connection with an institution of learning or is a journalist. Bureau approval is still needed concerning the latter individuals.

Bureau airtel to all offices 5/13/70 instructed the field to begin implementation of investigations of New Left terrorism promptly with available manpower and scale of implementation should be as rapid as possible. All adherents to Weatherman ideology of advocating a Marxist-Leninist revolution now and use terroristic tactics in furtherance of revolution are to be subjects of these investigations. All of these subjects are to be considered for Priority I of the Security Index, interviewed and the Bureau advised every 45 days by letter of those placed in Priority I of their current residence and any other pertinent information developed. To facilitate handling at the Bureau, all reports and other communications within defined categories are to include word (Weatherman) in character. This airtel also instructed each office to submit monthly airtel beginning 6/1/70 setting forth (1) identities and locations of communes or organizations under investigation; (2) number of cases opened during month on individuals in these categories; (3) total number of individual cases under investigation; (4) informant coverage used against communes or organizations; and, (5) brief summary of New Left-oriented violence in area during preceding month and action taken.

Bureau airtel to all offices dated 5/15/70 concerning the VB instructed all offices to immediately intensify investigations of all returnees from Cuba with this Brigade, ascertain their whereabouts, conduct prompt interviews and submit current reports with Security Index recommendation. In view of rebuttable presumption of at least sympathy to a violent Marxist-Leninist revolution and willingness to participate in that revolution by these VB members, the field was also instructed for one year to advise the Bureau every 90 days of whereabouts and activities of Priority II and III and non-Security Index returnees. In case of Priority I Security Index subjects, this information is to be furnished the Bureau every 45 days.

Bureau airtel to all offices dated 5/15/70 forwarded the field a copy of a Departmental letter concerning the specific areas of interest to the Department in campus disorders looking toward possible prosecutive action. The field was specifically instructed to develop information concerning New Left involvement in campus violence and all agitational activities prior to and during violent campus disorders by subversive groups and such information must be fully determined and reported.

SAC Letter 70-30 (D) dated 6/2/70 reiterated prior instructions of moratorium on Security Matter - Communist investigations. Recent field inspections indicated some offices needed clarification of this moratorium. The SAC Letter noted instructions concerning moratorium only applied to routine communist investigations and not those individuals belonging to such groups as the Weatherman, Progressive Labor Party, Socialist Workers Party and Young Socialist Alliance.

Bureau airtel to all offices 7/16/70 noted that New Left terrorism is continuing through bombings, arsons and other forms of violence and each SAC must personally insure sufficient personnel are assigned to handle these matters as well as investigating individuals involved and those following Weatherman ideology of utilization of violent revolutionary tactics against our Government.

Bureau airtel to select offices dated 8/20/70 handling Key Activists were instructed to promptly submit to the Bureau sufficient handwriting specimens of each Key Activist and the specimen is to be placed in the National Security File maintained by the Laboratory. This was done in view of the propensity for violence of these individuals and the fact a number of them are currently Bureau fugitives.

SAC Letter 70-46 dated 9/1/70 captioned "New Left Movement - Violence, Internal Security - Miscellaneous (Weatherman)" refers to strategic sabotage plans of Weatherman against military and police installations and "Declaration of War" by Weatherman underground and instructs all security personnel to develop better informant coverage. This development should concern informants and sources who can furnish advance information regarding activities of Weatherman and other terrorist groups and was specifically stressed.

By airtel to all offices dated 9/3/70 captioned "Attacks on Police, Extremist Activity" the field was instructed, because of increased attacks on police, that it can be expected there will also be physical attacks against the FBI and it should be insured that all Special Agent personnel are fully cognizant of this possibility. If information is received targeting police, appropriate investigation must be immediately instituted and informants directed to develop full facts concerning the attack. The purpose of these investigations is to obtain complete intelligence data concerning any extremist influence.

SAC Letter 70-48 (B) dated 9/15/70 under caption "New Left and Black Extremist Terrorism - Informant Coverage" instructed the field to immediately institute an aggressive policy of developing new productive informants who can infiltrate the ranks of terrorist organizations, their collectives, communes and staffs of their underground newspapers. Constructive plans to implement this program are to be included in Item 4 of the monthly airtel on "New Left Movement-Violence" which was outlined in Bureau airtel to all offices 5/13/70.

Bureau airtel to all offices 10/1/70 instructed the field to replace the word (Weatherman) as noted in Bureau airtel to all offices 5/13/70 with the word (Extremist). This was done to insure prompt and efficient routing at the Bureau as well as proper handling in the field. A new caution statement was also to be included in all correspondence in respect to those individuals involved in Weatherman and other New Left extremist activities.

SAC Letter 70-57 (C) dated 10/13/70 captioned "New Left Movement - Police Training Matters" advised the field that in view of recent developments concerning violence caused by New Left terrorists, the Bureau will consider requests from the field for SACs or ASACs to brief local law enforcement command and supervisory personnel regarding New Left extremism and violence at law enforcement meetings and conferences where attendance is restricted to full-time duly constituted law enforcement officials.

Bureau airtel to all offices dated 11/3/70 advised the field that the moratorium of suspension of report writing in Priority II Security Index cases and suspension of verification of residence and employment in Priority II and Priority III cases is rescinded. Offices were instructed to reopen a proportionate number of cases each month and insure all were open by 6/30/71. Furthermore, residence and employment on all of these subjects is to be verified, annual reports submitted in Priority II cases and LHM submitted in Priority III cases where necessary.

Bureau airtel to all offices dated 11/4/70 instructed the field to initiate investigation of all members of SDS and members of pro-communist, militant New Left-type campus organizations who follow SDS advocacy of revolution and violence. Each individual under investigation should be considered for the Security Index.

Bureau airtel to all offices dated 11/5/70 concerning informant development in New Left groups noted that each SAC was to make this matter his personal concern in order that penetration of these groups by top quality informants will be accomplished in the immediate future. Each SAC was directed to submit to the Bureau by 11/13/70 a complete analysis of his informant coverage in New Left groups clearly setting forth the weaknesses and productive steps being taken to rectify these weaknesses.

Current Bureau instructions require development of adequate informant coverage of Strategic Air Command and Intercontinental Ballistic Missile Bases of the United States Air Force (PROSAB) to insure that our investigative responsibilities in the sabotage, espionage and internal security fields can be properly discharged. Semiannual reports are submitted by each office having a Strategic Air Command Base or an Intercontinental Ballistic Missile Base within its territory. A review of semiannual reports submitted by the field as of 7/1/70 disclosed that a total of 1,281 informants have been developed.

Bureau airtel to all offices dated 9/9/70 advised field that special single fingerprint file on Weatherman fugitives and other New Left terrorists has been started. Field is instructed to immediately review files for identity of individuals who fit category of a New Left terrorist and whose fingerprints should be included in this special single fingerprint file. Names of these individuals were to be submitted to Bureau with sufficient identifying data and as new names come to attention of office promptly furnish the Bureau.

SURVEYS, PROJECTS AND/OR INTENSIFICATION PROGRAMS 4-H

Section Chief R. D. Cotter: Following are applicable activities of Research Section.

Survey Regarding Potential for Racial Violence

This survey program was formerly under the title "Possible Racial Violence, Major Urban Areas." The program was initiated in 1964 in order that the Bureau would be aware of potential danger spots in the U. S. The present program requires each field division to conduct a continuing survey in their respective territories covering all localities having a potential for racial violence based on current racial conditions. The objective is to insure that the Bureau receives a realistic and comprehensive picture of existing racial conditions in these areas on a current basis and to obtain advance information of any impending racial developments which clearly point to the possibility of mob violence.

Quarterly reports submitted by field in line with this survey represent information obtained through contacts with local government and police officials, leaders of racial groups, and a cross section of informants and sources. The survey enables us to be thoroughly knowledgeable of racial developments and potential trouble spots and provides timely and pertinent information which is disseminated to the White House, Attorney General, and other Government agencies. Information developed is also used for an analysis of the potential for violence in the U. S., which is prepared in the spring of each year, just prior to the most active months, in this field, and which is disseminated on a high level.

Security Index (SI) Program

Refer to white write-up prepared by Internal Security Section (4-H), which has investigative responsibility under this program. Research Section, Special Records Unit, maintains records applicable to the SI and is responsible for coordinating program. In line with this responsibility, Research Section prepared a memorandum to Assistant Director Brennan, dated 1/12/71, re-evaluating SI.

As of 4/15/70 there were in the Index 2,794 persons of leadership capacity (Priority I and II) and 8,352 rank-and-file subjects (Priority III) for a total of 11,146. Of these, 848 and 4,770, respectively, are communists--a total of 5,618 or 50.4 percent. As of 12/15/70 there were in the Index 3,450 persons of leadership capacity (Priority I and II) and 8,614 rank-and-file subjects (Priority III) for a total of 12,064. Of these, 831 and 4,718, respectively, are communists--a total of 5,549 or 46 percent.

Emergency Detention Program

The Emergency Detention Program (EDP), which is field-wide, involves the planning for apprehension and detention of persons considered potentially dangerous to the national defense and public safety of the U. S. in time of a national emergency and for the search and seizure of contraband. The EDP is not a program as such but is based on Title II of the Internal Security Act (ISA) of 1950. The basic responsibility for the operation and implementation of the EDP rests with the Attorney General. Detailed plans regarding the EDP are drawn up and included in the "Attorney General's Portfolio," copies of which are in the Bureau's possession.

This program has been maintained in an up-to-date status. Administrative plans for the implementation of the program in each office are maintained in the form of a "Detpro Survey." Lists of individuals to be detained are furnished to the Internal Security Division of the Department each month and the listing of places to be searched under authority of the Master Search Warrant are maintained on a current basis. The Seat of Government and all field divisions, with the exception of Honolulu, maintain essential records at safe locations for successful implementation of the EDP. Each office also maintains instructions to be turned over to the U. S. Attorneys and U. S. Marshals upon implementation.

This program is coordinated by Special Records Unit, Research Section. Primary responsibility rests with the Department and changes can be made only upon approval of the Department. We merely recommend and/or suggest any desirable changes. Periodic checks are made to insure that all records connected with the EDP, stored away from Headquarters cities, are current. Field division surveys are kept up to date and the Bureau is advised semiannually of the status.

Legislation was previously introduced in Congress to repeal Title II of the ISA of 1950. When the 91st Congress ended, no affirmative action had been taken in this regard. In the event Title II should be repealed at a future date under new legislation, the Government's inherent right to protect itself internally will continue to be safeguarded by the Bureau under its basic responsibility for protecting this Nation's internal security.

This program is under constant supervision and re-evaluation so that any necessary changes and streamlining may be made. A memorandum justifying the continuance of this program was last submitted on 1/12/71.

Security Informants

Special Records Unit maintains an up-to-date index of Security Informants and Potential Security Informants. It correlates personal and operating data (such as name, address, code, file and symbol number) concerning these informants, which it receives from the Division's investigative sections, and places such material on FD-348s, three by five cards that constitute the index. This index is maintained on discontinued as well as current informants.

At the time of the inspection in April, 1970, a total of 1,141 Security Informants were being operated. As of 1/12/71 the number had increased to 1,159 for a total increase of 18. During the same period, the number of Potential Security Informants had increased from 616 to 765 for a total increase of 149.

Technical and Microphone Surveillances

There has been no significant change regarding the utilization of these techniques in the internal security field since the last inspection. As of 1/12/71, we have 40 telephone surveillances (tesurs) in Bureau's internal security cases and seven awaiting installation. We also have six tesurs in operation at the request of the State Department.

We are conducting six microphone surveillances (misurs) in internal security field, and four misur installations are being operated at the request of the National Security Agency (NSA). In addition, 64 teletype facilities are being covered at the written request of NSA.

ALEM PROGRAM
Bufile: 65-69532

4-H

1. ALEM is the code name for the Bureau program to uncover Soviet "illegal" agents who have entered the U. S. under assumed identities as 1. alien husbands of American wives or 2. as male immigrants on first preference petitions because of certain professional and technical skills. The basis of this program is information furnished by the Fedora informant. This program was initiated in August, 1965. Individuals entering the U. S. under the above two categories have been determined through a machine run of Immigration and Naturalization Service Form G-188 punch cards. The Bureau has reimbursed the Immigration and Naturalization Service for expenses incurred in sorting these cards for immigrants entering the U. S. between the years 1960-1965.

2. Approximately 1960 cases have been opened under this program since its inception, of which 106 are now pending. We have not uncovered any illegals to date although we have been able to identify through this program a valuable KGB agent who went to the U. S. as an immigrant from Belgium (Buckboard case, Bufile 65-68188).

3. ALEM is supervised in the Espionage Section, Special Cases Unit, by SA A.P. Litrento. The responsibility of reviewing the pertinent G-188 cards and initiating investigations is placed with the Washington Field Office. The procedures followed in opening cases do not require the use of much personnel or many man hours by the Washington Field Office.

4. According to the Fedora informant, the KGB has used the techniques set forth above in dispatching KGB "illegals" to the U. S. During 1960-1965, four KGB "illegals" reportedly arrived in the U. S. under category number one according to information the Fedora informant was able to obtain from a KGB officer in the New York Residency.

CANIL PROGRAM
Bufile: 65-70719 4-H

1. CANIL is the code name for the Bureau program to uncover Soviet illegals who may have arrived in Canada as European immigrants and thereafter entered the U. S. on immigrant visas obtained at one of the American consulates in Canada. This program is based on the Cowslip case which involved a Soviet illegal husband and wife team who used this method of entry. Legat, Ottawa, effected arrangements with various American consulates in Canada to obtain the Immigration Visa and Alien Registration (IVAR) forms filed by European immigrants prior to their destruction by the consulates. It is consulate practice to retain these forms for 16 to 18 months then to destroy them. Legat, Ottawa, forwards these forms to the New York Office where they are reviewed. To develop suspects, the New York Office uses criteria developed from analysis of the Cowslip case.

2. Since inception of this program in June, 1966, 27 cases were opened. There are no cases pending. No illegals have been uncovered to date. The procedures followed in this program do not require the use of much personnel or many man hours by the New York Office.

3. CANIL is supervised in the Espionage Section, Special Cases Unit, by SA A. P. Litrento.

4. The detection of Soviet illegals is one of the most difficult problems facing the Bureau in the security field. It is felt this program still has a good potential in uncovering illegals because it is logical and has a sound basis. Past experience has shown that Soviet intelligence will use the same modus operandi continuously, if successful.

DESECO PROGRAM
Bufile 105-71688

The Deseco Program (program for development of selected contacts to be directed against Soviet-bloc officials) was conceived in an espionage conference in December, 1957. Its objective was to intensify the development of informants and double agents to penetrate Soviet-bloc intelligence and for use in sensitive defection approaches.

Between the last inspection and December 1, 1970, approximately an 8-month period, 37 Deseco subjects were placed in contact with Soviet-bloc officials and 8 of these have developed to the status of security informants or double agents.

The majority of work is concentrated in the New York, Washington, D. C., and Chicago areas where Soviet-bloc establishments are located. A Soviet Consulate General is scheduled to become operative in San Francisco during 1971, and a skeleton staff of four Soviet officials with five dependents is seeking appropriate buildings for this establishment.

San Francisco and other West Coast offices are currently developing a "pool" of Deseco sources for eventual use against Soviet intelligence officers who will operate out of the Soviet Consulate General. Due to the increased number of Soviet-bloc personnel in the United States and their relative freedom of travel, particularly to technical and scientific conventions, a total of 19 offices have been authorized to conduct "sounding-out" interviews of prospective sources without prior Bureau authority. Follow-up interviews with potential Deseco sources are conducted on a UACB basis. Unusual and highly sensitive cases are routed to the division front office for approval.

The New York, Washington Field and Chicago Offices submit monthly progress letters summarizing the results of the program. The other 16 offices submit summaries on a semi-annual basis. This program substantially assists us to penetrate and neutralize Soviet-bloc intelligence. The results achieved thus far warrant the program's continuance. It is the best means of penetration available considering the limitations on other sensitive investigative techniques. It affords us a pool of human resources available for use against Soviet-bloc intelligence personnel in political, economic and particularly scientific fields in which the intelligence services of the bloc have shown extreme interest. This program has been reevaluated on an annual basis. It was last justified by memorandum dated 10/22/69, but by the action of the Executive Conference approved by the Director on memorandum of 10/29/70, Washington and New York were instructed that every Special Agent in those offices handling investigations of Soviet personnel should immediately open on and develop two completely new Deseco subjects. These instructions were sent to the field by airtel of 11/2/70.

The program will next be justified by memorandum in March, 1971, when progress letters summarizing the results of the program will be due from all participating offices. This program is correlated in the Espionage Section Coordination Unit by Special Agent L. Whitson.

EAST-WEST EXCHANGE PROGRAM
Bufile: 105-42300

This Program originated in 1955 to provide internal security safeguards regarding the admission of Soviet and satellite nationals. Soviet intelligence regards visits of the East-West Exchange Agreement participants as opportunities to promote intelligence activity.

As a result of the last inspection SAC Letter 70-25 was prepared which set forth revisions of our investigative action in the field. This change was made as a result of other manpower commitments. The instructions in that SAC Letter provided that no investigations will be conducted of groups or individuals participating in the East-West Exchange Program in the absence of any information indicating affiliation with Soviet intelligence. Bufiles are checked on all Soviet participants and where information is developed showing intelligence affiliation, cases are then opened and the field is instructed to conduct the necessary investigation.

During the period of June-December, 1970, 525 individuals entered the United States under the provisions of this exchange agreement and of this number, we had information indicating Soviet intelligence affiliation on 28 of these individuals.

With regard to Soviet exchange students there are currently 31 in the United States. Based on information furnished by defector sources and investigations of Soviet students previously in the United States, we have determined that the Soviet Intelligence Services utilizes these students in an intelligence capacity, principally as "spotters." In view of this, we afford these students active investigation. We have also found that a number of these students return to the United States for assignment at one of the Soviet establishments and in most instances, contacts which they made while in the United States as students are generally reactivated. For example, Mikhail Fomichev, currently assigned to the Soviet Mission to the United Nations as a Third Secretary, was in the United States as an exchange student in 1966. Through a defector source we learned that he had recruited an American agent for the KGB and extensive investigation under the code word "Nikotine" (Bufile: 65-70250) has resulted in the identification of this agent in December, 1970. He has admitted his recruitment and meetings with Fomichev since his return to the United States. One of the possibilities being considered by the KGB for this individual is to have him obtain employment as a Bureau Agent.

BANPOP PROGRAM
Bufile: 65-70741

1. BANPOP is the code name for a Bureau program through which an attempt is made to identify Soviet illegal agents who may be utilizing a Swiss bank to transfer funds to themselves. The program is based on an analysis of four Soviet illegal agent cases between 1955-1966 in which funds were furnished through the Banque Populaire Suisse in Switzerland. The transfers of funds are reviewed with the following criteria: (1) the person or individual beneficiary is named; (2) the amount of the transfer is between $300 and $5000 and (3) the last name of the person ordering and receiving the funds is the same or the money is directed to a specific bank account. The program was initiated by Bureau letter of August 26, 1966.

2. The program is now operated in the New York, Chicago and Philadelphia Offices. The Philadelphia Office originally had the program in effect from September, 1966, until May, 1968, when it was discontinued. However, it was renewed in that office in February, 1970.

3. When an office locates an individual who might be considered a subject, it writes a letter to the Bureau with a copy to the appropriate field office and requests that investigation be undertaken to identify this person. The title includes the name of the subject and the code name of the program in order that all cases will be handled by the same supervisor. At the present time, there are six pending cases. The New York Office utilized 12 Agent hours per month in handling 10,100 records for a six-month period ending August 31, 1970. The Philadelphia Office utilized four Agent hours per month and the Chicago Office utilized three Agent hours per month in handling its program.

4. This program is supervised by SA J. P. Lee of the Special Cases Unit, Espionage Section.

5. All offices keep the Bureau advised of the progress of the program on a six-month basis, submitting letters by March 1 and September 1 of each year.

COKMA PROGRAM

65-73750

1. Title is code word for physical surveillance coverage of known meeting areas utilized by Soviet intelligence in the past several years. The New York Office instituted this program in July, 1970.

2. New York Office has catalogued known meeting areas as a result of past physical surveillances of Soviet intelligence officers and information received from defectors-in-place and double agents operating against Soviet intelligence officers. Soviet intelligence officers are trained to detect surveillances and accordingly are extremely astute in detecting such coverage. It is almost impossible to conduct a discreet physical surveillance of them which will result in uncovering an intelligence operation. This program places our Special Agents in areas where there is likelihood of Soviet meet without hazard of prior surveillance which would thwart meeting. Almost all Soviet intelligence officers spend approximately one to three hours in "dry cleaning" themselves to insure they are not under surveillance when meeting an agent. When the Soviet arrives at the meeting area, he is confident that he is not under surveillance. Our objective in this program is to identify American agents meeting Soviet intelligence officers under clandestine circumstances.

3. New York, utilizing one team consisting of four Special Agents, afforded physical surveillance coverage to three consectutive subway stops in Queens, New York, which were known to have been frequented by Soviet intelligence officers in the past. From July through October, 1970, six Soviet intelligence officers were observed in these areas on 16 occasions. Two significant cases have been developed out of this coverage and New York has current authority to interview one of the subjects observed in clandestine contact with a known Soviet Committee for State Security officer. On 11/10/70, New York was authorized to further implement this program and advised that it intended to cover two other known meeting areas in Queens, New York, during early evening hours on weekdays and on Saturdays which is similar to the coverage previously afforded.

4. Program supervised by Special Agent George M. Quinn, Officials Unit - New York, Espionage Section. Expenses and time in handling program is negligible at Seat of Government. Since program in field consists of surveillance activities, there must be close supervision at field level.

COKMA PROGRAM

5. Program offers excellent potential on basis of results achieved during short period it has been in operation. It must be noted that Soviets were not as active as usual during September - November, 1970, because of Twenty-Fifth United Nations Anniversary celebration and meeting of United Nations General Assembly. Soviet intelligence has in the past been extremely reluctant to engage in intelligence activities during such periods because detection at such time could be extremely embarrassing to Soviet Government. Manpower limitations have restricted our full utilization of this investigative technique. Special Agent personnel assigned to this program must be familiar with Soviets assigned to the New York area and must also be experienced in surveillance procedures.

RADIO AND TECHNICAL EQUIPMENT PURCHASED BY THE SOVIETS

105-36365

1. Program commenced in March, 1955, in order to have central repository for information developed in connection with investigations of Soviets in this country pertaining to radio and technical equipment purchased by them.

2. Washington Field and New York Offices furnish information developed concerning these purchases on a monthly basis. Dissemination of the material is made to Department of State, Central Intelligence Agency, Army, Navy, Air Force, Atomic Energy Commission, and Bureau of International Commerce, United States Department of Commerce. Material submitted includes name of Soviet purchaser, date, quantity, description and cost of the items purchased. It involves maintenance of three control files; one each at Bureau, Washington Field and New York Offices. Program established to achieve following objectives: disseminate to interested Government agencies information concerning purchase of technical equipment in the United States by Soviet officials; determine whether Soviet intelligence is circumventing restrictions regarding material appearing on Department of Commerce restricted export control list; and to permit discreet markings by FBI Laboratory of certain technical equipment furnished to Soviets through overt or covert means which would permit its identification at some future time.

3. Since April, 1970, Program has disclosed continuing purchases by Soviet nationals of Grundig Satellite Multiband portable radios. During 9/70 one KGB officer in Washington purchased 30 of these radios at one time. Soviet husband and wife illegal team recently in U. S. used one of these radios to receive clandestine broadcasts from USSR which contained their operating instructions. Program made it possible to secure serial numbers for possible future identification. Analysis of purchases enables Laboratory to make reasonable estimate of internal communications used at Soviet establishments and security devices being operated. Program also disclosed type of transmitting equipment and antenna system purchased by Soviets, apparently for installation at Consulate General in San Francisco when that establishment becomes operational. This information is of interest not only to FBI Laboratory but to State Department and National Security Agency in connection with its worldwide coverage of Soviet communications capabilities.

4. Program supervised by Special Agent Eugene C. Peterson, Officials Unit - Washington, Espionage Section. Expense and time utilized in handling program is negligible. Dissemination of material submitted by Washington Field and New York Offices requires minimum of time each month on part of Bureau Supervisor and no weaknesses in program are apparent. Administrative tickler for control maintained on Soviet Embassy Desk, Officials Unit - Washington, Espionage Section.

5. Program is of value not only to Domestic Intelligence Division and field offices but to agencies receiving dissemination of material developed. Possession of some equipment on which discreet markings were previously placed by FBI Laboratory could serve to identify possessor with involvement in Soviet intelligence activity. Program is evaluated annually to determine justification for continuance.

6. Program last evaluated and justified January 8, 1971. Tickler maintained for reevaluation by January 15, 1972, and each year thereafter, if still of continuing value.

PROGRAM

VISITORS TO COMMUNIST CHINA AND CONTACTS BY UNITED STATES RESIDENTS OF CHINESE DIPLOMATIC ESTABLISHMENTS

4-H

(Bufile 105-144424)

1. Background, Date of Inception, Scope and Desired Objectives.

Program was initiated in 8/65 in connection with efforts to cover Chinese Communist (Chicom) activities in the United States. Through cooperation of both United States intelligence agencies and friendly foreign intelligence services, the identities of United States residents are furnished to us who attempt to enter Communist China or contact People's Republic of China (PRC) diplomatic establishments in certain countries throughout the world.

This program is field-wide and not directly connected with any other investigative program. The objectives include identifying those individuals who enter the PRC and who may be engaged in Chicom activities in their contacts with Chicom establishments. The identity of these visitors is absolutely necessary in order to determine if they have access to classified material or if they could be utilized effectively by the Chicoms when they return to the United States. Some of these individuals have excellent potential for informant development. We have utilized contacts with Chicom diplomatic establishments in the development of selected sources who are attractive to the Chicoms and have been developed as double agents. By SAC Letter No. 70-26 dated 5/12/70, we restricted our investigations to cover actual visitors to China. This procedure was initiated to conserve manpower inasmuch as State Department had relaxed travel restrictions to China on 3/16/70 in order to allow travel to PRC for any "legitimate purpose." The President recently directed that a committee prepare recommendations for additional steps which may be taken to relax restrictions on travel to and promote further trade with the PRC. This highly confidential directive, if accepted, will permit many people to be eligible to travel to China if the Chinese will grant travel permits. Up to the present time, however, the Chicoms have only granted travel permits to pro-Chicom propagandists such as Edgar Snow.

2. Positive Results Achieved Since Last Inspection.

Investigations since the last Inspection have totaled 95. Many of these individuals were interviewed; however, it has been determined that none were allowed to enter Communist China. During the cultural revolution which ended during 1970, very few United States residents were allowed to enter Communist China including a number of United Nations employees who had previously made numerous trips to Communist China. There is every indication, however, that the Chicoms have taken on a "new look" internationally and are attempting to gain the friendship of the western world. This program has not reached its great potential due to the xenophobia which existed during the past three years. Communist China is expected to open an embassy at Ottawa, Canada, in 1/71 as result of Canadian recognition. This will make it far easier for United States residents to cross the border into Canada and either seek a travel permit to visit Communist China or make contact with Chicom intelligence representatives at the embassy in Ottawa.

3. Extent and Nature of Current Supervision.

This program is handled by one Bureau supervisor who correlates information as received from either United States intelligence agencies or friendly foreign intelligence services and directs the office covering the individual's residence and employment to conduct necessary investigation according to the Manual of Instructions. Investigations are conducted to fully identify the individuals, determine current residence and employment and ascertain whether he has access to classified information. In absence of any unusual circumstances indicating need for further action, the case is closed. Each case is closely supervised and evaluated on its individual merits.

4. Current Justification for Continuation.

The potential of this program is far greater than what has been realized in the way of results to date. As mentioned above, the Canadian recognition of the PRC has given Communist China a foothold in North America. RCMP advises that they feel that 50 percent of the Chinese Communist intelligence effort will be directed toward the United States.

At the present time, the restrictions for crossing the border from the United States to Canada are practically nonexistent for a United States resident with proper documentation. Therefore, it is imperative that we continue such a program so that when RCMP reports individuals contacting the PRC Embassy in Ottawa we may fully identify these individuals.

5. How Often Evaluated and Date of Last Justification.

This program is evaluated annually and was last justified on 12/31/69. At that time, it was stated that the program would be evaluated and justified during 1/71; this is currently being undertaken.

CHINESE ALIENS ENTERING THE UNITED STATES 4-H
(Bufile 105-135923)

CHINESE ENTERING THE UNITED STATES CLAIMING UNITED STATES CITIZENSHIP
(Bufile 105-12752)

These two programs have similar criteria for investigation and, therefore, are being handled under one write-up.

1. Background, Date of Inception, Scope and Desired Objectives

The alien program was instituted on 1/26/65 and the program concerning Chinese entering the United States claiming United States citizenship began on 9/14/65. Both programs were originated in an effort to identify Chinese Communist (Chicom) intelligence operatives who may be sent to the United States in deep cover. In 1955, Chicom intelligence emphasized the need to deploy deep cover illegal agents abroad and specifically in the United States. The number of cases currently investigated under the citizen program has been approximately 15 to 20 annually; only one, however, has been opened since last inspection. These individuals offer the Chicoms an ideal situation for placing an illegal into the United States who has assumed the identity of a Chinese whose father or grandfather was a United States citizen. These individuals, once they arrive in the United States, are never checked on by any agency. The Chinese aliens, a number of whom are students "temporarily," entering the United States to attend universities, have decreased in number during the past two years from approximately 2,000 per month to 600 per month. Recent relaxation of immigration regulations will now permit a great increase in the numbers allowed to enter the United States during 1971. Since the inception of both programs, we have simplified the criteria for investigating citizens and aliens keeping in mind the necessity for conserving manpower in our investigations, but also fulfilling our responsibilities. The scope and investigation of these two programs are identical. The prime objective of these two programs is the identification of intelligence agents; however, the two programs have been responsible for the development of positive intelligence information as well as a continuing increase in source coverage of Chinese matters, not only in our heavily populated Chinese localities, but also covering the lesser Chinese communities throughout the United States.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/12/71
JEM:sem

2. Positive Results Achieved Since the Last Inspection

Since the last inspection 151 cases have been opened on Chinese aliens and only one case on Chinese claiming United States citizenship. During this period 197 alien cases have been closed and eight cases involving citizens were closed. Information developed during these investigations has been disseminated to the intelligence community. To date, no Chicom intelligence agent has been uncovered by these two programs; however, we have steadily increased our source coverage and collected positive intelligence which has been disseminated to the intelligence community. This is a long-range program and it is expected it will pay dividends during the coming year with the establishment of a Chinese Communist embassy in Canada.

3. Extent and Nature of Current Supervision

The alien cases, most of which originate from our Legat in Hong Kong, are supervised by three supervisors according to the geographic location the alien is destined to in the United States. The citizen cases are also supervised by three supervisors according to geographic location and these cases are furnished to us as a result of Passport Records being checked by WFO. Cases in both programs are closely supervised to make certain that each subject falls within the criteria and that when the cases are reopened for investigation after two years the case is evaluated to determine if the subject may possibly be an intelligence agent.

4. Current Justification for Continuation

These two programs cover two vulnerable areas whereby the Chicoms could penetrate the United States by utilizing either aliens or individuals claiming United States citizenship who have been fully trained in Communist China and entered Hong Kong subsequent to 1/1/55. The screening process at United States Consulate General's office in Hong Kong is meager and current proposals for relaxation of rules will make it easier for the Chicoms to filter agents into the United States through the easiest route, that is, an alien or a citizen fully documented. These two programs also are one of the best sources for the development of informants and the gathering of positive intelligence information. These programs are fully justified for continuation and no additional manpower or expenditure requests are needed at this time for the continuation of these two programs.

5. Frequency of Evaluation and Date of Last Justification

These programs are evaluated annually. The alien program was last justified on 1/22/70 and the citizen program will be justified with the alien program on 1/22/71. On 9/18/70, a memorandum was submitted indicating that the citizen program would be coordinated with and justified with the alien program during January, 1971.

INTELLIGENCE COVERAGE OF FRIENDLY FOREIGN COUNTRIES (Bufile: 65-63113)

1. Background, Scope and Objectives

Program was inaugurated 1954 aimed at developing positive intelligence information, as well as data of value to FBI investigations. Expansion of the program took place in 1955 and 1959 and during 1962 and 1963, as well as in 1970, additional coverage was approved.

The program has three principal phases as follows:

a. Regular notification to the FBI by other U. S. agencies regarding arrival in U. S. of intelligence personnel from non-Soviet bloc countries. This phase consists chiefly of file reviews at Seat of Government at nominal expense.

b. Maintenance of special coverage on official establishments of selected non-Soviet bloc countries with the approval of State Department and the Attorney General. We currently have special coverage on eleven diplomatic establishments of seven non-Soviet bloc countries and three additional installations as recently approved by the Attorney General. Countries currently covered are Panama, Israel, Jordan, the United Arab Republic, Chile, Bolivia and Peru. Our cost in operating this phase of the program is related to translation of the intelligence product and salary of personnel who man special coverage equipment. Costs are analyzed on an individual basis each time the special coverage is justified. This justification is based on the value of the data developed.

c. This phase relates to the development of live sources within diplomatic establishments of non-Soviet bloc countries as well as the development of individuals so closely connected with official establishments they are able to provide accurate up-to-date intelligence information. We now have 47 actual and 22 potential live sources at the establishments of 25 non-Soviet-bloc countries. The principal cost involved in this phase relates to Agent time devoted to investigations of sources and time spent in handling these sources.

2. Positive Results Achieved

This program has enabled us to provide the White House and the highest level of the intelligence community a continuing flow of valuable foreign political information affecting the national and international interests of the U.S. The program was particularly productive in our coverage of such critical areas of tension as the Middle East crisis, the continuing crisis in Panama, and the recurrent political crises created in South America through the unseating and establishment of regimes in the various countries covered. In the areas mentioned, as well as in other fringe nationality areas, this program has served as a basis for obtaining information which has provided U.S. Government with current data regarding the international political scene and has contributed otherwise unobtainable information for the benefit of those responsible for policy decisions at the highest level of our Government. An example of the importance of this information is illustrated in the comments of the U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, Charles W. Yost, made by him in a letter dated 11/13/70 to the Director. Ambassador Yost noted that the support given to the U.S. United Nations Mission by the Bureau was deeply appreciated by him and had afforded him privileged insight and perspective.

Don't use

The quality of this program is further attested to by realization by the White House of the capabilities of the FBI to produce positive foreign political intelligence with resulting instructions to the Bureau to expand this capability abroad in select liaison positions. As a result of these instructions, our capability in furnishing foreign political information was expanded through the opening of six new liaison posts in Beirut, Lebanon; Caracas, Venezuela; La Paz, Bolivia; Copenhagen, Denmark; Managua, Nicaragua; and Tel Aviv, Israel. With this expansion, our overseas liaison Agents were increased from 28 to 42 with supporting clerical personnel being increased in number from 32 to 46. This move has increased the number of our foreign posts from 11 to 17. (More detailed comment regarding increase in liaison abroad is set forth in the work papers of this inspection under Section 4-E, Accomplishments - Special Coordination Unit.)

3. Extent and Nature of Current Supervision

The program as it relates to all friendly foreign countries (except West Germany) is coordinated by the Number One Man of the Nationalities Intelligence Section working through the separate supervisors assigned to the individual country's desk within the Section.

4. Current Justification for Continuation

This program continues to produce information of substantial value relative to Bureau investigations as well as substantive foreign political information of vital interest to the White House and members of the intelligence community. The information continues to illustrate the FBI's ability to produce valuable intelligence information relative to foreign political matters and to solidify the Bureau's position as a valuable source of foreign intelligence data. It is recommended that this program be continued.

5. Periodic Justification

Program is evaluated annually and was last justified by memorandum dated 5/8/70.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS - DANGEROUS ALIENS OF NATIONS OUTSIDE THE SOVIET BLOC

Program was initiated in April, 1951, to create a centralized compilation of undesirable and potentially dangerous aliens with diplomatic immunity against whom State Department can, when wartime emergency arises, initiate steps for deportation or lifting of their diplomatic immunity.

The program applies only to aliens from countries outside the Soviet bloc employed in the United States in international organizations within provisions of International Organizations Immunities Act. The program is similar in intent to the Emergency Detention Program and the PRODIP Program; however, it involves an entirely different type of individual.

The program is a control device only and involves no investigative activity. Twenty-five individuals (as of 11/5/70) are included on the list with New York Office responsible for twenty and Washington Field Office responsible for five.

Current program requires only an annual letter with deletions or additions being made by separate letter as subjects involved qualify for elimination or inclusion. Substantive desk supervisors review field submissions to verify need for inclusion of individuals on list.

Program continues to serve a useful purpose as a precautionary measure for U. S. security in time of emergency. It is justified annually with last justification having been made 2/6/70.

PROGRAM 4-H

COUNTERINTELLIGENCE OPERATIONS AGAINST CHINESE COMMUNIST INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITIES IN THE UNITED STATES (CHICOIN)

(Bufile 105-135614)

SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL
NATIONALITIES INTELLIGENCE SECTION

1. Background and Date of Inception

Chinese Communist (Chicom) intelligence service, lacking base from which to operate in United States, must rely on illegal and third-country operations to develop intelligence data in U. S. Chicoin was instituted in May, 1965, to combat these efforts.

2. Scope and Desired Objectives

To create situations and place our informants in contact with known Chicom agents in foreign countries, with ultimate aim being Chicom recruitment of our assets for illegal operation within U. S., resulting in penetration of Chicom intelligence activities inside our borders.

3. Positive Results Achieved Since Last Inspection

In August, 1970, we directed Los Angeles informant, code name DINA, to travel to Canada to initiate contact with representatives of New China News Agency (NCNA) who are known Chicom intelligence agents. Source succeeded in making such contact and arousing interest of NCNA personnel. As bonus, source also encountered a double agent (code name ICED TEA) operated by Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) who has assignment from NCNA principal to recruit illegal agent in U. S., and who now intends to propose recruitment of DINA to Chicoms.

Seattle source, code name JUDD, has developed close association with key Chicom sympathizer in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, and during period was invited to visit two Chicom ships in port at Vancouver. Source also made trip to San Francisco for his Chicom friends, taking with him books and messages for individuals there from pro-Chicom individuals in Canada.

Two other sources, NY 5896-S and SF 2739-S, maintained personal contact with personnel of China Travel Service (CTS) in Hong Kong during period. CTS is Chicom agency specializing in arrangement trips to mainland China, and front for Chicom Intelligence.

4. Extent and Nature of Current Supervision

Chicoin Program is handled by one Bureau Supervisor who correlates activities of field offices involved to insure proper direction of informants and control of specialized double agent operations. Close supervision of cases is maintained.

5. Current Justification for Continuance

Counterintelligence and penetration of Chicom intelligence operations is long-term process. Sources developed to date under this program present excellent potential for such penetration, especially in light of fact Chicoms expected to open Embassy in Ottawa, Canada, in next thirty to sixty days, with strong possibility Consulates will also be opened in border cities such as Vancouver. RCMP expects at least 50% of all future Chicom operations in Canada will be directed against United States and present sources loom large in penetration of such operations. Further, strong possibility exists Red China will finally gain admittance to United Nations during Fall, 1971, a move which makes development of quality sources in this field most imperative.

6. Frequency of Evaluation and Date of Last Justification

Program justified annually, last justification being on 5/7/70.

PROGRAM
COMMUNIST COVERAGE ALONG THE MEXICAN BORDER
BOCOV
BUFILE: 100-356015

Background and Date of Inception

BOCOV was initiated by the Director in 1948 to fill a void in adequacy of coverage in the 25 mile border zone south of the U. S.-Mexican border by the Central Intelligence Agency and the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Scope and Desired Objectives

Three border offices, El Paso, San Antonio and San Diego, as well as the office of the Legal Attache, Mexico, participate. Ten Agents and two Assistant Legal Attaches devote a portion of their time, directing some 212 sources and informants. The population of the zone areas involved is approximately 1,700,000 individuals of which 2,371 are either members or sympathizers of major Mexican subversive groups.

Positive Results Achieved Since Last Inspection

Program has furnished valuable information relative to threat against U. S. by Mexican subversives residing in the border area. Investigative results are furnished to all levels of interested U. S. Government intelligence community. Program continues to keep us advised of potential trouble areas and allows for appropriate counter-measures.

Domestic Intelligence Division

Extent and Nature of Current Supervision

Periodic reports on individuals and organizations as well as informant coverage relating to BOCOV are analyzed and correlated by SA Joseph E. Gauzens, Jr. Involved is review of incoming letters, memoranda, reports and semi-annual progress letters detailing informant coverage and subversive strength. Analysis of this material provides a basis for detecting weaknesses and making arrangements for counter-intelligence moves.

Cutbacks initiated by the Bureau for the purpose of conserving manpower and streamlining operations have substantially reduced manpower and number of informants utilized. Agents and Legal Attaches participating were reduced from 16 to 12; informants and sources utilized from 312 to 212. These reductions resulted in annual savings of $19,934.65 and total manpower currently utilized on the program is 1.72 Agents. Effectiveness of BOCOV and our ability to re-expand the program should future circumstances warrant were not impaired by the cutbacks cited.

Current Justification for Continuance

BOCOV continues to fill the above-described intelligence void and, in addition, is coordinated with other intelligence programs originating in the border area, in particular the SECOMEX program.

Frequency of Evaluation and Date of Last Justification

Program is evaluated annually and was last justified 10/2/70.

BOCOV

Bocov is a code word which concerns a highly sensitive intelligence operation of this Bureau which was in effect from 4/24/48 until 9/11/72. The purpose of this operation was to attempt to identify foreign subversive elements entering the U. S. Although this operation is no longer in existence, the disclosure of the fact that it was once carried on would undoubtedly severely impair the abilities of this Bureau to fulfill its domestic obligations, not only with regard to the internal security of the U. S., but also in investigating criminal matters of an international nature. Furthermore, unauthorized disclosure of details of this operation could jeopardize the lives of individuals who cooperated with this Bureau and who are currently residing abroad.

NAME CHECKS OF ALIENS HOLDING DIPLOMATIC AND INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION VISAS

This program was initiated in January, 1952, as a means of keeping the Attorney General advised of information of a subversive nature relating to the diplomats and officials of foreign countries entering the United States in official capacities. These data are required by the Attorney General to assist in discharging his responsibilities under the Immigration and Nationality Act for exclusion and/or deportation of foreign officials where their activity requires such action.

The basis for this program is found in the procedure by Immigration and Naturalization Service in its submission of a form advising of the arrival of the alien officials in this country, which form is sent to member agencies of the intelligence community. The separate agencies perform name checks on the data in these forms with the results being channelized to the FBI. We correlate this information with data from our files and furnish same to the Attorney General. In those instances where additional investigation appears warranted, we obtain clearance from Department of State and issue appropriate instructions to the field for active investigation.

Since the program was initiated, 617,290 Immigration and Naturalization Service forms have been processed and we have undertaken 452 investigations based on results thereof.

The program continues to supplement our overall coverage in the intelligence field with the majority of the work being handled by trained clerical personnel within the Nationalities Intelligence Section and some isolated instances of involved investigations being handled by substantive desk supervisors within the Division. Based on the limited number of active investigations opened since the inception of this program, the cost of the program consists mainly of name check expenditures. The program continues to serve a necessary purpose in our overall intelligence coverage, serving to alert us to the presence in this country of persons having a capability for intelligence activities or who may pose a security threat to the United States.

The program is justified annually, with the last justification having been made February 9, 1970.

SECURITY INDEX - CUBA
(Bufile 100-358086-210)

Background and Date of Inception

This program was instituted in November, 1960. By that date it was obvious that Cuba, whose Government had been taken over by Fidel Castro in January, 1959, was a communist state posing a real and present threat to the internal security of the U. S. In 1962, at the time of the Cuban missile crisis, a Supervisor at the Bureau was assigned the specific responsibility for administering this program to assure the apprehension and special handling of the individuals included therein in the event of a limited emergency involving Cuba.

Scope and Desired Objectives

As of 12/15/70, there were 419 individuals included in the Security Index - Cuba Program, divided into two categories:

1. Individuals placed on the Security Index solely on account of their pro-Cuban activities. (Cuban Special Section - 96 persons).

2. Persons already on the Security Index because of other subversive connections and activity who would warrant special attention in the event of hostilities with Cuba (Security Index subjects tabbed "Pro-Cuban" - 323 individuals).

Program is designed to maintain an up-to-date record of location and activities of individuals included therein, by means of established Security Index procedures and reporting, in order that we are in a position to move swiftly should the apprehension or special handling of these persons become necessary.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

Positive Results Achieved

Determination as to the validity of an individual's inclusion in this program is constantly under review. Since the last inspection, critical attention has been given this matter with the result that the number of persons on the Cuban Special Section of the Index has been reduced from 193 as of 3/16/70 to 96 as of 12/15/70. These 96 persons are judged to be the hard-core pro-Cubans, action against whom in a Cuban emergency would be mandatory. Of these 96, 27 are Cuban aliens. Each subject of pending security investigation with Cuban ramifications is considered for inclusion in the Index.

Extent and Nature of Current Supervision

The Supervisor responsible for this program is required to review each investigative communication in current cases of pro-Cuban individuals to determine whether the individual meets the criteria for inclusion in the Index, as outlined in the Manual of Instructions. He must make a decision as to the degree of dangerousness of the individual under the Priority Apprehension Program and rule on the field's recommendations regarding these matters. He initiates procedures with the Security Index Desk of the Domestic Intelligence Division and the Voucher Statistical Section of the Administrative Division regarding the placing of an individual on the Index, his removal, and assignment or change in Priority.

If the individual involved is an alien, correspondence with the Internal Security Division of the Department is required to assure the preparation of a pre-positioned arrest warrant by Immigration and Naturalization Service. Action is also taken with the Department to cancel the arrest warrant if the alien is removed from the Index.

On 10/29/70, the Director approved the lifting of the moratorium on report writing and certain investigative procedures in security cases on individuals. This will require the field to reopen by 6/30/71 and conduct investigation in cases on some 372 individuals involved in this program who have not received recent investigative attention. The Bureau will receive in the upcoming months summary reports, letterhead memoranda and other communications in virtually all of these cases. The moratorium, in effect since February, 1969, has limited investigative and reporting activity in this field. As of 1/11/71 there were 18 active and 78 inactive case in the Cuban Special Section of the Security Index (19% of the 96 case total) and at the time of the last inspection there were 25 active and 168 inactive cases (13% of the 193 case total).

Current Justification

The threat to the internal security of the U. S. from communist Cuba has not lessened in recent years. A workable priority apprehension system which receives current and continuing attention is mandatory. Instant program, as presently organized and handled, is fully justified.

Frequency of Evaluation and Date of Last Evaluation.

This program is evaluated on a semi-annual basis. The most recent semi-annual review and evaluation was dated 10/8/70.

AMERICAN REPATRIATE PROGRAM

BACKGROUND AND DATE OF INCEPTION - Program was instituted on February 28, 1962, to specify procedure to be followed upon receipt of information that U. S. citizen residing in Cuba had been issued a Swiss Protection Passport by Swiss Embassy in Havana, Cuba, for travel to U. S. Few Americans, however, received such passports prior to 1966 when the State Department estimated 800-900 U. S. citizens were still in Cuba and desired to return to the U. S. In February, 1967, when it appeared these U. S. citizens might be permitted to leave Cuba en mass, instructions were issued to field outlining investigation to be conducted relative to individual repatriates.

SCOPE AND DESIRED OBJECTIVES - Specific objectives of program are verification of repatriate's identity; ascertaining whether the individual has or had Cuban intelligence contact, training or assignment, or possesses intelligence information; and instructing individuals to alert us to any future intelligence contact. Program is field wide.

POSITIVE RESULTS ACHIEVED - From August, 1969, to July, 1970, eleven flights brought an average of 18 citizens out of Cuba per flight. These repatriates were accompanied by a total of 425 relatives and/or close friends, all of whom were Cuban aliens. Some 300 U. S. citizens remain in Cuba awaiting repatriation. There have been no repatriation flights since July 31, 1970.

Program has alerted us to return to this country of Security Index subjects, Castro sympathizers, individuals who traveled to Cuba without State Department authorization and individuals affiliated with Communist Party, USA. As a result of interviews conducted with repatriates, worthwhile data concerning conditions in Cuba has been obtained and disseminated to the U. S. Intelligence Community.

EXTENT AND NATURE OF CURRENT SUPERVISION - Program is supervised by one Seat of Government Agent who devotes a portion of his time. All cases are afforded careful supervision in an effort to detect presence of a repatriate who may have been recruited by the Cuban Intelligence Service for activity in this country. Thirty-two cases are pending.

CURRENT JUSTIFICATION FOR CONTINUANCE - Fidel Castro has consistently used the mass exodus of individuals from Cuba to infiltrate intelligence agents into the U. S. Program offers excellent potential for detecting such individuals who reenter this country under the protective coverage of their citizenship. We feel that the program is fully justified.

FREQUENCY OF EVALUATION AND DATE OF LAST JUSTIFICATION - An annual evaluation is made. The program was last justified on September 1, 1970.

SECTION CHIEF GEORGE C. MOORE/
RACIAL INTELLIGENCE SECTION

RACIAL MATTERS

Racial matters investigations were intensified through establishment of the Racial Intelligence Section on 10/2/67. This Section handles racial matters investigations involving black extremist organizations and individuals. Objectives are to identify organizations and individuals that are involved in extremist activities, that advocate or had actually committed or have conspired to commit acts of violence, that advocate revolutionary or terrorist activities and that violate Federal laws. The dangerousness to the United States of such individuals must be assessed and a determination made as to whether they should be included in the Security Index or the Agitator Index. The extent of foreign influence or influence of the Communist Party or other domestic revolutionary groups among racial extremists, especially black extremist organizations, is a prime objective. To accomplish these objectives, sources have been developed who can furnish quality and timely information concerning individual extremists and extremist organizations. Such sources likewise have forewarned us of potential violence and enabled the Bureau to stay on top of the racial situation. These sources have assisted the Bureau in executing its responsibilities of alerting local authorities and to keep other Government agencies dependent upon us for information informed of pertinent developments including information concerning potential violence.

Our informant coverage has made it possible for us to keep a constant flow of information going to the White House, the Attorney General and other Government agencies having an interest. Additional information pertaining to racial intelligence matters and the survey regarding "Potential for Racial Violence" is set forth under data furnished by the Research Section.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/12/71
WHA:sef

Reports submitted by the field are thoroughly reviewed at the Seat of Government to insure that essential information is being obtained on a timely basis and that it is being promptly disseminated in the field, as well as at the Seat of Government.

The Director on 11/27/70 in testimony before the Senate Appropriation Committee for the purpose of securing additional Special Agents emphasized again the violent and revolutionary nature of the Black Panther Party (BPP). He testified there has been an alarming increase in the number of black extremist attacks against law enforcement officers; BPP publications consistently advocate violence, including assassination and kidnapings, to achieve overthrow of the Establishment; BPP leaders have participated in crimes of violence; and Black Panthers have substantial connections with hostile foreign elements, notably the communist regime in North Korea and Arab terrorists in Algeria. Increasing ties between Arab terrorists and Black Panthers, according to the Director, raise the ominous possibility that militants may seek to ape Arab tactics, including airplane hijackings, to gain the release of jailed Panther members.

BLACK NATIONALIST MOVEMENT
Bufile 157-8415

Since 1/7/69 all offices have submitted semiannual reports presenting concisely a complete picture of black extremist activity in its area. This enabled us to identify groups and individuals involved in black extremist activities, to develope quality informants who report on such activities and to initiate intensified and penetrative investigations of such individuals and groups. Since the desired objectives for which these reports were originally designed had been realized, since field informs us on a timely basis in substantive cases of pertinent data concerning this movement and to insure manpower is utilized on priority matters, the Director on 7/6/70 authorized discontinuance of these reports.

On 3/8/69 the Black Nationalist Photographic Album (BNPA) was established to assist in identification of militant black extremists who travel extensively.

The BNPA is maintained in all offices. BNPA includes a photograph and biographical data on leaders of black extremist organizations and militant black nationalists who are known to travel. Each office prepares a form on such individuals within its territory and the form is then furnished to the Bureau and all offices where it is maintained in a complete album. In the event of travel by any of these individuals, the office covering the area being visited already has a photograph and biographical sketch of the individual immediately available. The album is also furnished to the Legats in Ottawa and Mexico City and to the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Central Intelligence Agency, in the event of foreign travel. Over 300 extremists are currently carried in this album.

In view of importance of an individual's fingerprint classification for identification purposes, the field by letter dated 5/8/70 was instructed to include such data in biographical sketch concerning each individual included in the BNPA and to amend those sketches then included in the Album to show such data.

The BNPA was also broadened to include black extremists who are Bureau fugitives. This insured each office having a photograph and biographical sketch immediately available for use in conducting investigation to locate such fugitives or in apprehending them.

By SAC Letter 70-65, item (D), dated 11/17/70, the field was advised that, henceforth, deletions of individuals from the BNPA would require Bureau authorization since Bureau did not agree with some deletions made by field which resulted in unwarranted action by all field offices.

To insure broad circulation among investigative personnel and to serve as an avenue for greater utilization of informants especially racial sources, we initiated the Black Extremist Bureau Fugitives list in June, 1970. This list, which is prepared monthly and sent each field office and selected Legats, identifies those Bureau fugitives who by reason of their activities or organizational affiliations are black extremists. Currently there are 45 fugitives carried on the list, 9 of whom are IO fugitives. Twenty of these fugitives are reportedly living outside the U.S. This list has given greater emphasis to the location of these fugitives, particularly among Special Agents handling racial matters and racial informants and has been effective in affording greater exposure of these fugitives among racial informants. Fifteen of these fugitives have been arrested since the list was initiated, with 5 being arrested in December, 1970. One of those arrested in December is the reported leader of the Black Panther Party (BPP) underground.

Racial Intelligence Section prepares monthly a Racial Calendar pertaining to the Black Nationalist Movement in this country. This Calendar identifies scheduled racial events throughout the country which are more than local in nature as well as all major scheduled events which could logically develop into a racial event. Purpose of the Calendar is to assist field in coverage of these events in view of widespread travel on the part of black nationalists in attendance at such affairs and to take part in demonstrations commemorating certain anniversaries of interest to blacks. A listing of recently published publications and articles concerning the black nationalist movement is also set forth in the Calendar. Publications included are public source and are identified to assist the field in keeping on top of writing by and about black nationalists and the black nationalist movement.

Black extremist activities are concentrated in organized activities of over 66 groups, some of which have chapters in major cities throughout this country. The violence-prone Black Panther Party, for example, has 48 branches throughout U.S. Hard-core membership in these black extremist groups totals about 9,600. This membership figure, however, disguises real following of extremist groups in black areas of our cities and extent of influence and leadership they exercise. These organizations, and particularly BPP, have substantial sympathetic support, especially from young blacks, which is frequently surfaced during confrontations with police.

Extent of black extremist strength is illustrated by Louis Harris Poll which was set forth in 4/6/70 issue of "Time." The Poll projects that nine per cent of all blacks, some two million Americans, call themselves "revolutionaries" and believe only a "readiness to use violence" will achieve equality. Twenty-five per cent have "a great deal" of respect for the BPP. Most alarming is that 40 per cent of those in the age group 14-21 years old believe violence is necessary to achieve equality.

The following pages set forth summaries concerning the key black extremist organizations that are presently under active and penetrative investigation.

The Black Panther Party (BPP), a black extremist organization, continues to be extremely active throughout the country. Formed during late 1966 in Oakland, California, for the obstensible purpose of patrolling the black community to prevent alleged police brutality, it was originally known as the Black Panther Party for Self-Defense.

It expanded rapidly throughout the United States during 1967-68, then suffered a gradual decline during 1969. Revitalized in December, 1969, and throughout the 1970s it has again currently expanded until today there are approximately 48 branches of the BPP with an estimated 1,000 hard-core members supported by many thousands of sympathizers. It also has an international office in Algiers, Algeria. The branches include 17 chapters and 31 affiliated groups that masquerade under the names of National Committee to Combat Fascism or Black Community Information Center.

The ultimate goal of the BPP is the violent overthrow of the United States Government and its replacement with a Marxist-Leninist system. The BPP openly advocates urban guerrilla warfare, assassination of Government leaders and other forms of violent terrorism. Since its inception, the BPP has aimed its most vicious invectives against law enforcement and particularly local police. "Off the pigs," BPP jargon for "kill the cop" is the battle cry of the organization. The weekly Panther newspaper, "The Black Panther," and its other publications and propaganda paraphernalia are abound with articles and cartoons encouraging lethal attacks against police and other forms of authority.

Our investigation of the BPP was instituted in 1967 and since that time has expanded as the organization itself expanded.

By letter to all offices dated 2/27/70, approved by the Director, offices having BPP investigations were instructed to submit intelligence reports on the BPP every six months in compliance with instructions in the Manual of Instructions. Previously offices were submitting quarterly reports on the BPP. The changes made on the basis of a recommendation by a Racial Informants Conference of field supervisors to eliminate some paper work in the field.

All field offices having a BPP investigation are also required to submit a monthly report containing evidentiary data required by the Department. Original instructions in this regard were issued by Bureau airtel 12/3/68 and the continued submission of this monthly report is necessary in view of possible prosecution of the BPP.

All field offices conducting an active BPP investigation are required to submit a monthly airtel summary of the status and activities of the BPP within its territory. This survey was commenced as a biweekly summary in November, 1968, and changed to a monthly summary on the approval of the Director by letter to all offices dated 2/27/70. This change is a result of a recommendation by the Racial Informants Conference of field supervisors to cut down paper work in the field. The monthly summary relieves the field of some paper work and at the same time keeps the Bureau and the field up to date on BPP developments.

San Francisco as office of origin in the BPP case continues to submit a biweekly summary and analysis of the BPP. Because of the excellence of this summary and the need for such an analysis by the field, San Francisco was instructed by Bureau airtel 1/21/70 to furnish copies of its summary to all continental offices which is the current practice.

All field offices conducting an active BPP investigation were instructed by airtel 6/17/70 to submit a monthly summary on the financial activities of each BPP branch. This financial summary includes data on sources of income, foreign funding, expenses, the mechanics of local finance operations, and the steps being taken by each office to develop full financial data. This summary enables the Bureau to keep abreast of all financial developments regarding the BPP on a national and international basis.

By airtel to all continental offices 11/6/70 all field offices conducting an active BPP investigation were instructed to submit a biweekly airtel containing specific comments regarding underground BPP operations within the area of each field office. This includes progress in the identity and interviewing of expelled BPP members who, it has been determined, are the logical candidates for membership in the BPP underground. The underground operation of the BPP has an ultimate goal of terroristic guerrilla warfare. It is a recent development in the operation of the BPP which is the subject of an intensive investigation. The biweekly summary enables the Bureau to keep abreast of all developments in the underground and to intelligently coordinate the investigation thereof.

In recent months the Black Panther Party has formed a corporation known as Stronghold Consolidated Productions, Inc. (SCPI) to control all BPP funds and assets and to act as purchaser and/or lessee of any property utilized by the BPP. The corporation and its activities are under intensive investigation which has revealed that its activities are centered in San Francisco and New York. By airtel 1/7/71 to San Francisco and New York, these offices were instructed to submit a weekly summary in form suitable for dissemination of all pertinent developments concerning the corporation during the previous week. This summary keeps the Bureau aware of SCPI operations and also enables us to regularly fulfill our dissemination requirements.

It is noted that there are currently 32 field offices conducting active investigations of the BPP. Our intensive investigation has enabled us to identify its leaders, members and new branches. In addition, we have developed detailed information concerning its operations and activities including organization plans, funding programs, extent of control by headquarters and foreign support. In addition, evidentiary information that could support prosecution is regularly furnished to the Department.

Our ultimate objective is of course the prosecution of the BPP for violations of Federal criminal, civil rights and security statutes. A secondary objective is to more completely develop details of the BPP for intelligence purposes.

In July, 1969, the Attorney General established a special task force for the specific purpose of developing a prosecutive theory against the BPP. Attorneys of this task force, known as the Special Interdivisional Unit, have interviewed many of our informants in furtherance of this purpose and have instituted a continuing Federal Grand Jury in San Francisco. Ten of our informants have testified before this Federal Grand Jury and its is anticipated that others will be called.

It is recommended that the intensive investigation of the BPP including all surveys and procedures outlined as above be continued.

157-16554

The CAP was formed as an international revolutionary organization as the result of the convening of the fourth annual gathering of black power advocates in the United States in Atlanta, Georgia, September 3-7, 1970. This gathering was unique in that it was attended by approximately 2,500 blacks of so-called moderate and militant persuasion, as well as a large number of extremists. Representatives attended from 35 states and 21 different nations, including Canada, Australia, various independent nations of Africa, and the Caribbean area.

A number of the workshops at the CAP were dominated by extremist elements who urged the creation of massive cooperative programs and institutions designed to destroy any progress made toward integration of the races by complete rejection of white society, the formation of a separatist black nation, national African parties, and, ultimately, a World African Party.

These objectives are to be achieved through the unification, cooperation, and interdependence of blacks wherever they reside, regardless of their "imposed" nationalities, and under the revolutionary ideological banner of Pan-Africanism of the well-known black extremist Stokely Carmichael.

Specifically, CAP's domestic extremist element, headed by black revolutionaries Hayward Henry and LeRoi Jones from Newark, New Jersey, calls for extensive use of disruptive tactics against all segments of white-dominated institutions and organizations, including the police and the military.

Since its founding in Atlanta, CAP has held a number of regional meetings in various sections of the United States for the purpose of setting up its national organization and in furtherance of its revolutionary programs. As a result, CAP is currently activating in at least 17 different cities with its national headquarters and Chairman Hayward Henry located in Boston, Massachusetts. LeRoi Jones, however, appears to be the dominant figure in the organization.

Current CAP planning indicates the organization intends to move aggressively through deceptive programs to establish black political power through four basic activities which are:

(1) influencing of black political candidates;

(2) organization of the black community;

(3) formation of coalitions with all dissident and extremist groups whether white or black so long as CAP benefits from same; and

(4) the massive use of disruptive tactics.

CAP has emerged as yet another deadly threat to racial harmony and, as a result of its programs and ties with foreign extremist elements and well-known revolutionary Stokely Carmichael, must also be considered an imposing threat to the national security.

Investigations of the CAP, its leaders, and extremist affiliates are receiving most close supervision. Pertinent data developed in regard to their activities is being disseminated to the Department and to interested Government agencies and officials.

REPUBLIC OF NEW AFRICA 4-H
Bufile 157-9079

The Republic of New Africa (RNA), formed in Detroit, Michigan in March, 1968 by followers of Malcolm X, assassinated black extremist, has chapters in ten U.S. cities and a current hard-core membership of 100-130 individuals.

RNA was primarily formed by Milton and Richard Henry, black extremists of long standing in the Detroit, Michigan, area. When first formed, the RNA named as its President in exile Robert Franklin Williams, violence-prone black extremist then residing in China. Williams has since returned to the U.S. but has resigned from his position as head of the RNA due to his own legal problems and dissension existing within the organization.

RNA was established to create a black nation within the U.S. demanding from the U.S. Government the States of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, in addition to individual reparations of $10,000 per black citizen as payment for 400 years of ancestral slave labor.

RNA's organizational structure was designed to be revolutionary in character and its founders proposed that efforts be made for international recognition and financial assistance from Cuba, Red China and the black nations of the world. RNA established a black army known as the Black Legion whose duty was to protect the persons and property and to attack the enemies (the police) of that nation. Training programs were instituted and uniforms complete with the leopard skin epaulets were disigned as the official dress for the Black Legionnaires.

High point in the RNA's activities occurred during a national convention in Detroit, Michigan, in March 1969, when members of the Black Legion engaged in armed confrontation with Detroit police resulting in the death of one policeman and the serious wounding of another. The RNA is currently split with dissension with two distinct factions. The Richard Henry Faction with headquarters in New Orleans, Louisiana, is the most active and militant of the two groups. The other faction is headed by Milton Henry with headquarters in Detroit, Michigan. Current plans of Richard Henry call for an intensification of RNA activities throughout the U.S.

SNCC was originally organized in Atlanta, Georgia, in 1960 under the name Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. Prior to the election of Stokely Carmichael as its Chairman in May, 1966, the organization operated as a nonmembership civil rights organization with both white and black participation. Carmichael, on assuming the Chairmanship of SNCC, immediately eliminated all whites from participation and changed the organization from a civil rights-oriented group to one whose aims were those of antiwhite revolutionary action and the overthrow of the United States Government, a position which the organization maintains today.

H. Rap Brown, Bureau fugitive and well-known black extremist who served as National Chairman for a time following Carmichael's vacating of that position in 1967, again assumed the National Chairmanship of SNCC in the Summer of 1969. At that time, it was announced SNCC was eliminating the word "nonviolent" from its title. The organization's headquarters were also moved from Atlanta, Georgia, to New York City.

Under Brown's direction, SNCC moved to restructure and revitalize itself in an attempt to regain its prominence as a black extremist organization. The national leadership issued directives on the reorganization of the national office in New York City, as well as the local organizations and the formation of councils to include a Revolutionary Economic Council, an Armed Guerrilla Tactics Council, a Research Council, and others which make up a body within SNCC known as the Revolutionary Political Council.

Included among new organizational procedures are plans for raising the number of active participants in local cadres, the obtaining and training in the use of weapons, the purchase of land for ostensible use in an Agrarian Reform Plan to aid black tenant farmers but which will also serve as a weapons training site. Training manuals on revolutionary activities, including guerrilla warfare and the medical care of wounded or injured persons, have been prepared and are to be disseminated to local SNCC chapters in furtherance of this reorganization.

As a result of H. Rap Brown's flight in May, 1970, to avoid prosecution in Howard County, Maryland, on local charges of inciting to riot and arson, SNCC is presently under the titular leadership of William Edward Hunt. Hunt also serves as head of the organization's Revolutionary Political Council.

Hunt has successfully directed the opening of a "coffeehouse" known as the Third Eye Lounge in Augusta, Georgia. This facility, in line with SNCC's historical anti-Vietnam War posture, is to serve as a propaganda center from which to foment anti-Vietnam War sentiments among black military personnel at Fort Gordon, Georgia, as well as among the black civilian population in that area. In addition, Hunt has initiated publication and distribution of a revolutionary news organ known as "National SNCC." Aggressive programs are underway to obtain new SNCC activists, and in an effort to capture the support of black females, the organization recently formed The Third World Women's Alliance under the leadership of Fran Beal, a member of SNCC's Revolutionary Political Council.

Strong evidence of progress in connection with the organization's plans to initiate guerrilla warfare tactics is given by development of recent information indicating Hunt and other SNCC leaders are in the process of selecting a number of candidates to receive such training in North Korea. These individuals, on completion of training, will serve as instructors in various parts of the country, thus providing SNCC with a well-trained, hard-core cadre of personnel capable of initiating acts of terror against individuals and institutions of Government in furtherance of their revolutionary objectives.

Investigations of SNCC, its leaders, affiliates, and their activities continue to receive close supervision. Information of pertinence concerning the organization continues to be disseminated to the Department and other interested Government agencies and officials.

JUNTA OF MILITANT ORGANIZATIONS
BUFILE 157-9903

The Junta of Militant Organizations (JOMO) is a black extremist organization with headquarters in St. Petersburg, Florida. It is the leading organization for all black militant groups in Florida. JOMO was founded in St. Petersburg during May, 1968, with 85 ghetto youths, who believed liberation of black people will not come about through "normal channels." The organization has affiliated groups in Louisville, Kentucky and Gainesville, Florida. During December, 1970, leaders of JOMO decided to expand their operation throughout the nation. Attempts are currently being made to create chapters in Boston, Massachusetts and Miami, Florida. Joseph Waller, Jr., the articulate founder of JOMO, and present chairman of the organization intends to have all black militant groups in Florida designated as organization chapters.

The organization's voice and propaganda are carried out through the publication "The Burning Spear." This publication has urged blacks to buy arms and to be prepared to fight white America. In this connection, JOMO members have participated in racial demonstrations, used fire bombs and have been involved in attacks on police through use of violence. Members reportedly blew up a radio station in Tampa, Florida, and recently participated in a plot to break out two black political prisoners from a Florida prison. Eight members of the organization were arrested in 1970 for committing three murders and 15 armed robberies. One of the murders was committed to obtain money to pay a water bill for JOMO headquarters.

The organization is in the process of accumulating weapons and making plans for members to be taught guerrilla warfare and firearms training. In this connection leaders are interested in establishing contact with revolutionary African groups. Waller desires to create within the organization "Simba Warriors" who would act whenever violence might be necessary in order to "bring down the white man." During December, 1970, Waller reportedly had in his possession two Thompson sub-machine guns.

NATION OF ISLAM
Bufile 25-330971

The Nation of Islam (NOI) is an all-Negro, semireligious organization headed by Elijah Muhammad, self-proclaimed messenger of Allah. Under Muhammad's leadership, the NOI has grown up into a nationwide organization with a well-disciplined and devoted membership of almost 6,000 comprised of approximately 50 numbered mosques and approximately 50 unnumbered groups.

The NOI continues to teach antiwhite, anti-United States philosophy of hate aimed at a complete separation of the races. It opposes any form of integration and at the same time has remained aloof from other black extremist groups who favor violence. During racial disturbances, NOI members are given instructions to not get involved in the rioting. The NOI also opposes the war in Vietnam as a war against other non-whites and implies in its teachings that members should not serve in the United States Armed Forces as they can only serve one master, Elijah Muhammad. It also supports the Arabs in their conflict with Israel in the Middle East. The NOI also publishes a weekly newspaper known as "Muhammad Speaks," which contains vicious antiwhite propaganda. An average of 475,000 copies of this newspaper are distributed each week in the black communities and ghetto areas throughout the United States.

We have conducted a continuous security and/or racial-type investigation of this organization since 1953 in accordance with directives of the Department. Each active NOI group is reported on semiannually and the functionaries and leaders of the organization are those being investigated. The Department by letter dated 7/28/66 requested our investigation of this organization be continued.

Communist Influence of Racial Groups
100-442529

This intensification was initiated in August, 1964. The subject matter was previously reported in a subsection of the Communist Party report, but the volume and importance of this information made it necessary to follow this communist influence in a separate investigation. This investigation includes not only the influence of the Communist Party but also that of the Trotskyite groups, splinter groups and others including the New Left.

The overall objective in this and related investigations is to protect the internal security of the United States by submitting information relating to possible Federal violations to the Attorney General for prosecution. We also have the responsibility to develop intelligence information and disseminate to interested Government agencies. Where feasible, certain counterintelligence measures are employed to neutralize the communist influence in the racial field.

Reports are submitted quarterly and the investigation is evaluated upon receipt of each report. Pertinent information is disseminated to the White House and the Attorney General.

The year 1970 saw continued influence by communists and other subversives in extremist groups. In fact, the communist attempts to influence the black extremist Black Panther Party were so insistent that the Panthers have become wary of the motives of the Communist Party. This has not diminished in any way the Communist Party's efforts to influence and support the Black Panther Party, the communist tactic being to support the Panthers whether they want it or not.

One illustration of the communist influence on the violence-prone Black Panther Party is the situation in which Huey Newton, Panther Supreme Commander, found himself in connection with a film on Angela Davis, the communist and black revolutionary being held in California on murder charges. The Communist Party, USA, sponsored a motion picture on Davis and invited Newton to film the introduction to the film. Newton conferred with Eldridge Cleaver, exiled Information Minister of the Panthers, and told Cleaver he positively would not film the introduction because it appeared he would be required to follow the Communist Party line and, according to Newton, the Panthers did not follow anyone's line. Despite Newton's seemingly hard stand on this, the Communist Party found ways to make him relent, and three days later he agreed to the communist request, muttering that he would be "damned if he did and damned if he didn't." As violent as they are, the Panthers are no match for the sophistication of the experienced communist intrigue.

The communist hoodwinking is not confined to the Black Panther Party. The Communist Party's well-oiled propaganda machine has started to artfully transform Angela Davis, the accomplice in the brutal murder of a judge in California, into a national monument and into a growing source of funds. Not new at this sort of thing, the communists are well on their way to surpassing the monetary returns they have received from other racial and ethnic causes they have exploited, such as the Scottsboro boys, nine young blacks convicted twice in the 1930s in Alabama for raping two white girls on a freight train.

The communist influence in the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), the organization of the late Martin Luther King, Jr., has continued since King's death. Although Hunter Pitts O'Dell, a communist, amicably terminated his position as aide to the SCLC President in December, 1970, his influence continues as does that of Stanley Levison and Harry Wachtel who also have communist backgrounds. Levison handles the SCLC fund-raising. In the past Levison and Wachtel operated behind the scenes; today they are listed in SCLC literature as directors of the SCLC.

In the past year, as anticipated, there has been a continued merging of racial activists and extremists with pro-Chinese communist groups, Trotskyites, the Students for a Democratic Society, and similar groups. In October, 1970, Elbert Howard, a Black Panther Party functionary, stated that the Black Panther Party is composed of Marxist-Leninist revolutionaries and no longer confines its interest to black power or black nationalism. He added that in the future the Panthers will encompass all revolutionaries regardless of race. We can expect this merger to continue.

COUNTERINTELLIGENCE PROGRAM - BLACK EXTREMISTS
Bufile 100-448006

Counterintelligence in the black extremist field is a supplement to our investigative activities that cannot be identified as a function of this Bureau because of its clandestine nature. The goals of it are to prevent violence and other illegal activities by black extremists and black extremist organizations, to prevent the growth and/or unification of black extremist groups, to prevent such groups from gaining respectability and to preclude the rising of a leader who might unify and electrify various extremist factions and individuals.

To achieve these objectives, techniques are employed to neutralize organizations and individuals involved in extremist activities that are a threat to the internal security of this country. These techniques are aimed to embarrass, expose or otherwise neutralize these organizations and individuals.

Counterintelligence action regarding black extremists was initiated 8/25/67 and was last justified 5/14/70.

Counterintelligence operations are supervised on individual case desks as a logical adjunct of our investigative activities. In addition, one supervisor is designated coordinator to insure that operations initiated in different offices do not conflict. A quarterly letter is submitted for each participating division showing operations under consideration and results gained. All communications authorizing the institution of any counterintelligence operaions are routed through Assistant to the Director William C. Sullivan; no operations are initiated by the field without Bureau approval.

Counterintelligence operations and techniques were thoroughly discussed with field representatives attending the October 22 and 23, 1970, conference at the Bureau concerning the Black Panther Party (BPP). The conference concluded counterintelligence was an effective tool and there was a definite need for counterintelligence operations to neutralize black extremist activities.

The effect on black extremists of some authorized counterintelligence operations are difficult to assess, but a substantial number effected since last inspection have had measurable consequences and some of these included the following:

Four articles revealing extremist nature of BPP based on information furnished a news media source in Mississippi resulted in the closing of the BPP chapter in Cleveland, Mississippi. Agents of the Jackson Office were commended by the Director for this operation.

Following the arrests of BPP leadership in New Haven after torture-murder of BPP member in May, 1969, a Black Panther from Boston was sent to New Haven to rebuild that chapter. He proved to be an energetic organizer who built a closely knit and highly disciplined organization that effectively brought about mass demonstrations, attracted additional membership and which posed a serious threat to established Government. To neutralize this dynamic leader, New Haven was authorized to forward an anonymous letter to national BPP headquarters in California alleging he had embezzled BPP funds. Since then, numerous reports have been received indicating he had fallen into disfavor with BPP leaders and his motives were suspect. This resulted in his transfer to an insignificant BPP chapter in North Carolina.

In Rochester, New York, an anonymous letter sent to the Superintendent of Schools resulted in cancellation of subscriptions to the obscene, hate-filled, extremist newspaper of the BPP by a high school. These newspapers had been used in classrooms and costs of subscriptions had been charged to the school system.

Philadelphia division was authorized to send a letter to BPP national headquarters bearing an excellent facsimile of signature of a former BPP officer in Philadelphia who had been expelled a week previously due to problems with BPP leadership in Philadelphia. The letter accused Philadelphia BPP members of stealing clothing, food and drugs collected for poor children. All of these accusations, incidentally, were true. Since this letter was sent, Philadelphia BPP chapter has experienced severe problems with BPP headquarters, has been chastised repeatedly and prevented from participating in some BPP activities. Several members were disciplined by transfers. Subsequently, this situation was exploited by an authorized mailing of an anonymous letter to Huey P. Newton, Supreme Commander and co-founder of BPP, which criticized the meetings held under BPP auspices in Philadelphia September 5-7, 1970, concerning the planning for BPP-sponsored Revolutionary People's Constitutional Convention. These counterintelligence operations were primarily responsible for expulsion of head of the Philadelphia BPP and many of his followers from BPP on 10/16/70. These individuals have formed an independent local group in Philadelphia which contends with BPP for local support in that city. Thus, another result of this operation has been the splintering of Philadelphia BPP chapter.

To exploit a split in BPP leadership in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Charlotte was authorized to prepare and send a leaflet to residents in vincinity of BPP headquarters. The leaflet insinuated the head of one BPP faction had pocketed donations secured for BPP Breakfast for Children Program. The leaflet caused consternation among BPP personnel and resulted in young Negro males poking fun at this BPP leader and accusing him of being a parasite. A decrease in financial donations to BPP followed the distribution of this leaflet.

Los Angeles set up a television expose of BPP in which George Putnam, newscaster KTTV-Los Angeles, California, noted that spread of Panther hoodlum-type revolutionary activity was a serious internal security threat, with law enforcement as its immediate target. He utilized the Director's comprehensive testimony on the BPP before the House Sub-Committee on Appropriations on 3/5/70 in bringing out the revolutionary and terroristic threat presented by BPP and its leaders. He concluded the program with the opinion that "we are subsidizing our own destruction if we allow this to continue."

To drive a wedge between BPP and many of its contributors, data concerning the anti-Zionist and anti-Semetic nature of BPP was furnished a news media source. As a result articles were published during June and July, 1970, in various newspapers throughout U.S., including "Long Island Press," Long Island, New York; "Daily News," Springfield, Massachusetts; and "Mobile Register," Mobile, Alabama. These articles discussed the close alliance developed between BPP and Al Fatah, an Arab terrorist organization waging guerrilla warfare against Israel. These articles emphasized that numerous pro-Arab and anti-Israeli articles have been published in the BPP newspaper and some of the latter articles called for the complete distruction of Israel.

The above articles as well as many other counterintelligence operations authorized since last inspection have contributed materially to drying up of contributions to BPP. Loss of revenue is one of the BPP's greatest problems and perhaps the best illustration is the drop in the size and circulation of the BPP newspaper, the Party's primary propaganda device. This paper has declined from 20 or more pages to 12 in its 1/2/71 issue and circulation at the end of the year was less than 100,000 after a high of 183,000 in October, 1970.

Counterintelligence action has also contributed or led to disruptions, dissension and factionalism in the BPP, the most important of the black extremist organizations. Sources have reported internal strife has developed among top BPP leaders and there is a growing distrust among them of one another. For example, Albert Howard, national leader who has been supervising BPP activities on East Coast, and Robert Bay, a BPP leader in New York, have been recalled to national BPP headquarters in California, where they were disciplined and severely criticized. In addition, SF 3421-R* on 12/26/70 reported a degree of dissension between Eldridge Cleaver, Minister of Information who is fugitive from justice and residing in Algeria, and Huey P. Newton. Informant learned Cleaver was extremely upset because BPP headquarters and particularly Newton are not keeping in touch with him and are not keeping him advised of key developments. This matter is being closely and aggressively followed for purpose of additional exploitation of these circumstances under this program.

Effective means of neutralizing black extremist groups is by drying up their sources of funds. We authorized the New York division to advise the Episcopal Church Center by anonymous letters that a $67,000 requested grant from the Episcopal Church Screening Board in New York, New York, to finance the Liberation School in Atlanta, Georgia, was in fact intended for use of Student National Coordinating Committee (SNCC) as the school was an operation of SNCC, a black extremist organization,and SNCC in seeking the grant had concealed its connection with the school. This operation resulted in the Church placing such low priority on this request that financial assistance for the school was precluded and the Liberation School was so advised. Since SNCC is in poor financial condition, this denial of funds was a blow to its endeavors to revitalize itself. The Director noted "excellent" on 9/3/70 memorandum which advised of this successful counterintelligence operation.

A highly successful counterintelligence operation exposed to college administrators the unethical and deceptive use made of college funds by Black Student Organization, Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Michigan, to purchase literature concerning the creation of explosive devices and concerning guerrilla warfare. As a result of this operation, college confiscated such literature, admonished Black Student Organization leaders and tightened administrative procedures to preclude similar misuse of its funds.

The Jackson Office was authorized to furnish data concerning Republic of New Africa (RNA), a violence-prone black extremist separatist organization, to a cooperative newspaper source, resulting in the publication of an excellent article exposing the violent nature of this organization on the front page of the only state-wide evening newspaper in Mississippi. This publicity on the evening before the RNA regional conference was to begin, jolted RNA leaders. In addition, Negro participants from Jackson area were shocked to learn of the violent nature of this group and withdrew their support. The scheduled agenda was shelved and the conference was completely disrupted. Agents of the Jackson Office and Domestic Intelligence Division Supervisor were commended by the Director for this operation.

THE KEY BLACK EXTREMIST PROGRAM

On December 23, 1970, the Key Black Extremist Program was initiated, with the Director's approval, to intensify our coverage of certain black extremists who are extremely active and most vocal in their calls for terrorism and violence. As the program started about 90 were included. With Bureau approval others may be added by the field. This program is to provide intensified coverage of the day-to-day activities and future plans of these people and to assure that all possible violations of law on their parts are vigorously investigated when they are within our jurisdiction and are referred promptly to the appropriate agency when they are not.

An investigative summary report on all these people is due by February 15, 1971. Thereafter an investigative report is to be submitted every 90 days.

BLACK STUDENT GROUPS ON COLLEGE CAMPUSES

On October 29, 1970, the Executive Conference approved a program to conduct discreet preliminary inquiries, limited to established sources, on Black Student Unions and similar groups, their leaders, and key activists to determine if the activities of these groups and individuals warrant further active investigation. On November 4, 1970, instructions were sent to the field to implement this program. The number of campuses involved is about 500, representing approximately 750 black student groups. The officers will represent about 2,500 cases and the key activists another 250. The potential for new cases in this program will approximate 3,500 cases. This program includes junior colleges and two-year colleges as well as four-year colleges.

RACIAL INFORMANTS

The prime purpose of development and utilization of racial informants and sources is to provide intelligence and evidentiary information concerning black and white racial extremist organizations and individuals. These sources are also called upon to furnish information concerning the general racial situation in all parts of the country.

Supervision of racial informants at Seat of Government includes review and approval of new informants and confidential sources, review of progress of informant every six months, review of payments being made to informants, analysis of informant coverage in each field office, analysis of nationwide informant coverage of an organization, coordination of informant coverage of specific functions such as the national convention of the Black Panther Party (BPP), and supervision of special projects such as development of top echelon BPP informant, using informant to develop information concerning a black extremist underground escape route and coordinating utilization of informants abroad with other agencies. All procedures are constantly evaluated in an effort to increase the efficiency of our operation and to provide the field with the necessary supervision and assistance with a minimum of paper work.

As of 1/12/71 we are operating a total of 7,184 racial informants, compared with a total of 5,485 at time of last inspection. This is an increase of 1,699 informants. 584 informants report on black extremist organizations. 376 informants report on white extremist organizations such as the Klan. (In line with recent reorganization of Domestic Intelligence Division, supervision of racial informants furnishing information on white extremists will shortly be transferred to the Internal Security Section.) We are operating 6,224 ghetto informants who provide general information within the black ghetto areas of our cities.

Informant coverage of black extremist groups has been increased since the last inspection with a significant increase being noted in our coverage of the BPP. At the time of the last inspection we operated 119 informants reporting on BPP as compared with 173 as of 1/12/71, which represents an increase of 54 informants.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/12/71
HEH:amk
4-H

Our ghetto informants have materially increased from 4,605 at the time of the last inspection to 6,224 as of 1/12/71, which represents an increase of 1,619.

At the time of the last inspection we were operating 438 informants furnishing information concerning white extremist organizations and as of 1/12/71 we are operating 376 such informants, which represents a decrease of 62. This is to be expected as a result of the continuing decline of Klan and other white extremist activities.

By memorandum dated 5/5/70 from G. C. Moore to Mr. W. C. Sullivan, captioned "Racial Informant Development, Black Panther Party (BPP), Racial Matters," it was recommended and approved that two Special Agents of the San Francisco Division be assigned to work exclusively on developing a top-level informant in the BPP. It was also approved that $1,000 could be expended for the purpose of developing a top-level informant. As part of this program we have been in contact with a national BPP leader on several occasions, and while he has not agreed to cooperate with this Bureau he remains friendly to the contacting Agents and further efforts are contemplated to induce his cooperation. In addition we have been successful in obtaining the cooperation of another national BPP leader's wife, and through her cooperation we have made contact with this leader. Again the leader has not indicated a willingness to cooperate; however, additional contacts will be initiated with him. This operation was specifically designed to develop top-level informant in the top echelon of the BPP which is critically needed. We will continue to pursue the development of a top-level informant until it is accomplished.

GHETTO INFORMANTS

Ghetto informant program was instituted 10/11/67 to fulfill an urgent need to develop a network of "listening posts" in the ghetto areas of our cities. Ghetto informants were those persons living or working in the ghetto areas who furnished information concerning general racial conditions in their areas. As the field has gained experience in the handling of ghetto informants their value has steadily increased. Ghetto informants today are being utilized by field offices to attend public meetings held by extremists, to survey extremist bookstores, to verify residences and employments of Agitator and Security Index subjects living or working in ghetto areas and to identify individuals responsible for extremist activities tending to increase racial tensions in the ghetto areas. We are also noting numerous instances wherein ghetto informants are being converted by the field to regular racial informants furnishing information on black extremist organizations and individuals. As a valuable by-product we are also picking up criminal statistics through our contacts with ghetto informants. The ghetto informant program was last justified by memorandum G. C. Moore to Mr. W. C. Sullivan dated 7/17/70, captioned "Ghetto Informant Program, Racial Matters," and is scheduled to be rejustified in July, 1971.

TRAINING

A two-day conference of field supervisors handling racial matters investigations was held at Seat of Government 9/17-18/70. Representatives from 39 offices and two Legal Attaches attended. The conference dealt specifically with investigation of the BPP and informant development therein. A number of recommendations and suggestions resulted from this conference and were implemented. Suggestions approved as results of the conference are the subject of a separate write-up. Those in attendance were in agreement that the conference had been most beneficial to both field and Seat of Government personnel participating.

ADMINISTRATIVE MEMORANDUM

POTENTIAL DOUBLE AGENT PROGRAM
ESPIONAGE SECTION
DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: This program is designed to develop double agents who can give us vital information from their knowledge of plans and illegal operations of our enemies within the United States. A potential double agent by your definition is one in contact with representatives of a foreign government under Bureau control but has not been requested to give information or given assignments.

During the course of this inspection, the Inspector asked for and received a list of 298 active potential double agents. A review of 237 files (80%) indicated the following:

a. These files deal primarily with PSIs and some SIs who have limited social, situational and business contacts with Soviet and Satellite nationals. Most of these nationals are allegedly intelligence agents, suspected intelligence agents or persons who are contacts of these nationals.

b. Generally the people selected for development as potential double agents are correspondents and journalists who come in contact with Tass news agency officials and employees; American businessmen who purchase Russian products or sell American products through Amtorg or other Russian companies operating in the United States; neighbors and building managers where nationals reside; naturalized American citizens of Slavic derivation who are contacted by suspected intelligence agents; naturalized American citizens who travel to Russia and satellite countries; leaders of Slavic-American societies, organizations and publications; American citizens taking educational and business tours in Russia and other Iron Curtain countries; and prominent members of technical and scientific societies who have an interest in similar scientific work and publications by Russian and satellite country professionals.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/21/71
ESM:wmj

c. Generally a thorough background investigation is completed on each individual selected to be a potential double agent before the Bureau authorizes him to be interviewed to determine if he is receptive and willing to assist and cooperate with the Bureau. These investigations are not completed within a specified period. Several instances were noted wherein the national returned to his native country before the informant could develop suitable rapport. Review indicated several of these cases remain active although the national returned to his native country.

d. After the Bureau has authorized the field office to develop the potential double agent, the field office sends in progress reports each 6 months (FD-401). In most instances only a slight social acquaintanceship is established over an extensive period. Field and SOG supervision of these cases appears to be mechanical and perfunctory and lacks imaginative, aggressive and timely direction.

e. During the year 1970 there was an average of three communications per file received from the field. Most of these were semiannual reports. Communications from SOG to the field averaged less than one letter per file and in almost all instances this was a very short letter authorizing investigation and development of potential double agent. There were less than 10 cases noted where specific instructions, directions or other guidance was furnished to the field in developing these potential double agents.

f. 110 of the cases were reviewed at random for the specific purpose of determining generally how long they had been pending. 4 cases had been pending prior to 1960; 3 were open in 1961; 6 in 1962; 7 in 1963; 6 in 1964; 5 in 1965; 10 in 1966; 12 in 1967; 10 in 1968; 22 in 1969; and 25 in 1970. The average case has been opened 3 1/2 years and there has been an average of one piece of outgoing correspondence from the Bureau in each file.

Very little outgoing correspondence concerning instructions or directions were noted in these 110 files. For example, 5 of the files reviewed had no outgoing correspondence in them since 1967. One file was reviewed in which the last outgoing correspondence was in 1962. 65 of these 110 files did not have any outgoing correspondence in the last 12-month period (1970).

Review of this program as indicated by the above observations, reveals that virtually no direction is given the program. Separate write-ups have been prepared on two individual cases where supervision has been most inadequate.

150

As a general consideration, it is felt that you have 298 cases pending in what appears on the surface to be an important program but in reality are mere "numbers" from a supervision standpoint.

You are requested to explain why this condition exists, what is your justification for this type of handling, and what action you anticipate necessary to correct.

Comments of Inspector D. E. Moore and Assistant Director C. D. Brennan requested.

INSPECTOR DONALD E. MOORE
(1-24-71 CGS:EWL:DEM/djw:ekn)

The comments and observations of the Inspector dealing with a "POTENTIAL DOUBLE AGENT PROGRAM" have been carefully reviewed and the following comments are responsive to the questions raised:

For purposes of clarification it is important that the terminology and designations used be defined. The designation "Potential Double Agent" (PDA) is a descriptive term denoting an individual usually already approved by the Bureau as a Potential Security Informant (PSI) or as a Security Informant (SI). The approval of a PSI or SI is based on his current or potential capabilities to furnish information of intelligence or security interest. If individuals in either of these categories have an association with a Soviet-bloc official, for statistical purposes they are considered as PDA's. This labeling is incidental to their primary designation as a Bureau-approved PSI or SI, and their administrative handling at the Bureau conforms with overall Bureau policy and instructions relating to all Bureau approved sources, whether or not they are considered to be PDA's, and this designation does not alter the administrative handling of these cases.

Justifications for Bureau-approved PSI's and SI's are required on a six-month basis following definitely established form. The primary purpose of this justification is administrative in nature to insure the individual involved continues to meet Bureau standards. Substantive information which may have been furnished is reported in detail in the 134 file maintained by the Office of Origin as required by Bureau regulations. This information is then reported to the Bureau under appropriate substantive captions. Normally the only occasion when substantive data received from a source appears in the informant case file is in the semi-annual justification letter in extremely abbreviated form. See Section 107K, paragraph 7, page 13, Manual of Instructions which states,

> "Correspondence in security informant and potential security informant matters should be strictly limited to administrative handling of informant and should not contain information more properly furnished under substantive case caption."

Regarding specific comments in paragraph c., as pointed out, the primary designation of an individual as a PSI or SI is his ability to furnish information of intelligence interest, which may or may not depend upon his association with one Soviet-bloc national. This association almost without exception becomes productive only when the Soviet-bloc official initiates action to exploit this relationship. The fact that the Soviet-bloc national departs ~~this~~ country, first, does not end their relationship, and secondly, does not end the potential that exists in the relationship. Very often there is a follow-up contact by another Communist-bloc official based on the apparently disrupted initial relationship. Characteristic of the patient, long-range planning and execution of Soviet-bloc intelligence, this reactivation may occur at some indeterminate future date. We must be alert to this concrete possibility in order to fully exploit the potential that exists in such cases. Therefore, contacts with the source, in cases of this type, must continue for a reasonable period.

Concerning paragraph d., in cases where the potential for development of an individual as a double agent is based exclusively on a social acquaintanceship with a specific Soviet-bloc official, the initiative for this development rests almost entirely with that Soviet-bloc official. Experience has taught us that attempts on our part to maniuplate our sources to hasten his development are most often recognized by the hostile intelligence officer as a provocation. When direction is necessary and practical, it must be developed in the overall context of the Soviet-bloc official's investigation, and such direction is apparent in the substantive case files. These factors will account for what appears to be "mechanical and perfunctory" supervision which "lacks imaginative, aggressive and timely direction," in the informant case file.

Paragraph e. refers to the lack of communications in the informant files reviewed. The nature and purpose of the informant file has been previously explained, and in this context it can be understood that operational instructions usually appear in the substantive files and not in the administrative file of the informant.

Paragraph f notes many instances of cases concerning "PDA's" have been opened for varying periods of time, and, again, the lack of extensive outgoing communications noted. It is again stressed that the designation of "PDA" is an arbitrary one, these files are evaluated and administered on an individual basis in accordance with Bureau requirements related to PSI's and SI's, and not solely on their double-agent potential. These requirements are met in these cases.

The Inspector has commented in his Survey that "virtually no direction is given the program." The foregoing comments have established 1.) the designation of PDA to a SI or PSI does not require administrative supervision or handling by SOG over and above that required for any SI or PSI, 2.) if direction and instruction is necessary and practical in a particular case, such is given in the overall supervision and handling of the substantive case file of the Soviet-bloc national involved, 3.) in accordance with current Bureau policy and instructions relating to the handling of these files, they contain a minimal amount of information relating to the productivity of the source, and 4.) the labeling and designation of a SI and PSI as a PDA is an administrative device adopted for the purpose of emphasizing the need for Double-Agents. There is no program as such, for the handling of these cases.

To the general consideration expressed that the 298 cases are mere numbers from a supervisory standpoint, the above comments clearly indicate such is not the case. These cases are not opened and maintained as a program. They are opened on individual merit and maintained in accordance with Bureau standards under the same requirements as all other PSI and SI cases at the SOG.

In summary, it appears that the criticisms leveled in this particular Survey are due to a misconception involving terminology. "PDA" is a label. It carries no requirement for administrative handling over and above supervision afforded the case as a PSI or SI. These cases are basic and vital investigative tools. Administration of such cases are guided by rigid Bureau standards; the comments made by Inspector do not indicate these standards have been breached. Thus, no corrective action is considered necessary and none is recommended. This does not mean that I will not continue to exert every effort to see that qualified informants will continue to be developed and that carefully considered and logical means will be employed to have these informants developed to the point they are accepted by Soviet-bloc officials and become operational Double-Agents. I am pleased we have increased the number of active Double-Agents since the last inspection and will closely follow our progress in this field.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN
(DEM:ekn 1-24-71)

I have carefully noted the comments of the Inspector and also those of Mr. Moore. I certainly am aware that Double-Agents active against Soviet-bloc officials are a vital part of our counterespionage work. I share the views expressed by Mr. Moore and assure the Inspector I will closely follow the development of informants in this field and see that proper guidance is given the field to increase the number of active Double-Agents.

ADDENDUM INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER
(ESM:mjt 1/25/71)

Soviet espionage is one of the greatest challenges we have in the Bureau today and during this inspection our review of your program was made with this attitude. I have reviewed with great interest the accomplishments and progress which you have made; however, there were certain aspects of your operation which have caused concern. Specifically, your handling of "Potential Double Agents" does not nearly result from a review standpoint with the feeling that this phase of work is compatible with the challenges presented. Elsewhere in this inspection we have discussed development of Double Agents in place as being highly desirable goals in our work, yet, we have lacked success in this as evidenced by an extended "dry" period of almost nine years.

I feel that perhaps foreign intelligence may not be that good and that by improving ourselves we may be able to accomplish our goals. In the above write-up it was my feeling that your Potential Double Agent program needs considerable attention from a critical self-analysis standpoint for the purpose of strengthening it consistent with its potential for providing valuable assistance both here and in the field.

Assistant Director note.

The comments of the Inspector are noted.

I most certainly share the Inspector's view that Soviet espionage is one of the greatest challenges we have in the Bureau today. I have and am continually stressing the development of good double agents. The Inspector referred to "Double Agents-in-place," and in view of the context of his remarks, I concluded he is referring to "Defectors-in-place," and I know of no higher goal in our work than developing them.

To my knowledge, the first Soviet Defector-in-place the Bureau ever developed was Kaarlo Tuomi, an illegal agent who was a Captain in the Soviet Army and who was developed in March, 1959. We operated him for approximately four and one-half years. Next, in 1961-1962, we developed Tophat, a Lieutenant Colonel in the Soviet Army who operated in this country until his return to the Soviet Union in 1962. While in the Soviet Union, he cooperated and furnished valuable information which was recovered by the CIA from deaddrops in Moscow. In 1966, Tophat was assigned to Burma and was contacted by the Bureau in that country. With the Director's approval, he was turned over to CIA and operated by them (and also for us since they serviced requirements for us) until 1969. Tophat has now returned to the Soviet Union, and to our knowledge, he is still a cooperative Defector-in-place and may come to the West again.

In October, 1961, we developed through investigation and interrogation the Gunson Defector-in-place, who was a member of the illegal apparatus for the Soviet Military Intelligence Service. In May, 1962, he returned to the Soviet Union, and if he can leave that country, we can expect that he will be in contact with us again.

In 1962, we began operations with the Fedora source, a Colonel in the Soviet Committee for State Security (KGB). He furnished voluminous information on KGB operations, including the data which resulted in the arrest and conviction of Igor Ivanov and John William Butenko. In May, 1967, he returned to the Soviet Union but was again contacted by the Bureau in Canada in 1968, where he was visiting for a short period. In September, 1969, Fedora visited in New York and was again in touch with Bureau Agents. To our knowledge, Fedora is still a viable source, and if he will not be reassigned in the United States, certainly we can anticipate contact with him at scientific symposiums elsewhere in the Western world.

In 1962, we developed the Nicknack Defector-in-place, who was a technical man connected with Soviet military intelligence. Nicknack returned to the Soviet Union in 1964, anticipating that his next overseas assignment would be with the Soviet Military Office in Washington, D. C.

In 1963, we compromised the Miter source, who was a co-opted agent of the KGB and who furnished political information which was disseminated at the highest level. He returned to the Soviet Union in October, 1964.

Contact was first made with the Shamrock source in January, 1967. At one time he was the Acting Resident of the KGB in New York. He furnished information concerning 102 KGB operations. Based upon information furnished by Shamrock, the identification of an illegal agent husband and wife team has been effected. They are presently located in Argentina.

During the summer of 1969, an Agent of the New York Office successfully developed the Harlo source, who acted as a Defector-in-place from July, 1969, to November, 1970. The Harlo source was in a position to furnish information of value and to identify members of the Soviet intelligence community. The source left the United States in November, 1970, under circumstances which may indicate a willingness to further cooperate if the opportunity presented itself.

While the above is a listing of Defectors-in-place achievements in the Soviet field, we have been equally successful with the Satellite intelligence services. Commencing in 1963, we developed the Prime source, who was a Polish code clerk at the Polish United Nations Mission. He furnished cipher pads and keys which enabled National Security Agency to break the Polish code. That Agency described his operation as the intelligence superhaul of the century.

In addition to two Defectors-in-place in the Polish field during the ensuing years, we now operate the Panther source, who is presently in-place in the United Nations Secretariat in New York.

We developed Gimme, a member of the Czechoslovakian Intelligence Service, in 1962 and operated him until he returned to Czechoslovakia in November, 1963. Thereafter, he was in continual clandestine contact with the CIA until his return to Washington in January, 1969, where he was again operated successfully until his overt defection in June, 1970.

WF 1373-S was a Yugoslav diplomat and intelligence officer who was successfully recruited and operated from July, 1962, until September, 1965. He was believed to be the first professional intelligence Yugoslav officer recruited anywhere in the world.

From early July, 1966, through the first week in November, 1966, we were in contact with an extremely sensitive Defector-in-place in the Washington, D. C., area. Knowledge of this Defector-in-place is and has been limited to very few Bureau personnel. Only four men in the Espionage Section are aware of his past cooperation. While in contact this Defector-in-place furnished extremely valuable counterintelligence and has the potential for reassignment to the United States. We are currently operating a double agent developed by this source in an effort to bring about his reassignment to this country. In addition, we have taken action against those Soviet intelligence officers in the same department as this source in an effort to force their recall, thus opening up the way for source to be reassigned to the U.S. as their replacement. Should we succeed his knowledge would give us an insight into the KGB legal apparatus in the U.S. that we have never previously had.

In addition, we have been in contact with numerous Soviet-bloc officials both through double agents who were carefully directed by us and by Bureau Agents. At the present time we are in contact with Henryk Cieslak, an employee of the Polish Embassy. Agents have talked to him several times and have an appointment to clandestinely meet with him this Saturday, January 29, 1971, at National Airport. He has indicated willingness to cooperate with us but has some reservations in view of his family situation. We expect to overcome this. In addition, in New York, Alexander Adam Messing-Mierzejewski, Chief of the Representation and Liaison Unit, Office of Interagency Affairs, United Nations Secretariat, (a Pole) has been contacted and expressed agreement to cooperate and we are continuing our contacts with him and hope to develop him fully.

These are just two of many contacts we have made during recent years in the Satellite field.

In the Soviet field we have been particularly anxious to develop Defectors-in-place and have made numerous contacts. During 1970 we had an Agent meet clandestinely on three occasions with Balentin P. Nizhelskiy, third Secretary at the Soviet Embassy, who is a known KGB officer and we had several brush meetings with him. He returned to the Soviet Union on normal home leave in late September, 1970, but prior to his departure arrangements were made for subsequent meetings with him when he returned. He has not returned and information recently received indicates this is due to serious illness of his wife in the USSR. While the reported illness of his wife may be only a cover by the KGB to keep us from knowing he reported his contacts, the illness of his wife may be very real and if so and he returns to this country subsequently we have excellent ground work already laid.

After a long period of working against Yuriy P. Lisnevskiy, a known GRU Agent and head of AEROFLOT Office in New York, we developed excellent information about him and established a close relationship with him. We secured very detailed personal information about Lisnevskiy and in October contacted him and while he was badly shaken because of the detailed operation we had run against him he did not commit himself to cooperate and after thinking about the matter for a period of time apparently decided to report to his superiors and was whisked back to the Soviet Union.

Lisnevskiy and Nizhelskiy are examples of efforts we have made and are continuing to make in this field. I am setting forth this very sensitive information so that the Inspector will be aware that we have been and most certainly will continue to do everything possible to accomplish our goals. I feel we have very dedicated and knowledgeable men working in this field and we are constantly analyzing the overall field in the light of changing world conditions to see that we take advantage of every opportunity. The Inspector may be assured we will continue to do so.

ADMINISTRATIVE MEMORANDUM
COVERAGE OF KNOWN MEET AREAS - (COKMA) PROGRAM

During the course of this inspection, a volume of material was reviewed, part of which were cases and investigations dealing with the above program in the New York Office. The program was instituted in July, 1970, by a team of Special Agents in the Jamaica-Queens area in an effort to observe clandestine activity there based on an analysis of previous activity in that area. SPIA letters dated 8/14/70 and 9/4/70 from New York reported the observation of numerous Soviet intelligence officers in the area during July and August, and three individuals were identified in contact with Soviet intelligence officers under suspicious circumstances.

It appears that the successes of the recent and current New York efforts in these matters still have not been brought to the attention of the Washington Field Office in the form of instructions or directions to analyze their situation for possible implementation of the program (if not already being done) in the Washington area.

For this reason, you are being requested to advise of supervisory procedures you have to insure the dissemination of new techniques and the "cross-fertilization" of ideas to appropriate offices.

It is realized that New York furnishes copies of communications to Washington Field Office. What provisions do you have at the Seat of Government to insure adequate, aggressive attention and supervision is provided to the field in matters such as this?

Comments of Section Chief William A. Branigan, Inspector Donald E. Moore, and Assistant Director Charles D. Brennan requested.

ADMINISTRATIVE MEMORANDUM
COVERAGE OF KNOWN MEET AREAS - (COKMA) PROGRAM

Section Chief W. A. Branigan
Espionage Section

The Inspector's comments regarding the success of captioned program in the New York Office have been noted and are valid. Bureau has furnished New York a communication offering suggestions and asking for its comments and recommendations regarding expansion of the program. No instructions or directions have been issued to WFO concerning possible implementation of this program in that office, although as the Inspector notes WFO has been made aware of the activity conducted by the New York Office, since the conditions on which the program is based are applicable only in the New York area by reason of conditions peculiar to that office alone; i.e., fact that analysis of activities by Soviet intelligence officers has disclosed they use areas in the vicinity of certain subway stops for meetings with agents either for the convenience of their sources or the security offered to both by the subway in traveling to or from meet areas. No subway exists in Washington, D. C. Travel in the Washington area is primarily by automobile, due to the lack of any appreciable rapid transit system, while in New York the primary means of transportation is the subway system. Since conditions peculiar to New York do not exist in Washington, D. C., it was not deemed necessary to issue instructions or directions to WFO concerning this particular program.

Another factor considered by Bureau was knowledge of prior use by WFO of programs directed against geographic and other known factors concerning Soviet intelligence operations peculiar to Washington as opposed to New York. Several years ago a program was used wherein all thoroughfares from the District, where Soviets resided almost exclusively at that time, were checked during hours we knew they conducted meets in the suburban areas and might be detected traveling to such areas via these routes for this purpose. This was discontinued due to lack of productivity. More recently, WFO used a "Sweeper Program" wherein all Special Agents assigned to Soviet investigations checked all shopping centers in the metropolitan area (District, Virginia and Maryland suburbs) after an analysis disclosed a preponderance of usage by Soviets of such locations for intelligence meets. This is the same concept on which the COKMA Program is based. It operated from about 1967 to 1968 and was implemented on the basis of conditions detected as existing in WFO but which were not applicable in New York; therefore, instructions were not issued to New York for implementation of similar program but it was kept informed of developments in the same manner that New York is now informing WFO of developments occurring in instant matter. "Sweeper" was discontinued due to lack of positive accomplishments such as those which have been disclosed in the COKMA Program. From about 1968 to 1969, "Blitz Program" was used by WFO to check residences of the more active Soviet intelligence officers to determine the presence or absence of their automobiles with the expectation of disclosing patterns which might be afforded more intensive attention to ascertain nature of activity being conducted during these periods when their presence could not be accounted for. "Blitz" program was also discontinued during weekdays by WFO due to lack of positive accomplishments and, incidental thereto, manpower limitations or need to apply personnel to areas offering more firm possibilities for producing positive results; however, the principle is still utilized in connection with weekend physical surveillance scheduling.

Recognizing the value of accounting for all Soviets during as much of the day as possible, especially when they were away from our sophisticated coverage at the establishment where they are assigned, Bureau pointed out to both New York Office and WFO the valuable information disclosed through "Blitz" of their residences and instructed both offices to develop established neighborhood sources who could furnish information regarding arrivals and departures, use of automobile and odometer readings, as a means of insuring continued receipt of the information which would no longer be available following reevaluation and modification of the program. This instruction was also based on the fact that Soviets now reside throughout the periphery of suburban D. C. due to changing socio-economic conditions making it practically impossible to cover these widespread locations with any degree of sufficiency without some added technique.

During December, 1970, Espionage Section recommended distribution to all Bureau personnel at Seat of Government, WFO and the adjacent Resident Agencies of Baltimore and Alexandria of small card appropriately coded listing license numbers of vehicles used by the ten most active Soviet intelligence officers. This was approved by Director. Rationale here was to add several hundred pairs of eyes to cover individuals who are extremely conscious of and adept at detecting surveillances. Personnel observing these cars would not conduct any activity other than to report pertinent information concerning observation of the vehicle to WFO by routing slip for compilation and determination of suspicious patterns which should be resolved through concentrated surveillance coverage on the basis of available information (again the basic COKMA philosophy). This is being used on a trial basis in WFO to test its productivity and value. If found to be of assistance, consideration will be given to implementing in New York Office; however, in this instance again, the program is designed to exploit conditions prevelant in Washington, D. C., rather than New York where Bureau personnel do not reside in same general area as Soviets and therefore, might not be expected to produce positive results. Means of transportation available in both areas, previously mentioned, was also considered.

SPIA letters themselves are a vehicle for "cross-fertilization" of ideas between recipient and submitting offices. They contain monthly, detailed summaries of intelligence activities which have occurred in the submitting offices. They are routed to each Espionage Section Supervisor for review. If significant information is contained in submission from WFO which might be applicable to New York, or vice versa, Bureau Supervisor directs attention of appropriate office to the information by means of communication in the substantive file involved. Weekly Section Conferences allow for a more current discussion of significant or unusual developments as they occur in individual cases providing a more immediate vehicle for directing attention of one office to developments in another which might be applicable to a current or prior investigation.

Periodically, Espionage Section learns from other intelligence organizations, foreign and domestic, of new intelligence techniques or changes in MO by Soviets which should be considered by offices having a Soviet establishment or particular investigative situation. This information is immediately furnished to interested offices by Supervisor having responsibility for coordination of the SPIA-SATPIA matters or by the substantive supervisor handling the particular investigation to which it pertains. Determination in this regard is made by Section Front Office which issues appropriate instructions and follows prompt compliance. Examples are notification from British and CIA regarding Soviet capability to use "dial-a-message" telephones (time, weather, prayer, AA etc.,) with sophisticated device on their telephone as means of clandestine communications. On another occasion British told us about Soviet use of compact broad-band scanning receiver by personnel supporting intelligence officer during meet as means of detecting radio transmissions in area which might indicate counterintelligence service interest in that particular activity. Both New York and WFO were alerted to these circumstances for consideration in their coverage of Soviet establishments and covering double agent meetings.

All matters pertaining to programs such as captioned are routed through Section Front Office to insure adequate and aggressive attention and supervision is provided to field, and make certain no possibility is overlooked to exploit such situations for maximum counterintelligence benefits on field-wide basis, consistent with feasibility or applicability.

Inspector D. E. Moore

I share Mr. Branigan's views that Cokma is not applicable to WFO in view of the different conditions existing in the two cities. Noting the other comments of the inspector and the information set forth by Mr. Branigan, I would like to advise that in communications I read, in contacts with personnal of New York and WFO and supervisors at the Seat of Government and in contacts with representatives of cooperative foreign intelligence agencies, I am most alert to situations and procedures that can be adopted by us. In conferences with Section Chiefs in the Branch, I stress the need to be alert for procedures that may have worked in one area of our operations and can be adopted to other areas.

I have carefully noted the inspector's comments and also the comments of Mr. Branigan and Mr. Moore. I am most alert to the development of new ideas and the need for "cross-fertilization" of ideas and stress this in my conferences with all Section Chiefs at the Division. I not only seek ideas about the operations of a Section Chief within the Section, but for ideas of operations anywhere within the Division and throughout the Bureau. I am constantly alert in my many contacts with representatives of other Government agencies, foreign liaison contacts and representatives of business for ideas which can be successfully utilized in our work and will continue this. In discussions with SACs, I constantly stress the challenging conditions the Bureau faces and the need for new ideas and new applications. I most certainly will continue to stress this.

ADDENDUM INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER
(ESM:sjr - 1/25/71)

It is my understanding that the COKMA concept is not "new" in the New York Office but, as indicated has had recent successes. It is realized COKMA deals with subway travel of our subjects; however, the concept was that to which I alluded in the above write-up. It was my feeling perhaps due to internal conditions in the Soviet Union and the Polish situation etc., that Soviet Intelligence may now be more active and consequently "pressing" for some reason thus making it possible for us to have significant success in New York in a relatively short period of time.

For this reason, it was my feeling that the matter should have been highlighted by SOG which has the responsibility for coordination and direction of field activities.

I do not agree with the concept that one field division is different from another when we are dealing with as important a topic as Soviet espionage.

Assistant Director Brennan and Inspector Moore note.

INSPECTOR D. E. MOORE

I certainly agree with the Inspector that one field division is no different than another in connection with the topic as important as Soviet Espionage. The point that Mr. Branigan and I were attempting to make is that we have to recognize the difference in methods of operation in Soviet intelligence officers in New York and WFO. The Inspector may be assured that I will follow the operations of Soviet-bloc intelligence officers in New York, WFO and also in San Francisco in view of the establishment of a consulate there. I will continue to be most alert to any successful procedures utilized in one office that may be productive in another and will certainly see that the procedures are applied where feasible.

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL 6-E

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: Attached find the Section
ABK:jgr 1/15/71 write-ups concerning each category of information requested by the Inspector relative to adequacy of personnel. These comments are current as of 1/8/71:

The personnel assigned to the Division Front Office consists of one Assistant Director, two Inspectors, two Special Agent Supervisors, five stenographic employees and 19 clerical employees. This complement includes the personnel directly assigned to the Front Office, those in the Division teletype room, Mail Room and messenger service, the Security Patrol Force in addition to five Agents. I have not as yet requested a replacement for a GS-4 clerical position in the Front Office, which was created with the resignation of James A. Pettingill on 12/24/70. I am attempting to absorb the work of this position with the present personnel complement in the Front Office. This is on a trial basis and if it isn't satisfactory, I will recommend a replacement.

The overall authorized personnel complement of the Division at the beginning of the inspection was 116 Special Agents and 190 clerks compared to an authorized complement of 126 Agents and 186 clerks at the time of the last inspection. We now have assigned to the Division 116 Agents and 188 clerks. The clerical vacancies being the aforementioned GS-4 position in the Front Office and a vacancy in the Mail Room, which was created when a clerical position in the Internal Security Section was filled.

At the present time we have outstanding requests for two Agents to replace Special Agents George M. Quinn and C. Edwin Enright, who are under transfer to the Inspection Division. We also have requests for two GS-2 Mail Clerks for the Division Mail Room to replace the clerk who was transferred to the Internal Security Section and the second to replace the GS-3 clerk who will be reassigned or rotated when the replacement is made available to the Division. The Racial Intelligence Section has submitted a request for an additional clerk for the Black Nationalist - South and Racial Informant Unit. In addition, this Section is now making a request for two additional Agent Supervisors because of the heavy increase in the case load in the black extremist field. (Justification in Section write-up attached).

The request for a clerk by the Internal Security Section for a newly approved clerical position mentioned in its write-up has been filled. The Espionage Section may find it necessary to request an additional clerk to handle extra duties assigned to a clerk who is already heavily assigned, if the present system (now on a trial basis) proves unworkable. The New Left Section may find it necessary to request an additional Agent and clerk if the present trend of heavy increase in case load continues. We are watching this closely. As you will note in the write-up by the Nationalities Intelligence Section we are making a request for two additional Agent Supervisors at this time. This is necessary due to the recent increase in foreign legats from 11 to 17, increasing our legat personnel from 60 to 88.

To recapitulate, our requests for additional personnel are:

Front office	Two GS-2 clerks
Racial Intelligence	One GS-4 clerk One Agent Supervisor to replace Supervisor Enright. Two additional Agent Supervisors.
Espionage Section	One Agent Supervisor to replace Agent Quinn.
Nationalities Intelligence Section	Two additional Agent Supervisors.

I firmly believe that our limited requests for additional personnel at this time are fully justified. As you will note in the attached write-ups, we are not asking for additional personnel until, after on a trial basis, we have found it absolutely necessary and fully justified. The increase of terroristic tactics by the Weatherman faction of the Students for a Democratic Society and militant organizations such as the Black Panther Party and the Jewish Defense League has made it absolutely imperative that intensive investigation be conducted to identify, locate all members of these militant organizations and secure evidence for prosecution, if we are to meet our grave responsibilities in the extremely vital field of internal security. This has increased the work load of the Racial Intelligence Section, the New Left Section, and the Nationalities Intelligence Section. Because of this increase in work and my interest in conserving manpower wherever possible, we recently reorganized the Division in order to make the most efficient use of our manpower. I conscientiously believe I have now trimmed my manpower to the bone. Under my direction, Branch and Section Chiefs continually evaluate personnel adequacy in order to assure we get the job done with a maximum amount of efficiency with the minimum amount of personnel. I conscientiously believe I have done this and I will continue to pursue this policy.

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL

SPECIFIC COMMENTS

1. In Protest and Trotskyist Groups Unit, one Special Agent Supervisor (McGuire) and one clerk (Hanning) temporarily assigned New Left Section. Supervisor in Charge of same Unit (Griffith) also spending majority of his time in New Left Section assisting on special. An additional Supervisor from International New Left Unit (Benedict) and one clerk from Klan and White Hate Groups Unit (Dean) are also working majority of their time on New Left Section special.

2. No pending transfers or resignations.

3. See number 1 above.

4. We have requested one additional clerical employee for the Communist Party, USA, Unit (request not yet filled) because of substantial need due to increase in Unit case load from 572 to 1076 as a result of reorganization. We are currently assessing need for another clerical employee in Klan and White Hate Groups Unit to handle large volume of mail involved in supervision of several hundred Klan and White Hate group informants.

5. Considering that Internal Security Section, as it is now constituted, was established December 16, 1970, approximately three weeks ago, no meaningful comments regarding manpower savings as related to this Section can be made. We are carrying a substantial case load, with increases in several areas. For example, the case load of the Communist Party, USA, Unit as a result of the reorganization increased from 572 to 1076 with no increase in personnel. Additionally, two Supervisors assigned to this Section (Griffith and McGuire) are on temporary loan to the New Left Section along with a clerical employee (Hanning). Additionally, a third Supervisor (Benedict) and a second clerical employee (Dean) are spending the majority of their working time on assignment to New Left Section special. For all practical purposes, the work of three Supervisors and two clerical employees is being absorbed on a daily basis within the present personnel complement which, of course, is a tangible manpower savings. In all Units we are constantly involved in attempting to eliminate or curtail the volume of paperwork being handled, reducing programs and projects to bare essentials and wherever possible, keeping the case load volume at a manageable figure.

Another example of manpower conservation exists in the Subversive Individuals - Basic Revolutionary Groups Unit which handles approximately 1,400 pending cases and is responsible for over 7,000 subjects on the Bureau's Special Indices. A moratorium on routine communist investigations in effect at the time of the last inspection, which curtailed the work of this Unit, has been removed and the case load increases daily. The removal of the moratorium warranted the expansion of this Unit from a two to three-man Unit at the time of reorganization but for all practical purposes, the Unit has functioned as a two-man Unit with the third man (Schwartz) on loan for the majority of the period to the Research Section for a special project.

6. When Special Agent supervisory personnel currently assigned, temporarily on loan to other Sections, are returned, we will have adequate personnel to handle existing case load.

7. In evaluating adequacy of both Special Agent and clerical personnel the following criteria were used:

case load
mail count
name checks
complexity of cases and supervision involved deadline matters
experienced supervisors

Administrative duties assigned Supervisors in Charge (reviewing mail, conferring with employees, organizing Unit) limit to some extent the volume of case assignments handled.

3. Special Investigations - West Unit has one Agent and one clerk on loan from the Internal Security Section.

4. Activities by New Left terrorists during the past year has been marked by an increase in acts of violence and conspiracies toward violence. The Weatherman group and other such groups have made it imperative that we institute continuing intensive investigations. By approved airtel to SAC, Albany, and all offices dated 11/4/70, the field was instructed to initiate investigation of all members of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) and members of procommunist militant New Left type campus organizations which follow SDS advocacy of violence and revolution. It is estimated that this will involve some 6,500 new investigations. If this trend continues, it will be necessary to obtain an additional clerk in the future; however, we are not requesting any additional clerical personnel at this time.

5. At the time of the last inspection, this Section had 22 Agents and 27 clerical employees authorized of which 22 Agents and 25 clerical employees were assigned. As a result of the realignment of the Division in December, 1970, this Section currently has 22 Agents and 23 clerical employees authorized.

6. As noted in number 4 above, the increase in terroristic activities by New Left militants has increased the burden of this Section. On the basis of the above, if this trend continues, it appears that it will be necessary to obtain one additional Agent in the future.

7. Personnel adequacy in the New Left Section is constantly evaluated on the basis of the productivity of each unit, requests received from the Department and other agencies and the overall objectives of the Section. The delinquent work in each unit is closely followed and in special situations where an excessive amount of work is assigned to one unit supervisory personnel from other units are utilized.

SECTION CHIEF R. D. COTTER: As of close of business 1/8/71, the complement of this Section was as follows: Special Agents 13, secretaries 5, and clerks 15, for a total of 33. This is broken down by unit as follows:

Section Front Office - 2 Special Agents, 1 secretary (Stenography), 1 secretary (typing)

Central Research Unit - 5 Special Agents, 1 secretary, 2 supervisory clerks (technical publications writers), 1 clerk (publications coordinator), 1 clerk (typing)

Racial Reporting Unit - 2 Special Agents, 1 secretary, 1 supervisory clerk (technical publications writer), 2 clerks

New Left Reporting Unit - 2 Special Agents, 1 secretary, 1 supervisory clerk (technical publications writer), 1 clerk

Special Records Unit - 2 Special Agents, 1 secretary (assigned but not authorized, see #3 below), 6 clerks

The following responses are numbered to correspond with Inspector's specific questions:

1. There are no vacant positions.

2. There are no personnel on transfer into or out of Section at this time and no pending resignations.

3. Only shortage or overage of authorized personnel is in Special Records Unit. Position of secretary in this unit has been approved by Director contingent upon final action by Position Classification Office which is now pending.

4. Current clerical personnel complement is considered adequate but not excessive.

5. Since last inspection we have reduced one Agent from the complement of the Racial Reporting Unit as a result of various streamlining measures adopted relative to reporting requirements. This streamlining involved the elimination of a substantial number of letterhead memoranda and airtels previously required from each field office with regard to racial conditions and the elimination of daily cover memorandum to our outgoing racial teletype to the White House.

6. The authorized Agent complement for Section is considered adequate but not excessive at this time.

7. Criteria used in assessing personnel adequacy in this Section includes a number of diverse factors. Case load figures are not applicable to work of this Section nor are there any other simple, quantitative measurements of Section's work. Work of this Section involves primarily research and evaluation and the preparation of a variety of documents aimed at providing intelligence to the White House, the Attorney General, other interested agencies and Bureau officials. This Section seeks to summarize into comprehensive and meaningful "package" form information relating to current topics of intelligence interest and concern. The finished product is provided not only to other intelligence agencies and policy-making officials of the Government but, where appropriate, to our field offices for their information and guidance. The type of documents prepared varies from daily teletype summaries regarding racial disturbances and student agitation, to detailed monographs containing in-depth research into various facets of our work.

During the past year there has been a continuing demand for various intelligence summaries and this Section has been faced with a number of expedite projects on behalf of Bureau officials, including the Director, the White House, the Vice President's Office, and the Attorney General. Basis for this heavy work load has primarily been interest and concern in the explosive issues concerning racial and student disorders. The great majority of our projects have revolved around the preparation of material either for internal FBI use or for outside dissemination with respect to these issues.

ADEQUACY OF PERSONNEL

Barbara Ann Holland and Keith R. White submitted resignations close of business January 8, 1971. Replacements were received as enumerated in item one above.

(3) As of January 8, 1971, there was a shortage of two GS-4 Clerk in the Officials Unit - Washington, but this was remedied on January 11, when replacements were received as indicated in item one above. A replacement has been requested for Special Agent George M. Quinn in the Officials Unit - New York, but none has been designated at this time. There is no overage of authorized personnel in the Espionage Section.

(4) Clerical personnel is considered adequate at the present time. With the reorganization of the Division, and combining Soviet and Soviet-bloc investigations in the Espionage Section, an extremely heavy burden has been placed on the clerical personnel handling the assignment cards for the Section (there are now 5,046 cases). This situation is being watched and it may be that it is unworkable to place the responsibility for maintaining the assignment cards in a GS-4 employee who is already heavily assigned. If this proves to be a fact, a recommendation will be made to add a Clerk at a GS-3 level who would exclusively handle the assignment cards.

(5) Following the 1970 inspection, personnel handling Soviet investigations was reduced by two Special Agents, GS-14. Following the inspection, personnel handling Soviet-bloc investigations were reduced by one Special Agent, GS-14, and one Clerk, GS-4. At the time of the reorganization of the Division in December, 1970, personnel handling Soviet-bloc investigations were reduced by four Special Agents (one GS-15; three GS-14) and five clerical personnel (one GS-5 and four GS-4).

(6) Special Agent personnel is considered adequate.

(7) Criteria utilized in determining the adequacy of personnel includes the volume of cases supervised, the complexity of the cases, and the importance of the investigations.

In the Officials Unit, both Washington and New York, we handle the greatest volume of complex investigations since these cases include the bulk of our double agent operations. As of December 1, 1970, there were 74 active double agents in the Soviet field. This is the largest number of double agents we have ever achieved. At the time of the last inspection as of April 1, 1970, there were 67 active double agents. The current number of 74 is compared most favorably with the number of actual double agents three years ago (12/1/67), when there were 47 active double agents. At that time there were 18 case Agents handling Soviet matters. At the time of the last inspection, there were 16 case Agents in the Soviet field, and the current load is being carried by less than 14 case Agents. Three of the 14 are assigned part time to the handling of Soviet-bloc matters.

With the reorganization of the Division in December, 1970, the volume and work load for the Supervisors in the Espionage Section were materially increased. Four Agent Supervisors who were formerly assigned to the Sino-Satellite Section were transferred to the Espionage Section and brought with them in excess of 2,000 cases. The only possible way that this volume could be handled was by redistributing the work within the Coordination Unit and the Special Cases Unit. The volume of investigations in these Units is extremely heavy considering the number of special projects and special operations which are normally assigned in the Units.

In the Satellite Unit handling Polish, Romanian, Czechoslovakian, and Yugoslav investigative matters, we currently have 1,293 active cases divided among four Special Agents. In our Soviet-bloc counterintelligence work, we were as of December 1, 1970, operating 64 active double agents. This should be compared with the figure at the time of our last inspection, April 1, 1970, when there were 61 active double agents.

The current authorized personnel complement of the Racial Intelligence Section as of the close of business, January 8, 1971, is 21 Agents and 22 clerical personnel with a request pending for one additional clerk for the Black Nationalist - South and Racial Informant Unit. Black Nationalist - South and Racial Informant Unit

5 Supervisors including Supervisor in Charge
5 clerical personnel

1) There are no clerical vacancies in the Section; however, as it was noted previously, a request has been submitted for an additional clerk for the Black Nationalist - South and Racial Informant Unit which would increase our complement to 23 if approved.

2) Special Agent Supervisor C. Edwin Enright is under transfer to the Inspection Division, transfer letter dated January 8, 1971. A replacement is being requested.

3) With the transfer of Special Agent Enright there will exist a shortage of one Supervisor in the Black Nationalist Unit - Central.

4) The clerical personnel complement is inadequate and will be barely adequate if the request for one additional clerk is approved. The workload of the Section continues to increase and shows no signs of tapering off. We will continue to closely watch the clerical situation and make appropriate recommendations as required by any substantial change in the clerical workload.

5) The streamlining of our operations wherever possible to effect manpower savings is under continual evaluation. Examples of streamlining measures taken since the last Inspection include: 1) The discontinuance by each field division of semiannual reports concerning the black nationalist movement (Bureau file 157-8415). This was accomplished July 6, 1970. 2) On November 3, 1970, the Agitator Index was revised to delete those who were also included on the Security Index. 3) On November 5, 1970, existing instructions were modified concerning recordings of black and New Left public appearances to allow the SAC to authorize use of concealed recording devices by a Special Agent or a proven source in covering public appearances by black and New Left extremists except such appearances at educational institutions. Previously, prior Bureau approval was necessary.

In addition, we continue to utilize our teletype dissemination facilities to the maximum extent possible.

6) The Special Agent complement of 21 is the same as at the time of the last Inspection.

The Division was reorganized December 17, 1970, on the basis of approximate caseload per Supervisor of 279. This figure was based on the October 1, 1970, caseload figures. Since that time there has been a heavy increase in the caseload in the black extremist field where at present the average caseload as of January 1, 1971, stood at 349 per Supervisor. At the time of the last Inspection, the caseload of the Section stood at 5,946 including Klan and white hate-type cases. Under the reorganization this Section lost the Klan and white hate cases and as of January 1, 1971, the caseload encompassing black extremist individuals and organizations including racial informants in these organizations stood at 6,642, an increase of 696 cases since the date of the last Inspection.

There is a dire need for additional Special Agent supervisory personnel to handle our heavy responsibilities in the black extremist field, if we are to afford these cases the attention that they deserve. Based upon the Division reorganization figures, an additional four Supervisors would be required; however, we have tightened our belt and taken streamlining measures wherever possible and are requesting only two Special Agent Supervisors at the present time. We will attempt to accomplish our objectives with two additional Supervisors.

There are several factors that would indicate our work in the black extremist field will continue to increase. The increasing militancy of black extremists on college campuses caused us to require the field (by airtel 11/4/70) to open cases on all black student groups on college campuses as well as cases on the leaders thereof. There are numerous such groups throughout the United States. The Black Panther Party is growing and in September, 1970, opened up an international section in Algiers. In addition a grand jury is sitting in California with witnesses being heard in efforts to develop a prosecutive theory against the Black Panther Party. The work in connection therewith and other aspects of the Black Panther Party investigation consumes almost the full time of one Supervisor.

Black extremist activity in this country is rapidly developing more and more in international aspects. Residents of other countries, including United States citizens and non-citizens, are involved in clandestine and overt operational and propaganda activity among racial extremists. We have targeted CIA as well as our Legal Attaches abroad for the development of data regarding foreign influences in the black extremist movement. The National Security Agency has vast capabilities in developing the type of information needed and we have alerted that Agency to our basic needs and have made arrangements for future assistance.

A prime factor in the rapid increase in our caseload has been our technical coverage of the Black Panther Party. At the time of the last Inspection we had six such technical surveillances in operation. We presently have 12 installed, one awaiting installation, and one awaiting approval. This special coverage provides on a daily basis a wealth of intelligence information and is most productive source for the opening of numerous new cases in the black extremist field. With the added coverage we can expect a continuing increase in the caseload.

In view of the above factors, there exists a dire need for two additional Special Agent Supervisors at this time.

7) In evaluating personnel adequacy, we take into consideration not only the caseload which is compiled on a monthly basis but also results of periodic mail counts taken on a quarterly basis. Many of our cases on key figures in the black extremist movement such as David Hilliard, Huey P. Newton, Elbert Howard, Le Roi Jones, Eldridge Cleaver, Emory Douglas, and others require a considerable amount of supervisory attention.

As previously noted, the Department is attempting to develop a prosecutive theory against the Black Panther Party and as a result it has been necessary to assign one Supervisor almost exclusively to handle investigation of this organization. The investigations of other organizations require a great deal of supervisory attention and direction. Analyses of current developments in the racial field, special requests from other Government agencies, preparation of special studies, and initiation of special projects all require the expenditure of considerable supervisory time and are taken into consideration in evaluating the adequacy of personnel.

(1) All positions were occupied as of close of business 1/8/71, although one resignation was pending (described in item 2 below).

(2) Miss Agnes M. Klima, Clerk-Stenographer, GS-4, assigned to Stenographic Pool, submitted her resignation effective 1/14/71 and acknowledgement of same was dated 1/6/71. This stenographic position was approved to be filled by assigning a GS-4 Clerk (Miss Barbara A. Hatcher) who had passed the stenographic test and request for replacement for Miss Hatcher dated 1/8/71 was submitted. Miss Hatcher actually was transferred to the stenographic position in the pool as of beginning of business 1/11/71 when her replacement, Miss Cheryl D. Carpenter, reported to this Section for assignment.

(3) There was no shortage or overage of authorized personnel as of close of business 1/8/71.

(4) Authorized clerical personnel complement is considered adequate but not excessive.

(5) As result of last inspection authorized Agent complement was reduced from 17 to 15. This manpower savings was effected by discontinuing two programs and streamlining a third one. Supporting memoranda in this regard have been submitted as attachments to yellow write-up 5-A-4on Section and Unit Analysis dated 1/12/71.

Memorandum to All Bureau Officials and Supervisors 70-13 dated 7/29/70 noted that the Liaison Section of Domestic Intelligence Division was being abolished effective immediately. This resulted in a cut-back of one Section Chief plus eight supervisory Special Agents who were engaged in domestic liaison functions. Calls from other U. S. agencies formerly handled by these nine men are now handled by Agent personnel throughout the Bureau who are principally concerned with the subject matter of the call. By far, the majority of such calls are handled by Agent personnel presently assigned to Nationalities Intelligence Section. In addition, representatives of other agencies who were contacted in their offices prior to discontinuance of Liaison Section frequently call at Domestic Intelligence Division for consultation. Arrangements were made for couriers representing certain other sensitive agencies, such as National Security Agency and Central Intelligence Agency, to call at Domestic Intelligence Division for the purpose of delivering or receiving mail requiring protective services of armed couriers.

Thus, many of the functions formerly performed by Special Agent personnel are handled by currently assigned personnel within the Division, resulting in the savings of the time of the nine Agents released.

As a result of the Division-wide reorganization effected 12/16/70 this Section absorbed without offsetting Special Agent personnel work relating to Chinese matters formerly assigned to three Special Agent Supervisors in the Sino-Satellite Section (now abolished). This resulted in an increased case load of over 25 percent.

(6) While there are 20 Agents assigned to the Section, two are assigned to the Section Front Office and five to the Special Coordination Unit, which handles remaining domestic liaison functions and all foreign liaison functions; thus, there are 13 Agents assigned to desks on which cases are handled. The case load per Agent since the last inspection has increased from 193 to 278, a 44 percent increase. This has been the result of cutting back two Agents as result of the last inspection and the assignment of Chinese work to the Section effective with the Division reorganization 12/16/70. There has been insufficient time since the latter date to establish whether the significant increase in case load per man will adversely affect the efficient operation of the Section. At this time, however, no additional Agent personnel is being requested for assignment to desks handling cases but the matter will be closely followed and if recommendations in this connection are considered appropriate in the future they will be submitted with justifying data.

At the present time there are five supervisory Special Agents assigned to the Special Coordination Unit and the heavy increase in work load on the Foreign Liaison Desk (FLD) in that Unit (to which two of the five Agents are assigned) has resulted in a situation warranting the assignment of two additional Special Agents to the desk. In connection with this, following is submitted:

In December, 1970, our foreign liaison offices were expanded from 11 to 17. It has come at a time when the two FLD Supervisors have been barely able to keep up with the flow of paper let alone actually examine and analyze it in order to afford active and constructive supervision to our foreign offices. This problem arises from two causes, (1) the heavy demands made on the time of these two Supervisors in welcoming and personally supervising the visits to the Bureau of the many foreign dignitaries who are valuable and cooperative contacts of our Legal Attaches--such visitors currently average 27 per month; and (2) the appreciable increase (62 percent) in the past ten years of the Foreign Police Cooperation cases we handle.

The Legal Attache expansion in December, 1970, increased Bureau personnel abroad from 60 to 88, of which latter number 42 are Special Agents. The latest case load figures available for the 11 Legal Attache offices then existing are for 10/31/70, at which time the 11 offices carried a total of 3,020 cases. In October, 1960, five Special Agent Supervisors were assigned to the FLD, one of whom devoted a portion of his time to Buplans matters, which matters have now been transferred to another Section. At that time the case load for all foreign offices was 1693.

In October, 1960, we had 166 Foreign Police Cooperation cases on the FLD. In October, 1970, there were 273. This large increase in Foreign Police Cooperation cases was absorbed as a result of the delegation to a clerical employee of supervisory responsibility for about 95 percent of the cases. This clerical employee, who is in Grade GS-7, is most efficient and quite capable but cannot be expected to have the experience of an Agent to recognize promptly potentially embarrassing situations arising.

As we now have six new Legal Attache offices, we can expect both the case load and the Foreign Police Cooperation requests to increase substantially.

The FLD Supervisors should be watching mail flow to determine the promptness with which Legal Attaches respond to requests; the thoroughness of handling such cases; and the adequacy of foreign agency contacts in a position to afford the Bureau the desired degree of cooperation. The FLD Supervisors should be preparing memoranda reflecting Legal Attache accomplishments in order to keep the Director fully apprised of the truly excellent work being done by our Agents abroad. As the situation now stands, the two present FLD Supervisors just do not have time to do this and we are incurring the risk of failing to afford direction and guidance in this very important area of the Bureau's operations.

To comply with Bureau requirements our 42 men abroad must seek cooperation of foreign agencies. In reciprocity they must accept requests for investigations in the U. S. regarding matters as simple as running down bad debtors to complex investigations involving the location of murder suspects. The two present FLD Supervisors at this time, because of the heavy demands on them, are unable to afford the necessary direction and assistance to the clerical employee handling Foreign Police Cooperation cases.

To afford the necessary and proper guidance to our foreign operations, particularly to the six new offices which have now been established and which will make heavy demands for immediate support, and to overcome the present heavy work load described above, two additional Agent Supervisors, preferably men having potential for foreign assignment, should be approved for the FLD at this time.

(7) Criteria utilized in evaluating personnel adequacy include continuing analysis of Agent and clerical work load, case load, mail counts, complexity of cases, relative importance of matters to national security and intelligence requirements, patterns of delinquency, personnel capabilities, and past experience in shifts of emphasis of work from one area to another.

191

ADDENDUM
INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER:
(ESM:wmj 1/22/71)

During the course of this inspection thorough analyses of work were performed which have given some insight in the supervision of work in your Division.

Taken into consideration was your recent reorganization of the Division which appears to have accomplished a better balance of work between branches.

In this write-up you have requested replacement Agents for SAs C. E. Enright and G. M. Quinn, both assigned in your Espionage and Racial Branch. In addition, you have requested two additional Agents for the Racial Intelligence Section and two Agents for the Special Coordination Unit.

Division case load was surveyed by categories from the field administrative reports for a 12-month period (January through December, 1970) to establish trends over this period. Basically, pertinent trends indicated increases of 70.2% in Internal Securityand New Left cases during the 12-month period; a 57.4% increase in racial matters; 34.9% in Security Informants; a decline of 33% in Espionage (65) and decline of 13.3% in Internal Security - Nationalistic Tendency (105) cases.

In addition, case loads by Section were reconstructed (in view of Division reorganization) and compared with case loads at the time of the last inspection as indicated in the following:

	Last Inspection	Current Inspection
Espionage	5846	5038 (-808)
Racial	4746	6642 (+1896)
Nationalities Intelligence	2944	3620 (+676)	(Does not includ Spec. Coordination Unit)
Internal Security	3658	5318 (+1660)
Research	No cases

To further analyze case and work load the Research Section and Special Coordination Unit were excluded from computations and manpower was considered on the basis of 50 men in the Espionage Racial Intelligence Branch and 33 men in the Internal Security Branch(Section Chiefs and Number One Men also excluded).

Total case load in Espionage Branch currently is 15,300 and 11,739 in Internal Security;case load per supervisor in Espionage determined to be 14% lower than his counterpart in Internal Security (306 vs. 356). It is noted in this regard that the Racial Intelligence case load raises the Espionage Branch figures, since the Nationalities Intelligence Section has an average of only 278 and Espionage Section of only 280 cases per man. The average in Racial Intelligence Section is 350.

We next conducted surveys to determine whether the complexity of cases in Espionage and Nationalities work was appreciably more complex to justify the above-noted differences in case load.

All pending 65 classification cases (total 327) were reviewed and it was determined a total of 539 items of correspondence containing instructions or direction emanating from SOG were contained in these files or an average of 1.6 pieces of correspondence in a 12-month period. Over half of this was somewhat routine and very short.

We also reviewed the 100 most important (105s) cases and determined an average of 3.37 pieces of correspondence originated at SOG in these files. 62% of this was considered somewhat routine.

We reviewed over 80% of your 298 Potential Double Agent cases and determined the average case was 3 1/2 years old and contained only 1 piece of correspondence in over 3 years (subject of separate write-up).

Other surveys revealed current active cases in these categories had an average of only 3+ pieces of correspondence in a 12-month period.

It is felt that degree of supervision and the amount of instruction and direction given our cases can be measured in one way by the frequency of correspondence necessitated by the individual cases.

Another survey of mail signed out at Section level revealed that approximately 57% of your outgoing mail emanates from the combined efforts of your New Left and Racial Sections. Espionage Section contributed about 8.7% and Nationalities Intelligence about 15%.

On the basis of the above studies and reviews of files, I conclude that, if anything, due to the intensity of the action that it requires more input to supervise Racial and New Left than it does cases assigned in the Espionage and Nationalities Sections.

For this reason, I feel you still have an imbalance in your Division which should be corrected. That is, you still have 5 men working Espionage and Nationalities work who should be shifted to other work to balance your assignments. I do not feel that you need two more men in the Special Coordination Unit at this time since increased work load considerations due to the additional Legats has not yet happened. When and if it does, you should make necessary intra-Branch transfers.

I agree with your recommended replacements for SAs Enright and Quinn; however, replacement for Quinn should be assigned to the Racial Section and not the Espionage Section. I am submitting separate recommendations regarding this.

Any further additions to the Racial Intelligence Section should be made from within the Espionage Branch from the pertinent Sections.

To recap, I feel as a result of this inspection that your present quota of 116 men is adequate. I feel the replacements requested are justified but I do not agree with your request for 4 additional Agents.

Comments of Assistant Director Brennan requested:

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: The Inspector has noted our recent reorganization to accomplish a better balance of work between branches.
(DEM:ekn - 1/23/71)

The reorganization was based on memorandum 10/9/70, Sizoo to Brennan, requesting 6 additional Agent Supervisors and memorandum 10/14/70, Mr. Felt to Mr. Tolson, denying this request. Mr. Felt's memorandum noted there were 18921 cases (excluding large volume of informants and Communist Party, USA, matters) and based on our set up at that time the average case load per Agent was 305 in the Internal Security Branch and 225 in the Espionage Branch.

Details of the approach utilized in our reorganization, 12/16/70, are set forth in the attachment. With 116 Division Agent complement and 83 desk agents (same figures utilized during current inspection) we distributed the Division caseload (22,857 as of 10/31/70, or an average of 275 per desk agent) as equitably as possible. This resulted in apportionment of caseload among the six present sections as follows:

194

Section	Desk Agents	Cases	Average Cases Per Agent
Internal Security	13	3627	279
Nationalities Intelligence	13	3692	284
Racial Intelligence	19	4948	260
New Left	20	5491	275
Espionage	18	5099	283
Totals	83	22857	275

During the reorganization all work as well as cases formerly handled in three sections in the Espionage Branch was consolidated into two sections. All cases and work formerly handled in two operational sections in the Internal Security Branch were spread among three sections with the creation of the New Left Section as a separate entity. This resulted in additional Agents for New Left work.

Since 10/31/70 (caseload figures utilized for reorganization purposes) caseloads in each section have changed as follows:

Section	10/31/70	Current Inspection	Net Change
Espionage	5099	5038	-61
Racial Intelligence	4948	6642	+1694
Nationalities Intelligence	3692	3620	-28
Internal Security	3627	5318	+1691

The slight reductions in caseloads in the Espionage and Nationalities Intelligence Sections have left the average cases per Agent at 280 and 278, respectively, both above the norm of 275 established for reorganizational purposes.

The Inspector has noted the number of outgoing pieces of correspondence in the 65 classification cases, the 100 most important 105 classification cases, and a review of 80 percent of 298 "potential double agent" cases. The vast majority of the cases handled in the Espionage and Nationalities Intelligence Sections are 105 classification cases. Recognizing the Inspector reviewed the most important cases and determined that on an average 3.37 pieces of correspondence originated at the Seat of Government in these files, I would estimate that a conservative minimum of over two pieces of correspondence originated at Seat of Government in each of the 105 classification group as a whole. With an average caseload of 280 per Supervisor, this would mean that 560 outgoing communications would be submitted each year. Minus weekends and holidays, there are 252 workdays in a year and I would estimate an average of 32 days per man would be accounted for by annual leave, sick leave, inspection assignments, tour assignments, firearms and physical examinations. This would leave 220 days for productive work per Supervisor. This would mean that each Supervisor would be required to review the necessary files and dictate approximately two and one-half communications per day. I feel this is perhaps a conservative estimate inasmuch as many of the cases involved relate to foreign diplomats and in each case, at the inception, we have to prepare a communication to Department of State setting forth basic facts about the individual and obtaining authority to investigate, and, thereafter, issue appropriate instructions to the field. Thus, in these cases, there are two outgoing communications prepared at the very inception.

In addition to measuring work on the basis of outgoing correspondence, I think note must be taken of the fact that the Espionage and Nationalities Intelligence Sections have a responsibility with regard to over 130 countries. The vast majority, of course, are of concern to the Nationalities Intelligence Section. Supervisors on the various desks have to be aware of conditions existing which affect the Bureau's responsibilities in the intelligence field and this encompasses the review of much intelligence material which shows up in the incoming mail count, all of which must be properly reviewed and coordinated.

During the inspection a mail count was kept for five days and the results, of course, are available to the Inspector. In this connection, during the five-day period, each Supervisor in the Espionage Section received an average of 255 pieces of regular incoming mail (such as, Seat of Government memoranda, letterhead memoranda, teletypes, airtels, cables, letters from field, and letters from outside agencies) for a total of 378 pages. Other incoming mail (such as intelligence reports and cables from other agencies, Bureau Source 6 and Bureau Source 200 items, publications, visa notifications and similar such items) averaged 40 items per Agent in the Espionage Section and the pages totaled 213. With regard to outgoing mail, there was an average per man of 11 items and 18 pages of dictated material and 79 items and 157 pages of outgoing nondictated, all of which involved preparation of material for dissemination to other agencies. In the Nationalities Intelligence Section, the comparable average figures per Supervisor were 213 items and 416 pages of incoming regular mail, 109 items and 440 pages of other incoming mail, 22 items and 40 pages of outgoing dictated mail, and 68 items and 169 pages of outgoing nondictated mail.

The fact that the work on a desk is measured by more than just caseload can best be illustrated by citing figures of incoming and outgoing mail for Special Coordination Unit, Nationalities Intelligence Section, for which no case load is reported. In that Unit there were 1173 items consisting of 1777 pages of regular incoming mail; 52 items consisting of 137 pages of other incoming mail; 117 items consisting of 233 pages of outgoing dictated mail; and 290 items consisting of 456 pages of outgoing nondictated mail.

As can be seen from the above, since the time of reorganization when equity in caseloads was established and manpower assignments made, there has been no decrease in the amount of work responsibilities in the Espionage and Nationalities Intelligence Sections. The December, 1970, reorganization resulted in the assignment of significant extra work to those two Sections. The substantial increases in caseloads in Racial Intelligence, Internal Security and New Left Sections have resulted from the opening of new investigations on members of basic revolutionary groups and the removal of the moratorium on Security Index reporting, approved by the Director, plus increased efforts in these areas by the field.

I feel a strong responsibility in our work in the Domestic Intelligence Division in connection with the national security of our country and am concerned with the ever increasing number of officials from communist countries assigned to the U. S. In addition, the President has recently expressed his urgent need for better high-level coverage which has resulted in expansion of our operations abroad and where possible in the U. S.

Foregoing was taken into consideration in connection with my request for additional personnel and you may be assured that whatever decision is reached I and the men in my Division will do our utmost to fulfill our responsibilities in all areas.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDA

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM

ADDITION OF SUITABLE DESIGNATION
TO CAPTION OF COMMUNICATIONS PERTAINING TO CERTAIN RACIAL INFORMANTS TO INSURE PROPER ROUTING OF SUCH CORRESPONDENCE AT SOG.

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: Prior to the reorganization of the Domestic Intelligence Division on 12-16-70, all informants reporting on racial matters and white hate groups (including Ku Klux Klan) were supervised by the Racial Informant and White Hate Unit of the Racial Intelligence Section. All such informants are designated as Racial Informants. Subsequent to the reorganization of this Division, supervision of substantive matters pertaining to white hate groups and corresponding informants (396) is handled by the Klan and White Hate Groups Unit of the Internal Security Section. Supervision of black nationalist organizations and related informant cases (564) continues to be handled in the Racial Intelligence Section.

As a result of the above, the Racial Intelligence Section is receiving mail concerning racial informants who are reporting on white hate group activity. This mail should be reviewed and handled by the Internal Security Section. At the present time, it is not possible to determine to which section such mail should be routed without reviewing the content of the incoming correspondence since the caption of communications pertaining to all racial informants indicate only that a racial source is involved. The type of activity on which the informant reports -- black nationalist as opposed to white hate groups -- is not set forth in the caption.

In view of the fact that over 40% of the cases pertaining to racial sources involve white hate groups, it would appear desirable to identify such matters clearly in the caption of communications submitted to the Bureau by the field. This will permit such mail to be routed directly to the Internal Security Section and will save an appreciable amount of time in getting the mail to the section where it will be handled. Such an addition to the caption will also preclude the necessity for the content of communications of this nature to be reviewed in the Racial Intelligence Section.

It is believed the desired routing could be effected by adding a characterization, such as White Hate Group (abbreviated WHG), to the caption of correspondence concerning informants who are reporting on the activities of such groups. Under existing procedure communications concerning racial informants reporting on white hate groups are submitted under a caption such as: CO 1234-R. Under the suggested procedure the communication would be captioned: CO 1234-R (WHG).

Comments of Section Chiefs Gray and Moore and Assistant Director Brennan are requested.

206

SECTION CHIEF A.W. GRAY: Inspector's suggestion is a good one and should be adopted. However, in conformance with both existing "character" structure of Bureau case titles and a recommended change regarding security informant titles (memorandum A.W. Gray to C.D. Brennan, captioned "Security Informants; IS - Communist; New Left," dated 1/21/71), it is proposed that the character designation Racial Matters be included. Incoming communications concerning white hate group informants only would thus bear the title: CO 1234-R
RM - WHG

The Internal Security Section, if the Inspector concurs, will implement this change with appropriate instructions to the field.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM
ARTICLES CONCERNING ACTIVITIES OF RACIAL EXTREMISTS
RESEARCH SECTION

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: The Research Section prepares a number of timely monographs and other studies dealing with the activities of racial extremists. These papers, as well as the daily teletype summary and the weekly "Summary of Extremist Activities," serve to keep Bureau personnel, appropriate government officials, and the intelligence community advised on the up-to-date situation involving these matters.

Much information received is from public sources or otherwise of a non-confidential nature. The Bureau is in a unique position to collate and place in perspective the information concerning activities of these violence-prone extremists. This data could be used for preparation of articles for publication in magazines, journals, and newspapers which would serve to expose these individuals and organizations for what they are. Such articles would give the public an insight into the true nature of these extremists who would destroy our system of government and our society. This would serve to diminish public sympathy and support for their activities and would strengthen public support of law enforcement in general.

Although the Bureau has prepared and/or been instrumental in the publication of a number of articles concerning the campus revolutionaries of the New Left and of white hate groups, the only recent material we have made available to the public concerning racial extremist activities is that set forth in the Appropriations testimony. There is a definite need for good, timely articles for public consumption placing in perspective and showing the true nature of the activities of racial extremists. The Crime Records Division has sources available to facilitate publication of such material.

SUGGESTION

It is suggested that Research Section, with the assistance of and in coordination with the Crime Records Division, correlate the preparation and publication of articles dealing with the activities of racial extremists. Care should be taken to use only material of a non-confidential nature which would not be detrimental to Bureau operations. Consideration should be given to a study of the Black Panther Party along the lines of the article entitled "A Study of Marxist Revolutionary Violence; SDS, 1962-1969" which effectively exposed the SDS. Other articles, perhaps shorter and more limited in scope, on specific activities and groups also should be considered at an early date.

Comments of Section Chief R. D. Cotter and Assistant Director C. D. Brennan requested.

SECTION CHIEF R. D. COTTER:
(TJS/mea 1/21/71)

The Inspector's suggestion has merit. It is believed that Research Section would be able to gather together material which would be of value in educating the public to the real nature of extremists such as the Black Panther Party. Research Section will, consistent with current work assignments, begin preparation of material which, in coordination with Crime Records Division, can be made public.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: (TJS/mea 1/21/71) I think the Inspector's suggestion is very worthwhile. We believe that wherever possible the true nature of extremists should be publicized. Within the limits of available manpower, we will furnish Crime Records Division with as much unclassified material as possible for public consumption.

CASE SUGGESTION WRITE-UP

EQBAL AHMAD
SECURITY MATTER - MISCELLANEOUS
BUREAU FILE: 100-448675

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: This case was originally opened on 1/25/68 based upon Albany letter to the Director dated 1/19/68, requesting Bureau authority to institute an investigation of the subject based upon his antidraft and anti-Vietnam protest activities. At the time, subject was also considered to be a campus leader and agitator at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, where he was employed as an assistant professor in the school of Industrial and Labor Relations.

Ahmad has subsequently become involved in the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives (ECCSL) and is presently under indictment as one of the coconspirators in this matter. (The ECCSL involves a conspiracy by a dissident group of priests, nuns, teachers, students and former students who have displayed opposition to the Vietnam War by committing acts of violence against Government agencies, including selective service boards and private corporations.) The leaders of the ECCSL, one of whom is Ahmad, planned to destroy underground electric and heating systems serving Government buildings in Washington, D. C. The group also has reportedly planned to kidnap a high Government official and Ahmad was a key figure in this phase.

Set forth below is a brief summary of background information taken from the subject's file:

Personal History

Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) records at Buffalo, New York, indicate that Eqbal Ahmad was born December 30, 1930, at Irki, Bhiar, India, and is a citizen of Pakistan. His parents are listed as Ataur Rahman, father, and Khatooh Rahman, mother. Subject is described as male, 5'7½", 135 pounds, brown eyes, black hair, brown complexion, scar on left hand. In 1969 he was single and was assigned Alien Registration Number (ARN) A13183502. INS records disclose that on February 3, 1967, Ahmad's status was adjusted to that of a permanent resident alien.

Eqbal Ahmad

INS records further indicate that Ahmad first came to the United States in September, 1957, on a trip financed by a Fulbright Travel Grant and that Occidental College at Los Angeles, California, provided this fellowship. His sponsor was the Institute of International Education. In September, 1958, Ahmad transferred to Princeton University on a university fellowship and remained there until September, 1961, when he left the United States to take up residence in North Africa. INS records indicate that Ahmad last arrived in the United States at New York City on September 21, 1963, destined for Princeton University, Princeton, New Jersey, on a teaching fellowship. INS files also set forth prior residences at Lahore, Pakistan; Los Angeles, California; Tunis, Tunisia; Urbana, Illinois, and Ithaca, New York. Former employments include "lecturer in Modern History" at Forman Christian College and the Pakistan Military Academy in Pakistan as well as teaching assignments at Princeton University, University of Illinois and Cornell University.

He was registered in absentia during 1961 and 1962 and during this time was in Morocco and Tunisia. He was awarded a Ph.D. degree on June 13, 1967, by Princeton University.

On January 14, 1969, the Chicago Office determined that Ahmad was employed at the time by the Adlai E. Stevenson Institute of International Affairs (ASIIA), 5757 South Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago, Illinois. Ahmad was listed as a recipient of funds for study in Vietnam for the period 1968-69.

In July, 1968, the Albany Division reported that information was developed indicating that the subject proposed to travel to North and South Vietnam. It is further noted that Ahmad was leaving Cornell University because of failure to have his contract renewed. He indicated in a published article of the "Cornell Daily Sun" that he would travel to North and South Vietnam during the 1968-69 academic year as a fellow of the Center for International Studies of the University of Chicago. The article further reported that Ahmad would carry press cards from a Pakistani newspaper and two Algerian newspapers. He was identified as a person active in the antiwar movement at Cornell University.

Eqbal Ahmad

On July 12, 1968, Ahmad's former landlord at Ithaca, New York, advised that the subject told him that he would travel to Vietnam in September, 1968, in order to study and report upon the war. Ahmad reportedly said that this study would be within his field of interest since he has been conducting research on guerrilla warfare and revolutions.

Language Ability

Subject reportedly speaks fluent English, Urdu, French, Arabic, Persian and Hindustani.

Revolutionary Background

On May 8, 1965, an issue of the "Daily Illini," a daily student newspaper published at the University of Illinois, Champaign-Urbana campus, Illinois, listed the participants in a local "teach-in" on the war in Vietnam to be held on Mary 15, 1965. One of the speakers was identified as Eqbal Ahmad, assistant professor of political science who was described as an expert on guerrilla and internal warfare who had worked with the anti-French FLN guerrillas during the Algerian independence struggle and who reportedly had studied guerrilla movements all over the world.

Ahmad's file cites numerous instances of Ahmad's involvement in antidraft and anti-Vietnam demonstrations and activities as well as numerous anti-American statements made by him. During his subsequent association with the ECCSL, Ahmad has been one of the prime movers in the plot to kidnap a high Government official and appears to have played an increasingly important role as a leader and advisor of the ECCSL.

In view of the foregoing information, the following suggestions are set forth for your consideration and appropriate action:

1. Eqbal Ahmad appears to have the potential qualities (background, intelligence, education, experience and linguistic ability) of a foreign intelligence agent.

Eqbal Ahmad

It is suggested that consideration be given to issuing instructions to the field to institute an intensive full field investigation of this subject particularly with respect to his national origin, travel and residences in foreign countries and involvement in foreign political activities.

If investigation abroad so justifies, it is suggested that consideration be given to intensifying our investigation of the subject to include the establishment of sources or informants close to him. Physical surveillance and the development of highly confidential sources should not be overlooked in effecting full coverage of Ahmad's current activities.

This background investigation should insure that emphasis is placed on developing information concerning Ahmad's income and financial affairs, verification of subject's travel to South and/or North Vietnam in 1968-69 and subject's activities in the Los Angeles, California, area during the period of his attendance at Occidental College at Los Angeles.

You should insure the field aggressively intensifies this background investigation, yet it should be emphasized that utmost discretion and good judgment should be exercised to avoid unfounded charges of "harassment" being directed against the Bureau.

The above suggestions are not to be considered as all-inclusive; however, you should insure that this matter receives close personal supervision.

Comments of Assistant Director requested.

SUPERVISOR WILLIAM J. MC DONNELL: Suggestions of the Inspector have been noted and are well taken. Suggested avenues of approach will be pursued and the field will be instructed to intensify its investigation in this matter, utilizing the utmost discretion in view of pending prosecution against the subject. For this reason, no effort will be made, pending prosecution, to institute sensitive coverage or other overt activity which might prejudice the prosecution, result in a charge of harassment or otherwise be a source of embarrassment to the Bureau. Following final prosecutive action of subject, all investigative measures and techniques will be considered in line with the Inspector's suggestions to determine the nationalistic orientation and activities of the subject.

SECTION CHIEF W. R. WANNALL: Suggestions of the Inspector have been noted and are well taken. Suggested avenues of approach will be pursued and the field instructed to intensify its investigation of subject, consistent with the fact that at this time prosecution is pending and therefore discretion must be exercised. This matter will be closely followed.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: Inspector's comments are noted and appreciated and prompt action will be taken to implement his suggestions along the lines set forth above by the Supervisor and Section Chief.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM
CHINESE MATTERS

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: The DESECO Program (development of selected contacts to be directed against Soviet-bloc officials) has been operated with considerable success since it was implemented as a result of an espionage conference in 1957. As a result of this program, a substantial number of security informants and double agents have been developed.

Simultaneous with the imminent opening of the Chinese Communist (Chicom) Embassy in Canada in early February, 1971, we can expect more intelligence operations by the Chicoms in the U.S. Information already furnished by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police indicates that possibly fifty per cent of the intelligence activity generated by the Chicoms in Canada will be directed at the U.S.

It is recognized that certain steps have previously been taken with a view toward developing double agents and informants among the Chicoms. These include contacts with certain Chinese scientists working in strategic technical fields in the U.S., as well as efforts to develop some ethnic Chinese sources who might be targeted against the Chicoms. It would appear that these programs should be expanded and intensified with a view toward developing an aggressive effort directed at the Chicoms and patterned after the DESECO program. This program should include persons who by the nature of their occupation, national origin, or otherwise might be logical targets of the Chicoms or would have occasion or opportunity to be in touch with the Chicoms. This program would include journalists, students, educators, politicians, librarians, travel agents and the like.

The intelligence/espionage threat posed by the Chicoms, particularly in view of the opening of the Chicom Embassy in Canada during 2/71, is recognized.

In line with the Inspector's suggestion, we will intensify our current efforts aimed at penetration of Chicom intelligence through development of methods and techniques similar to those utilized in the DESECO Program. We will extend this operation on a highly selective basis and will strive to come up with sources who will be in a position to disrupt or neutralize Chicom intelligence efforts directed against the U. S.

In connection with possible operations in Canada, we will, of course, work closely with RCMP which has been most cooperative with us in the past.

The Inspector's suggestion will certainly be followed. In addition, with the strong probability the Chicoms will be admitted to the United Nations in the near future, DESECO's in the Chinese field will be most useful to target against Chicom officials who will be assigned to the Chicom United Nations Mission and who will be employed in the Secretariat.

217

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM
DEFECTOR PROGRAM

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: The development of a Soviet intelligence officer as a defector-in-place who will advise us of hostile intelligence activities and plans is an urgent and paramount requirement of the Bureau.

We have failed to achieve this objective in almost ten years despite our programs and investigative activities. This suggests we take a fresh approach to the problem.

The present "Defector Program" operates as follows: "Defector committees" consisting of Espionage desk Supervisors in both the New York and Washington Field Offices select five Soviet intelligence officers (with Bureau approval) as defection targets. This selection is based on a variety of reasons which indicate the Soviets have defection potential. These Soviets are then marked for priority attention and "defection teams" consisting of four men in each office are exclusively assigned to assist the five case Agents in conducting physical surveillances and to apply increased investigative attention to these Soviet targets which will hopefully lead towards a successful defection approach.

It is unlikely that only four men and five case Agents would be able to obtain complete information relating to the daylight, evening and weekend activities, contacts and behavior of the five Soviet targets to present a true picture of their character and psychological makeup essential to a successful defection approach.

It is suggested that serious consideration be afforded to decreasing the number of selected Soviet targets to two or three and to increase the number of Special Agents on each "defection team." It is more likely that ten to fifteen/or more highly motivated Agents can be successful in a total all-out team effort to bring about the defection of the targeted Soviet. This effort would include physical surveillances; the placing of Deseco, social, and double agent informants close to the target; the development of a close friendship with the target by an Agent under appropriate cover; thorough psychological study; and whatever other imaginative and unorthodox procedures may be required to create the best possible situation to enable the Soviet target to defect. This all-out effort on the part of each team should be highly professional and treated as a Bureau "special" with resolve and overriding determination to succeed.

It is fully realized that your manpower directed against Soviet intelligence has been decreased. It is also realized that it is an extremely difficult job to defect a trained Soviet intelligence officer. Extremely difficult jobs require extraordinary and sometimes unorthodox methods. You should afford this proposal serious consideration and survey the New York and Washington Field Offices for their ideas regarding this proposal.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM
MAXIMUM UTILIZATION OF GHETTO INFORMANTS

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: Since the implementation of the Ghetto Informant Program in 1967, it has developed into a productive source of accomplishments for the Bureau. Experience has shown that in addition to being mere listening posts for black extremist action, these informants, when motivated by specific assignments, also furnish valuable criminal information. As a result of conferences held at the Seat of Government, the field was instructed in March, 1970, to give more positive assignments to ghetto informants. The Director noted, "This is most important."

The number of ghetto informants now stands at more than 6,200 and it is essential that we continually make certain we are achieving maximum results from this vast reservoir of information. It is believed one additional step toward this goal would be the giving of more specific assignments to these ghetto informants, especially concerning black extremists living in their locality, such as subjects on the Security Index and selected Agitator Index subjects with extremist tendencies. Such assignments would include the development of detailed information concerning black extremist targets such as data relating to their daily activities, sources of income, and information as to whether the black extremists are operating in violation of Federal or local statutes. Ghetto informants would be assigned to black extremist targets with whom they are acquainted or who reside or work in the same area. It is also probable that in many instances ghetto informants could also be targeted against similar subjects of interest to the New Left Program.

Based on our experience to date, there appears to be little doubt but what these additional specific assignments, if fully implemented throughout the field, would not only increase our intelligence coverage of black extremists, but could also be the vehicle for putting more of these militants in jail on criminal charges. The success of this approach would, of course, be commensurate with the enthusiasm of the individual Agents in the field and it is necessary that pressure be kept on it. A suggested means for checking on the Program's progress at the Seat of Government would be to amend Form FD-405 under the heading "Racial Informant Accomplishments" to require the field to specifically list major accomplishments attributable to ghetto informants during the previous month.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM
REVISION OF RACIAL INFORMANT STATUS REPORT FORM FD-405

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: The Racial Intelligence Section currently utilizes Form FD-405 (copy attached), captioned "Status Report, Racial Informants, Extremist Groups (White-Black); Racial Matters." The form is submitted by the field quarterly, and it requires a detailed breakdown of militant black extremist groups, ghetto area, and indicates the specific informant coverage, including member informants, for each group and area, in addition to information required for white extremist groups. A complete listing is furnished quarterly and only pertinent changes are furnished by the field as they occur during interim months.

The FD-405s are handled centrally by the Black Nationalist - South and Racial Informant Unit and are furnished to Bureau Supervisors handling the substantive case on each organization listed for timely evaluation of informant development and coverage in each field office. This enables the Bureau Supervisor to detect weaknesses quickly and take appropriate corrective measures.

It is suggested that in order to provide tighter accountability for member informant development and coverage, FD-405 be revised to include an additional section to state as follows:

"Explain why you do not have member informants in those groups listed in columns #1 and #3 on FD-405a.

"Indicate what specific action is being taken to develop member informants in those groups and advise when member informant coverage is anticipated for each group."

Comments of Section Chief George C. Moore and Assistant Director Charles D. Brennan are requested.

The suggestion made by the Inspector will definitely enable the Racial Intelligence Section to afford closer supervision to the important task of developing quality racial informants especially member informants in extremist organizations.

SUGGESTION MEMORANDUM
SUPERVISION AND CONTROL OF SECURITY INFORMANT DEVELOPMENT AND COVERAGE BY INTERNAL SECURITY AND NEW LEFT SECTIONS

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: Each field office currently submits an annual report on all security informants and confidential sources, advising which informants are paid regularly. The report lists the subversive organizations currently under investigation by that office and includes the following basic information: address of organization, character of case, field file number, Bureau file number, approximate membership. The report also lists informant coverage of each organization as follows: officers - Rank and File - other.

In addition, quarterly reports on the"New Left Movement" are submitted by the field. These reports list informant coverage of New Left groups but do not specify which are member informants.

Additionally, Bureau airtel to all offices dated 11/5/70, captioned "Informant Development, Black Panther Party, New Left Groups," ordered a complete analysis of informant coverage in the Black Panther Party and New Left groups by each office in the field. This is not a regularly scheduled analysis.

It is noted that the Racial Intelligence Section currently utilizes FD-405,(copy attached), captioned "Status Report, Racial Informants, Extremist Groups (White-Black); Racial Matters." It is submitted by the field quarterly and requires a detailed breakdown of militant black extremist groups, ghetto area, and indicates the specific informant coverage, including member informants, for each group and area, in addition to information required for white extremist groups. A complete listing is furnished quarterly and only pertinent changes are furnished by the field as they occur during the interim months.

The FD-405s are handled centrally in the Black Nationalist - South and Racial Informant Unit and are routed to Bureau Supervisors handling the substantive case on each organization listed for timely evaluation of informant development and coverage in each field office. This enables the Bureau Supervisor to detect weaknesses and take timely corrective measures.

The immediacy of the need for member informant coverage in all extremist organizations is obvious if the Bureau is to be forewarned of plans for bombings, kidnappings, demonstrations, and other acts of violence in this country.

It is suggested that the New Left and Internal Security Sections devise a form similar to the FD-405, designed to fit the unique requirements of those Sections, which will assist Supervisors to more accurately evaluate and control informant development and coverage in the field. The form should require specific information on member informant development and coverage in each revolutionary, New Left, extremist, and protest group under investigation in each field office. In devising the new form, the New Left and Internal Security Sections should bear in mind the suggestion which has been proposed separately for the Racial Intelligence Section to revise FD-405 by adding a section to read as follows:

"Explain why you do not have member informants in those groups listed in columns #1 and #3 on FD-405a.

"Indicate what specific action is being taken to develop member informants in those groups and advise when member informant coverage is anticipated for each group."

FD-405 also lists statistical accomplishments attributable to racial and ghetto informants. FD-374 is used for criminal informants. This information is tabulated by computer in the Voucher-Statistical Section and is available for immediate reference, including use by the Director in his Budget Testimony.

While not ordinarily engaged in criminal activity to the same extent as criminal, racial, or ghetto informants, it is nevertheless true that security informants, especially in the New Left field, are increasingly responsible for statistical accomplishments each year. These include location of Bureau fugitives, recovery of stolen merchandise, and other similar data. It can be reasonably anticipated that they will be responsible for additional statistical accomplishments in the future. There is no current procedure for compiling and recording this type of statistical data by the New Left or Internal Security Sections.

It is suggested that in order for the Bureau to receive full credit for statistical accomplishments attributable to all FBI informants, the new form devised by the New Left and Internal Security Sections should include statistical accomplishment data as currently required on FD-405.

Comments of Section Chiefs Arbor W. Gray, Robert J. Shackelford and Assistant Director Charles D. Brennan are requested.

SECTION CHIEFS SHACKELFORD, WANNALL AND GRAY: The Inspector's suggestion appears to have merit. The New Left, Nationalities Intelligence and Internal Security Sections agree that FD-405 could be adapted to fit security informant evaluation in the New Left movement and in basic revolutionary organizations and related groups. It is proposed that representatives of each of these three sections implement the Inspector's suggestion by revising the form for security use and preparing the necessary instructions to the field requiring quarterly submission of this informant status report concerning organizations under investigation. Coordination, routing and statistical compilation of the incoming forms would be the responsibility of the Special Records Unit of the Research Section which maintains security informant records but the substantive sections involved would be responsible for evaluation and any necessary action on the basis of their content. It is believed further that should this procedure meet our needs for evaluation of member security informants, we should consider the elimination of the annual security informant report now submitted by each field office. It is proposed, therefore, that this suggestion be implemented for a six-month trial period (two submissions) to determine its feasibility and whether it does meet our needs for member informant evaluation. At the end of that trial period, the results will be analyzed and a commensurate recommendation submitted.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: I agree that it would be desirable to carry out this suggestion at least on a trial basis to determine its feasibility. I will follow this matter and at the end of the trial period the procedure will be carefully analyzed to determine whether or not it should be continued.

VENCEREMOS BRIGADE

INSPECTOR EDWARD S. MILLER: The Venceremos Brigade (VB) originated with a group of Americans who traveled to Cuba in January, 1969, to take part in the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Cuban revolution. The national organization of the VB obtained support from a wide spectrum of leftist organizations including the Communist Party, Socialist Workers Party, and the Progressive Labor Party, as well as violent revolutionary groups such as the Black Panther Party, La Raza (a militant Mexican-American civil rights group), and the Weatherman faction of the Students for a Democratic Society.

The idea of aiding Fidel Castro in meeting his proposed quota of harvesting ten million tons of cane sugar for 1970 quickly took the fancy of the young revolutionaries. Two hundred sixteen young Americans went to Cuba in November, 1969, to cut sugar cane and returned on February 11, 1970. The second contingent of 687 American youths left New Brunswick, Canada, on February 13, 1970, aboard a converted Cuban cattle boat and returned on April 28, 1970. The third contingent of 407 individuals sailed for Cuba aboard the Conrado Benitez on August 25, 1970. They returned to New Brunswick, Canada, on October 21, 1970. Presently a fourth group is being formed to leave on or about March 1, 1971, to stay in Cuba until approximately May 15, 1971.

While no evidence has been received that those persons who traveled to Cuba received guerrilla warfare training in Cuba, they were constantly told that they were the vanguard of the revolution in the United States. They were told the only way to defeat the imperialistic Government of the United States, which must be overthrown, is through revolution.

Under the current instructions individual cases are opened to locate, interview, and recommend placement on the Security Index on each person who traveled to Cuba. The SAC may authorize the interview except where the person is under 21 years, is currently a student or professor, has some connection with an institute of learning, or is a journalist. In these instances Bureau authority must be obtained for the interview. Investigation of these persons, under the current instructions, is that the case remain open for one year with 90-day verifications of residence and employment after their interview. The purpose is to determine whether their inclusion on the Security Index after the interview is warranted.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/20/71
PJD:maz

Venceremos Brigade

To date, less than half of the VB members have been located and a large portion of those located have been uncooperative insofar as the interview is concerned. Over 100 of these persons have been placed on the Security Index, and it is anticipated that numerous others will be listed. Many have been arrested for engaging in acts of violence since their return, have participated in anti-Vietnam demonstrations, or demonstrated at trials involving members of the Black Panther Party or the persons involved in the October, 1969, "days of rage" indictments in Chicago, Illinois.

It is proposed that prior to closing any of the VB cases after the interview and a year of following the individual's activity on a 90-day reporting basis, he be interviewed a second time. For those who were initially cooperative, we should make every effort possible to convert these persons as informants. Those who were initially uncooperative should be considered for Priority II handling, and those who have met the requirements for Security Index inclusion in the initial stage should be re-evaluated to insure they still meet those requirements.

Since the members of the VB have made blatantly false statements in their passport applications by not disclosing their true destination, a technical violation of the law exists. In addition, many of the applications contained either false or out-of-date information including incorrect or old addresses and places of employment. These technical violations and items of incorrect information should be brought to the attention of Assistant Attorney General Robert C. Mardian who has recently been appointed in charge of the Internal Security Division of the Department of Justice. He, together with Attorney General John N. Mitchell and James O. Eastland, United States Senator from Mississippi, has publicly indicated they were considering some antisubversion bills making it a crime to give aid and comfort to the enemy, particularly the North Vietnamese who had representatives in Cuba to meet the VB, and toughening the law against advocating the overthrow of the Government. The passport violations could certainly be reviewed and brought under their consideration for prosecution under current laws or for new legislative proposals.

Inasmuch as some of the VB members have indicated they were going underground and the fact that a majority have not been located for interview, you should consider placing name stops in the Identification Division so that if these persons are arrested or an inquiry is made by local law enforcement authorities this fact will be immediately brought to the attention of the Bureau. In addition, a stop file is now being set up by the NCIC Unit for persons other than fugitives concerning whom the Bureau has an interest. This file will require, in addition to the name and birth date of the individual, as many other items of identification as possible such as his fingerprint classification, Social Security number, military service number, Selective Service number, and the like.

Every effort should be made to utilize stops with the Identification Division and the NCIC Unit on these persons.

We should continue to impress upon the field the need for informants among the VB groups and insure that coverage of the fourth contingent is at least at the level of the second contingent (five informants) and the third contingent (four informants). Be sure that all efforts are made to have informants previously refused for passage with the prior contingents, as well as those nine informants who have previously traveled with the second and third contingents, be considered for the currently proposed trip. Also, sufficient other new informants should be proposed so that coverage of this latest contingent will be adequate for the Bureau's intelligence needs.

Comments of Assistant Director requested.

VENCEREMOS BRIGADE

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C.D. BRENNAN: The Inspector's keen analysis and thoughtful suggestions in regard to the investigation of the Venceremos Brigade (VB) is sincerely appreciated. In connection with the above, the following observations by this Division are set forth:

1. As the Inspector is aware, security investigations are being conducted concerning each participant of the VB. These investigations require that background data including any prior subversive activities be ascertained, each individual participant be considered for interview, and that the field make a recommendation as to the inclusion of each VB subject on the Security Index (SI). Upon conclusion of the above, the field is to advise the Bureau each 90 days for a period of one year as to the whereabouts and activities of Priority II, Priority III, and any non-SI subjects who are VB returnees. Priority I VB subjects are regarded as extremists and this Bureau is notified each 45 days of their activities and whereabouts.

2. As to the difficulty in locating VB returnees, it is to be noted that the first and second contingents of the VB were comprised of approximately 900 individuals made up of young revolutionaries who were college dropouts leading nomadic and communal existences. This mode of living inherently makes the Bureau's job of locating these subjects for purpose of interview more difficult. In contrast, investigation to date of the third contingent, which was composed mostly of established college students, indicates that these individuals will be more easily located. Since the third contingent returned to the U.S. approximately 90 days ago, these investigations as to background data are now being completed and the initial interviews will be promptly conducted.

3. The suggestion that these subjects be reinterviewed upon the expiration of above-mentioned one year period, will be given serious consideration and instructions to this effect will be issued to the field upon approval of the Director. Efforts will be made to develop as informants those VB subjects who are cooperative and the need for further investigative attention regarding uncooperative individuals will be evaluated on the merits of each individual case.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE DIVISION INSPECTION
1/21/71
TJM:cae

4. Regarding foreign travel such as that in which the VB is engaged, it is recognized that the best interests of this country would undoubtedly be served by prohibition of such travel. The Internal Security Act of 1950 contained sanctions restricting travel on the part of Communist Party members. After extended litigation, the Supreme Court in June, 1958, ruled in the Kent and Briehl vs. Dulles passport case that the State Department could no longer deny passports to individuals with past history of subversive affiliations. In June, 1964, the Supreme Court in the Flynn - Aptheher passport case ruled that the right of U.S. citizens to travel abroad is protected by the due process clause of the 5th Amendment. In January, 1967, in the Laub decision specifically dealing with travel to Cuba, the Supreme Court ruled that the State Department could not confiscate an individuals passport simply because the individual traveled to Cuba without State Department sanction. In December, 1967, in the Lynd decision, the District of Columbia Court of Appeals, ruled that anyone can travel to a restricted country if they did not use their passport to enter that country.

A number of bills have been introduced into Congress in recent years to remedy the above situation, most of which have never cleared committee. The Senate currently has a bill, the Eastland Bill, before the Senate to impose criminal penalties for violation of travel restrictions. A pending bill, H.R. 1493, was in December, 1969, introduced to restrict travel in violation of area restrictions. This bill has been sponsored by approximately 20 Congressmen. In view of the above, this Division has not considered it warranted to suggest additional legislation along these lines.

5. As to technical violations regarding false or erroneous statements made by members of the VB on passport applications, all information developed along these lines has been furnished both to the Department of Justice and the Department of State for whatever action they deem feasible. To date neither Department has requested that additional action be taken in this matter.

6. The Inspector's suggestion regarding the placing of name stops with the Identification Division and the NCIC Unit for information concerning hard-to-locate VB members, is well taken. This Division will coordinate this matter with NCIC to determine what information is necessary to place such stops and the manner in which this can best be effected. Instructions will be issued to the field regarding implementation of this suggestion.

7. The VB is currently formulating plans for a fourth contingent to travel to Cuba approximately March 1, 1971. By airtel dated January 6, 1971, interested field divisions were instructed to immediately initiate an aggressive campaign to obtain informants to travel to Cuba as part of this contingent. These offices were instructed to advise the Bureau no later than 1/29/71 and weekly thereafter as to their progress in this matter. This Division is acutely aware of the importance of such informant coverage and will afford this program close attention.

ADDENDUM

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: You should bear in mind that the attitude and instructions expressed by the President, the Director, and many of the legislators in Congress have been to curtail the militant actions and the violent activities on the part of a significant group of young people in the United States today. The thinking of the Supreme Court of the United States with its several recent changes may be along the lines of suppressing the activities of those who so openly espouse the overthrow of all forms of democratic authority in the United States. In addition, the Internal Security Division of the Department of Justice has been specifically enlarged and strengthened to deal with these matters. It is recognized that individual violations of the passport laws have been brought to the attention of the Department of Justice in prior times. It might be well to consider presenting the matter in its entirety to the Department showing the number and frequency of violations for their consideration and study.

We cannot overlook or minimize the fact that over 1,300 individuals have willingly and freely gone to Cuba, contrary to the State Department's specific instructions. These persons left in many instances with the impression that they would be trained in the use of revolutionary weapons including explosives and incendiary devices. They were subjected during their Cuban stay to all manner of propaganda. On their return to the United States many have gone underground and disappeared completely; others have become involved in crime, violence, and general disruptive activities; still more have refused to cooperate in any manner with the duly constituted authorities as they were so instructed by the leadership. We cannot afford to overlook these known 1,300 potential Cuban insurgents.

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR C. D. BRENNAN: (JAS:sjr - 1/22/71) The Inspector's observation with reference to the VB cases has been noted and the Bureau may be assured that these matters are being pressed, and we will press the field to furnish these cases vigorous investigative attention.

INSPECTOR E. S. C., who has been designated a known intelligence agent with defection potential. The subject appeared to be frank and cooperative during the interview and indicated his desire to assist the FBI. Accordingly, the Washington Field Office felt the subject had definite informant potential.

In the same communication the Washington Field Office furnished the Bureau with sufficient background data relative to subject and his wife and requested the Bureau to check indices.

The Bureau advised the Washington Field Office on 1/7/70 that Bureau files contained no record of the subject or his wife.

The Washington Field Office by letter to the Bureau dated 3/17/70 furnished results of background investigation concerning the subject and requested authority to recontact the subject and attempt to develop him as an informant in the Polish field.

The Bureau by letter to the Washington Field Office dated 4/1/70 granted authority to recontact the subject in accordance with provisions of Section 107 of the Manual of Instructions. The Bureau further instructed the Washington Field Office to furnish results of recontact with the subject along with recommendations concerning future utilization of subject.

The Washington Field Office by letter to the Bureau dated 6/30/70 advised the Bureau that the subject had not been recontacted by Klasa of the Polish Embassy, but due to subject's continued cooperative attitude and willingness to assist the FBI, again requested the Bureau to grant authority to develop the subject as a

By communication to WFO dated 6/20/69 the Bureau instructed that coverage of subject be intensified to determine the identities of any Agents he may be operating.

By communication dated 8/4/69 WFO advised Baltimore, Chicago, Los Angeles and Seattle Field Offices concerning identity and background of subject, furnished each office with a photograph of subject, and set forth additional investigative leads. The same WFO communication requested Bureau authority to conduct active investigation of subject including Fisurs when deemed appropriate, following clearance with U. S. Department of State.

On 9/2/69 the Bureau, with approval of U. S. Department of State, instructed WFO to proceed with the investigation.

Subsequent to 9/2/69 WFO and those offices listed above conducted active investigation of subject and promptly furnished results in a form suitable for dissemination to the Bureau.

Another progress letter from WFO dated 9/8/70 reveals that the PSI

Bokinsky, is now employed by Fenner Pontiac in Rockville, Maryland. It is noted that this information is not in the PSI file, the Baltimore Division was not advised, and no action was taken by the Bureau.

It is noted that the last Bureau communication to WFO in this matter is dated 9/2/69 granting authority to conduct Fisurs as may be necessary to determine if subject is engaged in intelligence activities.

It would appear that this entire investigation to date has lacked proper supervision at the Bureau level.

You are requested to advise the following:

1. Explain your overall supervisory policy in directing the development of Potential Double Agents directed against a known intelligence agent.

2. Why you failed to promptly and aggressively instruct the Washington Field Office to fully utilize PSI Bokinsky against Klasa, a known intelligence agent.

3. Why you failed to properly instruct the office of origin to disseminate to Baltimore Office and verify a change in employment by PSI Bokinsky.

Explanations Requested:

1. Unit Chief Howard H. Wallace, Jr., is requested to explain why in his overall supervision of these cases he failed to detect the above delinquencies.

2. Comments of Section Chief Arbor W. Gray, Inspector D. E. Moore, and Assistant Director Charles D. Brennan requested.

UNIT CHIEF HOWARD H. WALLACE, JR.XX/d. The Inspector's comments
HHW:bcw 1/22/71 relate to the attempted development of a security informant, an automobile mechanic, for the purpose of providing better coverage of the activities of a Polish intelligence officer assigned to the Polish Embassy. This development is proceeding because the mechanic is in contact with the intelligence officer in connection with repair of the officer's automobile.

It is our policy to develop as many assets of all types as necessary to provide coverage of the activities of active Polish intelligence personnel. The Manual of Instructions, Section 107A, page 3, defines various types of sources (confidential sources, potential security informants, security informants, and double agents) developed for use in these types of investigations. The term "potential double agent" is not a status defined in the Manual. It is rather an administrative term used to distinguish a source being used against an intelligence officer when the source has not as yet been solicited to handle assignments for that officer but appears to have the potential for such functions if requested.

Bokinsky was designated a potential security informant by the Bureau on 7/7/70. The Manual of Instructions, Section 107K, 7, page 13, provides that correspondence in security informant and potential security informant cases should be strictly limited to the administrative handling of the informant and should not contain information more properly furnished under the substantive case caption. The six-month justification for the subject's status as a potential security informant (per SAC Letter 68-47, 8/20/68) is contained in WFO letter 1/19/71.

The relationship of Bokinsky to Klasa is developing in a normal pattern and at a pace consistent with avoiding suspicion that he is under our control. Bureau supervision has determined this through the case on Klasa, the Polish intelligence officer against whom the potential security informant is targeted. In that regard, a 90-day evaluation letter in the Klasa case was submitted by WFO on 9/8/70 which stated that attempts were continuing to have the potential security informant placed in contact with Klasa. The potential security informant was to contact Klasa and advise him of his new employment at Fenner Pontiac, Rockville, Maryland. Again, by 90-day evaluation letter dated 12/7/70 WFO advised the potential security informant had been in contact with Klasa concerning an automobile repair. As a result, Klasa had requested potential security informant to handle the repair of Polish Embassy's automobiles whenever necessary. It was stated that the potential security informant would attempt to maintain contact with Klasa through the entre of automobile service. It is respectfully submitted that a review of both cases, the potential security informant and the intelligence officer against whom he is targeted, shows that these matters were afforded proper supervision at the Seat of Government.

2. The field has and must have the primary responsibility for development and direction of potential security informants against communist intelligence officers. The nature and intensity of the direction of such potential security informants must be commensurate with the apparent authenticity of the informant's relationship to and course of conduct with the intelligence officer against whom he is targeted. Over the years it has been firmly established from both investigative experience and information obtained from defectors that anyone who is aggressively cultivating an intelligence officer is automatically suspected as being under the control of opposition intelligence and, therefore, a provocateur. In instant case Bokinsky's logical entre to Klasa is Klasa's need for mechanical work on his and the Embassy's automobiles. Given time and cultivation as is being done according to 90-day letters being received in the Klasa case he may develop a rapport or relationship with Klasa that could result in his being upgraded to a security informant. Reviews of the Bokinsky file and the 90-day letters in the Klasa file show this matter is progressing normally and at a tempo in line with the facts of the relationship existing as well as normal experience in these matters. Therefore, it is believed there is no lack of proper supervision at the Seat of Gevernment.

3. It is respectfully submitted that there was no necessity for the Seat of Government to instruct the office of origin to disseminate to Baltimore information concerning Bokinsky and to obtain verification of his employment change as these items were covered in investigation. As a matter of long-standing policy WFO has the responsibility for developing and handling source coverage against communist intelligence officers assigned to diplomatic establishments in the Washington, D.C., area even though the source may live or work in suburban Maryland or Virginia. Review of the Bokinsky file shows that WFO by letter dated 3/17/70 to the Bureau stated that there was no record of information concerning Bokinsky available to the Baltimore Office. This indicated to the Bureau Supervisor at the time that an interoffice communication had been sent to Baltimore by WFO. A check with WFO on 1/22/71 disclosed that by interoffice letter 11/6/69 it had advised Baltimore that Bokinsky was being considered for development as a potential security informant by WFO. His employment, residence and date of birth were set forth and indices check was requested. By interoffice letter 12/12/69 Baltimore advised WFO that its indices were negative. Subsequent verification of Bokinsky's change of employment was unnecessary when same was brought to the attention of the Bureau in 90-day evaluation letter submitted under the Klasa caption on 9/8/70, and again in 90-day evaluation letter of 12/7/70. No separate communication was required for the informant file regarding the change of employment because that information would be furnished in the normal six-month justification submitted by WFO and it does appear in the six-month justification dated 1/19/71.

SECTION CHIEF A.W. GRAY: I concur with the explanation of AWG:bcw 1/22/71 SA Wallace. In accordance with existing instructions, normal procedures and at a pace consistent with security requirements and our experience in these matters, I respectfully submit that there was no lack of proper supervision at the Seat of Government.

Inspector D. E. Moore

DEM:lmb

I concur with the above comments of SA Wallace and Section Chief Gray. I feel that PSI Bokinsky must make any cultivation of Klasa appear entirely normal and WFO, by letter dated 12/7/70 in the Klasa caption, stated that Bokinsky will continue to contact Klasa concerning auto repairs and will attempt to establish a social relationship.

Assistant Director C.D. Brennan

I concur with the above comments.

SUBSTANTIVE ERROR WRITE-UP

ERIC NELSON, PSI
IS - R
OFFICE OF ORIGIN - NEWARK
NEWARK FILE - 134-3757
BUREAU FILE - 134-19669

INSPECTOR E. S. MILLER: Captioned investigation was instituted by the Newark Division based upon a communication to the Bureau dated 12/18/69 in the case entitled "Vladimir G. Azaryan; IS-R (ATC-KGB); Bureau file 105-184321; Newark file 105-25293." This communication seeks Bureau authority to interview subject to assess his potential as a security informant or double agent.

The subject, a naturalized American citizen, is employed as the chief chemist at Kaysam Corporation of America, Paterson, New Jersey, and reported to have had numerous contacts with Azaryan, who is chief engineer at Amtorg and a known KGB officer.

By communication to Newark, the Bureau on 1/6/70 instructed that office to interview subject "in accordance with existing instructions relating to interviews of security subjects" to evaluate his potential with regard to furnishing information regarding Azaryan. The Bureau further instructed Newark in the same communication to furnish results in a form suitable for dissemination.

Newark by communication to the Bureau dated 2/12/70 set forth background information relative to subject (in memorandum form, not suitable for dissemination as instructed by the Bureau) and stating information contained therein would be furnished in LHM form under the Azaryan caption.

On 3/31/70 the Newark Office advised under the Azaryan caption and not the case caption, that Nelson had been interviewed.

The above constitutes a summary of all correspondence contained in captioned file to date.

OFFICE OF ORIGIN - NEW YORK
NEW YORK OFFICE FILE - 105-97980
NEWARK OFFICE FILE - 105-25293
BUREAU FILE - 105-184321

The subject of this investigation first came to the attention of the Bureau in August, 1968, via a U. S. Department of State communication advising that the subject had been issued a visa to enter the U. S. as an employee of the Amtorg Trading Corporation, NYC, New York. At that time Bureau communication to NYO dated 8/14/68 instructed that office to be alert to subject's arrival and handle in accordance with Section 105 K, Manual of Instructions.

Subsequent to that time the NYO and auxiliary offices conducted extensive investigation including discreet Fisurs and kept the Bureau advised of their progress by letter dated 12/9/68. In this same communication, a request was made of the Bureau to contact U. S. Department of State for authority for intensified investigation of subject including surveillances when necessary. The Bureau by communication to U. S. Department of State dated 1/3/69 sought such authority which was subsequently granted by State 1/22/69. The subject has been under constant investigation by the NYO since that time with a free exchange of information between the NYO and the Bureau.

The Newark Office advised the Bureau by communication dated 3/31/70 that Nelson, the PSI, had been interviewed, the results of which were furnished the Bureau in LHM form dated 4/8/70. The results of the interview were furnished U. S. Department of State, CIA, Commerce and the U. S. Information Agency.

On 4/17/70 Newark Office again furnished results of contact by PSI Nelson with the subject in LHM form suitable for dissemination.

On 6/17/70 Newark reported another contact by PSI Nelson with the subject.

The NYO advised the Bureau by LHM dated 6/26/70 that on the evening of 6/14/70 the subject was observed boarding Aeroflot for a flight to Moscow.

Although a concentrated investigative effort was put forth by the New York and Newark Offices in the investigation, it is noted that no specific directions were given PSI Nelson by the New York or Newark Offices or the Bureau from January, 1970, to the time subject left for Moscow in June, 1970, in spite of the fact that Nelson and the subject had mutual professional backgrounds (chemists) and from a review of the files appeared to speak the same language.

It is noted that this case was originally opened as a PSI and potential double agent case. It is still in a pending status and is still being reported by you as a potential double agent case, when in fact the individual (Azaryan) against whom Nelson was directed departed the U.S. in June, 1970.

A review of the Nelson file fails to contain any instructions or directions regarding the development of Nelson as a double agent and in addition a review of the Azaryan file similarly contains no information or instructions from the Bureau in this regard. There appears to be a definite weakness in the overall administration and supervision of this "potential double agent" at the Seat of Government.

You are requested to advise the following:

1. What is your overall supervisory policy in connection with developing potential security informants directed against a double agent?

2. Why you continue to carry this case (Nelson) in a pending status when the subject whom he was directed against (Azaryan) left the U.S. for Russia in June, 1970.

3. Why you failed to instruct and aggressively direct the office of origin in the Nelson case against the double agent target Azaryan.

4. Why you have the Nelson case listed as a potential double agent when in effect he was being developed as a PSI.

Explanations Requested:

1. Case supervisor and Unit Chief Bowen F. Rose for failure to detect the above delinquencies in your overall supervision of the Nelson matter.

2. Comments of Section Chief William A. Branigan, Inspector D. E. Moore and Assistant Director Charles D. Brennan requested.

249

SA Bowen F. Rose
(1-22-71 BFR:as)

The case of Eric Nelson, PSI, IS-R, was assigned to me on 12/17/70, therefore, I was not responsible for instruction or direction of the office of origin in this matter prior to that date and it has not come up for review on tickler as yet. With regard to the case of Vladimir G. Azaryan, IS-R, this case is closed and has never been assigned to me.

With regard to questions raised by the Inspector, the following is set out.

It is presumed question one relates to our supervisory policy with regard to the development of informants to be targeted against Soviet officials and/or Soviet agents, not against our double agents. It is our policy to encourage informant development of as many individuals as possible against a Soviet target to provide the widest spectrum of information concerning his social, business and personal life in order to develop data essential for in depth defection analysis. In addition, we seek to identify those individuals whom the Soviets appear to be selecting for recruitment and to develop them to act in our behalf against the Soviets. Such highly controlled actions serve either to involve the Soviets in time consuming and costly operations in which they can only receive carefully selected and screened information or disinformation or may provide us the basis for effective counterintelligence actions against the Soviets, as is so well illustrated in the Azaryan case. Our supervision in the development of informants is accomplished through the close review and analysis of the periodic progress letters submitted on Soviet officials; the direction which we afford to contact cases and to the cases resulting from the DESECO Program.

As the result of an excellent counterintelligence effort formulated and carried out by the New York Office with Bureau guidance and direction, a defection approach was made to Azaryan by NY 5179-S on 6/4/70. This informant had previously been handled by Yuriy K. Kitaev, another experienced, aggressive KGB officer. As a result of this action, both Soviets departed the U. S. almost immediately. The loss of these two experienced operatives most certainly caused a serious disruption in the activities of the New York Residency of the KGB.

We have learned through defector sources that in instances such as described above, the entire activity of the KGB officers involved as well as the Residency as a whole are subjected to most careful scrutiny to determine if there has been a penetration; if the operation was mishandled and what, if anything, can be salvaged from other operations which were being run by the officers involved. Such a review may take many months. No doubt Azaryan's contacts with Nelson have been the subject of such careful study. Inasmuch as we did not involve Nelson in our approach to Azaryan, there is no reason to believe that the KGB does not still consider Nelson as a potential agent.

It would be logical for the Soviets to have Nelson's development continued by Azaryan's replacement, who would by now have been in the U. S. for a relatively short period of time. Historically, a newly arrived KGB operative takes some months to get acclimated to the environment in which he will work and, therefore, does not jump right in to take over a net of agents.

The Nelson case has been maintained in a pending status as it was felt he still possesses potential as a source against the Soviets. At this point the only ones who know if this is true are the KGB. If we were to attempt to initiate contact between Nelson and the Soviets, they would be convinced he is a plant and lose all interest in him. The only course of action we can pursue at this time is to wait for the Soviets to make a move.

Newark's most recent communication in this matter advised that Nelson is alert to our interests and they are maintaining contact with him. This is essential to insure we have full knowledge and control of any future Soviet initiatives. Experience has shown the Soviets will allow situations such as this to remain dormant for as long as eight years. It is not suggested that this matter will be kept pending for this length of time; however, for reasons indicated it is incumbent upon us to continue to follow this matter for a reasonable period of time.

A review of the Azaryan file will show aggressive supervision by Seat of Government supervisors, including specific instructions to the field. As a prime defection target, all facets of the investigation of his activities were carefully considered. NY 5179-S was selected as the vehicle to carry out our defection approach. Nelson, a contact of Azaryan, was interviewed and was cooperative. His operation as a source against Azaryan was proceeding in proper fashion, and having decided on the utilization of NY 5179-S to make the approach to Azaryan, there was no need to expedite Nelson's development. By not involving Nelson in this operation we have not unnecessarily revealed our interests in him and preserved a potential asset.

With regard to question four, the designations of an individual as a Potential Security Informant and as a potential double agent are not mutually exclusive. Potential Security Informant is the term defined in the Manual of Instructions for an individual in position to become active in intelligence activities and administrative supervision is in accord with provisions of the Manual of Instructions. On the other hand, potential double agent is merely an arbitrary designation we apply to an individual who is in contact with a Soviet-bloc official, but in which the relationship has not yet developed into one of a covert intelligence nature. Such a relationship is well illustrated in Azaryan's overt business contacts with Nelson on behalf of Amtorg, the Soviet trading company. That such a relationship may abruptly change in character to a covert intelligence operation is well documented in countless cases which have arisen out of "innocent" business oriented contacts. For this reason the arbitrary designation of potential double agent was given to Nelson.

In connection with the observation that the Bureau instructed the Newark Office to interview Nelson and furnish results in a form suitable for dissemination the Newark Office furnished background information and advised information would be furnished in LHM form under the Azaryan caption. The only occasion when substantive data received from a source appears in the informant case file is in the semiannual justification letter in abbreviated form. See Section 107K, paragraph 7, page 13, Manual of Instructions, which states:

> "Correspondence in security informant and potential informant matters should be strictly limited to administrative handling of informant and should not contain information more properly furnished under substantive case caption."

252

I have noted the Inspector's comments and I will continue to provide the type of direction and supervision to which those comments are directed.

Section Chief W. A. Branigan

Alan G. Sentinella

May 21, 1975

The following represents the writer's recollection of testimony given this date before the Senate Select Committee (SSC) pursuant to subpoena. The session commenced at 10 a.m. 5/21/75 in Room 607, former Caroll Arms Hotel. Present was Senator Robert Morgan (North Carolina); Lester B. Seidel, Staff Member; Mr. Jack Smith, Staff Member; Mr. John Bailey, Assistant Minority Counsel, and a male reporter. Senator Morgan placed the writer under oath. Approximately four or five minutes later Senator Morgan excused himself with a general statement to the effect he had other pressing matters. The entire proceedings with only two exceptions were conducted by Lester B. Seidel.

Seidel explained the writer was entitled to counsel, had the privilege of invoking provisions of the Fifth Amendment, and would have the privilege of making an opening and closing statement. Seidel inquired whether the writer understood his rights and the Committee's rules and regulations, a copy of which he had made available.

The writer acknowledged receipt of the Committee's rules and regulations as furnished by Seidel at 9:31 a.m. 5/21/75. He also acknowledged he had been informed of the right to counsel but inasmuch as this Committee was not understood to constitute a grand jury and in the absence of any charges or allegations of a violation of law on his part, he did not insist on the presence of counsel.

Seidel was advised that as a former Special Agent the writer had contacted the Bureau's Legal Counsel Division and as of this date had been advised by Mr. Paul Daly thereof that he had been cleared by the Attorney General (AG) to testify to matters relating to investigation of Martin Luther King, Jr., Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and Stanley Levison.

Seidel was advised that during his interview of the writer in Atlanta, Georgia, on 5/12/75 he had asked a question as to how long after the assassination of King did the telephone surveillance continue on the King residence. On 5/12/75 the writer responded it was his recollection this coverage continued until a short time subsequent to the assassination. Following that interview, the writer recalled that either shortly before or shortly after that case was assigned to the writer, the King family had moved from one residence to another and that continuation of the telephone surveillance from the former residence to the latter one was not authorized. Secondly, Seidel on 5/12/75 had asked when the King and SCLC cases were assigned to the writer, the writer recalled such assignment was in the early part of 1965; that it was now the writer's recollection this assignment was made in May, 1965.

"Set forth below are questions asked by Seidel (unless otherwise indicated) and the writer's answers. These questions and answers are not set forth chronologically.

"Q. Why was continuance of the telephone surveillance not continued to the Kings' new residence?

"A. Continuance was not authorized by the AG.

"Q. What telephone surveillance was there conducted by Atlanta of Stanley Levison?

"A. There was no such coverage per se only such as afforded by contacts made of King or members of the SCLC staff by Levison.

"Q. Was there telephone surveillance of Levison in New York?

"A. Any contacts of King by Levison while in New York would have been covered.

"Q. Did the New York Office maintain telephone surveillance of Levison?

"A. I do not directly know.

"Q. During the Atlanta interview you indicated you had read New York reports concerning Levison. Is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. During Atlanta interview you indicated you presumed these reports set forth information concerning Levison from a telephone surveillance. Is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. What was the basis for your presumption?

A. The appropriate administrative portion of such report would have so indicated.

Q. What evidence of CP connections did your investigation develop concerning Levison?

A. None.

Q. What information did you have establishing CP connection re Levison?

A. Such information as was set forth in what was then referred to as a characterization of Levison. Such characterization was a part of each report submitted to the Bureau.

Q. What was the nature of this characterization?

A. I do not remember the precise language. It is my recollection the statement was brief and set forth information establishing past and/or present CP affiliation by Levison.

Q. Where did you obtain this characterization?

A. A characterization of an individual or organization at that time was prepared by the field office concerned, submitted to Bureau Headquarters for its approval, and such was made available to offices having a need-to-know this information.

See attached pages ITEM II

Q. What was the source of this information regarding Levison.

A. I do not recall that I was ever apprised thereof. A characterization would not indicate the source of the information, unless public source information was utilized, otherwise the reliability or lack thereof of the source or sources would be indicated but not their identity.

Q. What prompted you today to amend your answer on May the 12th '75 as to how long telephone surveillance continued on the King residence? Did you seek the advice or an answer from someone?

A. Only to the extent that subsequent to May the 12th I conferred with a former Agent, Charles Harding. Prior ~~to that time which~~ thereto it had concerned me, that my initial answer to that question for some reason did not impress me as being completely correct. I mentioned this to Harding and he informed me that my answer was incorrect and mentioned the change in the King residence and the fact coverage had not been thereafter authorized. When he informed me of this I immediately recalled the change in residence which previously had escaped my memory.

Q. Why would Harding know this information?

A. For a period of time he was in a supervisory capacity.

Q. Was he in a supervisory capacity when the change in residence was made?

A. He was in a relief supervisory capacity at that time.

Q. Why did you rely on Harding's recollection? Is his recollection better than yours?

A. I am not suggesting his recollection is better or worse than mine. What he said to me merely served to jog my memory upon which I based my earlier statement today.

Q. You recall when I interviewed you in Atlanta most of my questions were taken from prepared notes?

A. Yes.

Q. You recall that I told you that I would make notes during the interview in order that I might later refresh my recollection as to your testimony?

A. Yes, and Mr. Seidel, you recall that I did not take any notes (to which he answered in the affirmative).

Q. Did you make any recording of that interview at the time?

A. I did not.

Q. Did you make any subsequent written recording of the interview?

A. Yes, I did so for my personal information.

Q. Is such writing available to this Committee?

A. I consider it a personal item for my personal use. I realize that you have the perogative of subpoenaing it. In the absence thereof, I prefer not to make it available.

Q. How long after King's assassination did the telephone surveillance of SCLC continue?

A. I cannot be certain. It continued for a period of time which may have been one, two, possibly three months. I simply do not remember.

Q. Who handled SCLC and Levison case after you left the Bureau?

A. Richard Hamilton.

Q. When did he assume these cases?

A. I cannot recall precisely. I am not even sure whether they had been administratively reassigned to him prior to my departure.

Q. Who else besides Stanley Levison was in contact with King who you understood to have some type of CP connections?

A. There was Hunter Pitts O'Dell, Bayard Rustin, and Harry Wachtel.

Q. Hunter Pitts O'Dell, the same as Jack O'Dell?

A. Yes, he was.

Q. What evidence of CP connections or domination by Moscow of O'Dell, Rustin, Wachtel, did your investigation develop?

A. It did not develop any such information.

Q. How did you know of what~~ever~~ their CP affiliation may have been?

A. In the same manner as in regard to Levison.

Q. What investigation did Atlanta conduct of O'Dell, Rustin, and Wachtel?

A. There was no active ongoing investigation conducted of these individuals other than during such periods when they were in contact with King or members of SCLC.

Q. Was Coretta King ever the target of an electronic surveillance?

A. Not to my knowledge beyond such coverage as might have occurred from the telephone surveillance when it applied to the King residence or on such occasions when she might have been present in SCLC headquarters.

Q. Do you know when the telephone surveillance of King and SCLC were initiated?

A. I did not have the cases at that time.

Q. Did you not learn of such information while you had these cases?

A. Yes.

Q. How?

A. From information in the appropriate file.

Q. What communication transpired between the Bureau and Atlanta relative to the initiation of these telephone surveillances, airtels, letters, memoranda?

A. I am certain there were airtels, letters, possibly teletypes in the file.

Q. What was the ~~j~~gist of such communications?

A. Advisement that such installation had been authorized, instructions to initiate the coverage.

Q. Who installed the surveillances, Al Miller; was he not a technician, a wireman?

A. Your answer to that question is not entirely correct. Alden Miller was an Atlanta Agent who had certain technical ability. It is my recollection the surveillance was installed by an Agent who was not from the Atlanta Office. I do not remember his name.

Q. Did you monitor any of these surveillances?

A. No.

Q. Did you monitor any such surveillance during this period of time?

A. Yes. I recall on two occasions filling in for another employee in connection with telephone surveillance of the headquarters of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. I did not monitor the King or SCLC telephone surveillance.

Q. What was the nature of the investigation of SNCC?

A. To determine communist influence of that organization.

Q. What is your recollection of the Bureau's efforts to influence any political campaign.

A. I have no such recollection.

Q. What about efforts to disrupt the political campaign of Senator Andrew Young?

A. I do not know of any such efforts. It's my recollection that Andrew Young did not become actively involved in politics during the period of time with which we are concerned. ← SEE ITEM I. of attached pages

Q. Did a former Bureau official William Sullivan visit Atlanta during this period?

A. There were two Sullivans in an official capacity with the Bureau.

Q. William Sullivan, who was formerly connected with intelligence matters at the Bureau. Did you ever meet him?

A. Yes. I met him on several occasions during the 1950s. I do not recall any contact with him during the period with which we are presently concerned.

Q. After you received the King, SCLC, and Levison cases, what did Mr. Bob Nichols do?

A. Shortly thereafter he was transferred as a Resident Agent to Valdosta, Georgia.

A. There is only one particular conversation that comes to mind at the moment and I have no recollection with whom the conversation was held; during which reference was made to a wonderful sermon they had preached together on somebody's kitchen floor.

Q. Kitchen floor?

A. Yes.

Q. What surreptitious entry was made in respect to the King residence or SCLC headquarters?

A. During the period I was concerned with these cases there was none.

Q. Supposing an Agent wanted some item from either location to use against King or SCLC. Would he not have made a surreptitious entry to obtain it?

A. No such entry was made at any time to my knowledge. I say this very firmly because the Bureau policy before the late 1950s concerning such a technique had changed.

Q. (By Jack Smith) What do you mean by saying this policy had changed?

A. During my period with the Bureau, from the beginning, such activity had to be approved by the Bureau. With reference to the period of time when the policy ~~had~~ changed it changed to the extent that obtaining authority therefore was virtually impossible.

Q. Prior to 1965 in what way were you involved in any surreptitious entry?

A. Mr. Seidel, as I stated earlier I have been informed that I was released by the AG to testify before this Committee concerning King, SCLC, Stanley Levison, and matters related thereto.

Q. Did you develop any information establishing CP connection on the part of King?

A. Not beyond his affiliation with Levison and the other individuals previously mentioned.

Q. What was the objective of the investigation of King and SCLC?

A. To determine possible communist influence of King and SCLC.

Q. If, as you state, you did not develop information that King was a communist, was not this investigation in vain?

A. Not in my opinion. It is correct it did not establish that King was a CP member. It did establish that he was in contact with individuals then having past or present CP affiliation which was the objective of the investigation. See ITEM III of attached pages.

Q. Do you remember during 1963 King alleged that Bureau Agents were not responsive to civil rights ~~complications~~ Complaints in the vicinity of Albany, Georgia, and other South Georgia locations?

A. Yes, I recall news media information concerning such allegations.

Q. In response to these allegations by King, do you remember that Mr. Hoover became very concerned with King's allegations?

A. Yes. I definitely remember the news media indicating that Mr. Hoover was extremely upset.

Q. You have stated you were assigned to King and SCLC case in May, 1965, is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. You previously stated these cases were initiated 12 months or perhaps a little longer prior to your receiving them. Is that correct?

A. Yes.

Q. Was there not then a connection between Director Hoover's concern with King's statements in 1963 regarding lack of attention to civil rights matters in South Georgia by the Bureau and the initiation of the investigation of King and SCLC?

See ITEM IV of attached pages

A. ~~Yes.~~ I did not discuss that matter with Mr. Hoover or with any Bureau official.

Q. Do you deny there was any such connection?

A. I cannot deny that there might have been such a connection. This was a situation in which I recall the news media on more than one occasion suggested such to be the case.

Q. From 1965 until 1971 was there any electronic surveillance of any other individual or organization in addition to King, SCLC, and SNCC?

A. To the best of my recollection there were none except as may have pertained to some strictly criminal investigations with which I had no connection.

Q. What about prior to 1965?

A. There was one concerning an individual or individuals having KLAN ~~King~~ connections believed to have been involved in an earlier church bombing, I believe in Birmingham, involving the death of several children.

Q. During our interview in Atlanta you stated you did not have any contact with members of the news media or clergy regarding King or SCLC. Is that correct?

A. Yes, I did not have any such contact.

Q. What discussion was had with members of the Atlanta Police Department concerning King, SCLC, and Levison, and what was the extent of their electronic coverage regarding these matters?

A. During the period of time I was concerned with King, SCLC, Levison, I had no discussion with any member of the Atlanta Police Department concerning these matters. Bureau instructions regarding these matters ~~or~~ were that any discussion was on a strictly need-to-know basis and I have absolutely no recollection that members of the Atlanta Police Department fitted into this category.

I do not have any knowledge as to what electronic surveillance may ever have been conducted by the Atlanta Police Department.

Q. While in Atlanta you were assigned to what was referred to as the Security and Racial Squad, is that correct?

A. That is correct.

Q. Essentially this squad was concerned with security matters, racial matters, is that correct?

A. Yes and it was also concerned with civil rights violations and election law violations.

Q. In regard to civil rights and election law matters, did you ever develop any information pertinent to the CP?

A. No.

Q. What Agents do you remember were assigned to that squad? Charles Harding, Arthur Murtagh?

A. Yes. Those two, Alden Miller, Richard Hamilton, Richard Davis, Donald Burgess, Randall McGough, Timothy Dorsch, Charles Haynes.

Q. Who monitored the King and SCLC surveillance?

A. A number of different gentlemen, some of whom were periodically transferred.

Q. Who were some of those?

A. Donald Burgess, Richard Davis, Brian O'Shea, now deceased.

Q. Who served in a supervisory capacity before Charles Harding?

A. Henry Rouse.

Q. Where is he now?

A. I understand he retired, I do not know where he is located.

Q. What was your involvement with the Bureau's program referred to as COINTELPRO?

A. Mr. Seidel, as I endeavored to explain on May 12, your use of that particular terminology did not register with me at all.

Q. Recently testimony was given be one or more Bureau officials indicating this program began during the late 1950s and continued to a fairly recent date. Did not your reports regarding King, SCLC, or Levison include in their caption COINTELPRO?

A. It is not my recollection that they did.

Q. What about a Klan organization?

A. I did at various times handle investigations concerning individual Klan members. I did not handle the Klan as an organizational matter. It is my recollection that in reporting on the activities of an individual Klan member the character of the case would have been indicated as Ku Klux Klan - Racial Matter.

I feel compelled to apologize if I appear particularly dense as to the utilization of this phrase COINTELPRO. If it was a program operating over a period of years the only explanation I can offer at this moment is that conceiably some field offices other than Atlanta were initially involved therein. If this was the case, Atlanta may well have been included therein subsequent to my departure.

Q. (John Bailey) When the telephone surveillance was discontinued on the King residence and on SCLC who took care of that.

A. I do not know.

THIS WOULD READ BETTER IF MOVED TO PAGE 19

It should be noted the Committee took a five minute break approximately 12:05 to 12:10 p.m. after which questioning continued.

Following a few very general concluding comments by Seidel, the writer was given the opportunity to make a statement. At this point Seidel was advised it was the writer's understanding that the procedures of this Committee provided for a witness to subsequently have opportunity to review the transcript thereof, and that the writer would like to avail himself of this opportunity. Inquiry was made as to whether this could be accomplished via registered or certified mail to preclude unnecessary expense to the Government.

Seidel responded at some length referring to (Section 6b?) of the Committee's rules and regulations which permitted such review in the Committee's office. Any expense thereof to be borne by the witness. He explained it was not his perogative to amend the Committee's rules and regulations.

The writer apologized for asking the question and assured Mr. Sidell he was not asking him to make any changes. He submitted that had he been furnished a copy of the Committee's rules and regulations for a period of time no longer than 29 minutes before this Committee convened, Had such been furnished at an earlier date it would not have been necessary to have asked the question.

The aforementioned session terminated shortly past 1 p.m.

"Seidel explained the writer was entitled to counsel, had the privilege of invoking provisions of the Fifth Amendment, and would have the privilege of making an opening and closing statement. Seidel inquired whether the writer understood his rights and the Committee's rules and regulations, a copy of which he had made available.

'The writer acknowledged receipt of the Committee's rules and regulations as furnished by Seidel at 9:31 a.m. 5/21/75. He also acknowledged he had been informed of the right to counsel but inasmuch as this Committee was not understood to constitute a grand jury and in the absence of any charges or allegations of a violation of law on his part, he did not insist on the presence of counsel.

"Seidel was advised that as a former Special Agent the writer had contacted the Bureau's Legal Counsel Division and as of this date had been advised by Mr. Paul Daly thereof that he had been cleared by the Attorney General (AG) to testify to matters relating to investigation of Martin Luther King, Jr., Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), and Stanley Levison.

'Seidel was advised that during his interview of the writer in Atlanta, Georgia, on 5/12/75 he had asked a question as to how long after the assassination of King did the telephone surveillance continue on the King residence. On 5/12/75 the writer responded it was his recollection this coverage continued until a short time subsequent to the assassination. Following that interview, the writer recalled that either shortly before or shortly after that case was assigned to the writer, the King family had moved from one residence to another and that continuation of the telephone surveillance from the former residence to the latter one was not authorized. Secondly, Seidel on 5/12/75 had asked when the King and SCLC cases were assigned to the writer, the writer recalled such assignment was in the early part of 1965; that it was now the writer's recollection this assignment was made in May, 1965.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

"Set forth below are questions asked by Seidel (unless otherwise indicated) and the writer's answers. These questions and answers are not set forth chronologically.

"Q. Why was continuance of the telephone surveillance not continued to the Kings' new residence?

"A. Continuance was not authorized by the AG.

"Q. What telephone surveillance was there conducted by Atlanta of Stanley Levison?

"A. There was no such coverage per se only such as afforded by contacts made of King or members of the SCLC staff by Levison.

"Q. Was there telephone surveillance of Levison in New York?

"A. Any contacts of King by Levison while in New York would have been covered.

"Q. Did the New York Office maintain telephone surveillance of Levison?

"A. I do not directly know.

"Q. During the Atlanta interview you indicated you had read New York reports concerning Levison. Is that correct?

"A. Yes.

"Q. During Atlanta interview you indicated you presumed these reports set forth information concerning Levison from a telephone surveillance. Is that correct?

"A. Yes.

"Q. What was the basis for your presumption?

"A. The appropriate administrative portion of such report would have so indicated.

"Q. What evidence of CP connections did your investigation develop concerning Levison?

"A. None.

"Q. What information did you have establishing CP connection re Levison?

"A. Such information as was set forth in what was then referred to as a characterization of Levison. Such characterization was a part of each report submitted to the Bureau.

"Q. What was the nature of this characterization?

"A. I do not remember the precise language. It is my recollection the statement was brief and set forth information establishing past and/or present CP affiliation by Levison.

"Q. Where did you obtain this characterization?

"A. A characterization of an individual or organization at that time was prepared by the field office concerned, submitted to Bureau Headquarters for its approval, and such was made available to offices having a need-to-know this information.

"Q. What was the source of this information regarding Levison?

"A. I do not recall that I was ever apprised thereof. A characterization would not indicate the source of the information, unless public source information was utilized, otherwise the reliability or lack thereof of the source or sources would be indicated but not their identity.

"Q. What prompted you today to amend your answer on May the 12th '75 as to how long telephone surveillance continued on the King residence? Did you seek the advice or an answer from someone?

"A. Only to the extent that subsequent to May the 12th I conferred with a former Agent, Charles Harding. Prior thereto it had concerned me, that my initial answer to that question for some reason did not impress me as being completely correct. I mentioned this to Harding and he informed me that my answer was incorrect and mentioned the change in the King residence and the fact coverage had not been thereafter authorized. When he informed me of this I immediately recalled the change in residence which previously had escaped my memory.

"Q. Why would Harding know this information?

"A. For a period of time he was in a supervisory capacity.

"Q. Was he in a supervisory capacity when the change in residence was made?

"A. He was in a relief supervisory capacity at that time.

"Q. Why did you rely on Harding's recollection? Is his recollection better than yours?

"A. I am not suggesting his recollection is better or worse than mine. What he said to me merely served to jog my memory upon which I based my earlier statement today.

"Q. You recall when I interviewed you in Atlanta most of my questions were taken from prepared notes?

"A. Yes.

"Q. You recall that I told you that I would make notes during the interview in order that I might later refresh my recollection as to your testimony?

"A. Yes, and Mr. Seidel, you recall that I did not take any notes (to which he answered in the affirmative).

"Q. Did you make any recording of that interview at the time?

"A. I did not.

"Q. Did you make any subsequent written recording of the interview?

"A. Yes, I did so for my personal information.

"Q. Is such writing available to this Committee?

"A. I consider it a personal item for my personal use. I realize that you have the perogative of subpoenaing it. In the absence thereof, I prefer not to make it available.

"Q. How long after King's assassination did the telephone surveillance of SCLC continue?

"A. I cannot be certain. It continued for a period of time which may have been one, two, possibly three months. I simply do not remember.

"Q. Who handled SCLC and Levison case after you left the Bureau?

"A. Richard Hamilton.

"Q. When did he assume these cases?

"A. I cannot recall precisely. I am not even sure whether they had been administratively reassigned to him prior to my departure.

"Q. Who else besides Stanley Levison was in contact with King who you understood to have some type of CP connections?

"A. There was Hunter Pitts O'Dell, Bayard Rustin, and Harry Wachtel.

"Q. Hunter Pitts O'Dell, the same as Jack O'Dell?

"A. Yes, he was.

"Q. What evidence of CP connections or domination by Moscow of O'Dell, Rustin, Wachtel, did your investigation develop?

CONFIDENTIAL

"A. It did not develop any such information.

"Q. How did you know of what their CP affiliation may have been?

"A. In the same manner as in regard to Levison.

"Q. What investigation did Atlanta conduct of O'Dell, Rustin, and Wachtel?

"A. There was no active ongoing investigation conducted of these individuals other than during such periods when they were in contact with King or members of SCLC.

"Q. Was Coretta King ever the target of an electronic surveillance?

"A. Not to my knowledge beyond such coverage as might have occurred from the telephone surveillance when it applied to the King residence or on such occasions when she might have been present in SCLC headquarters.

"Q. Do you know when the telephone surveillance of King and SCLC were initiated?

"A. I did not have the cases at that time.

"Q. Did you not learn of such information while you had these cases?

"A. Yes.

"Q. How?

"A. From information in the appropriate file.

"Q. What communication transpired between the Bureau and Atlanta relative to the initiation of these telephone surveillances, airtels, letters, memoranda?

CONFIDENTIAL

"A. I am certain there were airtels, letters, possibly teletypes in the file.

"Q. What was the gist of such communications?

"A. Advisement that such installation had been authorized, instructions to initiate the coverage.

"Q. Who installed the surveillances, Al Miller; was he not a technician, a wireman?

"A. Your answer to that question is not entirely correct. Alden Miller was an Atlanta Agent who had certain technical ability. It is my recollection the surveillance was installed by an Agent who was not from the Atlanta Office. I do not remember his name.

"Q. Did you monitor any of these surveillances?

"A. No.

"Q. Did you monitor any such surveillance during this period of time?

"A. Yes. I recall on two occasions filling in for another employee in connection with telephone surveillance of the headquarters of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee. I did not monitor the King or SCLC telephone surveillance.

"Q. What was the nature of the investigation of SNCC?

"A. To determine communist influence of that organization.

"Q. What is your recollection of the Bureau's efforts to influence any political campaign?

"A. I have no such recollection.

"Q. What about efforts to disrupt the political campaign of Senator Andrew Young?

"A. I do not know of any such efforts. It's my recollection that Andrew Young did not become actively involved in politics during the period of time with which we are concerned.

"Q. What about Julian Bond's campaign? Any effort to influence that?

"A. No. As I recall Bond was already a member of the Georgia legislature by 1964 or 1965.

"Q. What electronic surveillance was conducted of Bond?

"A. None to my knowledge beyond such coverage as may have resulted from coverage of SNCC with which Bond was affiliated.

"Q. In same manner a question was asked re other members of the Georgia legislature. My answer was that my only concern had been with former Governor Lester Maddox and my handling of the Civil Rights Act of 1964(?) case involving Maddox and his operation of the Pickrick restaurant.

"Q. Did a former Bureau official William Sullivan visit Atlanta during this period?

"A. There were two Sullivans in an official capacity with the Bureau.

"Q. William Sullivan, whowas formerly connected with intelligence matters at the Bureau. Did you ever meet him?

"A. Yes. I met him on several occasions during the 1950s. I do not recall any contact with him during the period with which we are presently concerned.

"Q. After you received the King, SCLC, and Levison cases, what did Mr. Bob Nichols do?

"A. Shortly thereafter he was transferred as a Resident Agent to Valdosta, Georgia.

"Q. Was King given a nickname in the Atlanta Office?

"A. Yes.

"Q. What was it?

"A. "Zorro"

"Q. How did that come about?

"A. I believe that began with Mr. Nichols and just passed on down.

"Q. Why was that name selected?

"A. I do not know precisely.

"Q. Don't you have any idea?

"A. Yes.

"Q. What was the basis for it?

"A. As I remember, "Zorro" was either a television or movie character who carried a sword and therefore could be referred to as a swordsman.

"Q. What connection had this with King?

"A. The Reverend King participated in a number of extra-marital relations and therefore it seemed fitting that in the vernacular the reference swordsman applied to him.

"Q. What extra-marital activities were there?

"A. There were several women involved.

"Q. How do you know this?

"A. It was indicated on occasions by conversations.

"Q. How?

"A. By reference to a previous escapade with an individual or to one pending.

"Q. Can you give an example of such reference?

"A. There is only one particular conversation that comes to mind at the moment and I have no recollection with whom the conversation was held; during which reference was made to a wonderful sermon they had preached together on somebody's kitchen floor.

"Q. Kitchen floor?

"A. Yes.

"Q. What surreptitious entry was made in respect to the King residence or SCLC headquarters?

"A. During the period I was concerned with these cases there was none.

"Q. Supposing an Agent wanted some item from either location to use against King or SCLC. Would he not have made a surreptitious entry to obtain it?

"A. No such entry was made at any time to my knowledge. I say this very firmly because the Bureau policy before the late 1950s concerning such a technique had changed.

"Q. (By Jack Smith) What do you mean by saying this policy had changed?

"A. During my period with the Bureau, from the beginning, such activity had to be approved by the Bureau. With reference to the period of time when the policy changed, it changed to the extent that obtaining authority therefore was virtually impossible.

"Q. Prior to 1963 in what way were you involved in any surreptitious entry?

"A. Mr. Seidel, as I stated earlier I have been informed that I was released by the AG to testify before this Committee concerning King, SCLC, Stanley Levison, and matters related thereto.

"Q. Did you develop any information establishing CP connection on the part of King?

"A. Not beyond his affiliation with Levison and the other individuals previously mentioned.

"Q. What was the objective of the investigation of King and SCLC?

"A. To determine possible communist influence of King and SCLC.

"Q. If, as you state, you did not develop information that King was a communist, was not this investigation in vain?

"A. Not in my opinion. It is correct it did not establish that King was a CP member. It did establish that he was in contact with individuals then having past or present CP affiliation which was the objective of the investigation.

"I cannot be certain - I may have briefly indicated here that it did not appear King was necessarily aware of the past or present CP connections of these persons.

"Q. Do you remember during 1963 King alleged that Bureau Agents were not responsive to civil rights complaints in the vicinity of Albany, Georgia, and other South Georgia locations?

"A. Yes, I recall news media information concerning such allegations.

"Q. In response to these allegations by King, do you remember that Mr. Hoover became very concerned with King's allegations?

"A. Yes. I definitely remember the news media indicating that Mr. Hoover was extremely upset.

"Q. Was there not then a connection between Director Hoover's concern with King's statements in 1963 regarding lack of attention to civil rights matters in South Georgia by the Bureau and the initiation of the investigation of King and SCLC?

"A. I did not discuss that matter with Mr. Hoover or with any Bureau official.

"Q. Do you deny there was any such connection?

"A. I cannot deny that there might have been such a connection. This was a situation in which I recall the news media on more than one occasion suggested such to be the case.

"Q. From 1965 until 1971 was there any electronic surveillance of any other individual or organization in addition to King, SCLC, and SNCC?

"It should be noted the Committee took a five minute break approximately 12:05 to 12:10 p.m. after which questioning continued."

On June 4, 1975, Sentinella advised the FBI of the following additional information concerning this matter.

Sentinella received a telephone call that day from Seidel who advised him that the transcript of Sentinella's testimony was near completion and that Sentinella would receive a letter advising him it was ready for Sentinella's review, but only in SSC space.

Seidel sought from Sentinella and was furnished names of some FBI personnel who had monitored technical surveillance on King during the pertinent period. Seidel sought information concerning who supervised the King investigation at FBI Headquarters, to which Sentinella replied that he did not know any specifics. Seidel referred back to information from Sentinella both during the original interview and during Sentinella's testimony and Seidel asked why Sentinella had discussed the matter with former FBI Agent Harding. It was Sentinella's reply that he sought Harding's help in order to rectify what he thought was a wrong answer given to Seidel during the initial interview.

NOTE: Original and one copy to the AG, copy for forwarding to James A. Wilderotter, Associate Counsel to the President. Information herein taken from Sentintella's verbatim statement which he voluntarily mailed to S. F. Phillips of the Senstudy 75 Project. The additional information Sentinella furnished 6/4/75 was telephoned by him to Phillips. On that occasion Sentinella also advised that Seidel had inquired of him that day as to whether he had discussed with Phillips the King case after arriving in Washington, D.C., and prior to testifying. Sentinella stated that he had not.

Reference is made to SSC letter dated May 14, 1975, with attached appendices, requesting certain documents and other information from the FBI.

Appendix C, Part I, Item number 7, requested all memoranda and other materials relating to the 1969 disappearance of Associate Professor Thomas Riha, University of Colorado, insofar as such memoranda and materials related to: (a) efforts of the FBI to ascertain the identity of confidential sources of the Central Intelligence Agency; and (b) inspections and administrative inquiries relating to the disclosure of information to Dr. Joseph R. Smiley, then President of the University of Colorado. Item number 8, requested all memoranda and other materials relating to actions by the Director or any other official of the FBI severing liaison (formal, informal, or other) or terminating contact (formal, informal, or other) between personnel of the FBI and personnel of the Central Intelligence Agency. On June 4, 1975, Dr. Smiley was recontacted, at which time he advised that under no circumstances would he testify in public to the information which he originally furnished to the FBI on a confidential basis. He further advised that under no circumstances would he reveal the identity of his contact in the Central Intelligence Agency referred to in the May 8, 1970, communication. He agreed to the release of the information in the May 8, 1970, communication to the SSC on a strictly confidential basis, for its use only and not for any further dissemination. O : DIRECTOR, F.B.I. February 12, 1970

ROM : SAC, DENVER

UBJECT: THOMAS RIHA

On the late afternoon of February 10, 1970, I was called by MIKE TODOROVICH, who is in charge of the CIA office here in Denver. TODOROVICH stated he has instructions from his Washington Office to contact Denver District Attorney JAMES MC KEVITT and tell MC KEVITT that CIA Agent JOHN D. FRITZ who is stationed in Boulder, Colorado, had told Dr. JOSEPH SMILEY, former President of the University of Colorado, that FRITZ had been told that THOMAS RIHA's disappearance was merely a marital matter and that RIHA was, in fact, all right. TODOROVICH then told me that FRITZ got this information from an FBI Agent in Boulder.

I told TODOROVICH to give me the name of the FBI Agent and he stated he would not do so. He then stated the FBI Agent told him, TODOROVICH the same thing. I again requested the name of the Agent. He again declined to give it to me. I very emphatically told TODOROVICH that until he gave me the name of the Agent who supposedly gave him and FRITZ this information, that I would not believe that either he or FRITZ had been given any information such as this by any Agent of this Bureau and this was based on the fact that no Agent would have any reason whatsoever to make such a statement since we had not conducted any investigation in this matter nor did we have any information concerning RIHA and, therefore, we would not be in a position to make such a statement as to whether or not RIHA was all right.

I then also pointed out to Mr. TODOROVICH that if he gave the information to Mr. MC KEVITT and advised Mr. MC KEVITT the information had come from an FBI Agent and if Mr. MC KEVITT contacted me I would certainly advise him that the information did not come from anyone in the FBI for the same reasons as set forth above.

I am enclosing, for the Bureau's information, an article which appeared in the February 11, 1970, issue of The Rocky Mountain News, a Denver newspaper. The article is captioned "Boulder housewife sure she talked to Riha."

This document is prepared in response to your request and is not for dissemination outside your Committee. Its use is limited to official proceedings by your Committee and the content may not be disclosed to unauthorized personnel without the express approval of the FBI.

Towards the end of the article it reports that MC KEVITT had received an official denial from "a Washington source" that any of the official agencies which have been named in connection with the RIHA case actually had any knowledge of where RIHA is now. The source, according to the article which MC KEVITT refused to identify, also said RIHA was not involved in espionage of any sort and that none of these agencies have ever told anyone in Boulder, Denver, or elsewhere that RIHA was alive and well.

The article points out the most frequently mentioned agencies have been the FBI, CIA, Military Intelligence agencies and the U. S. INS.

Also enclosed is an article which appeared in the Rocky Mountain News for February 12, 1970. This article is captioned "Riha case investigators' theories might be altered."

For the information of the Bureau, we only have two resident agents in Boulder, Colorado, and I have personally contacted each of them and each has assured me both verbally and by memorandum that they have not made such statements as were attributed to them by TODOROVICH. Not only that, neither of the two has ever had any contact personally or otherwise with JOHN D. FRITZ, the CIA representative in Boulder.

This information is being forwarded to the Bureau only for information in view of CIA's actions in connection with this matter.

1. Protests CIA re Todorovich's actions
2. Commends SAC re his handling of Todorovich.

Riha case investigators' theories might be altered

By ALAN CUNNINGHAM
Rocky Mountain News Writer

A Boulder woman's belief that she talked to Thomas Riha last March 17, as revealed Wednesday by the Rocky Mountain News, may have altered investigators' theories about what happened to the missing history professor and when it may have happened.

While avoiding specifics about their theories, Boulder police investigators expressed interest Wednesday in knowing more about the housewife's recollection that she telephoned Riha and carried on a 10-minute conversation with him shortly before noon that Monday, the day when he first failed to show up for his classes at the University of Colorado.

When told this by the News Wednesday, the woman said she would telephone the police department and volunteer her information.

Apparently, the woman's story proved startling to the two investigators who have been assigned fulltime to the Riha case, just as it did to many friends and neighbors of the professor, most of whom have said their last contacts with Riha were no later than the previous Thursday or Friday.

Phone survey

There has been speculation that whatever happened to him happened as early as that Friday night.

But the Boulder housewife, who was making a telephone survey at the time, told the News she is certain she talked to Riha on Monday, March 17.

She further insisted he seemed calm, relaxed and cheerful at the time.

If the woman is correct, police investigators conceded, it could well force them to revise their current theories about the case.

CIA agent

In another development, a Denver-based agent of the Central Intelligence Agency insisted the CIA has never been involved in any way with the case since Riha disappeared.

The agent, Michael M. Todorovich, insisted it hadn't been he who gave assurances to former CU president Joseph Smiley, Denver police chief George Seaton or other officials last spring that Riha was alive and well.

Such reported assurances, coupled with great reluctance on the part of these officials to elaborate on how they got them, have become the center of a major mystery in the strange case.

Todorovich further denied having discussed the matter with anyone, and stated emphatically that it "is entirely out of our jurisdiction."

Nevertheless, at least one official in the area is known reliably to have received his assurances from Todorovich himself.

Boulder housewife sure she talked to Riha

By ALAN CUNNINGHAM

Rocky Mountain News Writer

A Boulder housewife is certain she talked to Thomas ha on the telephone last March 17, the day he first led to show up for his history classes at the Univer- y of Colorado.

What is even more remarka- than this, in the opinion of se who have been trying to down the exact date of ha's disappearance, is the man's insistence that Riha is cheerful, relaxed and inter- ted in chatting about a local litical issue.

The woman, who asks that she t be identified by name, has ld the News she was in the ocess of telephoning a list of ulder citizens last March, eking support for a proposed ection on whether the city ould take over its public utili- es.

While she had been involved the issue for several weeks, e is sure it was on Monday, arch 17, that she attempted to ach a dozen people whose ames began with the letters P" and "R." Among the three four whom she was able to ach that day, she insists, was homas Riha. She says he an- vered the telephone at his ome at 11:30 a.m.

The professor seemed calm, leasant and quite interested in e municipal issue, according the Boulder housewife. In ct, she explained, his name as on the list because he had arlier sent in a reader survey ballot" from a Boulder news- aper which related to the issue.

As a result, Riha struck her as more informed on it than most others she had talked to in her telephone inquiries, and she believes the conversation lasted about 10 minutes, making it the longest in which she took part that day.

The date, if the Boulder house- vife is correct, is significant, ince Riha reportedly missed a linner party to which he was in- vited the previous night, and ould not be reached on Satur- lay, March 15, by a friend who ried to telephone him repeat- dly.

Many people interested in the case have speculated that Riha eft Boulder, was kidnaped or died as early as that Friday or Saturday. And the wife of a CU professor who was rumored to have seen Riha on Sunday, the 16th, vigorously dismissed this rumor as untrue when asked about it Tuesday.

But the Boulder housewife who made the series of telephone calls is equally adamant about the date when she talked to Riha. She says she didn't know the man, but recognized his name when a colleague of Riha's started discussing his disappearance at her home the following weekend. She checked, found his name on her calling list, and recalled details of their conversation.

While she didn't write down the date when she made her telephone calls, the woman says she has made detailed inquiries since then — some as recently as this week — to tie in the dates of related events with that of the crucial telephone call.

In Denver Tuesday, Dist. Atty. James D. "Mike" McKevitt told the News he had received an official denial from a Washington source that any of the official agencies which have been named in connection with the case actually had any knowledge of where Riha is now.

The source, which he declined to identify, insisted further that Riha never was involved in espionage of any sort, and that none of these agencies had ever told anyone in Boulder, Denver or elsewhere that Riha was alvie and well.

Most frequently mentioned agencies have been the FBI, the CIA, military intelligence agencies and the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

McKevitt also reported no reply yet from former CU President Joseph Smiley in his request that Smiley divulge to McKevitt the exact source of a report to him last spring that Riha was alive.

SUBJECT: THOMAS RIHA
INTERNAL SECURITY - CZECHOSLOVAKIA

On 2/10/70, SAC Werner, Denver, demanded that Mike Todorovich, Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) representative, Denver, identify Bureau Agent who allegedly told a CIA officer that the subject's disappearance was merely a marital matter and that subject, in fact, was alright. Todorovich refused to do so. The Director instructed that we protest to CIA regarding Todorovich's actions.

On 2-17-70, Liaison Agent Papich vigorously protested Todorovich's actions to CIA, charging the Agency with impeding our inquiry. He pointed out that Todorovich's stubborn refusal to divulge the identity of the Bureau Agent involved was unacceptable because we had no information to support the statement attributed to our Agent. As a result of Papich's protest, a CIA official telephoned Todorovich and demanded that he divulge the identity of the Agent. Todorovich refused and stated that he considered this a matter of personal honor and that unless there was reason to believe Bureau operations were being adversely effected, he would not make the identification. CIA officials subsequently advised the Liaison Agent that they had reviewed the entire case and learned that District Attorney McKevitt publicly stated on 2-14-70 that the statement attributed to Dr. Smiley (which allegedly came to him via Todorovich from our Agent) was based on an "honest mistake" and that McKevitt felt this cleared the air and no further clarification was needed.

INTERNAL SECURITY - CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Reference is made to memorandum dated 2-18-70 from D. J. Brennan to Sullivan. The Director stated that he wants the name of the FBI Agent who had furnished certain information to Mike Todorovich, Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) representative, Denver. The Liaison Agent met with Richard Helms, Director, CIA, on 2-20-70, repeating the background of this matter and reiterated the protest made earlier by the Bureau and asked that CIA obtain the identity of the FBI Agent.

Helms advised that he considered this a most serious development and fully recognizes the gravity of the situation since it has such a significant bearing on relations between the two agencies and the highly important work of both organizations. He stated that he does not have the identity of the FBI Agent and so far Todorovich has refused to disclose same. Helms advised that he is requesting Todorovich to proceed to Washington, D. C., immediately at which time he will be interviewed in detail by Helms. In the meantime, the CIA Director is requesting his subordinates to prepare for him a complete report covering all information in possession of CIA regarding the subject. He stated that he will communicate with the Bureau immediately after talking to Todorovich. He stated that it was absolutely necessary that he make certain that he has all the relevant facts so that he can accurately respond to the Director and take the proper and necessary administrative action within his own organization.

Federal Bureau of Investigation
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Mr. Papich has orally informed me that you wish to have the identity of the FBI agent who was the source of certain information communicated to an employee of this Agency, Mr. Michael Todorovich. This information regarding the disappearance of one Thomas Riha was in turn passed to Dr. Joseph Smiley, then President of Colorado University, Boulder, Colorado, now President of a university in El Paso, Texas, and to the District Attorney of Denver, Mr. James McKevitt. In view of your personal interest in this matter, I instructed Mr. Todorovich to report to me in person.

I have reviewed this complicated case in detail with Mr. Todorovich and have requested him to reveal the identity of his source. As a point of honor and personal integrity, Mr. Todorovich was adamant that he could not disclose the identity of his source. Under further pressure from me, Mr. Todorovich maintained his position, stating that in defense of it he was prepared to submit his resignation immediately.

Mr. Todorovich explained that the Riha/Galya Tannenbaum cases had been given extensive news coverage, much of it being sensational in nature. He stressed that there was embarrassing public speculation as to the possible involvement of the CIA and the FBI in Riha's disappearance.

The purpose of Mr. Todorovich's conference with the District Attorney of Denver was to solicit his good offices to remove pressures and the possible serving of a subpoena on Dr. Joseph Smiley. He also sought to orient the District Attorney properly so that he would not continue to have an erroneous impression of the roles of the CIA and the FBI, thereby eliminating further adverse publicity.

Mr. Todorovich affirms that before going to District Attorney McKevitt he called upon the FBI Special Agent in Charge, Mr. Scott Werner, and sought to coordinate with him our respective interests. He also solicited Mr. Werner to accompany him to the District Attorney.

Werner acted properly. H

Mr. Todorovich states that Mr. Werner refused absolutely to cooperate in this matter. Instead, Mr. Werner engaged in an oral exchange during which he remarked that our representative in Boulder was "lying" and then proceeded to challenge the veracity of Mr. Todorovich. Subsequently, Mr. Todorovich conferred with the District Attorney alone. He was successful in persuading the District Attorney to make a favorable public statement which had the effect of putting this issue regarding Dr. Smiley and other rumors to rest as far as the public was concerned.

I have carefully reviewed the statements of Mr. Todorovich. I feel that poor judgment was employed in passing the information in question to Dr. Smiley and later to the District Attorney. This should only have been done with specific FBI approval. I wish to assure you that I do not condone violations of the third agency rule, and I am taking steps to impress once again this elementary fact upon all Agency officials.

With regard to Mr. Todorovich, I have no reason to doubt that he has acted honestly. I believe that he has reported to me in good faith. He is sincerely interested in preserving a sound working relationship between the CIA and the FBI. Nevertheless, because a situation of this sort adversely affects the relationship between the two agencies, I am taking administrative action in this matter with regard to Mr. Todorovich.

I do not agree. Todorovich violated the third agency rule & refused to identify the alleged FBI agent [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

While the following is not pertinent to your request, my review of this case suggests the advisability of a re-examination of Riha's disappearance and past activities and, necessarily, the Tannenbaum case. Briefly, since 1958 we have communicated to your Bureau significant information which relates to Riha's involvement with Czech and Soviet intelligence services, when he was behind the Iron Curtain. I attach for your information and convenience copies of pertinent reports regarding this aspect of the case.

I hope sincerely that this recent incident will not impair our mutual efforts in making certain that we have not overlooked factors possibly having a significant bearing on U.S. intelligence and internal security interests. I shall pursue this matter through our respective liaison offices.

In closing, Mr. Hoover, I wish to state that this Agency can only fully perform its duties in the furtherance of the national security when it has the closest coordination and teamwork with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Furthermore, it is necessary that we continue to conduct our business in an atmosphere of mutual respect. I trust that we can coordinate closely any future developments or actions in these cases, in order to prevent the airing in public of conflicts or differences between the two agencies. I feel strongly that there are representatives of the news media who are eager to exploit alleged differences on a national scale. Disturbing as this experience has been, I wish to thank you in the interests of our common cause for having communicated with me in such a forthright and candid manner.

Helms forgets Riha is a two way street. H

Sincerely,

Richard Helms

SUBJECT: RIHA, Thomas

1. The January 1970 receipt of information from your Bureau that Mrs. Ruth Ann COOK, Thomas RIHA's mother, had mentioned rumors of her son's work for CIA in letters to the SAC, Denver, caused us to verify the fact RIHA has never been employed or used operationally by this Agency.

2. In 1958 and 1959 you were provided information that RIHA, when transitting Prague en route to Moscow, was contacted by Czech Intelligence and asked to remain in the CSR. Later in 1958 Czech Intelligence introduced RIHA to the KGB in Moscow and our source reported RIHA accepted certain privileges from the KGB while asserting he would not become a spy for the Soviets. Details reported by our source about RIHA's KGB contacts did not emerge during a 1960 FBI interview of RIHA.

3. This indication that RIHA may not have been truthful in 1960, when added to our current knowledge about KGB interest in recruiting American exchange students and RIHA's 1968 trip to the USSR, suggests the circumstances of RIHA's disappearance might be re-evaluated. This Agency is reopening its file on this case in view of the information disclosed in the attachments.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director, Office of Security
Department of State

SUBJECT : RIHA, Thomas

1. The following report concerning an attempt by a member of Czech Intelligence to effect the repatriation of Subject, a naturalized American East-West Exchange student, to his country of origin was recently submitted by a source of this office.

2. Source first became acquainted with Subject during the past year at The Russian Research Center, Harvard University. On 10 September 1958 he ran into Subject by chance at the SAS office in Vienna as the two boarded a SAS flight to Copenhagen via Duesseldorf. During the trip Subject disclosed the following to source which has been supplemented from information from our files.

3. RIHA, who was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia 17 April 1929, is one of the twenty American students selected for the East-West Exchange Program and will be studying in the USSR for the 1958-59 academic year. Files in this Agency indicate that RIHA arrived in the U. S. on 15 July 1947 and became a citizen in 1952.

4. Our source informed us that RIHA had gone to Prague, June of this year, to see his father and other relatives. His father and mother are divorced and according to information in our files, his mother is listed as Mrs. Ruth A. COOK. address: 2023 Etna Street, Berkeley 4, California.

5. RIHA told our source that when he arrived in Prague he was put into a Government hotel for three days before he was allowed to stay with his relatives and friends. During this time, and perhaps later, RIHA was accompanied through the city by a guide whom he described as a "Government Official" name unknown, who attempted to effect Subject's repatriation to Czechoslovakia. RIHA told our source that this man has set up an appointment (date and address unknown) to meet him in Moscow to talk further.

6. Subject told our source that this "Government Official" did not mention Czech Intelligence or Security Forces as such and that he (RIHA) is not too worried concerning this contact. RIHA apparently feels that it is the price he must pay in order to study in the Soviet Union and once he gets deeply into his studies in Moscow he feels that he can plead that he is too busy with his academic work to have contact with any officials. Our source also stated that RIHA is in some kind of correspondence with the Czech official. We have no description or name for the Czech official.

7. It is requested that no further dissemination be made of this information without prior clearance from this office, and that our source be fully protected in the event that contact is made with RIHA.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director
Federal Bureau of Investigation

SUBJECT : RIHA, Thomas

1. Reference is made to our CS CI 3/751,690 of 27 October 1958 concerning an attempt by a member of Czech Intelligence to effect Subject's repatriation while the latter was in Prague in June of 1958 visiting relatives en route to study in Moscow during 1958-59 as an East-West Exchange Student. The following report describes further action taken by the KGB in Moscow to cultivate Subject, and was recently submitted by a sensitive and reliable source.

2. Sometime in December 1958, Subject again met the Czech Official who had tried to have Subject repatriate to the CSR in Prague last summer. According to our source, it was apparently an accidental meeting at a Moscow railroad station as the Czech was returning to Prague. The Czech was delighted to see Subject, and introduced him to a Soviet official. This Soviet identified himself only by a first name and a telephone number, both unknown to our source. The Soviet described his work as being in the American Section of the MVD.

3. This Soviet Official has been cultivating Subject (trying to see him as often as possible, sometimes twice a week) since their introduction in December, by offering such blandishments as trips in a chauffered private limousine into forbidden areas outside Moscow, tickets to any entertainment, access to material from previously inaccessible archives, the use of private country villas and all the "beautiful, interesting and intelligent girls" he might want. Subject has further been promised the opportunity of returning to the Soviet Union for as long as he wants at any future date. He would have to pay only his way over there; his expenses and return trip to the US would be paid by the Soviets.

4. Subject has taken advantage of this offer to take several trips for sightseeing into forbidden areas around Moscow in a private car with the Soviet Official, and has also taken up a few offers for entertainment. Subject visited one of these villas, but refused the girls on the ground that he wants a woman to like him for himself, and not because she has been told to do so. The Soviet answered that "some of them will really learn to like you for yourself, as well as work for us," but Subject still declined to get involved. However, Subject has recently been taken up by a Soviet girl who had previously tried to seduce another American student and subsequently blurted out that she was put onto the latter American by the MVD, which she has also told Subject. Subject is reported to be responding warmly to her approaches although he has flatly told her he doesn't trust her nor any Russian completely. He claims he enjoys her company but will not have a serious affair with her, and suspects she may be tied up with the other women offered him by the Soviet Official.

5. In his relationship with the Soviet Official, Subject is reportedly aware that he is playing a risky game, and is only utilizing the situation for the comfort and convenience it brings him. He has told the Soviet frankly that he cannot be wom over ideologically. Subject says he feels that the Soviets' interest in him is to cultivate him as a scholar of possible future importance to insure that he will always be sympathetic to the Soviet Union. Subject has reportedly told several other American students of his relationship with the Soviet Official in order to cover himself "in case anything happened".

6. This Soviet Official has evinced an interest to Subject in many of the American Exchange students, with the explanation that some would undoubtedly be back in Moscow within two years as Diplomats and that since this is his area of responsibility, he wants to know as much as possible about them. The Soviet indicated that he was quite aware of the pattern of the American Exchange students' trips to the US Embassy and what they do in the university buildings, but is not so sure of their activities around the city. To demonstrate to Subject his knowledge about the American students, the Soviet Official mentioned an affair going on within the American group of which Subject had been unaware. The Soviet's information turned out to be true.

7. Subject was described by a reliable source, who knows him from group social gatherings at Harvard, as mature and socially vivacious with a warm personality. Subject is a clever and humorous conversationalist who likes to be surrounded by people, make new acquaintances, and develop friendships. Subject's patriotic motivation was not known to our source, but the latter felt that Subject was completely "Americanized" in manners and interests. Our source would guess that Subject has courage.

8. It is requested that no further dissemination be made of this information without prior clearance from this office. It is further requested that such clearance be obtained if Subject is to be contacted by you either before or after his return to the United States.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director,

SUBJECT: RIHA, Thomas

1. Reference is made to our CSCI 3/751,690 of 27 October 1958, and our CSCI 3/754,303 of 14 April 1959 in which are reported the attempt by Czech Intelligence to induce Subject, a Czech-born naturalized American, to repatriate to Czechoslovakia, and the further cultivation of Subject by the KGB in Moscow where Subject is an Exchange Student during 1958-59. The following report describes further action by the KGB to recruit Subject, and his adamant refusal of any such offer. This latest information was recently received from RIHA by a sensitive and reliable source.

2. During April 1959, the Soviet Official ~~who said he~~ was from the American Section of the MVD (sic) and who had been cultivating Subject, allegedly asked the latter to make complete and regular reports on Michael Martin LUTHER, one of the other American Exchange Students at Moscow University. Subject was asked to spend as much time as possible with LUTHER, and to report where he goes, what he does and with whom he associates. If Subject were to do this reporting, the Soviet Official said he would make available certain material from Archives which Subject has been unable to get permission to use although research in this material is vital to his having a successful year academically in Moscow.

3. Subject alleges he flatly refused this "deal", saying that if he ever got mixed up in such a dirty business, it would be for his own side and not for the Communists. The Soviet Official then told Subject he should engage in such observation and reporting to the Soviets to lose some "naivete" about how the United States is exploiting the Cultural Exchange Program for intelligence purposes. To back up this assertion, the Soviet Official told Subject about a "spy nest where spies deposit things for one another" which he said had recently been uncovered near a university entrance frequented by still another American student, Walter CLEMENS, who, the Soviet implied, was not engaged in academic work only while studying at Moscow University.

Subject reportedly again adamantly refused to cooperate with the Soviet Official.

4. In paragraph 4 of CSCI 3/754,303, reference was made to a Soviet girl who had become interested in Subject, and whom Subject viewed with suspicion although continuing to see her for her companionship. Her name is Lida (Y)EGOROVA. Subject has now reportedly been alienated by her undependable personality and has pretty well broken up with her. This girl may have left, or soon be leaving, for Prague to join her husband.

5. It is requested that no further dissemination of this information be made without prior clearance from this office. It is further requested that such clearance be obtained if Subject is to be contacted by you.

MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

At 4:35 p.m., today I telephonically contacted ASAC Morley, Denver, and advised him that an article concerning the Riha case had appeared in the Sunday News (New York) 4-3-70. This article was a general rehashing of the Riha case.

I told him that the Bureau desired that SAC Werner contact the District Attorney to determine the developments of his investigation in this case and also determine what conclusions had been reached. Morley said this would be done.

Morley was asked if Denver had information concerning a professor who had gone to El Paso, Texas, or New Orleans, Louisiana, and he advised this probably referred to Dr. Joseph Smiley, former President at Colorado University who was there when Riha disappeared. He said that Smiley is now President of the University of Texas, at El Paso, Texas. He said Denver had no information that Dr. Smiley has any current information concerning this matter.

SAC Werner called at 5:30 p.m., today to advise that he had been unable to get in touch with the District Attorney but also was following up on this and would contact the District Attorney today and get in a teletype tonight.

SUBJECT: THOMAS RIHA
MISCELLANEOUS - INFORMATION CONCERNING

Pursuant to Director's request Denver District Attorney James "Mike" McKevitt interviewed 5/5/70 as to investigation of Riha, Czechoslovak-born, naturalized, former professor of Russian history at Colorado University, who departed Denver area 3/69 without notifying friends, associates or estranged wife. His disappearance has been glamorized and spiced up in newspaper articles by references to Galya Tannenbaum, his paramour. McKevitt stated investigation at standstill, all leads being exhausted. He feels Tannenbaum may have killed subject since bad feeling developed between them prior to his disappearance due to her forging checks on his account. Further, Tannenbaum probably a nymphomaniac who had constant sexual affairs with Riha and used this as a club over his head to prevent disclosure of forgeries. In McKevitt's opinion Riha is dead since he was close to his friends and if alive would contact them. Investigation indicates Riha abnormal in his sexual desires and could not leave women alone. Possibility exists one of these involvements may have resulted in his death.

Dr. Joseph Smiley, former President, Colorado University, where subject employed, is now President, University of Texas, El Paso, Texas. Smiley after subject's disappearance stated subject was alive and well. When challenged by McKevitt to disclose basis for statement he refused and appealed to CIA, his source, for help. Bureau vigorously refuted CIA's claim that Bureau Agent was original source for statement. As result McKevitt publicly announced statement was not true and resulted from "honest mistake." No indication Smiley has any facts to contribute concerning subject's current whereabouts or basis for his disappearance. Since Bureau has conducted no investigation into Riha's disappearance, interview of Smiley could result in impression Bureau entering case. However, if Director so desires, El Paso will be instructed to interview Dr. Smiley. Bureau files show subject attended Moscow University 9/58-9/59. Our files show CIA gave Riha a short briefing prior to his entry into USSR in 1958. In 1958-59 CIA advised Czech intelligence attempted to persuade Riha to repatriate and later introduced Riha to Soviet intelligence which attempted his recruitment. After subject's return to US in 1959 no information was developed as to continued interest in him by Soviet intelligence.

Dr. Smiley was interviewed 5/7/70 and was most cooperative. Smiley stated since leaving the University of Colorado in 6/69 his knowledge of developments in this case has been derived from articles he has read in "The Denver Post." He speculated Riha may have been involved in intelligence work and based this comment on Riha's being a "loner" and having married a Czech girl. He said that he was aware that one Mrs. Tannenbaum, a woman indicted in Colorado for a number of frauds and a suspect in two arsenic poisonings, is considered a suspect in the disappearance of Riha. In accordance with the request of the Director, SA FRANCIS J. PRASEK interviewed Dr. JOSEPH SMILEY, President of UTEP. Dr. SMILEY was advised that the FBI has no jurisdiction in this matter, nor is it conducting any active investigation regarding RIJA, and that we were simply desirous of being advised of any new information he may have received regarding RIJA's disappearance and/or present whereabouts.

Dr. SMILEY, who was most gracious and pleasant, stated that he left the University of Colorado, Boulder Colorado, in 6/69, and has since that time followed the investigation of RIJA and his disappearance which is being conducted by the newspaper "The Denver Post".

SMILEY, in 4/69, approximately three weeks after the disappearance of RIJA, contacted RIJA's attorney for the purpose of determining whether the attorney had any information regarding RIJA, since it was necessary for SMILEY to know whether RIJA was alive and whether he intended to return to the University for the fall semester of 1969 to resume teaching in the History Department. SMILEY, who cannot now recall the name of the attorney, was furnished an address for RIJA in Montreal, Canada, and a letter was directed to this address by the History Department seeking information regarding RIJA and his intentions.

②-Bureau (RAM)
1-El Paso

This document is prepared in response to your request and is not for dissemination outside your Committee. Its use is limited to official proceedings by your Committee and the content may not be disclosed to unauthorized personnel without the express approval of the FBI.

After leaving Boulder, SMILEY was advised by Dean WILLIAM E. BRIGGS, College of Arts and Sciences, University of Colorado, Boulder, that a letter was received by the University purportedly written by RIJA in which he stated that he would not be returning to the University. BRIGGS advised SMILEY that in his opinion, the letter was a forgery, since the signature did not compare with that of RIJA.

After the disappearance, SMILEY began receiving a great many inquiries from the news media and he was pressed for a statement regarding his knowledge of RIJA and whether or not he was alive.

THE FOLLOWING WAS FURNISHED BY DR. SMILEY IN THE STRICTEST OF CONFIDENCE WITH THE UNDERSTANDING THAT IT WAS FOR THE INFORMATION OF THE FBI AND NOT FOR DISSEMINATION TO ANY OUTSIDE AGENCY SINCE HE WAS BREAKING A CONFIDENCE WITH AN ASSOCIATE IN THE DENVER OFFICE OF THE CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY:

Being hounded by the press for a statement, he contacted a source in the CIA Office at Denver since he, SMILEY, was formerly a member of the Office of Naval Intelligence, thinking that perhaps that agency could assist him off the record with any information it might possess. SMILEY was aware that the CIA had interviewed RIJA following a trip by RIJA to the Soviet Union. The CIA source subsequently told Dr. SMILEY to merely advise the press that he had information to the effect that RIJA was "alive and well". This information was subsequently released by Dr. SMILEY to the student press at the University of Colorado, and it appeared in print.

When the Office of the District Attorney in Denver instituted investigation into the disappearance of RIJA, SMILEY was contacted by the DA's Office regarding the source of his statement. Dr. SMILEY again contacted the Denver CIA Office source and was advised that he was to state nothing and that he would be recontacted.

Some days later, the CIA source recontacted him and told him that he would be receiving an inquiry from the Office of the DA in the form of a statement, and that he should agree with the statement even though it "was not quite the truth". SMILEY did not question these instructions, since he felt that CIA knew what should be done in this type of case. He received a telephone call from the DA's Office and a statement was read to him to the effect that the information which he had received and made public to the effect that RIJA was alive and well was in error. SMILEY told the caller that he agreed with the statement and nothing further came of this.

Dr. SMILEY does not know what part, if any, the CIA has in this case, but since he, SMILEY, is himself a former intelligence agent he did not feel that he had the right to question something which might be of vital importance to his country.

DR. SMILEY REQUESTED THAT NO HINT OR INFERENCE BE GIVEN TO THE CIA WHICH WOULD INDICATE THAT HE HAS REVEALED TO THE FBI HIS CONTACTS REGARDING THIS MATTER WITH THE DENVER OFFICE OF THE CIA.

He stated that though he has no evidence to substantiate his belief, he cannot get it out of his mind that RIJA may have been a double agent for the Soviets or the Czechoslovaks. He is aware that one Mrs. TANNENBAUM, a woman indicted for a number of frauds and a suspect in two arsonic poisonings, is considered a suspect in the disappearance of RIJA. He never knew RIJA to be associated with any such woman, but stated that he was not acquainted with the personal life of RIJA who was somewhat of a "loner".

RIJA, when he joined the staff of the University of Colorado, was single but in 8/68, an individual came to visit RIJA ostensibly for the purpose of arranging a marriage between RIJA and the man's sister. The intended bride was a Czechoslovakian girl who was born in Prague, Czechoslovakia, and this "brother-in-law" was entertained by a member and colleague of RIJA in the History Department. This individual indicated to SMILEY that although the "brother-in-law" supposedly did not speak any English, and had RIJA translate every statement into Czech, it was apparent from the gestures and expressions of the "brother-in-law" that he understood more than he let on. Three weeks after the visit of this man, the woman who became Mrs. RIJA came to Boulder, Colorado, where she and RIJA were married. The marriage resulted in divorce a short time later and the girl reportedly returned to the East Coast from whence she came.

Dr. SMILEY indicated that he has no further information regarding this matter, but that Dean WILLIAM E. BRIGGS, College of Arts and Sciences, University of Colorado, Boulder, should be in possession of the letter purportedly written from Canada by RIJA, and may be in a position to assist in answering any question the Bureau might have regarding RIJA's association with the University of Colorado, since BRIGGS would have possession of these records. He stated BRIGGS is a trusted confidant of his and Dr. SMILEY's name should be used as an introduction should the Bureau desire any information of BRIGGS.

RE: INTERVIEW OF FORMER FBI EMPLOYEE DANIEL M. ARMSTRONG, III, BY SSC STAFF MEMBER

Set out below is information voluntarily furnished to the FBI by Mr. Armstrong, who was formerly Special Assistant to Acting Director L. Patrick Gray, III. Mr. Armstrong furnished the information following his interview by SSC Staff Member Mark Gitenstein. The interview took place in Washington, D. C., on June 6, 1975, between 10:00 a.m. and 12:15 p.m. Mr. Armstrong was not put under oath and was not advised of his rights including his right to personal counsel.

Mr. Armstrong advised that the interview covered the following areas:

1. The general activities of the FBI's Intelligence Division, particularly Mr. Armstrong's knowledge concerning research conducted in the Intelligence Division concerning the possibility of obtaining an Executive Order establishing the FBI's authority in security matters;

2. The alleged existence of files in former Director Hoover's office;

3. Mr. Armstrong's knowledge concerning the increase in the number of FBI representatives assigned abroad as Legal Attaches.

With regard to the effort made to obtain an Executive Order establishing the FBI's authority in security matters, Mr. Armstrong advised the SSC representative that in May, 1972, one of the principal questions raised by Mr. Gray was concerning the jurisdictional authority of the FBI to conduct intelligence or security investigations. He commented that in May, 1972, a conference was held at Quantico, Virginia, involving a number of Bureau executives and that during this conference the question of jurisdictional authority was discussed. Following the conference, a special team was set up to discuss this subject, including Mr. Armstrong and former Special Agent Thomas Smith of the Intelligence Division. According to Mr. Armstrong, it was felt that it would be appropriate to develop a new set of guidelines and not to rely on prior statutes and Presidential orders. Armstrong recalled that after several meetings of this group, Thomas Smith prepared a document consisting of 43 pages which was completed approximately six weeks after the group was created. Armstrong recalled that the document was received in the Acting Director's office and was discussed at one of the regular afternoon staff conferences. At that time it was agreed that the document was good but that the timing was not thought to be appropriate. The thought was expressed that it would be held in abeyance until after the coming elections. It was Mr. Armstrong's belief that the matter might have been discussed between Attorney General Kleindienst and Mr. Gray, and it was decided not to push the matter until after the elections. Mr. Armstrong recalled advising Mr. Smith of the location of the document and the fact that it was being held in abeyance until after the elections.

The matter of the above document did not come up again until shortly before the confirmation hearings concerning Mr. Gray. At that time it was Mr. Armstrong's belief that the Bureau should not push for the Executive Order until after a permanent Director of the Bureau had been confirmed. Mr. Armstrong advised that to the best of his knowledge the document was not given to the Department of Justice while Mr. Gray and his staff were in the Bureau.

Concerning files that were allegedly maintained in Mr. Hoover's office, Mr. Armstrong stated that shortly after Mr. Gray's arrival in the Bureau he made a statement to the effect that there were no secret files maintained by Mr. Hoover. Mr. Armstrong commented that he doubted the wisdom of making such a broad statement.

Shortly after Mr. Gray's statement was made, information came to Mr. Armstrong's attention which caused him to prepare a memorandum to Mr. Gray indicating the possibility of the existence of files in Mr. Hoover's office. Armstrong could not recall Mr. Gray's response to his memorandum but he believed that the original of the memorandum was returned to him and that he placed the original and the carbon in his desk along with other memoranda that he had prepared for Mr. Gray.

Mr. Armstrong stated that it was his theory that the files in Mr. Hoover's office were in two categories; the first being files containing information possibly detrimental to prominent persons in the Government and the other category being tidbits of information received in personal correspondence from various Special Agents in Charge concerning persons of possible interest to Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Armstrong advised further that at one of his daily conferences, Mr. Gray mentioned that he had talked to former Acting Associate Director Mark Felt concerning files which may have been maintained in Mr. Hoover's office and which he said were then in a safe in the custody of Mr. Felt.

Mr. Armstrong could not recall whether Mr. Gray and Mr. Felt were to go through the safe together or whether Mr. Felt was to do it alone and advise Mr. Gray of his findings.

With regard to the present location of such files, Mr. Armstrong had no specific knowledge but speculated that if they existed they might have been destroyed before Mr. Gray arrived in the office, they might have been retained in Mr. Felt's safe or they might have been removed to the custody of Mr. Clyde Tolson or Miss Helen Gandy at Mr. Hoover's house.

Mr. Armstrong advised that on April 27, 1973, prior to his departure from the Bureau, he destroyed all of the memoranda he had retained in his desk and he is certain that among them was his memorandum concerning files in Mr. Hoover's office.

With regard to the increase in the number of Legal Attaches, Armstrong advised that he recalled that shortly before Mr. Gray came to the Bureau there had been an expansion in the number of Legal Attaches. He understood that traditionally the role of the Legal Attache had been to function as a liaison representative to foreign police agencies but that with the expansion in the number of Legal Attaches they were given additional responsibilities in the field of foreign intelligence collection, exactly to what extent he did not recall. He recalled that the expansion was at the initiation of the White House and may have been because the White House was not satisfied with the intelligence collected by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA). Armstrong stated that he saw a potential for friction with CIA and speculated that this might have been a factor in the breach of liaison between the FBI and CIA. He recalled writing a memorandum for Mr. Gray expressing doubts as to whether the training of Special Agents of the FBI equipped them for the collection of foreign intelligence and some subsequent discussion that perhaps the Legal Attaches should be brought home for such training, but that this idea was concluded to be impractical or unnecessary.

SUBJECT: SENATE SELECT COMMITTEE ON INTELLIGENCE ACTIVITIES

Attached is a proposed memorandum to the Attorney General with a letterhead memorandum attached enclosing a copy of a memorandum J. H. Gale to Mr. Tolson dated July 30, 1964, captioned "Investigation of Ku Klux Klan and other Hate Groups." It appears that we are proposing to give the copy of the Gale memorandum to the Senate Select Committee in response to their request by letter dated May 14, 1975, for a memorandum prepared by Gale relative to the subject matter of the 1964 memorandum.

My reading of the memorandum revealed that it is a purely deliberative document which quotes personal views of Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Rosen, Mr. Belmont, and Mr. Gale. I am concerned that the release of such a memorandum containing not only the personal views of Bureau officials, but also identifying them by name could have an impact on individuals in the future who may be asked to furnish their opinions concerning policy matters in the FBI. As indicated by the Attorney General in his speech in New York, it is essential that the Executive Branch have a degree of privacy concerning policy discussions and expressions of personal views by officials in order for the Executive to function properly.

I do recognize that we may not be able to resist giving the Committee access to material documents that bear on particular issues under investigation, however, I do recommend that when we are required to produce deliberative documents, the names and other identifying data relating to individuals furnishing views be deleted.

SUBJECT: SENSTUDY 75

Former Special Agent Richard H. Davis of the Atlanta Office telephonically contacted SA Paul V. Daly of this Division on 6-4-75 at which time he explained that he had been contacted by Michael Epstein of captioned Committee at which time Epstein requested that Davis make himself available for interview in either Atlanta, Georgia, or travel to Washington, D. C. Davis informed Epstein that he would have to obtain Bureau approval prior to submitting to interview inasmuch as he had to obtain a release from his employment secrecy agreement.

Mr. Davis informed SA Daly that he was reluctant to agree to being interviewed by captioned Committee concerning his activities as an Agent. It was pointed out to Mr. Davis that the decision as to whether to agree to interview was his, but he was advised that captioned Committee has subpoena power and might attempt to force him to furnish information through the use of a subpoena. He was informed that the Bureau was cooperating with captioned Committee and their inquiry into FBI operations.

It was explained to Mr. Davis that if he desired to allow himself to be interviewed, the Bureau would make available an employee at his request to be available but not present during interview. He was also advised that this Agent would not represent him as private counsel. Mr. Davis was advised that the Bureau's concern was not of matters of historical fact but rather testimony might be required which could impair the Bureau's efforts to discharge its responsibilities. It was also explained that the Bureau representative would assist him in making determination whether his response to a particular question would identify confidential informants, impair ongoing investigations, divulge information derived from other Government agencies or foreign sources or expose sensitive investigative techniques and, therefore, a response should not be given.

Mr. Davis indicated that he desired a Bureau representative be made available during his interview and would request the interview take place in Atlanta, Georgia. Additionally, he stated Epstein had indicated that the topic of discussion in the interview would be the Bureau's investigation of Martin Luther King, Stanley David Levison, and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Mr. Davis stated he would recontact FBI Headquarters as soon as a date and place of interview had been determined. He indicated he would set the date for interview so that the Bureau would have ample opportunity to have an Agent available. We have separately requested Bureau approval for the release of Davis from his employment agreement for purposes of this interview.

Reference is made to Bureau letter to The Attorney General 6/20/75 captioned "United States Senate Select Committee on Intelligence Activities (SSC)," forwarding letterhead memorandum for approval and forwarding to SSC.

The Director asked if we have any amplification of this instruction (to submit items with unusual twist or concerning prominent personalities for dissemination to the President under the INLET Program) or do we know of any submission responsive to this which illustrates interpretation?

There has been no amplification of this instruction, nor any submission under INLET of an item on prominent personalities that would show the interpretation of this point.

With respect to the observation that this matter should cause a congressional furor, it is noted that INLET has already been afforded considerable publicity, beginning in February, 1973, after an office memorandum on the subject reached the news media. This publicity is why the Senate Committee asked for documents on INLET. The White House and Senator Bob Packwood inquired about the Program. A detailed defense of INLET appeared in the Congressional Record.

By way of background, the INLET instruction that has received the most publicity--items with an unusual twist or concerning prominent personalities--was recalled by the author of the INLET Program initiating letter as having been specifically dictated by then Assistant Director W. C. Sullivan.

Memorandum to Mr. W. R. Wannall
Re: SENSTUDY

While we cannot say exactly what former Assistant Director W. C. Sullivan had in mind when he added the instruction about items with an unusual twist, we can speculate with a hypothetical example.

If we learned that a trusted assistant to an important government official--an official who had taken a "hard line" with respect to dealings with the Soviet Union, for example--was under development by Soviet intelligence, this would be an unusual twist to an item of intelligence interest to the President involving a prominent person.

In such a hypothetical case, we would, of course, advise the government official involved, and The Attorney General and the President. We would have done this under INLET and we would still disseminate this type of data. INLET was only a vehicle for special dissemination.

SUBJECT: SENSTUDY 75

John Elliff of captioned Committee's task force on Domestic Intelligence Activities advised on 6-9-75, that the Committee is planning to have a Bureau representative testify concerning the FBI's authority to conduct investigations in the domestic and counterintelligence areas in late June or early July. Mr. Elliff stated that this testimony would be before the Senators and will be a general exploration of jurisdictional authority. Mr. Elliff also volunteered that he had told K. William O'Connor, Special Counsel for Intelligence Coordination of the Department, that the Committee wanted to be furnished a copy of the T. J. Smith Memorandum dated 7-31-72 concerning FBI's investigative jurisdiction in domestic and counterintelligence matters. Elliff stated that at this point, a summary of such documents would not be an acceptable substitute. Elliff desired such a document be made available to the Committee prior to the aforementioned testimony. With regards to testimony, Elliff indicated that it would not necessarily have to be the Director giving a testimony.

Elliff stated as he finalizes his plans concerning the testimony concerning FBI investigative jurisdiction, he would recontact SA Paul V. Daly of this Division and give more details concerning this matter.

LET US HOLD HIGH THE BANNER OF REVOLUTIONARY INTERCOMMUNALISM AND THE INVINCIBLE THOUGHTS OF HUEY P. NEWTON
MINISTER OF DEFENSE OF THE BLACK PANTHER PARTY AND SUPREME SERVANT OF THE PEOPLE.

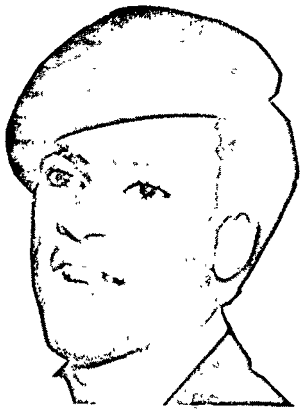
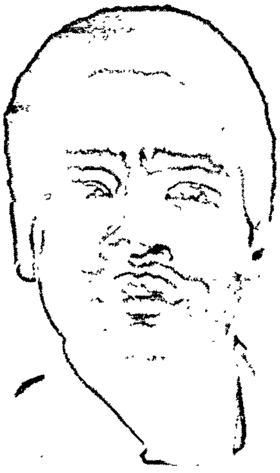
I. FOUNDING



HUEY PERCY NEWTON

The Black Panther Party, with headquarters in Oakland, California, was founded in 1966 by two Oakland Negroes – Huey Percy Newton and Bobby George Seale – both at that time at Merritt College in Oakland. The name and symbol of the new party were taken from the Lowndes County Freedom Organization, an Alabama political party known informally in 1965 as the Black Panther Party.

From the writings of communists, revolutionaries, and black militants, Newton and Seale allegedly selected ideas around which they could build a revolutionary frame that suited the needs of their party. Influential writings included those of Mao Tse-tung, Chinese Communist leader; Frantz Fanon , West Indian psychiatrist who advocated violence for Algerian nationalists; Ernesto "Che" Guevara, one-time lieutenant of Cuba's Fidel Castro and a principal architect of 20th century guerrilla warfare; Malcolm X, American black nationalist who advocated violence to obtain Negro "freedom"; and W. E. B. DuBois, Negro educator who became a member of the Communist Party, USA, at the age of 93.



BOBBY GEORGE SEALE

The organization was at first called the Black Panther Party for Self-Defense; however, the "Self-Defense" was removed in 1968 in an effort to project a more politically oriented image to prospective sympathizers and supporters.

As head of the new Black Panther Party, Newton assumed the title Minister of Defense, and Seale was named Chairman. When questioned about the membership of their organization, Newton and Seale gave the since oft-repeated reply: "Those who know don't say. Those who say don't know." The militancy of the group, however, had an immediate appeal to the discontented, restless youth of Oakland's ghettos.

II. BLACK PANTHER OBJECTIVES

The Black Panther Party "Platform and Program" is repeated in each issue of the official Party publication, The Black Panther.

October 1966

Black Panther Party Platform and Program

What We Want What We Believe

1. We want freedom. We want power to determine the destiny of our Black Community.

We believe that black people will not be free until we are able to determine our destiny.

2. We want full employment for our people.

We believe that the federal government is responsible and obligated to give every man employment or a guaranteed income. We believe that if the white American businessmen will not give full employment, then the means of production should be taken from the businessmen and placed in the community so that the people of the community can organize and employ all of its people and give a high standard of living.

3. We want an end to the robbery by the CAPITALIST of our Black Community.

We believe that this racist government has robbed us and now we are demanding the overdue debt of forty acres and two mules. Forty acres and two mules was promised 100 years ago as restitution for slave labor and mass murder of black people. We will accept the payment in currency which will be distributed to our many communities. The Germans are now aiding the Jews in Israel for the genocide of the Jewish people. The Germans murdered six million Jews. The American racist has taken part in the slaughter of over fifty million black people; therefore, we feel that this is a modest demand that we make.

4. We want decent housing, fit for shelter of human beings.

We believe that if the white landlords will not give decent housing to our black community, then the housing and the land should be made into cooperatives so that our community, with government aid, can build and make decent housing for its people.

5. We want education for our people that exposes the true nature of this decadent American society. We want education that teaches us our true history and our role in the present-day society.

We believe in an educational system that will give to our people a knowledge of self. If a man does not have knowledge of himself and his position in society and the world, then he has little chance to relate to anything else.

6. We want all black men to be exempt from military service.

We believe that Black people should not be forced to fight in the military service to defend a racist government that does not protect us. We will not fight and kill other people of color in the world who, like black people, are being victimized by the white racist government of America. We will protect ourselves from the force and violence of the racist police and the racist military, by whatever means necessary.

7. We want an immediate end to POLICE BRUTALITY and MURDER of black people.

We believe we can end police brutality in our black community by organizing black self-defense groups that are dedicated to defending our black community from racist police oppression and brutality. The Second Amendment to the Constitution of the United States gives a right to bear arms. We therefore believe that all black people should arm themselves for self-defense.

8. We want freedom for all black men held in federal, state, county and city prisons and jails.

We believe that all black people should be released from the many jails and prisons because they have not received a fair and impartial trial.

9. We want all black people when brought to trial to be tried in court by a jury of their peer group or people from their black communities, as defined by the Constitution of the United States.

We believe that the courts should follow the United States Constitution so that black people will receive fair trials. The 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution gives a man a right to be tried by his peer group. A peer is a person from a similar economic, social, religious, geographical, environmental, historical and racial background. To do this the court will be forced to select a jury from the black community from which the black defendant came. We have been, and are being tried by all-white juries that have no understanding of the "average reasoning man" of the black community.

10. We want land, bread, housing, education, clothing, justice and peace. And as our major political objective, a United Nations-supervised plebiscite to be held throughout the black colony in which only black colonial subjects will be allowed to participate, for the purpose of determining the will of black people as to their national destiny.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But, when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security.

III. RISE OF BLACK PANTHER PARTY

Proclaiming a legal right to bear arms, the Panthers by early 1967 had begun to appear in public wearing black leather jackets and black berets, openly carrying shotguns, rifles, or pistols, and shouldering bandoliers of ammunition.

Calling the police "pigs," the Panthers began a buildup in Negro areas of the idea that police departments, especially that in Oakland, were dedicated to the brutalization and harassment of minority groups, and, acting as an appendage of white government authority, were working toward the eventual annihilation (genocide) of the Negro race.

Invasion of California State Legislature

The first incident that brought national attention to this group occurred on May 2, 1967, as the California Legislature was in session in Sacramento. Approximately 40 members of the Black Panther Party, carrying loaded rifles, pistols, and shotguns, and some wearing bandoliers of ammunition about their waists or draped over their shoulders, burst into the Chamber. They were protesting a bill being introduced on that date outlawing the carrying of loaded weapons in public and were proclaiming their right to bear arms and criticize the police. Before they were arrested, they passed out mimeographed leaflets calling on all Negroes to end the "terrorist" oppression of colored races by white America and referring to the preparation of concentration camps in the United States as a beginning of genocide.

Police Officer Meets Panthers--and Death

The Panthers became more militant with the passing of time. At 5:00 a.m., October 28, 1967, two Oakland, California, patrol officers, John F. Frey and Herbert C. Heanes, made a routine traffic violation car stop. While the officers were awaiting the results of the car registration check by radio, the driver, Huey Newton, got out of the car. Suddenly, shooting broke out. Officer Frey was killed; Officer Heanes was wounded critically; and Newton received a stomach wound. He stopped a passing automobile and had the driver take him to a hospital where he was taken into custody and hospitalized. After a state trial, which began July 15, 1968, Newton was sentenced on September 27, 1968, to serve from 2 to 15 years on a charge of voluntary manslaughter.*

"Free Huey" Campaign

Two days after Patrolman Frey's death, the Huey Newton Defense Fund was established at a meeting of a section of the Negro community of Oakland.

The cry of "Free Huey" became a clarion call. The imprisoned Newton was built up in the public eye as "black and bold in defense of his people." Each bringing its own axe to grind, such organizations as the anarchist New Left group named Students for a Democratic Society; the Trotskyist Socialist Workers Party and its youth group, the Young Socialist Alliance; the Communist Chinese-oriented Progressive Labor Party; the Communist Party, USA, and its youth affiliate, the W. E. B. DuBois Clubs of America; and militant campus groups, black and white, began to gather in support of the Panthers, who were willing not only to defy the establishment, but to destroy it.

LEROY ELDRIDGE CLEAVER

Enter Leroy Eldridge Cleaver

Early in 1967, the Panthers were joined by a recent parolee from the California prison system, author of a best-selling autobiography, Soul On Ice, staff writer for the magazine Ramparts, and admitted Marxist – Leroy Eldridge Cleaver.

In Soul On Ice, Cleaver wrote: "I sought out his (Marx's) books...It was like taking medicine for me to find that, indeed, American Capitalism deserved all the hatred and contempt that I felt for it in my heart...."

After Newton was jailed, although he remained the undisputed leader, it soon became apparent that Cleaver, designated Minister of Information, was projecting a major leadership image. The Party began to further widen its publicity, nationally and internationally, and enlarge its radical support and revolutionary intent.

As an example of this spreading influence of the Panther Party, the 1968 National Election ticket of the Peace and Freedom Party, a coalition of radical groups, included Cleaver as candidate for the Presidential nomination; Newton as candidate for the 7th Congressional District of Alameda County, California; Kathleen Cleaver, 18th Assembly District, California State Legislature; Bobby Seale, 17th Assembly District, California State Legislature. Cleaver received a national total of almost 200,000 votes. Only a small percentage of the California electorate cast their votes for Newton, Seale, and Kathleen Cleaver.

On the evening of April 6, 1968, Cleaver and several Panthers became involved in a shoot-out with Oakland police officers. The incident resulted in the death of a Panther, the wounding of two police officers, and the wounding and arrest of Cleaver. Cleaver's parole was revoked immediately and he was returned to prison. After much publicity, he was later released on bail by a Superior Court Judge who ruled that the jeopardy of his parole status stemmed "from his undue eloquence in pursuing political goals...offensive to many of his contemporaries." This decision was overruled by the District Court of Appeals and upheld by the California Court of Appeals. Cleaver was ordered to return to prison by November 27, 1968. Electing to become a Federal fugitive, he disappeared in late November, 1968, going first to Havana, Cuba, and later to Algiers, where he has established residence.

International Committee to Defend Eldridge Cleaver

Soon after Cleaver's arrest in the spring of 1968, approximately 150 prominent individuals sponsored the establishment of an International Committee to Defend Eldridge Cleaver. The committee intended to dispatch a team to Europe to gain international support and arrange for a European edition of Cleaver's book, Soul On Ice.

Rise of the Black Panther Party

In May, 1968, the hard-core membership of the Black Panther Party was estimated at only 125, and Panther activity was confined largely to the San Francisco-Oakland, California, area. However, because of the dramatic shoot-outs, the "Free Huey" Campaign, the funds established for the defense of both Newton and Cleaver, the widespread publicity, and the support given readily by white radical groups and individual sympathizers, the Black Panther Party began to grow rapidly, not only in membership but in militancy and influence. Chapters began to appear in major cities throughout the country. By the end of 1968, the membership had reached nearly 2,000, with additional thousands of sympathizers and supporters.

National Committee to Combat Fascism

Set up to coexist with Black Panther Party branches in various cities in the United States are chapters of another organization called National Committee to Combat Fascism. In actuality, there is little difference between the two. This group, a Panther Party front, was set up as the result of a revolutionary conference, called National Conference for a United Front Against Fascism, held in Oakland, California, in July, 1969. The conference, sponsored by the Black Panther Party and assisted by the anarchist Students for a Democratic Society and the Communist Party, USA, was called to form a coalition of black and white radicals, described as "oppressed people."

The National Committee to Combat Fascism is considered by Party leaders to be the "political organizing bureau" of the Black Panther Party. Its specific task allegedly is to raise the political level of the people and educate them against the system.

International Section

On September 13, 1970, the International Section of the Black Panther Party officially opened in Algiers. Joining Cleaver on the staff were his wife, Kathleen, and Field Marshal Donald Lee Cox, a fugitive from justice. Cox faces charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for conspiracy to commit murder, based on a warrant issued on April 20, 1970, at Baltimore, Maryland. He also failed to appear on May 14, 1970, in San Francisco, to answer Federal firearms charges.

This section, in its entirety, was expelled from the Black Panther Party by Huey Newton on February 27, 1971. The expulsion resulted from tensions and differences between Party hierarchy which led to disruptive factionalism.

V. FUNDS

The money by which the Black Panther Party operates comes from a number of sources. There are substantial private contributions; fees for public appearances, such as campus speeches, radio, and television appearances; payments for magazine articles; collections for trials and bail funds in this country and abroad; subscriptions and individual sales of the Party's official organ, The Black Panther; fund-raising activities sponsored by sympathizers and supporters; sales of recordings of interviews and speeches; and financial aid from radicals and extremists.

According to the press, there is reason to believe that the Panthers, to obtain additional funds, are engaging in criminal activities, such as burglaries and robberies.

VI. "SOCIALISTIC" PROGRAMS

Panther Party leaders insist their primary aim is to serve the "people," meaning ghetto blacks. To establish good intent, Party officials have set up a series of community services aimed at recruiting members and sympathizers and building Party influence in ghetto areas. These programs, described by the Panthers as "socialistic" programs, are supposed to be carried out by all Party branches and include: "liberation schools" to give "our people a knowledge of self"; free health clinics, with money, medical supplies and professional services donated by laymen and professionals in the community; free clothing programs, with clothing donated by the community; Community Information Centers, to "answer the basic needs of the people"; and a monthly free shuttle bus service for families of blacks in prison. Few of these programs actually are carried out, and those that have been attempted have been mostly unsuccessful.

The program that has received the most publicity is the "breakfast program," devised as a further means of indoctrinating Negro youth in Panther teachings of racism and rebellion. As expressed in The Black Panther, June 14, 1969, "The youth we are feeding will surely feed the revolution." Breakfasts are held for ghetto children either at churches, housing projects, Panther Community Information Centers, or other space that can be obtained free of charge. Panthers usually ask local businessmen to donate food or money to this program, boycotting stores that refuse to participate. At these functions, children have been known to sing such chants as: "I am a revolutionary. I am a revolutionary. There's going to be some barbecue if Huey's not set free. Power to the people."

In 1969, Panther "Coloring Books" were printed and given out at these breakfasts. The books contained 22 pages of drawings teaching the children to distrust, hate, and kill police officers.

HE SAYS, "WE INTEND TO CHANGE ALL THAT. BUT IN ORDER TO CHANGE IT, THERE MUST BE TOTAL TRANSFORMATION. BUT UNTIL SUCH TIME THAT WE CAN ACHIEVE THAT TOTAL TRANSFORMATION, WE MUST EXIST. IN ORDER TO EXIST, WE MUST SURVIVE; SO THEREFORE WE NEED A SURVIVAL KIT." SO THAT WE CAN GROW UP HEALTHY WITH A MIND THAT CAN BE FUNCTIONAL AND CREATIVE.

VII. TACTICS

The Black Panther Party is a violent revolutionary group whose members provoke confrontations with law enforcement officers and whose leaders incite racial hatred and preach urban guerrilla warfare.

Target: Police

Panthers claim that black communities are occupied by the police in the same way and for the same purpose that foreign troops occupy conquered territory and that these forces, operating under "establishment" orders, are engaged in gradual annihilation of the black race. Blacks, according to the Panthers, must, through urban guerrilla warfare, use guns to liberate themselves from the ever-present repressive enemy. Children in Panther "schools" do their exercises to the rhythm of: "There is a pig upon the hill – if you don't kill him the Panthers will."

Numerous claims have been made that the Black Panther Party is an innocent victim of police persecution and genocide. This charge is rendered absurd by fact. During 1970, 6 police officers were killed and 22 wounded through acts of violence traced to the Panthers. One officer, in 1969, was killed by a Panther with a shotgun blast at point-blank range as the officer lay wounded and helpless on the ground.

Out of 20 members named by the Panther Party as "killed in cold blood" by the police, four were killed by members of a rival black extremist group on the west coast; one died of barbiturate intoxication; one was shot and killed by a store owner during a robbery attempt; one was killed by his wife over a love affair he was having with a female Black Panther; and another was allegedly tortured and killed by Panther Party members. Of the remaining twelve, two were found dead on the street, the victims of unknown assailants, and ten were involved in shoot-outs with police officers.

Attacks on Others

Panther attacks have not been limited to the police. While claiming their intent to protect the black community, Panthers have assaulted and threatened citizens who have tried to assist the police.

Neighborhood stores have been forced to "contribute" food supplies and money under fear of Panther violence. Many other persons have also been victimized, as shown by the fact that in 1969 alone 348 Panther members were arrested for serious crimes, including murder, armed robbery, rape, bank robbery, and burglary.

On April 21, 1969, 21 members of the Black Panther Party were charged in New York in a 30-count indictment with conspiring to bomb public places and murder policemen and with possessing dangerous weapons.

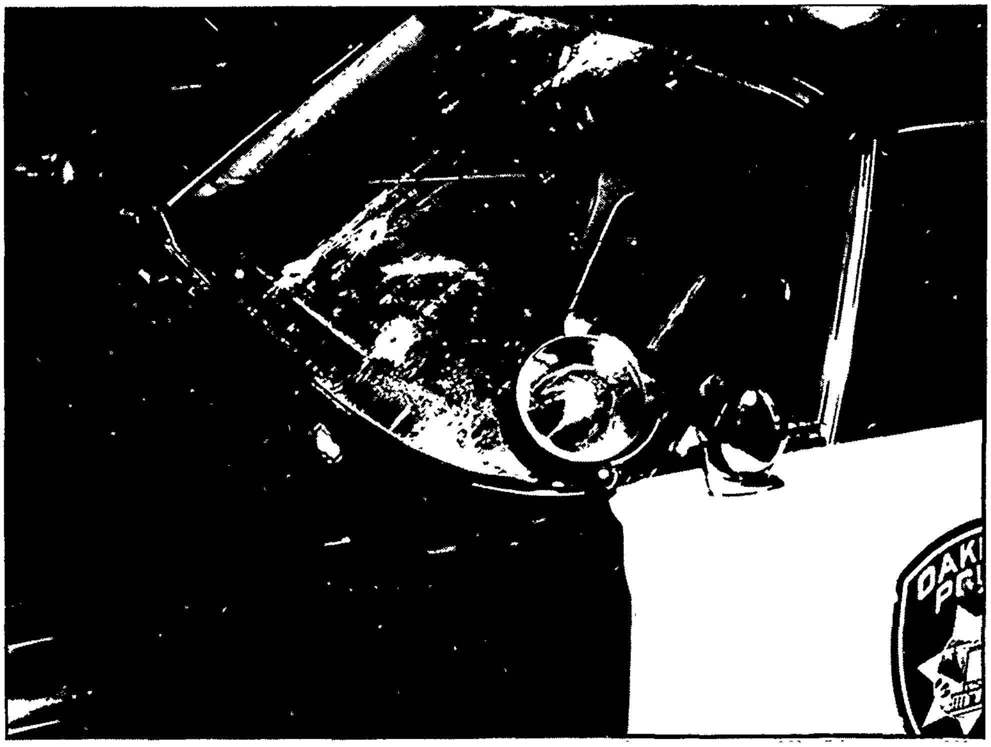
Weapons Caches

Stockpiles of machine guns, sawed-off shotguns, rifles, hand grenades, thousands of rounds of ammunition, Molotov cocktails, gunpowder, and accumulations of bayonets, swords, and machetes have been confiscated from Panther offices.

''Revolutionary Suicide''

On August 7, 1970, Superior Court Judge Harold Haley, the Deputy District Attorney, and three other persons were tied together with piano wire and dragged from a San Rafael, California, courtroom and taken as hostages by three armed Negro convicts, one of whom was standing trial for stabbing a San Quentin prison guard. The escapees were assisted by the defendant's 17-year-old brother who supplied them with weapons for the escapade. Judge Haley, who had a sawed-off shotgun taped to his neck, and the other hostages were forced into a waiting van. When the authorities tried to stop the kidnappers, the judge was brutally murdered; the Deputy District Attorney was injured seriously; and another hostage was slightly wounded. Three Negroes were slain and one was wounded.

Immediately thereafter, Huey Newton declared the killing of Judge Haley as being of ''historical'' importance to the Black Panther Party. This declaration was based on the Panther belief that all black prisoners, regardless of their crimes, are political prisoners and should be released.



OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, POLICE DEPARTMENT CRUISER INVOLVED IN THE APRIL 6, 1968, GUNBATTLE WITH MEMBERS OF THE BLACK PANTHER PARTY.

CONFISCATED PANTHER WEAPONS

The perpetrators of the courtroom incident were lauded by the Panthers as setting another "revolutionary example for black people." In commenting further, The Black Panther of August 15, 1970, stated:

> "The example that these brothers have set will be followed by many and many will rise to choose revolutionary suicide rather than reactionary suicide. Black people will unleash in great numbers the Black kamakazi..."

In his eulogy at services for the slain Negroes, Newton said: "Our comrades have taught us all a revolutionary lesson. They have intensified the struggle and placed it on a higher level."

Panther "Justice"

Recalcitrant members of the Black Panther Party are sometimes victims of Panther "justice." As one example, Panther Chairman Bobby Seale was brought to trial in New Haven, Connecticut, for the torture-murder of Panther Alex Rackley. Rackley, a Panther suspected of being an informant, was scalded, murdered, and dumped in a swamp.

For a variety of reasons, many members have been purged from the Party. These incidents are usually written up in The Black Panther in special articles accompanied by photographs.

center, or for that matter no center ran by the Black Panther Party. He has become slip-shod in his duties as a servant to the people, many times he has been warned by his comrades, about his work, and about his duty to the people's children. He deserted the children of the black community, there were days he would not attend the breakfast program, because he said that he was tired or that he overslept. Well we cannot adhear to this because as revolutionaries we must prepare ourselves to be a match for a hundred. We must prepare to run ourselves to death if need be, so that the people shall be served, and to see to it that they truly have a right to the best. And we have no time for slip-shod niggers. We must hold ourselves responsible to the people. Every word, every act, and every policy must confirm to the people's interest, and if mistakes occur, they must be corrected, that is what being responsible to the people means.

HAROLD WRIGHT, FOOL

The National Committee to Combat Fascism has no time for crazy dumb fools who run around pimping off the people's just struggle for freedom and self-determination This modern day mad man can't seem to find himself or anything else for that matter. He started out, helping to put this office together and after a long train of was put out. Harold didn't like this and started to hang around our office trying to give the community the impression that he was still a member of the revolutionary ranks of Babylon.

After a few days of the breakfast program, his wife Michelle decided that she loved Harold more than the people and went with him.

We say goodbye to the Wright family and other love birds (like the Johnson's) who can't deal for the people.

So let this be heard, Harold and Michelle Wright are not members of the National Committe to Combat Fascism nor will these fools ever be.

VIII. PROPAGANDA

Although posters, pamphlets, recordings, and a singing group called "The Lumpen" are among propaganda vehicles used by the Black Panther Party, the main channel to the public is through their official organ, The Black Panther. Funds permitting, it is published weekly in Oakland, California. It includes editorials by Party leaders and spokesmen; provocative slogans; inflammatory articles; revolutionary art," comprising cartoons; and an international news section.

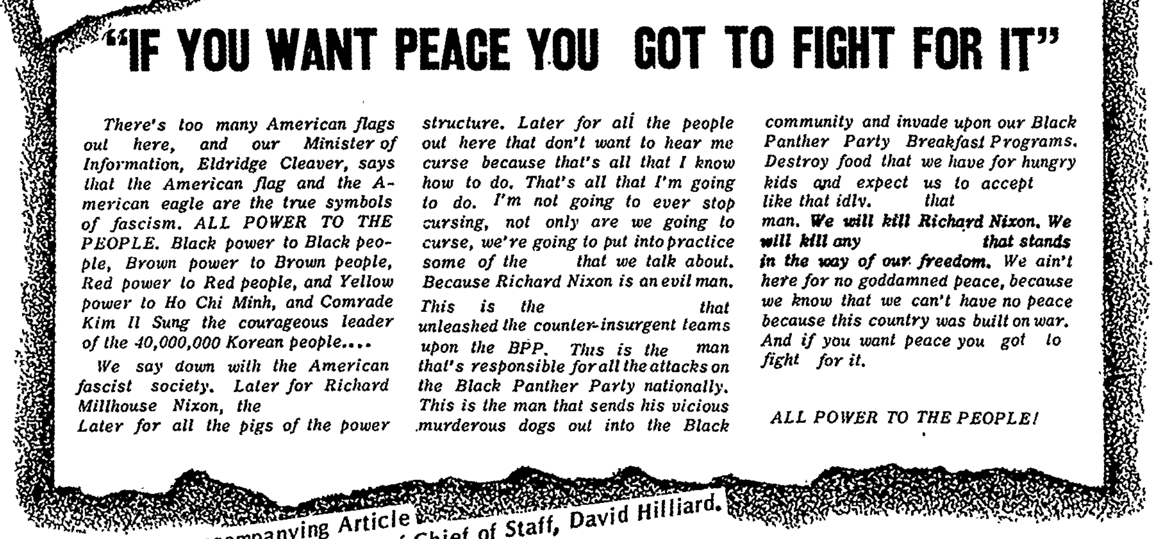
TO MY BLACK BROTHERS IN VIET NAM

I'm writing this on January 4, 1970. We are starting out a new year. On August 31, I'll be 35 years old. I'm married, and I have one child with another one on the way. I am in love with my wife and I would like to enjoy a happy life raising a family. But I am not free to live the type of life that I would like. Pigs--the racist fascist rulers of the United States--won't let me....

We appeal to you Brothers to come to the aid of your people. Either quit the army, now, or start destroying it from the inside. Anything else is a compromise and a form of treason against your own people. Stop killing the Vietnamese people. You need to start killing the racist pigs who are over there with you giving you orders. Kill General Abrahms and his staff, all his officers. Sabotage supplies and equipment, or turn them over to the Vietnamese people. Talk to the other Brothers and wake them up. You should start now weeding out the traitors amongst you. It is better to do it now than to allow them to return home to help the pigs wipe us out. Especially the Uncle Tom officers should be dealt with now, because the pigs will use them as effective tools against our people. When you can no longer take care of business inside the army, then turn yourself over to the Vietnamese people and tell them you want to join the Black Panther Party to fight for the freedom and liberation of your own people. If you do cross over, you don't have to worry about the Vietnamese people abusing you. They will be glad to see you drop out of the army because what they want most in life is to stop the fighting in their land. You have a duty to humanity as well as to your own people not to be used as murderous tools by racist pigs to oppress the people.



"IF YOU WANT PEACE YOU GOT TO FIGHT FOR IT"

There's too many American flags out here, and our Minister of Information, Eldridge Cleaver, says that the American flag and the American eagle are the true symbols of fascism. ALL POWER TO THE PEOPLE. Black power to Black people, Brown power to Brown people, Red power to Red people, and Yellow power to Ho Chi Minh, and Comrade Kim Il Sung the courageous leader of the 40,000,000 Korean people....

We say down with the American fascist society. Later for Richard Millhouse Nixon, the Later for all the pigs of the power structure. Later for all the people out here that don't want to hear me curse because that's all that I know how to do. That's all that I'm going to do. I'm not going to ever stop cursing, not only are we going to curse, we're going to put into practice some of the that we talk about. Because Richard Nixon is an evil man. This is the that unleashed the counter-insurgent teams upon the BPP. This is the man that's responsible for all the attacks on the Black Panther Party nationally. This is the man that sends his vicious murderous dogs out into the Black community and invade upon our Black Panther Party Breakfast Programs. Destroy food that we have for hungry kids and expect us to accept like that idly. that man. We will kill Richard Nixon. We will kill any that stands in the way of our freedom. We ain't here for no goddamned peace, because we know that we can't have no peace because this country was built on war. And if you want peace you got to fight for it.

STATEMENT BY HUEY P. NEWTON, MINISTER OF DEFENSE OF THE BLACK PANTHER PARTY AND SUPREME SERVANT OF THE PEOPLE, ON THE OCCASION OF REVOLUTIONARY INTERCOMMUNAL DAY OF SOLIDARITY- MARCH 5, 1971

Power to the People, Brothers and Sisters,

First of all I would like to thank all of you for my very presence here, because if it weren't for the Power of the People, I wouldn't be here tonight. I'm not here because of the Black Panther Party; I'm not here because of any group, I'm not here because of a group of kamakazis. I'm here because of the Power of the People.

We must remember that Revolution is a process. It's not a conclusion; because once we conclude, then we become counter-revolutionary. And that means even with the gun in our hands, because fascism also has a gun. And I would like to say tonight that the Black Panther Party stands against all forms of fascism, including sexual fascism. That we are against all kinds of chauvinism, including racial chauvinism; we're against sexual chauvinism, national chauvinism. We're intercommunalists. Before I went to prison, most of you know, you are aware, that I never made any speeches, you see, because I'm not a very eloquent man. I'm better known by the actions. And the Party was built upon the actions. And the action itself is a process. And we're not ever fixated. We haven't accepted any dogma. And we will not.

And I would like to say this, that from now on the Party itself will be better known by its contributions to the People, for the simple reason that some people around us seem to want to be known through the Media. But the Party can only judge itself through establishing certain survival programs, pending Revolution. Because remember, you make the Revolution. We can't free political prisoners, only the people can free political prisoners. And a people who are not free cannot free their prisoners, cannot free the prisoners that fascism makes. So I would like to say that we must work very hard in order to lift the consciousness of the people. We must free our Chairman Bobby Seale, Angela Davis, Ruchell Magee, the Soledad Brothers, the seven and the three, and all other political prisoners. Randy. We have to free all of them.

But we must remember that we must exhaust every possible tactic. And we must let it be known that never broadcast military tactics for military reasons. It's perfectly correct to broadcast military tactics for political reasons. That's what Uncle Ho said, and I agree with him. So we would like for the people to know that there are many things that we will not discuss in public. But what you can do is watch the fruits of our work. And we would like to say that our Party became an intercommunal Party upon its actions. And I think that's very good. So I'm asking you in order to free all political prisoners, free the people, free the woman and also the man, that we have to get together in unity by substituting verbal expressions for action. The final test of the pie is the action. We'll stand on the Black Panther Party. The Black Panther Party from 1966 when it was formed will stand on its record, will stand on the action. We won't claim to be ultra-leftists; we won't claim to be infantile leftists. What we'll do is act in accordance with the particular set of conditions and the particular problem that we have at a time. So please judge us upon our actions and we will develop like that. We will not develop with lip service coming from anyone. And sometimes I'm very thankful that I don't talk too well, because that's only one way of communication. We say that a picture is worth a thousand words, but action is supreme.

But what kind of action you take will depend upon the particular set of conditions. And I say all of this, because you know the Party and the world today is under turmoil. And this is very good. We always have welcomed all forms of contradictions. Because without the contradiction there is no transformation. So from the contradiction that has developed now in the world and in the Party, we hope to have a qualitative leap. If this leap eliminates some of us, then, of course, we'll weep for that. But we must not stop the Revolution. I will not stop the Revolution. You should not stop it. And, for all that it's worth, we know that words will never stop it. Words will not start the Revolution either. Only action. 'Sixty-six kicked off the armed manifestation of Revolution in this country, because it focused upon the need for the People not only to defend themselves, but also to develop a consciousness necessary to perform and to act to be able to fight in a protracted war. And that is why it is necessary for us to develop the correct ideology, which is a system of thinking. And we must not rely upon and conclude with the philosophy, which isn't necessarily a conclusion.

So we're ideologically revolutionists. We're in a constant state of change. And we fight with all people who want to change, because we know change will offer our hope. So after all of this, we must pay more attention to what is happening. The news media has attempted to discredit the Party by saying that it's over, because they don't see anyone. I think our programs are better than the Party. The communities are involved in forty-four cities. We must support these; we must expand them. Because I read an article, recently, a few months ago, where Che had some problems in Bolivia, because the peasants were so unconscious until he could not rally them even with the "focos". They did not understand why the military, the regular military was dropping. So what did he do. He attempted to form certain programs that he called survival programs. He attempted to form a free health program in order to get the peasants inside, to help them, and also to provide things for his focos. He also took to form a free breakfast program, a free shoe factory, and a sporting good store (for obvious reasons). So programs are good. Because an act that might be revolutionary might be counter-revolutionary, if the correct preparations are not made.

So to be a serious revolutionist, we must know that we are involved in a process, and not a set of principles or conclusions that are of face-value revolutionary. I do not know one thing that is revolutionary in itself. And all things might be revolutionary in context. In other words, capitalism was revolutionary when it kicked out feudalism. And now we have a situation where the capitalists have become the imperialists, and the people of the world, of the communities of the world will have to kick them out. So in order to free Angela, Bobby, Ruchell Magee and all other political prisoners, we must kick the fascists out. And we cannot do it with lip service.

POWER TO THE PEOPLE

THE BLACK PANTHER, SATURDAY, APRIL 3, 1971 PAGE 2

BOBBY SEALE: "I AM THE CHAIRMAN OF ONLY ONE PARTY."

March, 1971

This is Brother Bobby Seale, from the New Haven Courthouse, back in jail, back here. And I just wanted to say to the people, the masses of people, to all the brothers and sisters, Women's Liberation Movement, Black brothers and sisters, Chicano brothers, the Puerto Rican brothers, the young revolutionary White youth in America, and especially, all the Black brothers and sisters in the Black community, that I've seen a lot of things happening; and I've took time to analyse what's happening. And I see presently that there're some divisionary, counter-revolutionary actions going on. Now the Party accepts constructive criticism. Constructive criticism! But the divisionary, counter-revolutionary actions and jive tactics of Eldridge Cleaver is doing nothing but aiding the pig power structure. Aiding the pig power structure in their attempt to put in gas chambers and jails over 130 political prisoners, who are presently, like myself and Ericka, caught up in these jails, and are being railroaded to the gas chamber, where we're fighting for our lives in these trials. And this is the only thing that Eldridge's actions are doing. This is the only thing that I can see that is going on. And my analysis shows this.

There is no split in the Black Panther Party, at all. But the main thing that we want to get across, I want to get across, to the people is that the Party is based on Survival Programs to serve the people, and these survival programs - from Breakfast for Children to the recent programs that I'm designing right here in jail, in my time that I'm not in court, which is a decent housing fit for shelter of human beings program - these are survival programs - and this program and all other programs that all other revolutionary organizations have are survival programs, that must sustain the people so the people can wage a revolutionary struggle.

And Eldridge Cleaver, who's denouncing these types of programs and carrying on with all those other divisionary jive tactics, is negating the real meaning of a People's revolutionary struggle. That's why the Black Panther Party belongs to the people, because the survival programs come forth, and we set up the survival programs to sustain the people's revolutionary struggle. Even the Vietnamese people, if one would check it out, have their survival programs; they have their cooperative, functional survival programs throughout their land, amongst their people. The people just don't have guns alone fighting their battle. The people over there have actual everyday, functional, constructive survival programs. In their countries, in their lands, and in their everyday operations in fighting the capitalist pigs who occupy their country, they have survival programs. And those survival programs sustain the revolutionary struggle there. Of course, our survival programs will be directly related to here in America. But I, myself, send solidarity and support to all the socialistic, revolutionary peoples of the world, and the socialistic countries and lands - and the different war zones, where the people, the masses in those lands, are fighting against the capitalistic, imperialistic ruling class circles.

And Eldridge Cleaver - who negates the very survival programs that the Party is trying to set forth, that the Central Committee is trying to set forth, and all the real dedicated, hard-working brothers in the Party are trying to set forth to educate the people and serve the people, these survival programs (that) sustain the people's to the gas chambers. He's aiding the power structure and causing us to be in the prisons, because the political prisoners are the ones who really initiate and work hard to maintain the survival programs for the revolution, the people's revolutionary struggle.

Only the masses of the people can really free political prisoners. And the people must see the value and the validity of the survival programs. And getting on down to it, so the people can understand where it's at, so that the people, even the supporters that we have all over Europe, all the solidarity committees that are in Europe, that're in Sweden, that are in Denmark, and other countries over there, who support the freedom of political prisoners in this country, who support the survival programs of the poor oppressed people in this country, and the revolutionary movement (who are initiating these programs), I am trying myself to get people to understand, that we are beautifully behind them and we are glad and send greetings to them and praise the people who are in the solidarity committees in other countries, and in fact here in America, here in AmeriKKK-a. I think that the people really have to understand who and what the Black Panther Party is, so that these reactionary, counter-revolutionary, divisionary tactics will not be misunderstood. The Party is not falling apart. It's just that Eldridge Cleaver has personally defected his own self from the Party. He defected from the Party.

And I, Bobby Seale, am the Chairman of only one Party. And that Party is the Party that Brother Huey P. Newton is the Minister of Defense of and one of the supreme, top servants of the people; that Brother David Hilliard is the Chief of Staff of; that Brother June Hilliard is the Assistant Chief of Staff of; that Bobby Hutton was a member of, before the pigs murdered him. I am the Chairman of only one Party, that Brother Fred Hampton, who loved the survival programs for the people, was Deputy Chairman of. I'm the Chairman of only one Party, who Brothers Jonathan Jackson and George Jackson are members of. I'm the Chairman of only one Party, of the Central Committee of the Black Panther Party, with Huey, David, and the rest of the brothers and sisters on the Central Committee, where the Central Headquarters happens to be located on Peralta Street in Oakland, (California). So All Power to the People. Right On. And we're going to stick together. We ain't coming up with no jive. We have to free Brothers Ruchell Magee, George Jackson; we have to free Sister Angela Davis; we have to free these brothers and sisters. I am the Chairman of only one Party, the Party that Brother Huey is the Minister of Defense, with David Hilliard, June Hilliard, etc. And we're going to free political prisoners; and, we're going to keep these survival programs going; and, we're going to wage a People's revolutionary struggle, and not no jive, individualistic, defecting actions, by some individual who wants to play power games. I am the Chairman of the Party of which the San Quentin Cadre is apart and parcel of the same Party. The San Quentin Cadre of the Black Panther Party.

So all I have to say to the people is that you know where it's at. We're going to stick in solidarity. There're a bunch of jive renegades and jack-a-napes around. But later for that. Just later for that. Let that ride, cause we got survival to get on with, and a People's revolution to mobilize. And we got political prisoners to free all over this land.

RACIST-MAD PIGS SIC K9 POLICE DOG ON BROTHER

On Friday night, March 27, 1970, 14 yr. old Brother John (Little Hot-Rod) Hargrove became the victim of a brutal attack inflicted by a K9 Police dog. This brother along with two other bloods were playfully chasing each other along the sidewalk in the area of Sixth and Snyder Streets. When the brothers approached the corner, one brother ran past brushing against a lady standing at the corner. When this happened the lady immediately grabbed the brother. The two other bloods kept running. Soon after the pig grabbed the brother, a light colored station wagon appeared. In the station wagon were two plain clothes pigs. These pigs immediately proceeded to hand-cuff the blood, beat him in the face, and unleash a vicious police dog that ripped the flesh off the brother's body. As the brother tried to escape the blows of the pig beating him in the face, the K9 proceeded to bite him all over his body. While the brother was being beaten by the pig, and attacked by the dog, the other pigs who came along proceeded to chase the other two bloods. The pigs fired a shot barely missing the fore-head of one of the brothers.

Little Hot-Rod, handcuffed, face badly beaten and suffering from dog bites all over his body, was taken to the local police station where he was booked on suspicion of pick-pocketing. He did not receive any medical attention until several hours later at the Philadelphia General Hospital; there they gave him one tetnus shot and put a bandage on each leg. The pig who created the vicious attack was later identified as one of Rizzo's faggot law and order boys of the GRANNY PATROL. The Granny Patrol is a special segment of piggery which employs pigs to dress up as women so that they can arrest suspected pick-pockets.

The party conducted an interview with the bloods who were fortunate enough to get away, we also spoke with the brother's parents, and were able to visit the brother, at the Youth Study Center. We also spoke with the people in the community who witnessed the horrid incident!

Following are excerpts from the tapes which describe the incident. We cannot use names here of the bloods because it has been passed down that the pigs are trying to round up the other brothers.

The racist pigs approached the brothers by shouting "Get them niggers, get them niggers" They chased the bloods with butcher knives, and what appeared to be an ax. One brother was hit with a pipe in the stomach.

People in the community responded to the arrest and attack angrily. When several people in the community demanded that the pigs call off the dog, they were met with racist remarks from the pigs.

The attack was so vicious, the dog ate the underwear on the brothers body. In addition to bites on the brothers hands, legs and waist the dog also bit the brother in the back and rectum. The brother suffered from severe beatings by the pigs, in the face.

When Little Hot-Rod was visited on Sunday at the Youth Study Center, his body was not healing properly. He related that the nurse only applies mercurochrome on the bites. He is suffering from soreness. He is sleeping on hard cots in the over-crowded center. The bites on his body are swollen and inflamed. The brother's first remarks to his family were, "Tell my probation officer to get me out of here, this place is like Byberry" .

Just less than two weeks ago, the brother was beaten in a cell Division. This pig beat him so bad that Methodist Hospital complained to the Police Department. His eyes were badly damaged. The pig's name who inflicted that beating was Juvenile Aid Officer, Charles Kora. Hot-Rod identified Kora as his assailant and since then, he has been harrassed in his neighborhood by every pig who comes through.

At 14, John Hargrove is a marked victim of Frank Rizzo's fascists, like so many other Black youths in this city. Pigs are on the loose to inflict more physical harm to our people. It is high time that we escalate our war on the pigs and drive them out of our communities.

Seize The Time people of Philadelphia, Rizzo and all of his racist paper tigers can be rightously blown away.

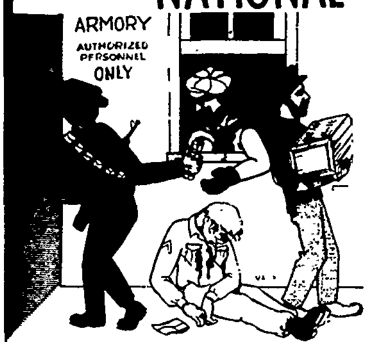
NATIONAL GUARD ARMORY BOMBED, HEROES SUCCESSFULLY ESCAPE



Newburyport, Mass. is a small residental New England town basically composed of people from the White working class. Until last Saturday, September 19, Newburyport's only claim to fame was that it is one of the many small towns surrounding Boston which are strongholds for groups like the Minutemen and other right-wing fascist reactionaries. Last Saturday, however, at 6:00 a.m. in the morning a National Guard Armory was bombed, hundreds of rounds of ammunition ripped off, military personnel records taken and to top it off, they left the scene in a one ton army pick-up truck. They (the bombers) attempted to open the vault holding the weapons of the pig army, M-1 rifles, .45 caliber pistols and .30 caliber sniper carbines, but were not able to do so. The act was accomplished in one fast motion, and the heroes escaped capture and one week later, "law enforcement officials" are still scratching their heads in wonderment.

And although the weapons, themselves, tools of our liberation were not liberated from the oppressor, the success of this action cannot be denied.

As has been the case in liberation movements all over the world, the guns and arms made by and for the oppressor eventually ends up in the hands of the oppressed. More important, the unknown people who accomplished this act, obtained hundreds of rounds of desperately needed ammunition. Again, past experiences has shown that while the guns themselves can be obtained in ample supply, the ammunition, the bullets, that actually inflicts death upon our enemy, becomes very scarce. One of the necessities of our struggle is our ability to liberate, stockpile, and then accurately use the ammunition of our oppressor upon our oppressor.

As for the military personnel records, they can obviously be put to good use. Our oppressors must be harassed and intimidated day and night. They must not sleep, nor rest, these are the devils who plot the genocide of Black people. The National Guard Armory in the small town of Newburyport, like other small time towns surrounding the Black colony in Boston is designed to be used against us in the fascist genocidal plot devised by the treacherous minds of the Nixon-Agnew-Mitchell clique. It is to be carried out by those men whose names and addresses are now in the hands of the people. Unknown members of the fascist majority now appear before the people's tribunal and will be judged according to their actions.

This action is just one of many blows which will be dealt out to the oppressor. If this action was intended to help and serve the people, we welcome their help to our just liberation struggle against the Babylonian Empire.

ORGANIZING SELF-DEFENSE GROUPS HOW TO COMBAT C.M.I.

Part 5

The principal of Juche (Self-Reliance) clarified by Eldridge Cleaver, the Minister of Information of the Black Panther Party, is "Use what you got to get what you need." To answer the question of how do you combat the pigs' C.M.I. (communication, mobility and information), we must first determine what we have going for ourselves. Checking out the practice of self-defense groups, we see that we have the power to determine what is to happen, when it is to happen and how it is supposed to go down. What, When and How (W.W.H.)- the element of surprise. The pigs have C.M.I. and self-defense groups have W. W. H.

To consider a self-defense operation successful is not to just plan and execute but to plan, execute AND escape. There have been too many instances where members of self-defense groups have planned and executed righteous blows against this racist system only to be captured, wounded or killed. These are the consequences for revolutionary activity, however we must keep casualties within an acceptable minimun. The slogan must be Maximum Damage to the Enemy, Minimun Damage to Us. Practice has shown that when planning W.W.H. if it is done with knowledge and an understanding of C.M.I. casualties will be kept within an acceptable mini*mum. Too often, much attention* is given to a plan up to the point of execution without giving the same attention to evasion and escape, that phase of the operation that determines success. This is a subjective approach, a onesided approach. W.W.H. is only one side of the coin, C.M.I. is the other side. Because self-defense groups use W.W.H., the pigs' C.M.I. does not go into operation until a self-defense group commits itself by actually executing some type of self-defense activity.

COMMUNICATION

MOBILITY

INFORMATION

All of us should be aware that once C.M.I. is activated pigs start showing on the set from 30 seconds to 1 minute maximum in every major city in Babylon, therefore the success or failure of a defense operation is dependent upon the attention given to C.M.I. and the planning of evasion and escape. As I see it, learning to deal with the pigs' C.M.I. is the number one military problem facing revolutionary forces in Babylon today. It is time for all who have something to teach, by example, to step forward. And remember, to die honorably, one does not need company.

Part 6 ON REVOLVERS

Parts 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 have been in previous issues of the Black Community News Service. This article is on revolvers, it gives a basic run down on the use of revolvers. Check out all of the photographs and notes to help you understand better the functioning of a revolver.

SAFETY PRECAUTIONS:

1. Check to see if gun is loaded. You do this on a revolver by swinging out the cylinder. Pull back on the cylinder latch and gently push out on the cylinder. (see unloading a revolver photo #2)

2. Keep your finger off the trigger unless practicing trigger squeeze or firing.

3. Point your gun away from where someone may be shot-Point at the ceiling or to the floor, but wherever you point, make sure no one is in the way and can be harmed.

4. Never leave the hammer cocked on a revolver. (Explanation later on cocking a revolver.)

KINDS OF REVOLVERS:

.38 Snubnose - This gun has only a 2" barrel and shoots 38's. It is very easy to conceal.

.38 Special - Has a 4" barrel and shoots 38's.

.357 Magnum - This is the type of handgun the pig carries. The ammo for this is .357 magnum. Metal piercing bullets will pierce an engine block. This is the best type of revolver to have.

.41 and .44 Magnums - Have more knock down power than a .357 Magnum. The Highway Patrol carries these to shoot through car doors, but a .357 will go through a car door also and .357 ammunition is more plentiful.

REVOLVER TERMS

UNLOADING:

Holding gun in left hand (pointed in safe direction) release cylinder latch with right hand. (#3). Push out cylinder with the fingers of left hand (#2). Now that you have swung out the cylinder and the bullets are visible you gently push down on the extractor and let bullets drop out into your right hand (#4).

LOADING:

To load, simply follow the same steps in unlatching the cylinder. Then drop bullets into the chambers of your cylinder. Gently push cylinder closed, and you are ready to fire. DO NOT SLAM CYLINDER CLOSED, this causes extra wear on your gun.

COCKING A REVOLVER:

Put the tip of your thumb on the hammer holding revolver steady in the palm of your hand. Do not put your finger in the trigger. Pull straight back steadily on your hammer spur until your hammer locks back. You gun is ready to fire, do not put your finger in the trigger until you are ready to fire. After cocking hammer, place your thumb directly on the frame beside the hammer, resting the tip of your thumb on the cylinder latch. (Photo #4) Your forefinger should be placed on the other side of the gun straight out just above the trigger guard until ready to fire. Everytime you cock the hammer before firing, this is called single action firing.

PHOTO # 2

UNCOCKING A REVOLVER (LOADED):

Keep your finger off the trigger! With gun already cocked, place your thumb on the hammer firmly. Now with the gun firmly in your hand, pointed in a safe direction, *and thumb firmly on the ham*mer (still cocked) squeeze the trigger slowly until you can feel the hammer releasing. IMMEDIATE-

URBAN GUERILLAS

America's complexity will be her downfall, for complex power, communications and transportation networks are unprotected. These systems are the life lines of the industrial and military might of U.S.A. fascism. The source of America's strength is its vulnerable Achilles heel-therefore urban guerrillas, utilizing and relying on information divulged by sympathetic workers, can halt or severely cripple every industry in the nation, and bring fascism crashing to its knees. The dams, power stations, substations and power lines are vulnerable. Highly sophisticated communications networks are used by our enemies for carrying out routine business, and are an extremely important factor, in the fascist reaction to guerilla strikes. The neutralization of the fascist communications lie within the capabilities of urban guerillas.

The disruption of this system would hamper and cripple not only the fascist military but would also effect all industrial outputs. The fascist ruling clique realizes the vunerability of their transportation networks, yet all fascist military forces and industry utilize the railways, the state and interstate highway systems and the airports. Urban guerillas can cut and constantly harass these important links.

Urban guerilla teams highly motivated have already begun to put their theory into practice. Lists are being compiled and are constantly updated on fascist and all enemies of our people, because the location and identification of the enemy is an extremely vital task of urban guerillas. This basic intelligence is necessary for planning retaliatory strikes against our enemies. Where their killer groups, for the most, will be unable to locate guerillas, urban guerillas will, in every attack hit the fascist squarely on the chin. Urban guerillas, being one with the people, must attack like skilled brain surgeons--cutting out the diseased tissue while perserving the good.

Their dual purpose is that of destroying all fascist forces and their lackeys, while protecting and serving our people. The fascist ruling clique fears this. They know the Party is preparing to fight until the last of our enemies bites the dust. The Party has dared to take the vanguard role in the struggle and will surely defeat U.S A. fascism no matter what the odds, no matter how great the sacrifice. The Party is aware that the fascists will never lay down their arms of their own accord. And also aware of the direction that U.S.A. fascism is taking in order to survive as long as possible.

In Brazil, the guerilla forces found through social practice that they could best achieve the goal of liberating their people from the strong-hold imposed by the fascist Brazilian oligarchy by waging urban guerilla warfare. Brazil's development as an industrial fascist nation and the economic and social backwardness of the indigenous peasants made the revolutionary forces adapt the strategy of urban guerrilla warfare. The urban guerrillas moved to mobilize the workers, and implement urban guerrilla warfare within the context of their historical experiences with the working class and the fascist ruling class oligarchy. The revolutionary forces have implemented this type of struggle which invariably catches the fascists with their pants down. The type of warfare which turns the asphalt concrete and steel of cities into jungles; into cemeteries for the fascist highly mechanized units and turns his weapons of mass slaughter into paper tigers; into urban jungles where the revolutionary forces can plunge the blade into the hilt in the vunerable life lines of even fascist U S.A In this country as well as in Brazil the fascists tremble with dread at the thought of nationwide attacks by urban guerrilla forces.

In the Pentagon and select centers scattered throughout the U S A., gigantic multimillion dollar computers are manned by hoards of the military. Technicians wrestle with fascism's nightmare-the problem of dealing with urban guerrillas. These machines can only reach an hypothesis drawn from information fed into them. In order for the fascists to test the solutions offered by the computer. they must first circumvent the frail facade of the constitution and the bill of rights. The fascists realize that if these two pieces of paper were implemented they would be in their graves tonight because the constitution and the bill of rights contain the moral impetus necessary to bring this foul evil economic and social system to its doom.

U S.A. fascists have compiled and are still evaluating information received from South American satellite states who are being beset by courageous urban guerrillas waging relentless struggle with amazing(to fascists)and stunning success. Eldridge Cleaver, Minister of Information of the Black Panther Party, has said that we still have a little time left because the U.S.A fascist ruling clique hasn't programmed all of the people to accept the genocide of the Party and our people yet. For at least a year now, there have appeared in every major newspaper, seemingly innocent space fillers. Articles from UPI-API dealing with the deployment of fascist death squads against the revolutionary forces in South America.

These fillers had the sinister purpose of preparing America for the advent of death squads now in operation in every major urban center. These articles were to prepare the people to accept the first overt actions of the Chicago foul fascist gestapo killer unit. Their predawn kill all--destroy all mission was launched as a pilot, an experimental operation with a two fold objective. One was to put counter-revolutionary theory into practice in America --to bring into the streets the fascist ruling clique's solution to the Party--to test and evaluate the techniques of counter-insurgency urban warfare. The second important objective was to evaluate the response of the people to above ground counter-insurgency killer groups--to see if the people were conditioned to accept the outright fascist terror tactics directed officially by the fascist ruling clique.

Our Party has been and is still the main target of a national dehumanizing campaign. The fascist controlled news media has consistently maligned, viciously attacked and branded our Party as a racist band of blood-thirsty murderers out for their own personal gain. The fascist news media seeks to justify the fascist's program of destroying our people's first line of defense, the Party, and all other organizations which refuse to be either bought off with blood money or intimidated by the repressive fascist forces. The fascist attempts to isolate our Party from the people has been a dismal failure. The liquidation of Deputy Chairman Fred Hampton and Mark Clark had top priority on the fascist's pig list. However, neither the people nor our Party were cowed or intimidated by the bestial slaying of these two revolutionaries. The fascist ruling clique made a grave error in under estimating the will of the people and our Party. People from all walks of life and every progressive organization saw through the fascist attempts to isolate and destroy their Party. The people mobilized and rallied mass support for the Party and soundly condemned the actions of Chicago's fascist killer groups.

Make trouble, fail, make trouble, fail again until their doom. This is the logic of fascists the world over. In Chicago, they refused to acknowledge the bankruptcy of their counter-insurgency campaign. In December, in Los Angeles, Southern California, Chapter of our Party, came under attack by fascist killer groups. Although outnumbered and using inferior weapons, our Party repelled and held at bay the fascist shock troops and sounded the end of Chicago type operations in a fuselage of bullets. We learned valuable lessons paid for with the blood of our revolutionary comrades. The fascist ruling clique has seen the support, that their homicidal raids have generated for the Party. They now know that if conditions are favorable, they will receive tit for tat and then some. They now know that Black and all progressive people will not sit idly by and pacify the action of above ground killer groups Fascists have tried to rally the support of the American people to their avowed aims and failed.

Now begins the phase of underground, clandestine operation of fascist directed killer groups. This is all part of the nature of the fascist ruling clique. The fascists will no doubt expand the techniques of their South American lackeys who operate unrestricted, unswayed by either democratic institutions or public opinion. As the tempo of the struggle increases so will the fascist acts of reactionary terror and violence increase. The primary target of forming clandestine kill groups will be both our people and our Party. If we are to survive as a people, this next phase of attacks, and pave the way to victory, it is imperative that our people be armed with the ideology of the Party. For only then will our people be able to cope with, both, ideological and physical attacks initiated by the insane fascist ruling clique. Huey P. Newton, Minister of Defense, said that our Party must be a living shield that stands between our people and the fascist pigs and that our paper should serve to educate our people so that they will survive.

As the attacks against the Party escalate, so must the awareness of our people be channelled toward acceptance and even more, active participation in urban guerrilla warfare. Phase two of the fascist plans will surely and soundly be defeated. The fascists will awake to find themselves bogged down on that last front. They will be swallowed up in the morass of a people's war. Their graves will be dug by revolutionary urban guerrilla forces amidst the asphalt, concrete and steel of the cities.

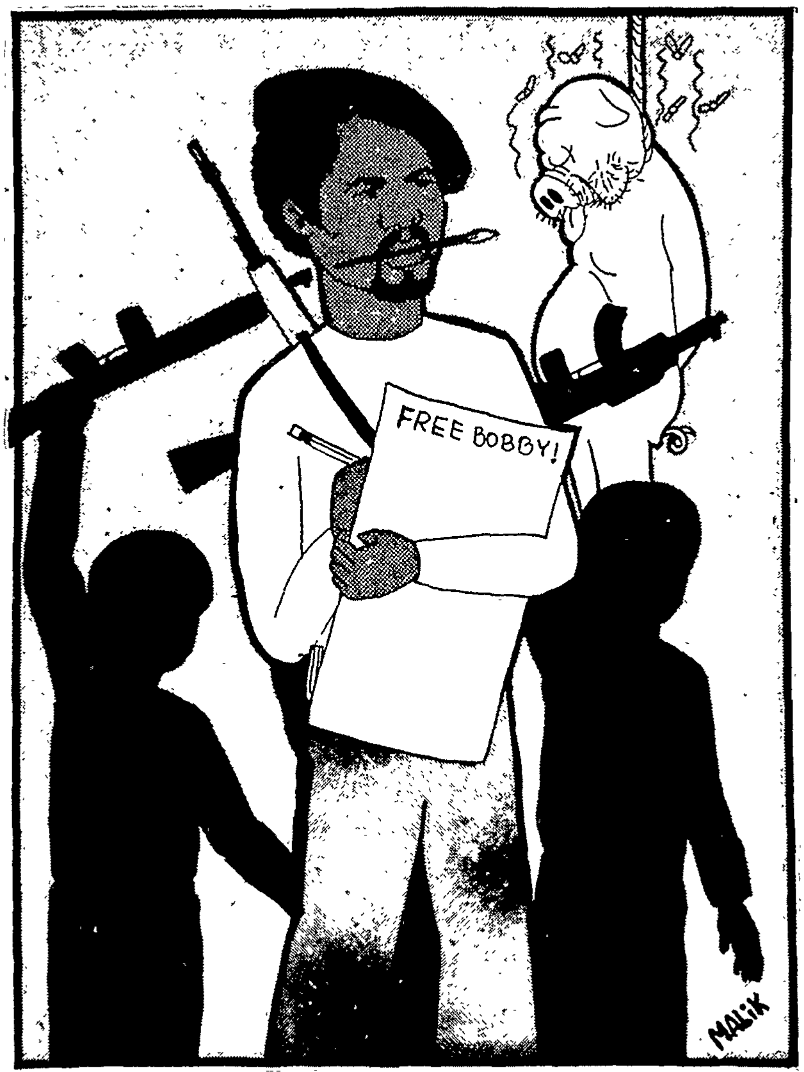
"Revolutionary Art"

The most prominent artist on The Black Panther staff is Minister of Culture Emory Douglas. Although he prepares a large number of cartoons, other Panther artists are also represented. These cartoons characterize the Government and local law enforcement as "pigs" and call for the overthrow of the Government and the killing of Government officials, as well as police officers.



THE REVOLUTIONARY ARTIST

When the Black revolutionary artist starts a still life painting, he doesn't see a beautiful vase, or a dish of tasty fruit, against a soft velvet backdrop...he sees only a tattered curtain, rusty cans, a broken dish--empty.

As he seeks out a beautiful landscape to paint, he sees not fertile fields with dancing flowers, and lovely maidens bathing in the sun, but decaying houses, and streets covered with debris, and a Black woman in ragged clothes with tear-stained cheeks.

The Black revolutionary artist knows only oppression, and that his art must relate to his surroundings, and his people, and most of all, his art cannot be abstract and unrelated to his revolutionary people. So he seeks, and finds what our Minister of Defense Huey P. Newton calls "the spirit of the people." As he moves on that, he shows what Revolutionary Artist and Minister of Culture, Emory Douglas shows--"the oppressor hanging by his heels."

The revolutionary artist gives his art to his oppressed people.

So with his gun and his brush he shows the spirit of the people moving to crush the oppressor, and this is the essence of revolutionary art. His art then becomes part of the people's revolution.

He knows that only because of the urine covered walls and trash-littered alleys the people's desire for freedom will be replaced with the BLOOD OF THE OPPRESSOR.

Panthers profess to believe that American Negroes comprise isolated "colonies" in the heart of the "mother" country, and are part of the Third World, defined as the nonwhite, undeveloped, and underdeveloped countries of the world. The 10-Point Program of the Black Panther Party includes, as a major political objective, a United-Nations-supervised plebiscite to be held throughout the black colony to determine the national destiny of American Negroes.

To internationalize their Party and enlarge their importance, Panther leaders have sought acceptance, support, and funds from sources abroad. They have made numerous trips to foreign countries, including Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Palestine, Germany, France, England, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Soviet Union, North Korea, North Vietnam, and the Chinese Mainland.

Both at home and abroad, Panther leaders loudly proclaim anti-American sentiments and align themselves politically with the aims and tactics of enemy lands. The international contacts most important to the Panthers are made with revolutionary groups and communist countries, especially those that more closely follow Maoist thinking. The international news section of The Black Panther reflects attempts by the Black Panther Party to attract such attention, support, and aid.
